and the hoods, and the [f] launes.

24 And in stead of sweete sauour there shal be stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the hatre, baldnes, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in stead of beautie.

25 Thy men [t] shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she being desolate shal sit vpon the ground.

[f] In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnesse and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.

[t] Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbands, which haue suffered this dissolutenesse, and also the common wealth, which hath not remedied it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

[a] When God shall execute this vengeance, there shal not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they, contrary to womanly shamefastnesse, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.

[c] For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

[d] He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentiful toward the faithful, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap. 45.8. Some by the bud of the Lord, meane Christ. [e] He alludeth to the booke of life, wherof reade Exod. 32 32, meaning Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euerlasting. [f] That is, the cruelty, extortion, auarice, and all wickednesse. [g] When things shall be redressed that were amisse. [h] He alludeth to the pillar of the cloud, Exod. 13.21. meaning, that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place. [i] The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image and tokens of his grace shine in them. [k] God promiseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

A Nd in that day shall [a] seuen women take holde of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and wee will weare our owne garments: onely [b] let vs bee called by thy name, and take away our [c] reproch.

2 In that day shall the [d] bud of the Lord be beautifull and glorious, and the fruite of the earth shall be excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then he that shalbe left in Zion, and he that shal remaine in Ierusalem, shall be called holy, and euery one shall be [e] written among the liuing in Ierusalem,

4 When the Lord shall wash the filthinesse of the daughters of Zion, and purge the [f] blood of Ierusalem out of the mids thereof by the spirit of iudgement, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shall create vpon euerie place of mount Zion, & vpon the assemblies thereof, [h] a cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the [i] glory shall be a defence.

6 And a couering shal be for a shadow in the day for the heate, & a place of refuge, and a couert for the storme, [k] and for the raine.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine, he describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

[a] The Prophet by this song doeth set before the peoples eyes their ingratitude, and Gods mercy.

[b] That is, to God. Iere. 2.21. matth. 21.33.

[c] Meaning, that he had planted his Church in a place most plentifull and abundant.

N Ow will [a] I sing to my [b] beloued a song of my beloued touching his vineyard. My beloued had a [c] vineyard in a very fruitfull hill,

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, [d] and he built a tower in the mids thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought [e] forth wild grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem, and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, [f] betweene me and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard, that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard; I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I wil breake the wall thereof, and it shal be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers, and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the clouds that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for [h] iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay field to field, till there bee no [k] place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

9 This is in mine [l] eares, sayth the Lorde of hosts. Surely many houses shall bee desolate, euen great, and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one [m] bath, and the seed of an [n] homer shall yeeld an [o] ephah.

11 Woe vnto them that [p] rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill [q] night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe, and viole, timbrell, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the [r] worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people [s] is gone into captiuity, because they had [t] no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore [u] hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, & their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shall be humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shall be exalted in iudgement, & the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

[d] He spared no diligence nor cost.

[e] In the seuenth verse he declareth what they were.

[f] He maketh them iudges in their owne cause, for as much as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.

[g] I will take no more care for it: meaning that he would take from them his word and ministers, and all other comforts, and send them contrary plagues.

[h] Iudgement & righteousnesse are true fruits of the feare of God, and therefore in the cruel oppressors there is no religion.

[i] Of them that are oppressed.

[k] To wit, for the poore to dwell in.

[l] I haue heard the complaint and cry of the poore.

[m] Which containeth about ten pottels: so that euery acre should but yeeld one pottell.

[n] Which containeth an hundreth pottels.

[o] An ephah containeth ten pottels, and is in dry things as much as Bath is in liquors.

[p] That spare no paine nor diligence to follow their lusts.

[q] Which are neuer weary of their rioting and excessiue pleasures: but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same.

[r] They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what end he hath created them.

[s] That is, shall certainely goe: for so the Prophets vse to speake, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already.

[t] Because they would not obey the word of God.

[u] Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction, it shall neuer be satiate.

17 Then shall [x] the lambs feed after their manner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them that draw iniquity with [y] cords of vanity, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, [z] Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke that we may see it: and let the counsel of the holy One of Israel drawe neere and come, that we may knowe it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darknesse for light, & light for darknesse, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre.

21 Woe vnto them that are [a] wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woe vnto them that are [c] mighty to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their [d] roote shall be as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hosts, and contemned the word of the holy One of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lorde kindled against his people, & he hath stretched out his [e] hand vpon them, & hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were torne in the mids of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And he will lift vp a signe [f] vnto the nations afarre, & will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None [g] faint nor fal among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes bee loosed, nor [h] the latchet of his shooes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shalbe sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooues shall bee thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and he shal roare like lions whelps: they shal [i] roare and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if [k] they looke vnto the earth, behold darknesse, and sorow, and the light shalbe darkened in their [l] skie.

[x] God comforteth the poore lambes of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countreys, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, whereof they had bene depriued by the fat and cruell tyrants.

[y] Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sinne.

[z] He sheweth what are the words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements, 2. Pet. 3. 4.

[a] Which are not ashamed of sin, nor care for honesty, but are growen to a desperate impiety.

[b] Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition.

[c] Which are neuer weary but shewe their strength, & brag in gluttony and drunkennesse.

[d] Both they and their posterity, so that nothing shall be left.

[e] He sheweth that God had so sore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bene more sensible, and therefore his plagues must continue till they begin to feele them.

[f] He will make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, and to fight vnder his standerd.

[g] They shal be prompt, and lusty to execute Gods vengeance.

[h] The enemy shall haue none impediment.

[i] Whereby is declared the cruelty of the enemy.

[l] In the land of Iudah.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiesty. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN the yeere of the death of king Vzziah, [a] I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an [b] high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower [c] parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The [d] Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his [e] face, and with twaine hee couered his [f] feete, and with twaine he did flie.

3 And one cryed to another, and sayde, [h] Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole [i] world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes [k] mooued at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, [l] Woe is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hosts.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hot cole in his hand, which hee had taken from the [m] altar with the tongs:

7 And he touched my mouth, and sayd, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy [n] sinne shall be purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send mee.

9 And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, [o] Ye shall heare in deed, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauy, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, & vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and be heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, [p] how long? And hee answered, Until the cities bee wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

[a] God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacity is able to comprehend him, that is, by visible signes, as Iohn Baptist saw the holy Ghost in the forme of a doue.

[c] Of his garment, or of his throne.

[d] They were Angels, so called, because they were of a fiery colour, to signifie that they burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fire to execute his will.

[e] Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightnesse of Gods glory.

[f] Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightnesse of God in them.

[g] Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.

[h] This often repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselues in praysing God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our selues to the continuall praise of God.

[i] His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to prayse him.

[k] Which things were to confirme the Prophet that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes.

[l] He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortall creature, and therefore had more neede to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neere that man approcheth to God, the more doth hee knowe his owne sinne and corruption.

[n] This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till he haue purged vs.

[o] Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God will not immediatly take away his word, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, and be saued: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duety, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened, Matth. 13. 14. Act. 28. 26. Rom. 11. 8.

[p] As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

13 But yet in it shall be q a tenth, and shal returne, & shall be eaten vp as an elme r or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, whe they cast their leaues: so the holy seed shall bee the substance thereof.

q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was reueild to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophesi, that ten kings should come before their captiuity, as were from Vzzah to Zedekiah. r For the fewnesse they shall seeme to bee cast vp: yet they shall after flourish as a tree, which in winter looseth his laues, and seemeth to be dead, yet in summer is fresh and greene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the king. 14 Christ is promised.

AND in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah king of Iudah, Rezin the king of ‖Aram a came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but hee could not ouercome it.

2 And it was tolde the house of b Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with c Ephraim: therefore his heart was d moued, & the heart of his people, as the trees of the forrest are moued by the winde.

3 ¶ Then sayd the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz (thou and e Shearjashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduite of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him, Take heede, and be still, feare not, neither bee fayntharted for the two tailes of these smoking f firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsel against thee, & Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs go vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a king in the mids therof, euen the sonne of g Tabeal.

7 Thus sayth the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and h threescore yeere Ephraim shall bee destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske i a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz sayd, I will not aske, neither will I k tempt the Lord.

13 Then hee sayde, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieue ‖men, that ye will also grieue my God?

14 Therefore the Lord m himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name ‖Immanu-el.

15 n Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, & to chuse the good.

16 For afore the o child shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, & to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shal be forsaken of both her kings.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that p Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the king of q Asshur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the r flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the land of Asshur, 19 And they shall come and shal light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon al thorny places, and vpon all bushie s places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shaue with a rasor that is hired, euen by them beyond the riuer, by the king of Asshur, the head and the haire of the t feete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man u nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the x abundance of milke that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day euery place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shal be at a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shalbe for the briers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with y bow shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briers and thornes.

25 But on z all ỳ mountaines, which shal be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shall be for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shal be destroyed, and thou preserued. k Not to beleeue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the ayde and helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebell against him. l You thinke you haue to do with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God, against whom you bend your selues.

m For asmuch as thou art vnworthy, the Lord for his owne promise sake will giue a signe, which shall be, that Christ the Sauiour of his Church and the effect of all signes and miracles, shall be reueiled. ‖Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him, that is both God and man.

n Meaning, that Christ is not onely God but man also, because he shall be nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion. o Not meaning Christ, but any child: for before a child can come to the yeeres of discretion, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shall bee destroyed. p Since the time that the twelue tribes rebelled vnder Roboam. q In whom thou hast put thy trust. r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the countrey is hot and moyst, it is full of Flies, as Assyria is full of Bees, s Signifying, that no place shall be free from them. t That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning that hee would destroy both great and small. u He that before had a great number of cattell, shall be content with one kow and two sheepe. x The number of men shall be so small, that a few beasts shalbe able to nourish all abundantly. y As they that goe to seeke wild beasts among the bushes. z The mountaines contrary to their wont, shall bee tilled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

MOreouer, the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a a great roll, and write in it b with a mans pen, Make speed to the spoile: haste to the pray.

a That thou mayest write in great letters, to the intent it may be more easily read. b Meaning, after the common fashion: because all men might reade it.

c Because the thing was of great importance, he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credite with the people, when he set this vp vpon the dore of the Temple, albeit Vriah was a flattering hypocrite 2 King. 16.11.

h That is, the Assyrians, which dwell beyond Euphrates.

i It shall be ready to drowne them.

k He speaketh this to Messiah or Christ, in whom the faithfull were comforted, and who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed vtterly.

2 Then I tooke vnto mee [c] faithfull witnesses to record, Vrtah the Priest, & Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the [d] Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then sayd the Lord to mee, Call his name, ‖ Maher shalalhash baz.

4 For before [e] the child shall haue knowledge to cry, My father and my mother, [f] he shal take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Assiur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of [g] Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Now therefore beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of [h] the Riuer mighty and great, euen the king of Assiur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes,

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the [i] neck, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy lande, O [k] Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O yee people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gyrd your selues, and you shall bee broken in pieces; gird your selues, and you shall bee broken in pieces.

10 Take counsel together, yet it shall bee brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to mee, in taking [m] of mine hand, and taught mee, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying, 12 Say yee not, A [n] confederacie to all them, to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare yee [o] their feare, nor bee afraid of them.

13 [p] Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, 14 And he shalbe as a [q] Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shal fall, and shall be broken, and shall be snared, and shall be taken.

16 [r] Binde vp the testimony: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will wait vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Beholde, I and the [s] children whom the Lord hath giuen me, are as tignes & as wonders in Israel, [t] by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shal say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirite of diuination, & at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure, [u] Should not a people enquire at their God? from the [x] liuing to the dead?

20 To the [y] Law, and to the testimony, if they speake not according to this word, it is because there is no [z] light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall go to and fro in [a] it: and when he shall be hungry, he shall euen fret himselfe, [b] and curse his king and his gods, and shall looke vpward.

a That is, in Iudah, where they should haue had rest, if they had not thus grieuously offended God.

b In whom afore they put their trust.

c They shall thinke that heauen and earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A propheſie of Christ. 14 The deſtruction of the ten tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

YEt [a] the darknes shall not bee according to the affliction, [b] that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, not afterward when he was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galile of [c] the Gentiles.

2 The people that [d] walked in darkenes, haue seene a great [e] light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the [f] light shined.

3 Thou hast [g] multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in harueſt, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoyle,

4 For [h] the yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battell of the warriour is a He comforteth the Church againe after these great threatnings, promising to restore them to great glory in Messiah.

b Wherewith Israel was punished, first by Tiglath pileſar, which was a light scourge in respect of that which they suffered afterward by Shalmaneſer, who caried the Israelites away captiues.

c Whereas the Iewes and Gentiles dwele together by reason of those twentie cities, which Salomon gaue to Hiram.

d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of that thing, which should come to passe threescore yeeres after, as though it were now done.

e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.

f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, Mat. 4.15, 16.

g Their number was greater when they went into captiuitie, then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne, Hag. 2.10.

h Thou gauest them perfit ioy, by deliuering them, and by destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruell bondage, as thou didst deliuer them by Gideon from the Midianites, Iudg. 7.22.

i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his church, which he hath deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but specially by ỹ coming of Christ, of whom he prophesieth in the next verse.

k The author of eternity, and by whome the Church and euery member therof shalbe preserued for euer, and haue immortall life.

l His singular loue and care for his elect.

m This is another prophesie against them of Samaria, which were mockers, & contemners of Gods promises and menaces.

n We were but weake, when the enemy ouercame vs, but wee will make our selues so strong, that we will neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatnings.

o Rezin king of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assailed by the Philistims.

p Wickednes, as a bellowes kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

q Though there were no fortune enemy, yet they shall destroy one another.

r Their greedinesse shalbe insatiable, so that one brother shal eate vp another, as though he should eate his owne flesh.

with noyse, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and hee shall call his name Wonderful, Counseller, The mighty God, The euerlasting [k] Father, The prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none ende: hee shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice from henceforth, euen for euer: [l] the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon [m] Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The [n] bricks are fallen, but wee will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but wee will change them into cedars.

11 Neuerthelesse, the Lorde will raise vp the aduersaries of [o] Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before, and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore wil the Lord cut off frō Israel head & taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shal the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neyther will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse [p] burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shal the land be darkened, and the people shalbe as the meate of the fire, no man shall [q] spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and hee shall eate on the left hand, and shal not be satisfied: euery one shal eate the [r] flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shalbe against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shalbe saued.

WOe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and [a] write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their praye, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye do now in the day of visitation, & of destruction, which shall come frō [b] farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your [c] glory?

4 [d] Without me euery one shal fal among them that are bound, and they shal fall down among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶ O [e] Assur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignatiō.

6 I will send [f] him to a dissembling nation, and I wil giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the praye, and to tread them vnder feet like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hande hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shal not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished [h] all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I wil visite the fruit of the proud heart of the king of Assur, and his glorious and proude lookes.

13 Because hee sayde, By the power of mine owne hande haue I done it, and by my wisedome, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hande hath found as a nest the riches of the people, & as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the [i] axe boast it selfe against a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentence to oppresse the poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, which were the chiefe cause of mischiefe, should be first punished.

b To wit, from Assyria.

c Your riches and authority, that they may be safe, and that ye may receiue them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall go into captiuitie, and the rest shall be slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to bee the executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites: and in this sixt and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one very thing & acte: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendment, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill.

g Seeing that I haue ouercome as well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands?

h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for hee beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the roddes.

i Meaning, of Sanacherib.

k Here we see that no creature is able to doe any thing but as God appoynteth him, and that they are all but his instruments to do his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verse 6.

him that heweth therewith? or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rodde should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hosts send among his fat men, leannes, and vnder his glory hee shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall bee as a [l] fire, and the holy one therof, as a flame, and it shall burne and deuoure his [m] thornes and his briers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule [n] and flesh: and he shall bee as the [o] fainting of a standerd bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall [p] stay vpon the Lord, the holy One of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sande of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption [q] decreed shall ouerflow with righteousnes.

23 For the Lord God of hosts shall make the consumption, euen [r] determined in the mids of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, O my people that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shal smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of [s] Egypt:

25 But yet a very little time, & the wrath shall bee consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hosts shall rayse vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of [t] Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the [u] Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shal his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the [x] anoynting.

28 He is come [y] to Aiath, hee is passed into Migron: at Michmash shal he lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foord: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remooued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: hee shall lift vp his hand towarde the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the [z] bough with feare, and they of hie stature shall bee cut off, and the high shall be humbled.

34 And he shal cut away the thick places of the forrest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mighty fall.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the root of Iesse. 3 His vertues and kingdom. 6 The fruits of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

BVt there shall come a [a] rodde forth of the stock of Iesse, and a graffe shal grow out of his roots.

2 And the Spirit of the Lorde shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisedome & vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsel and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shal make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reproue by the hearing of his eares:

4 But with righteousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and with equity shal he reproue for the meeke of the earth: and hee shall [b] smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shal he slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall bee the girdle of his loynes, and faythfulnesse the girdle of his reynes.

6 The [c] Wolfe also shall dwell with the Lambe, and the Leopard shall lye with the Kidde, and the Calfe and the Lyon, and the fatte beast together, and a little childe shall leade them.

7 And the Cow, and the Beare shal feed: their yong ones shall lye together: and the lyon shall eate straw like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the Aspe, & the weaned child shall put his hand vpon the Cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holines: for the earth shalbe full of the knowledge of the Lord, as [d] the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day the roote of Iesse, which shall stande vp for a signe vnto the [e] people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his [f] rest shalbe glorious.

11 And in the same day shall the Lorde stretch out his hand [g] againe the second time to possesse the remnant of his people (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

12 And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the world.

y He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ierusalem, to confirme the faithful when it should come to passe, that as their plague was come, so should they be deliuered.

z Feare and destruction shall come vpon Iudah: for the princes and the people shall all be led away captiues.

a Because the captiuity of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuity vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ: for as Dauid came out of Ishai a man without dignity: so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house, as out of a dead stocke, Cha. 53.2.

b All these properties can agree to none but onely vnto Christ: for it is hee that toucheth the hearts of the faithfull, and mortifieth their concupiscences: and to the wicked he is the sauour of death, and to them that shall perish: so that all the world shal be smitten with this rodde, which is his word.

c Men because of their wicked affections are named by the names of beasts, wherein the like affections reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutuall charity, that they shal be like lambes, fauouring and louing one another, and cast off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65.25.

g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and nowe promiseth to deliuer them out of their enemies handes, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans, and them of Antiochia, among whome they were dispersed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people, being dispersed through all the world.

h Here he describeth the consent that shall bee in his Church, & their victory against their enemies.

i Meaning, a corner of the sea that entreth into the land, & hath the forme of a tongue.

k To wit, Nilus the great riuer of Egypt, which entreth into the sea with seuen streames.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shall bee cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie [h] Iudah, neither shall Iudah vexe Ephraim:

14 But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims towarde the West: they shal spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shalbe the stretching out of their handes, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

15 The Lord also shal vtterly destroy the [i] tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty winde shall lift vp his hande [k] ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, & cause men to walke therein with shoes.

16 And there shall bee a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

a Hee sheweth how the Church shall praise God, when they are deliuered from their captiuity.

2 Behold, God is my [b] saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lord God is *my strength and song: he also is become my saluation.

3 Therefore with ioy shal ye [c] draw waters out of the wels of saluation.

4 And ye shal say in that day, *Praise the Lord: call vpon his name: declare his works among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lord, for hee hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the world.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

a That is, a great calamitie, which was prophesied to come on Babel as a most grieuous burden, which they were not able to beare. In these twelue chapters following, he speaketh of the plagues wherewith God would smite these strange nations (whome they knewe) to declare that God chastised the Israelites as his children, and these others as his enemies: also that if God spare not these that be ignorant, that they must not thinke strange if he punished them that haue knowledge of his Lawe and kept it not.

THE [a] burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amos did see.

2 Lift vp a standard vpon the high mountaine: lift vp the voice vnto them: wag the [b] hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.

3 I haue commanded them that I haue [c] sanctified: and I haue called the mightie to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my [d] glory.

4 The noyse of a multitude is in the mountaines like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes numbreth the hoste of the battell.

b To wit, to the Medes and the Persians. c That is, prepared and appointed to execute my iudgements. d Which willingly go about the worke whereunto I appoynt them, but how the wicked do this, read Chap. 10.6.

5 They come from a far countrey, from the ende of the heauen: euen the Lord with the [e] weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle [f] you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shal come as a destroyer from the Almightie.

7 Therefore shal all hands be weakned, and all mens hearts shall melt,

8 And they shall be afraid: anguish and sorow shall take them, & they shal haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shall be amazed at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like [g] flames of fire.

9 Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the [h] starres of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the sunne shall be darkened in his going foorth, and the Moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I wil visite the wickednesse vpon the [i] world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the [k] proud to cease, and will cast down the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a [l] man more precious then fine gold, euen a man aboue the wedge of gold of Ophir.

13 Therefore I wil shake the heauen, and the earth shall remooue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hostes, & in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And [m] it shall be as a chased Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp: euery man shall turne to his owne people, and flee each one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is found, shalbe striken thorow: and whosoeuer ioyneth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 *Their [n] children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoyled, and their wiues rauished.

17 Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard siluer, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel the glory of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Caldeans shall bee as the destruction of God *in Sodome and Gomorah.

20 It shall not be inhabited for euer, neither shall it bee dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the [o] Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the sheepheards make their folds there.

21 But [p] Ziim shal lodge there, and their houses shalbe full of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyres shall daunce there.

e The armie of the Medes and the Persians against Babylon.

f Ye Babylonians.

g The Babylonians anger and griefe shall be so much, that their faces shall burne as fire.

h They that are ouercome shall thinke that all the powers of heauen and earth are against them, Ezekiel 32.7. ioel. 3.15. matth. 24.29.

i He compareth Babylon to the whole world, because they so esteemed themselues by reason of their great empire.

k He noteth the principall vice, whereunto they were most giuen, as are all that abound in wealth.

l He noteth the great slaughter that shall be, seeing the enemie shall neither for gold, or siluer, spare a mans life as verse 17.

m Meaning, the power of Babylon with their hired souldiers. Psal. 137.9.

n This was not accomplished when Cyrus tooke Babylon, but after the death of Alexander the great. Gene. 19.24. iere. 50.40.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the king. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

FOr [a] the Lord will haue compassion of Iakob, and will yet chuse Israel, and cause the to rest in their own land: and the stranger [b] shal ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

2 And the people shall receiue them, and bring them to their own place, and the house of Israel shal possesse them in the land of the Lord, for [c] seruants and handmaides: and they shall take them prisoners, whose cap-tiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressors

3 ¶ And in that day when the Lord shal giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou didst serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the king of Babel, & say, How hath the oppressour ceased? and the golde thirsty Babel rested?

5 The Lorde hath broken the rod of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plagne, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did [d] not let.

7 The whole worlde is at [e] rest and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art layde downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneath is mooued for thee to [f] meete thee at thy comming, raising vp the dead for thee, euen al the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall crie, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, & the sound of thy viols: the worme is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O [h] Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cut downe to the ground, which didst cast lots vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saydst in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the [i] North.

14 I will ascend aboue the height of the cloudes, and will be like the most High.

15 But thou shalt bee brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee shall [k] looke vpon thee, & consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes?

17 He made the world as a wildernesse, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not [l] the house of his prisoners.

18 All the Kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glory: euery one in his own house.

19 But thou art [m] cast out of the graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are slaine: and thrust thy-row with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feet.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowmed for euer.

21 [n] Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp, nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will rise vp against them (saith the Lord of hostes) and I will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the nephew, saith the Lord.

23 And I will make it a possession to the [‖] hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction,
saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lord of hosts hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 [o] That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shal depart from [p] them, and his burden shall be taken off from their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hande stretched out ouer all the nations,

27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shal turn it away?

28 ¶ In the yeere that King Ahaz died, was this [q] burden.

29 Reioyce not (thou whole [r] Palestina) because the rod of him that did beat thee, is broken: for out of the serpents root shal come forth a cocatrice, and the fruit thereof shal be a fiery flying serpent.

30 For the [s] first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and [t] it shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, cry, O citty: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the [u] North a smoke, & none shall be [x] alone at his time appointed.

32 What

a He sheweth why God will haste to destroy his enemies: to wit, because he will deliuer his Church.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shal be ioyned with the Church, and worship God.

c Signifying, that the Iewes should bee superiours to the Gentiles, and that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby all are brought to the subiection of Christ, 2. Cor. 10. 5.

d That is, he suffered all violence and iniuries to be done.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reigne, there can bee no rest nor quietnesse, and also how detestable a thing tyranny is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

f As though they feared, lest thou shouldest trouble the dead, as thou didst the liuing: and here he derideth the proud tyrannie of the wicked which know not that all creatures wish their destruction that they may reioyce.

g In stead of thy costly carpets and couerings.

h Thou that thoughtest thy selfe most glorious, and as it were placed in the heauen: for the morning starre that goeth before the sunne is called Lucifer, to whom Nebuchadnezzar is compared.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, wherof the Temple was on the North side, as Psal. 48 2. whereby he meaneth that tyrants fight against God, when they persecute his Church, and would set themselues in his place, k In marueiling at thee.

m Thou wast not buried in the sepulchre of thy fathers, thy tyranny was so abhorred.

n He calleth to the Medes and Persians, and all those that should execute Gods vengeance.

o As I haue begun to destroy the Assyrians in Sancherib, so will I continue & destroy them wholly, when I shall deliuer you from Babylon.

q Read Chap. 13. 1.

r He willeth the Philistims not to reioyce because the Iewes are diminished in their power: for their strength shall bee greater then euer it was.

s The Israelites which were brought to most extreme miserie.

t To wit, my people.

u That is, from the Iewes or Assyrians: for they both were North from Palestina.

x But they shall be all ready and ioyned together.

y Which ſhall come to enquire of the ſtate of the Church.
z They ſhal anſwere, that the Lord doth defend his church, & them that ioyne themſelues thereunto.

32 What ſhall then one anſwere y the meſſengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath eſtabliſhed z Zion, and the poore of his people ſhall truſt in it.

CHAP. XV.

A propheſie againſt Moab.

a Read chap. 13.1.
b The chiefe citie, whereby the whole countrey was meant.
c The Moabites ſhall flee to their idoles for ſuccour, but it ſhalbe too late.
d Which were cities of Moab.
e For as in the Weſt parts the people vſed to let their haire grow long, when they mourned, ſo in the Eaſt parts they cut it off.
f The Prophet ſpeaketh this in the perſon of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgement of God, that ſhould come vpon them.
g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleaſure and neuer felt ſorrow.
h He deſcribeth the miſerable diſſipation and flight of the Moabites.
i To hide themſelues & their goods there.
k Of them that are ſlain.
l So that by no meanes they ſhould eſcape the hand of God: thus wil God puniſh the enemies of his Church.

THE a burden of Moab. Surely b Ar of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence in a night: ſurely Kir of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence in a night.

2 c He ſhall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for d Nebo and for Medeba ſhal Moab howle: vpon all e their heads ſhalbe baldnes, and euery beard ſhauen.

3 In their ſtreetes ſhall they bee girded with ſackecloth: on the tops of their houſes, and in their ſtreetes euery one ſhall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heſhbon ſhall cry, and Elealeh: their voyce ſhalbe heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warriours of Moab ſhall ſhout: the ſoule of euery one ſhall lament in himſelfe.

5 Mine f heart ſhall cry for Moab: his fugitiues ſhall flee vnto Zoar, g an heifer of three yeere old: for they ſhal go vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they h ſhall raiſe vp a cry of deſtruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhalbe dryed vp: therefore the graſſe is withered, the herbes conſumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their ſubſtance ſhal they beare to the i brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went rounde about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the ſcriking thereof vnto Beer Elim.

9 Becauſe the waters of Dimon ſhalbe full k of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lions l vpon him that eſcapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP XVI.

The cauſes wherefore the Moabites are deſtroyed.

a That is, offer a ſacrifice: whereby he deſireth their long delay, which would not repent when b Lord called thē, ſhewing them that it is now too late ſeeing the vengeance of God is vpon them.
b There is no remedy but you muſt flee.
c He ſheweth what Moab ſhould haue done, when Iſrael their neighbour was in affliction, to whom becauſe they would giue no ſhadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortleſſe.
d The Aſſyrians ſhal oppreſſe the Iſraelites, but for a while.

SEND a ye a lambe to the ruler of the world from the rocke of the wildernes vnto the mountayne of the daughter Zion.

2 For it ſhalbe as a bird that b flyeth, and a neſt forſaken: the daughters of Moab ſhal be at the foords of Arnon.

3 Gather a counſell, execute iudgement: c make thy ſhadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chaſed out: bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my baniſhed dwel with thee: Moab bee thou their couert from the face of the deſtroyer: for the extortioner d ſhall end: the deſtroyer ſhalbe conſumed, and the oppreſſor ſhall ceaſe out of the land.

5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be prepared, and e hee ſhall ſit vpon it in ſtedfaſtnes, in the tabernacle of David, iudging, and ſeeking iudgement, and haſting iuſtice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (hee is very proud) euen his pride and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his f lies ſhall not be ſo.

7 Therefore ſhal Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one ſhall howle: for the foundations of Kir hareſeth ſhall ye mourne, yet they ſhalbe g ſtricken.

8 For the vineyards of Heſhbon are cut downe, & the vine of Sibmah: h the Lords of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto i Jaazer: they wandred in the wildernes: her goodly branches ſtretched out themſelues, and went ouer the ſea.

9 Therefore wil k I weepe with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heſhbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee dronke with my teares, becauſe vpon thy ſummer fruites, and vpon thy harueſt l a ſhouting is fallen.

10 And gladneſſe is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull fielde: and in the vineyardes ſhall bee no ſinging nor ſhouting for ioy: the treader ſhall not tread wine in the wine preſſes: I haue cauſed the reioycing to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore, my m bowels ſhall ſounde like an harpe for Moab, and mine inwarde parts for Kir-hareſh.

12 And when it ſhal appeare that Moab ſhall be weary of his hie places, then ſhall he come to his n temple to pray, but hee ſhal not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lorde hath ſpoken againſt Moab ſince that time.

14 And now the Lord hath ſpoken, ſaying, o In three yeres, as the yeres of an hireling, & the glory of Moab ſhalbe contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant ſhalbe very ſmall and feeble.

f Their vaine confidence and proud brags ſhall deceiue them, as Iere. 48.2.
g For all your mourning, yet the cry ſhall be deſtroied, euen vnto the foundations.
h That is, the Aſſyrians, and other enemies.
i Meaning, that the country of Moab was now deſtroyed, & all ſ precious things therof were caried into the borders, yea into other countreyes, and ouer the ſea.
k He ſheweth that their plague was ſo great, ſ it would haue moued any man to lament with thē, as Pſal. 141.5.
l The enemies are come vpon thee, and ſhout for ioy, when they carry thy commodities from thee, as Iere. 48.33.
m For very ſorrow and compaſſion.
n They ſhall vſe al means to ſeeke helpe of their idoles & all in vaine: for Chemos their great god ſhall not be able to helpe them.
o Hee appointed a certaine time to puniſh the enemies in.
p Who wil obſerue iuſtly the time, for ſ which he is hired, and ſerue no longer, but will euer long for it.

CHAP. XVII.

A propheſie of the deſtruction of Damaſcus, and Ephraim. 7 Calamity moueth to repentance.

a Reade Chap. 13.1.
b The chiefe city of Syria.
c It was a countrey of Syria by the riuer Arnon.
d It ſeemeth that the Prophet would comfort the Church in declaring the deſtruction of theſe two kings of Syria & Iſrael, when as they had conſpired the ouerthrowe of Iudah.
e The ten tribes gloried in their multitude & alliance with other nations: therefore he ſaith that they ſhalbe brought downe, and the Syrians alſo,

THE a burden of b Damaſcus. Beholde, Damaſcus is taken away from being a city, for it ſhalbe a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of c Aroer ſhalbe forſaken: they ſhall be for the flockes: for they ſhal lie there, and none ſhall make them afrayd.

3 The munition alſo ſhall ceaſe from d Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damaſcus, and the remnant of Aram ſhall bee as the e glorie of the children of Iſrael,

saith the Lord of hostes.

4 And in that day the glory of f Iaakob shall be vnpouerished, and the fatnesse of his flesh shalbe made leane.

5 And it shalbe as when the harvest man gathereth the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shall bee as hee that gathereth the eares in the valley of n Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall i be left in it, as the shaking of an Olive tree, two or three berries are in the toppe of the vtmost boughes, and foure or fiue in the high branches of the fruit thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his k maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neyther shall hee looke to those things, which his own fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which l they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shalbe desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange m vine branches.

11 In the day shalt thou make the plant to growe, & in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day n of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 o Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sound like the noyse of mighty waters.

13 The people shal make a sound like the noyse of many waters, but God shall p rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shalbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the wind, and as a rowling thing before the whirlewind.

14 And loe, in the euening there is q trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

f Meaning of the ten tribes, which boasted themselues of their nobility, prosperity, strength and multitude.

g As the abundance of corne doth not feare the harvest men that should cut it downe: no more shal the multitude of Israel make the enemies to shrink, whō God shall appoynt to destroy them.

h Which valley was plentiful and fertile.

i Because God would haue his couenant stable, he promiseth to reserue some of this people, and to bring them to repentance.

k He sheweth that Gods correctiōs euer bring forth some fruit, and cause his to turne from their sinnes, & to humble themselues to him.

l As the Canaanites left their cities whē God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israel shall no more be able to defend their inhabitants, then bushes, whē God shall send the enemie to plague them.

m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreyes.

n As the Lord threateneth the wicked in his law, Leu. 26 16.

o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number and gathered of many nations.

p He addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull which were in Israel.

q Hee compareth the enemies, the Assyrians, to a tempest which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church, 7 and of the vocation of the Gentiles.

OH, the a lande shadowing with wings, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia,

2 Sending ambassadours by the Sea, euen in vessels of b reedes vpon the waters, saying, c Go yee swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible d people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by little and little euen tredden vnder foote, whose land the e floods haue spoyled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the world and dwellers in the earth, shall see when f he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpe, ye shall heare.

4 For the Lord sayd vnto me, I will g rest and beholde in my tabernacle, as h the heate drying vp the raine, and as a cloud of deawe in the heat of harvest.

5 For afore the harvest when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shal take away, and cut off the boughes.

6 They shall bee left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the i beasts of the earth: for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a k present be brought vnto the Lorde of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

a Which in those countreyes were great: insomuch as they made ships of them for swiftnesse.

b This may be taken that they sent other to cōfort the Iewes, & to promise them help against their enemies, & so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength, ỹ the Iewes should not trust therein: or that they did solicite the Egyptians & promised them ayde to goe against Iudah.

d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nations afraid of the like, as God threatned, Deut. 28 37.

e Meaning, the Assyrians, as Cha. 8.7.

f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians.

g I will stay a while from punishing the wicked.

h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby he meaneth, that hee will seeme to saueur them, and giue them abundance for a time, but hee will suddenly cut them off.

i Not onely men shall contemne them, but the bruite beastes.

k Meaning, that God will pitie his Church, and receiue that little remnant as an offring vnto himselfe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

THe a burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lorde b rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be mooued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall c fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, city against city, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the d spirit of Egypt shall faile in the middest of her, and I will destroy their counsel, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, & at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lordes, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, sayeth the Lord God of hostes.

a Reade Chap. 13.1.

b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the valiantnes of their men, the Lorde sheweth that he will come ouer al their munitions in a swift cloud, and that their idoles shall tremble at his comming, & that mens hearts shall faint.

c As hee caused the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God, 2. Chron. 20. 22, and Chap. 49. 26.

d Meaning, their policie, and wisedome.

5 Then

e He sheweth ỹ the sea and Nilus their great riuer, whereby they thought themselues most sure, should not bee able to defend them from his anger, but that he would send the Assyrians among them, that should keepe them vnder as slaues.

f For Nilus ran into the sea by seuen streames, as though they were so many riuers.

g The Ebrew word is mouth, whereby they meane the spring, out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth.

h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other things, whereby countreyes are inriched.

i Called also Tanes a famous citie vpon Nilus.

k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the King that he was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient,

5 Then the waters of the sea shall [e]faile, and the riuer shalbe dried vp and wasted.

6 And the [f] riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shall bee emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges shal be cut downe.

7 The grasse in ỹ riuer and at the [g] head of the riuers, and al that groweth by the riuer, shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more,

8 The fishers also shall [h]mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shall lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shalbe weakned.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sortes, shalbe confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nets shall bee broken, and all they that make ponds, shall bee heauie in heart.

11 Surely the princes of [i]Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I [k]am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The Princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of [l] Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen they [m]corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit [n] of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomit.

15 Neither shall there bee any worke in Egypt, which the head may [o] doe, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt bee like vnto women: for it shall bee afraid and feare because of the mooning of the hand of ỹ Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall be a feare [p] vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraide thereat, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which hee hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall fiue cities in the lande of Egypt [q] speake the language of Canaan, and shall [r] sweare by the Lorde of hostes: one shall be called the citie of [r] destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord bee in the middes of the land of Egypt, and [s] a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shall bee for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crie vnto the Lord, because of the oppressors, and hee shall send them [u] a Sauiour and a great man, & shall deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shall bee knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe [x] sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shal smite and heale it: for hee shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from [y] Egypt to Assyr, and Assyr shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Assyr: so the Egyptians shall worship with Assyr.

24 In that day shall Israel bee the third with Egypt and Assyr, euen a blessing in the mids of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed bee my people Egypt and Assyr, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

s There shall be euident signes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of speech is taken of the Patriarks and ancient times, when God had not as yet appointed the place, and full maner how he would be worshipped.

u This declareth that this prophesie should be accomplished in the time of Christ.

x By these ceremonies, he comprehendeth the spirituall seruice vnder Christ.

y By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies of the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should be all one fold vnder Christ their shepheard.

CHAP. XX.

2 The three yeres captiuitie of Egypt & Ethiopia described by the three yeres going naked of Isaiah.

IN the yeere that [a] Tartan came to [b] Ashdod, (when [c] Sargon king of Assyr sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it, a Who was a captaine of Sancherib, 2 King. 18.17.

b A citie of the Philistims.

c The Ebrewes write that Sancherib was so called.

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Go, & loose the [d] sackecloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked, and barefoote.

d Which signifieth that the prophet did lament the miserie that hee saw prepared before the three yeeres, that he went naked and barefooted.

3 And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the king of Assyr take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and old men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare and bee ashamed of [e] Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt [f] their glory.

e In whose ayde they trusted.

f Of whom they boasted and gloried.

6 Then shall the inhabitant of this [g] yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither wee fled for helpe to be deliuered from the king of Assyr, and how shall we be deliuered?

g Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an yle with waters.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 and of Arabia.

THe burden of [a] the desert sea. As the whirle-windes in the South vse to passe from the wildernesse, so shall it [b] come a On the sea side betweene Iudea & Caldea was a wildernes, wherby he meaneth Caldea.

b That is, the ruine of Babylon by the Medes and Persians.
c The Assyrians and Caldeans, which had destroyed other nations, shall be ouercome of the Medes and Persians: & this he prophesied an hundreth yeere before it came to passe. d By Elam hee meaneth the Persians.
e Because they shall find no succor they shall mourne no more, or I haue caused them to cease mourning, whom Babylon had afflicted.
f This the Prophet speaketh in the person of the Babylonians.
g He prophesieth the death of Belshazzar, as Dan. 5. 30. who in the middes of his pleasures was destroyed.
h Whiles they are eating and drinking, they shalbe commanded to runne to their weapons.
i To wit, in a vision by the Spirit of prophesie.
k Meaning, charets of men of warre, and others that caried the baggage.
l Meaning, Darius, which ouercame Babylon.
m The watchman, whom Isaiah set vp, tolde him, who came toward Babylon, & the Angel declared that it should bee destroyed: all this was done in a vision. Ierem. 51. 8. reuel. 14. 8.
n Meaning, Babylon. ‡Ebr. sonne.
o Which was a citie of the Ishmaelites, and was so named of Dumah, Gene. 25. 14.
p A mountaine of the Idumeans.
q He describeth the vnquietnesse of the people of Dumah, who were night and day in feare of their enemies, and euer ranne to and fro to inquire newes.
r For feare, the Arabians shall flee into the woods, and hee appointeth what way they shall take.
s Signifying that for feare they shall not tarie to eate nor drinke.
t He appointeth them respite for one yeere onely, and then they should be destroyed.
u Reade Chap. 16. 14.

b come from the horrible land.

2 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto mee, The c transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer, Goe vp d Elam, beseige Media: I haue caused all the mourning e thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my f loynes filled with sorrow: sorrowes haue taken me as the sorrowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it: and I was amased when I saw it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearefulnesse troubled me: the nights of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto mee.

5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: arise, ye princes, anoynt the shield.

6 For thus hath the g Lord said vnto me, Goe, set a watchman to tell what he seeth.

7 And hee saw a caret with two horsemen: k a caret of an asse, and a caret of a camell: and hee hearkned, and tooke diligent heede.

8 And hee cried, A l yon: my Lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am set in my watch euery night:

9 And behold, this mans caret commeth with two horsemen. And m he answered and said, *Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.

10 O n my threshing, and the ‡ corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 ¶ The burthen of o Dumah. He calleth vnto mee out of p Seir. Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

12 The watchman said, The q morning commeth, and also the night. If ye will aske, enquire: returne and come.

13 ¶ The burden against Arabia. In r the forest of Arabia shall yee tarie all night, euen in the wayes of Dedanim.

14 O inhabitants of the land of Tema, bring forth f water to meete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread.

15 For they flee from the drawen swords, euen from the drawen sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grieuousnesse of warre.

16 For thus hath the Lorde sayde vnto mee, Yet a yeere t according to the yeeres of an u hireling, and all the glorie of Kedar shall faile.

17 And the residue of the number of the strong archers of the sonnes of x Kedar shal bee few: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

x Which was the name of a people of Arabia: and by the horrible destruction of all these nations, he teacheth the Iewes that there is no place for refuge or to escape Gods wrath, but onely to remaine in his Church, and to liue in his feare.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchad-nezzar. 15 A threatning against Shebna, 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

THe burden of the a valley of vision. What b ayleth thee now that thou art wholly gone vp vnto the house tops?

a Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountaines, and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophets which were alwayes there, whom they named Seers.

2 Thou that art full of c noyse, a citie full of bruite, a toyous citie: thy slaine men shall not bee slaine d with sword, nor die in battell.

b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house toppes for feare of their enemies.
c Which wast wont to be full of people and ioy.
d But for hunger.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bow: they shall be e bound: all that shall be found in thee, shall be bound together, which haue fled from f farre.

e And led into captiuine.
f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour.

4 Therefore sayd I, Turne away from mee: I will weepe g bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

g Hee sheweth what is the duetie of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, and specially of the ministers, Iere. 9. 1.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a h crying vnto the mountaines.

h That is, the shoute of the enemies whom God had appointed to destroy the citie.

6 ¶ And Elam i bare the quiuer in a mans caret with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

i He putteth them in mind how God deliuered them once from Sancherib, who brought the Persians and Cyrenians with him, that they might by returning to God, auoyde that great plague which they should else suffer by Nebuchad-nezzar.

7 And thy chiefe valleyes were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate.

8 And he discouered the k couering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

k The secret place where the armour was: to wit, in the house of the forrest, 1 Kings. 7. 2.

9 And ye haue seene l the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

l Ye fortified the ruinous places, which were neglected in time of peace: meaning, the whole citie and the citie of Dauid, which was within the compasse of the other.

10 And ye numbred the houses m of Ierusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall, m Either to pull downe such as might hurt, or else to knowe what men they were able to make.

11 And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walles, for n the waters of the olde poole: and haue not looked vnto the maker o thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde.

n To prouide if neede should bee of water.
o To God that made Ierusalem: that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes then in God.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hostes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnesse and girding with sackecloth.

13 And behold, ioy and gladnesse, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and

p In ſtead of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheare, contemning the admonitions of the Prophets, ſaying, Let vs eate and drinke: for our Prophets, ſay, that we ſhall die to morow.

q Becauſe the Ebrew worde doeth alſo ſignifie one that doeth nouriſh and cheriſh, there are of the learned that thinke, that this wicked man did nouriſh ſecret friendſhip with the Aſſyrians and Egyptians, to betray the Church, and to prouide for himſelfe againſt all dangers: in the meane ſeaſon he packt craftily, and gat of the beſt offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aſpiring to the hieſt.

r Meaning, that he was a ſtranger and came vp of nothing.

ſ Whereas he thought to make his name immortall by his famous ſepulchre, he died moſt miſerably among the Aſſyrians.

t Signifying, that whatſoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to the ſhame of thoſe Princes, by whom they are preferred.

u To be ſteward againe, out of the which office hee had beene put by the craft of Shebna.

x I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernment of the kings houſe.

y I will eſtabliſh him and confirme him in his office: of this phraſe, read Ezra. 9. 9.

z Meaning, that both ſmall and great that ſhall come of Eliakim, ſhall haue praiſe and glory by this faithfull officer.

a Hee meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement ſhould neuer haue fallen.

drinking wine, p eating and drinking for to morow we ſhall die.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lorde of hoſtes, Surely this iniquitie ſhal not be purged from you, till ye die, ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, Goe get thee to that q treaſurer, to Shebna, the Steward of the houſe, and ſay:

16 What haſt thou to do here? & whome haſt thou r here? that thou ſhouldeſt heere hewe thee out a ſepulchre, as hee that heweth out his ſepulchre in an hie place, or that graueth an habitation ſ for himſelfe in a rocke?

17 Behold, the Lord will cary thee away with a great captiuity, and will ſurely couer thee.

18 He will ſurely roll and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there ſhalt thou die, and there the charets of thy glory ſhall be the t ſhame of the Lords houſe.

19 And I will driue thee from thy ſtation, and out of thy dwelling will he deſtroy thee.

20 And in that day will I u call my ſeruant Eliakim the ſonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I ſtrengthen him: thy power alſo will I commit into his hande, and he ſhall bee a father of the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and of the houſe of Iudah.

22 And the x key of the houſe of Dauid will I lay vpon his ſhoulder: ſo he ſhal open and no man ſhall ſhut: and he ſhall ſhut and no man ſhall open.

23 And I will faſten him as a y naile in a ſure place, and he ſhalbe for the throne of glory to his fathers houſe.

24 And they ſhall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers houſe, euen of the nephewes and poſteritie z all ſmall veſſels from the veſſels of the cups, euen to all the inſtruments of muſicke.

25 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, ſhall the a naile, that is faſtened in the ſure place, depart, and ſhall be broken, and fall: and the burden that was vpon it, ſhalbe cut off: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A propheſie againſt Tyrus. 17 A promiſe that it ſhall be reſtored.

a Reade chap. 13. 1.

THe a burden of Tyrus. Howle, ye ſhips of b Tarſhiſh: for it c is deſtroyed, ſo that there is none houſe: none ſhall come from the land of d Chittim: it is e reuealed vnto them.

2 Be ſtill, ye that dwell in the yles: the merchants of Zidon, and ſuch as paſſe ouer the ſea, haue f replenished thee.

3 The g ſeede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the harueſt of the riuer was her reuenues, and ſhe was a marte of the nations.

4 Be aſhamed, thou Zidon: for the h ſea hath ſpoken, euen the ſtrength of the ſea, ſaying, I haue not i trauelled, nor brought forth children, neither nouriſhed yong men, nor brought vp virgines.

5 When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they ſhall be k ſory, concerning the rumor of Tyrus.

6 Goe you ouer to l Tarſhiſh: howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne feet ſhall leade her afarre off to bee a ſotourner.

8 Who hath decreed this againſt Tyrus (that m crowneth men) whoſe merchants are princes, whoſe chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hoſts hath decreed this, to ſtaine the pride of all glory, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Paſſe through thy land like a flood to the n daughter of Tarſhiſh: there is no more ſtrength.

11 Hee ſtretched out his hande vpon the ſea: hee ſhooke the kingdomes: the Lorde hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of merchandiſe, to deſtroy the power thereof.

12 And he ſayd, Thou ſhalt no more reioyce, when thou art oppreſſed: o O virgine p daughter of Zidon, riſe vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim, yet there ſhalt thou haue no reſt.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: q Aſſhur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernes: they ſet vp the towers thereof: they raiſed the palaces thereof, and he r brought it to ruine.

14 Howle yee ſhips of Tarſhiſh: for your ſ ſtrength is deſtroyed.

15 And in that day ſhal Tyrus be forgotten ſeuentie yeeres (according to the yeeres of one king) at the ende of t ſeuentie yeeres, ſhall Tyrus u ſing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe, and go about the citie: (thou harlot that hall bene forgotten) x make ſweet melodie, ſing mo ſongs that thou mayeſt be remembred.

17 And at the end of ſeuentie yeeres ſhall the Lord viſit Tyrus, and ſhe ſhall returne to her y wages, and ſhall commit fornication b Ye of Cilicia, that come thither for merchandiſe.

c Tyrus is deſtroyed by Nebuchad-nezzar.

d By Chittim they meant all the yles and countreyes Weſtward from Paleſtina.

e All men know of this deſtruction, f Haue haunted thee, and enriched thee.

g Meaning, the corne of Egypt, which was fed by the ouerflowing of Nilus.

h That is, Tyrus, which was the chiefe port of the ſea.

i I haue no people left in me, & am as a barren woman that neuer had child.

k Becauſe theſe two countreys were ioyned in league together.

l Tyrus willeth other Merchants to goe to Cilicia, and to come no more there.

m Who maketh her merchants like Princes.

n Thy ſtrength will no more ſerue thee: therefore flee to other countreys for ſuccour.

o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.

p Becauſe Tyrus was built by them of Zidon.

q The Caldeans which dwelt in tents in the wilderneſſe were gathered by the Aſſyrians into cities.

r The people of the Caldeans deſtroyed the Aſſyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that ſeeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Aſſyrians, which were ſo great a nation, much more ſhall theſe two nations of Caldea and Aſſyria be able to ouerthrow Tyrus.

ſ That is, Tyrus, by whom ye are enriched

t Tyrus ſhal lie deſtroyed ſeuentie yeres, which he calleth the reigne of one King, or a mans age.

u Shal vſe all craft and ſubtiltie to entiſe men againe to her.

x Shee ſhall labour by all meanes to recouer her firſt credite, as an harlot, when ſhe is long forgotten, ſeeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers.

y Though ſhe haue bene chaſtiſed of the Lord, yet ſhe ſhall returne to her olde wicked practiſes, and for gaine ſhall giue her ſelfe to all mens luſts like an harlot.

with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

z He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthy gaine, vnto the true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shal be z holy vnto the Lord: it shal not be laid vp nor kept in store, but her merchandise shall be for them that dwel before the Lord, to eat sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserued shall praise the Lord.

a This prophesie is as a conclusion of that which hath bin threatned to the Iewes and other nations, from the 13. Chapter, and therefore by the earth he meaneth those lands, which were before named.

BEhold, the Lord maketh the a earth emptie, and he maketh it waste: he turneth it vpside downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shalbe like people like b priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsury.

3 The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lorde hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the world is feebled and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth c also deceyueth, because of the inhabitantes thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.

6 Therfore hath the d curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants therof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are c burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine fayleth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merry heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drink wine with mirth: strong drinke shall bee bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The city of e vanity is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all ioy is darkened: the f mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the city is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 ¶ Surely thus shall it bee in the mids of the earth, among the people, g as the shaking of an oliue tree, & as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voyce: they shal shoute for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from i the sea.

15 Wherefore prayse yee the Lord in the valleyes, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard prayses, euen glory to the k Iust, and I sayde, My leannesse, my leannesse, wo is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, the transgressors haue grieuously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the m windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is moued exceedingly.

19 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shall bee remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 ¶ And in that day shal the Lord n visit the hoste aboue that is on high, euen the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shall bee gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall bee shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be o visited.

23 p Then the Moone shall bee abashed and the Sunne ashamed, when the Lorde of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall bee before his ancient men.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applied to them which were not of Aarons family, & so signifieth also a man of dignitie, as 2. Sam. 8. 18. & 20. 25. 1. chron. 18. 17. and by these words the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shall be neither religion, order, nor policie, Hose. 4. 9.

c That is, rendereth not her fruit for the sinne of the people, whom the earth deceiued of their nourriture, because they deceiued God of his honour.

d Written in the Law, as Leuit. 26. 14. deute. 28. 16. thus the Prophets vsed to apply particularly the menaces and promises, which are generall in the Law.

e With heat & drought, or els, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath.

f Which as it was without order, so now should it bee brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.

g Because they did not vse Gods benefits aright, their pleasures should fayle, and they fall to mourning.

h Hee comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolation the Lord will assemble his Church, which shall praise his Name, as Chap. 10. 22.

i From the vtmost coasts of the world, where the Gospel shall be preached, as verse 16.

k Meaning, to God, who will publish his Gospel through all the world.

l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies and domesticall. Some reade, my secret, my secret: that is, it was reueiled to the Prophet, that the good should be preserued, and the wicked destroyed.

m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should bee ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.

n There is no power so high or mighty, but God will visit him with his rods.

o Not with his rods, as verse 21. but shall be comforted.

p When God shall restore his Church, the glory thereof shall so shine, and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the Sunne and the Moone shalbe darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiuing to God in that that he sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked, and maintaining the godly.

O Lord, thou a art my God: I will exalt thee, I will prayse thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable truth.

a Thus the Prophet giueth thanks to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections and make them of his Church which before were his enemies.

2 For thou hast made of a b citie an heape, of a strong citie a ruine: euen the palace c of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

b Not only of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities, which haue bene thine enemies.

c That is, a place whereas all vagabonds may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace.

3 Therefore shall the d mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the city of the strong nations shall feare thee.

d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

4 For thou hast beene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heate: for the blast e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof.

f Meaning, that as the heat is abated by the raine, so shal God bring downe the rage of the wicked.
g As a cloud shadoweth from the heate of the sunne, so shall God asswage the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.
h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which should vnder Christ be assembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banket, as Matt. 22.2.
i Meaning, that ignorance and blindnesse, wherby we are kept backe from Christ.

e of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, f as the heate in a drie place: he will bring downe the song of the mightie, as g the heat in the shadow of a cloud.

6 And in this h mountaine shal the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines fined and purified.

7 And he wil destroy in this mountaine i the couering that coureth all people, and the valle that is spread vpon all nations.

8 He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will k wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people wil he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Lo, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and l Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as strawe is threshed in m Madmenah.

11 And he shal stretch out his hand in the mids of them (as hee that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall hee bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shal he bring downe, and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

k Hee will take away all occasions of sorrow, and fill his with perfect ioy, Reuel.7.17. and 21.4.
l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church.
m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1.Chron.2.49. and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48.2 Which seemeth to haue beene a plentifull place of corne, Chapter 10.31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

a This song was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.
b Gods protection and defence shall bee sufficient for vs.
c Hee assureth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem. cannot be changed.
d Thou hast decreed so, and thy purpose
e There is no power so hie, that can let God, when he will deliuer his.

IN that day shall a this song bee sung in the lande of Iudah, Wee haue a strong citie: b saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes.

2 c Open yee the gates, that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.

3 By an assured d purpose wilt thou preserue perfit peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For hee will bring them downe that dwell on high: e the high citie he will abase: euen vnto the ground will hee cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the f poore, and the steppes of the needie.

7 The way of the iust is righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy g iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirite within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne h righteousnesse.

10 Let mercy i bee shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousnesse: in the land of vprightnes wil he doe wickedly, and will not behold the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not beholde thine high hand: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with k the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine l enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other m lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but wee will remember thee onely, and thy Name.

14 The n dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased the o nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast inlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they p visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with child, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorrow, and crieth in her paines, so haue wee beene in thy q sight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceiued, we haue borne in paine, as though wee should haue brought foorth r winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of s the world fall.

19 ¶ t Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing, yee that dwell in dust: for thy u dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: x enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For loe, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the f God will set the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked.

g We haue constantly abode in the aduersities, wherewith thou hast afflicted vs.
h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.
i The wicked though God shew them euident signes of his grace, shall be neuer the better.
k Through enuie and indignation against thy people.
l The fire and vengeance, wherewith thou doest destroy thine enemies.
m The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy word.
n Meaning, that the reprobate euen in this life shall haue the beginning of euerlasting death.
o To wit, the companie of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.
p That is, the faithfull by thy rods were mooued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.
q To wit, in extreme sorrow.
r Our sorrowes had none end, neither did we enioy the comfort that wee looked for.
s The wicked and men without religion were not destroyed.
t Hee comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them, that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should most certainely rise to glorie: the contrarie should come to the wicked, as verse 14.
u As herbes dead in winter, flourish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they feele the dewe of Gods grace.
x Hee exhorteth the faithfull to bee patient in their afflictions, and to waite vpon Gods worke.

y The earth shall vomite, and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may crie for vengeance against the wicked.

earth shall disclose her y blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 and of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

IN that a day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie b sword shall visite Leuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Leuiathan that crooked serpent, and hee shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard c of red wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: lest any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger d is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thornes against mee in battell? I would goe thorow them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will he e keele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with mee?

6 f Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shal flourish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruit.

7 Hath hee smitten g him as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In h measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the i fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the k defenced citie shall bee desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken, and left like a wildernesse. There shall the calfe feed, and there shall hee lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drie, they shall bee broken: the l women come and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore hee that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and hee that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the m River, vnto the riuer of Egypt, and yee shall bee gathered one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe be n blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Assur: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennesse of Israel. 9 The vntowardnesse of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doth all things in time and place.

VVOe to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the b valley of them that bee fat, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mightie and c strong one, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall bee a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as d the hastie fruit afore summer, which when he that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the e residue of his people,

6 And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for f strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But g they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke, they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drink: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane.

9 h Whom shall hee teach knowledge? and whom shall hee make to vnderstand the things that yee heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawen from the breasts.

10 For i precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a stammering k tongue, and with a strange language shal he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom l hee said, m This is the rest:

a At the time appointed.
b That is, by his mightie power, and by his word. He prophesieth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdome vnder the name of Leuiathan, Assur and Egypt c Meaning, of the best wine which this vineyard, that is, the Church should bring foorth as most agreeable to the Lord.
d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sake, and cannot be angrie with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by briers and thornes.
e He marueileth that Israel will not come by gentlenesse, except God make them to feele his rods, and so bring them vnto him.
f Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe and bring foorth in great abundance.
g Hee sheweth that God punisheth his in mercie, and his enemies in iustice. h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction. i Hee sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed. k Notwithstanding his fauour that hee will shew them after: yet Ierusalem shall bee destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall grow in it. l God shall not haue needs of mightie enemies: for the very women shall doe it to their great shame. m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.
n In the time of Cyrus by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.
a Meaning, the proud kingdome of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperitie.
b Because the Israelites, for the most part dwelt in plentifull valleys, he meaneth hereby the valley of them that had abundance of worldly prosperitie, and were as it were crowned therewith, as with garlands.
c He seemeth to meane the Assyrians, by whom the ten tribes were caried away.
d Which is not of long continuance, but is soone ripe, and first eaten.
e Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperitie, but made God their glory, shall be preserued.
f He will giue counsell to the gouernour, and strength to the captaine, to driue the enemies in at their owne gates. g Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life and doctrine, which is here meant by drunkennesse and vomiting. h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as vnmeete as young babes. i They must haue one thing oftimes told. k Let one teach what hee can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strange language. l That is, the Prophet, whom God should send. m This is the doctrine, whereupon yee ought to stay and rest.

rest: a ginerest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shal the word of the o Lord bee vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little, that they may go and fall backward, and be broken and be snared and be taken.

14 Wherefore heare the word of the Lord, ye scornful men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a p couenant with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for wee haue made q falsehood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are wee hid,

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a r tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that beleeueth, s shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule and t righteousnesse to the balance, and the u haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflow x the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shalbe disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shal ye be trode downe by it.

19 (When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely y feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is z strait that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrow that one cannot wrap himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount a Perazim: he shal be wroth as in the valley b of Gibeon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

22 Now therefore bee no mockers, least your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce, hearken ye, and heare my speach.

24 Doth the plowman plow all the day, to sowe? doth hee open and breake the clots of his ground?

25 (When hee hath made it c plaine, will he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

26 For his God doth instruct him to haue discretion, and doth teach him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread corne when it is threshed, bee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also commeth from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsaile, and excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophesie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

AHa altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: b let them kill lambes.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shalbe heauinesse, and sorow, and it shall be vnto me like c an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the d ground, and thy speach shall be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shal bee out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy e strangers shall be like small dust: and the multitude of strong men shall bee as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall bee in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt bee visited of the Lorde of hosts with thunder and shaking and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the f multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall bee as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, he eateth: and when he awaketh his soule is empty: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and lo, hee is drinking, and when hee awaketh, behold, hee is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations bee that fight against mount Zion.

9 h Stay your selues and wonder: they are blinde, I make you blind: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath couered you with a n Shew to them that are wearie and haue need of rest, what is the true rest.

o Because they will not receiue the word of God when it is offered, it commeth of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before, Chap. 6, 9.

p They thought they had shifts to auoid Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.

q Though the Prophets condemned their idoles and vaine trust of falsehood, and vanity, yet the wicked thought in themselues that they would trust in these things.

r That is, Christ by whom all the building, must be tryed, and vpholden, Psal. 118. 22 Mat. 21. 42. acles 4. 11. rom. 9. 33. 1. pet 2. 6.

s He shall be quiet, and seeke none other remedies, but be content with Christ.

t In the restitution of this Church, iudgement and iustice shall reigne.

u Gods corrections & affliction.

x Affliction shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselues.

y Terrour & destruction shall make you to learne that which exhortations and gentlenesse could not bring you vnto.

z Your affliction shalbe so sore that you are not able to endure it.

a When Dauid ouercame the Philistims. 2. Sam. 5. 20. 1. Chr. 14. 11.

b Where Iosua discomfited fiue kings of the Amorites, Iosh. 10. 12.

c As the plowman hath his appointed time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for hee punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sort and some after another, so that his chosen seed is beaten, and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked.

a The Ebrewe word Ariel signifieth the lyon of God, and signifieth the Altar, because the Altar seemed to deuoure the sacrifice that was offered to God, as Ezek. 43. 16.

b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.

c Your citie shall be full of blood as an altar whereon they sacrifice.

d Thy speach shall be no more so lofty, and base, and low, as the very charmers, which are in low places.

e Thine hired souldiers in whome thou trustest shall be destroyed as dust or chaffe in a whirlewind.

f The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee, and that which thou makest thy vayne trust, shall come at vnawares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies.

g That is, hee thinketh that he eateth.

h Muse hereon as long as you list, yet shall yee finde nothing but occasion to bee astonied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eies: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I can i not: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And hee shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people k come neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their l feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisedome of their wise men shall m perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them that n seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lorde: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuices shal it not bee esteemed o as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Hee made mee not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, Hee had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shall bee p turned into Carmel? and Carmel shalbe counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shall cease, and the scornefull shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie shall be cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the q word, and tooke him in a snare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now bee confounded, neither now shall his face bee pale.

23 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine handes, in the mids of him they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, r shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured shall learne doctrine.

i Meaning, that it is all alike, either to reade or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderstand.

k Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, as Matth. 15 8.

l That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, and not by my word.

m Meaning, that whereas God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are but fooles and without vnderstanding.

n This is spoken of them which in heart despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

o For all your craft saith the Lord, you cannot be able to escape mine hands no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

p Shal there not be a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentifull place in respect of that it shall be then, may be taken as a forrest, as Chap. 32. 15. and thus he speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

q They that went about to finde fault with the Prophets words, and would not abide admonitions, but would intangle them and bring them into danger

r Signifying, that except God giue vnderstanding and knowledge, man cannot but still erre and murmure against him.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproueth the Iewes which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels, 3 And sought help of the Egyptians, 10 Despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore hee sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 But offereth mercie to the repentant.

WOe to the a rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and b couer with a couering, but not by my Spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt, your confusion.

4 For his c princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall bee all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shall be a shame and also a reproch.

6 ¶ The d burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the young and olde lyon, the viper, & fiery flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profit.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto e her, Their strength f is to sit still.

8 Now goe, and write g it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the h last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not i heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophesie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophesie k errors.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because yee haue cast off this worde, and trust in l violence and wickednesse, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment,

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a Potters potte, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not founde m a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of a pit.

a Who contrary to their promise, take not me for their protectour, and contrary to my commandement seeke helpe at strangers.

b They seeke shifts to cloke their doing, and not godly meanes.

c The chiefe of Israel went into Egypt in ambassy to seeke helpe, and abode at these cities.

d That is, a heauie sentence or prophesie against the beasts that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wildernesse, which was South from Iudah: signifying, that if the beasts should not bee spared, the men should bee punished much more grieuously.

e To wit, to Ierusalem.

f And not to come to and fro to seeke helpe.

g That is, this prophesie.

h That it may be a witnesse against them for all posteritie.

i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, and bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the worde of God, but delighted to bee flattered and led in errour, k Threaten vs not by the worde of God neither be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, as Ierem. 11. 21. l Meaning, in their stubbornesse against God, and the admonitions of his Prophets. m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shall be without recouery.

15 For thus saith the [r] Lord God, the holy One of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shal be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue sayd, No, but we will flee away vpon [o] horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall yee flee, till ye be left as a shippe mast vpon the [p] top of a mountaine, and as a beacon vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord waite, that he may haue [q] mercie vpon you, and therfore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of [r] iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: hee will certainely haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when he heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lorde hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy rayne shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see the ‖ raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a worde behinde thee, saying, This is the way, [t] walke yee in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And yee shall [s] pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, [u] Get thee hence.

23 Then shal he giue raine vnto thy seed, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shal be fat, and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell bee fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shouel, and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery high [x] mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towres shall fall.

26 Moreouer, the light of the Moone shall be as the light of the [y] Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lorde shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, [z] the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauy, his lippes are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his Spirite is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it diuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of [a] vanitie, and there shall bee a bridle to cause them to erre in the iawes of the people.

29 But there shal be a song vnto you as in the [b] night, when a solemne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mighty One of Israel.

30 And the Lord shal cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shal declare the lighting downe of his arme, with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and haile stones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Assur be destroyed, which smote with the [c] rodde.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall [d] cleane fast, which the Lorde shal lay vpon him with [e] tabrets and harps, and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight [f] against it.

33 For [g] Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the [h] King: hee hath made it [i] deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

n Oftimes by his Prophets he put you in remembrance of this, that you should only depend on him.

o We will trust to escape by our horses.

p Whereas all the trees are cut downe saue two or three to make masts.

q He commendeth the great mercies of God, who with patience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.

r Not only in punishing, but in vsing moderation in the same, as Iere. 10. 24. and 30. 11.

s God shal direct all thy wayes, and appoint thee how to goe either hither or thither.

t Ye shall cast away your idoles which you haue made of golde and siluer, with all that belongeth vnto them, as a most filthy thing and polluted.

u She wing that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deede we shew our selues enemies to idolatry.

x By these diuers maners of speach he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shall be so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

y When the Church shall be restored the glory thereof shall passe seuentimes the brightnesse of the Sunne: for by the Sunne and Moone, which are two excellent creatures, hee sheweth what shall bee the glory of the children of God in the kingdome of Christ.

z This threatning is against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemies of the people of God.

a To driue them to nothing: and thus God consumeth the wicked by that meanes, whereby he clenseth his.

b Ye shall reioyce at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioy of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.

c Gods plague.

d It shal destroy.

e With ioy and assurance of the victory.

f Against Babel: meaning the Assyrians and Babylonians.

g Here it is taken for hell, where the wicked are tormented, reade 2. Kin. 23. 10.

h So that their estate or degree cannot exempt the wicked.

i By these figuratiue speeches hee declareth the condition of the wicked after this life.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

WOe vnto them that goe [a] downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in chariots, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they bee very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy One of Israel, nor [b] seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is [c] wisest: therefore he will bring euil, and not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirit: and when the Lorde shall stretch out his hand, the [d] helper shall fall, and hee that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto mee, as the lion or lions whelpe roareth vpon his praye, against whome if a multitude of shepheards bee called hee will not bee afrayde at their voyce, neither will humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall a There were two speciall causes, why the Israelites should not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deuteronom. 17. 16. and 28. 68. lest they should forget the benefite of their redemption: and secondly, lest they should be corrupted with the superstition and idolatrie of the Egyptians, and so forsake God, Ier. 2. 18.

b Meaning, that they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly things, for they cannot trust in both.

c And knoweth their craftie enterprises, and will bring all to nought.

d Meaning, both the Egyptians and the Israelites.

the Lord of hostes come c downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flie, so shall the Lorde of hostes defend Jerusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it.

6 D ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as yee are d sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day, euery man shall e cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idols of gold, which your handes haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 h Then shall Ashur fall by the sword, not of man, neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, & he shall flee from the sword, and his yong men shall faint.

9 And he shall go for feare to his i tower, and his princes shall be afraid of the standard, sayeth the Lord, whose k fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Jerusalem.

c He sheweth the Iewes, that if they would put their trust in him, he is so able that none can resist his power: and so carefull ouer them, as a bird ouer her yong, which euer flieth about them for their defence: which similitude the Scripture vseth in diuers places, as Deut. 32.11. matth. 23.37.

d He toucheth their conscience that they might earnestly feele their grieuous sinnes, and so truely repent, for as such as now they are almost drowned, and past recouery.

e By these fruits your repentance shal be knowen, as Chap 2. 18.

h When your repentance appeareth. i This was accomplished soone after when Sancheribs army was discomfited, and he fled to his castle in Nineueh for succour. k To destroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernement of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

BEholde, a a King shall reigne in iustice, And the Princes shall rule b in iudgement.

2 And that man shall bee as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in c a weary land.

3 The eyes of d the seeing shall not bee shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall bee ready to speake distinctly.

5 A e niggard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will speake of niggardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make empty the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: hee deuiseth wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying wordes, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie.

9 ¶ Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, yee f careless daughters:

a This prophesie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Christ, and therfore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

b By iudgement and iustice is meant an vpright gouernement, both in police and religion.

c Where men are wearie with trauelling, for lacke of water.

d He promiseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods word, and vnderstanding, and zeale of the same contrary to the threatnings against the wicked, Chap. 6.9. and 29.10.

e Vice shall no more be called vertue, nor vertue esteemed by power and riches. f He prophesieth of such calamity to come, that they will not spare the women and children, and therefore willeth them to take heede and prouide.

hearken to my words.

10 Ye women, that are careless, shall be in feare g aboue a yeere in dayes: h for the vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come no more.

11 Yee women, that are at ease, be afraied: feare, O yee careless women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde sackcloth vpon the loynes.

12 Men shall lament for the i teates, euen for the pleasant fieldes, and for the fruitfull vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people shal grow thornes and bryers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioy in the citie of reioycing,

14 Because the palace shall bee forsaken, and the ‖ noyse of the citie shall bee left: the tower and fortresse shall bee dennes for euer, and the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, 15 Until the k Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wilderneesse become a fruitfull field, and the l plentious field bee counted as a forest.

16 And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull field.

17 And the worke of iustice shalbe peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer.

18 And my people shal dwel in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it hayleth, it shall fall on the forest, and the m citie shall be set in the low place.

20 Blessed are ye that n sow vpon all waters, and o driue thither the feete of the ore and the asse.

g Meaning, that the affliction should continue long, and when one yeere were past, yet they should looke for new plagues.

h God will take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, abundance of worldly goods.

i By the teates he meaneth the plentifull fields, whereby men are nourished, as children with the teate: or the mothers for sorow and leannesse, shall lacke milke.

k That is, when the Church shall bee restored: thus the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to comfort the godly, lest they should faint. l The field which is now fruitfull, shall be but as a barren forrest in comparison of that it shal be then, as Chap. 29.17. which shall bee fulfilled in Christs time: for then they that were before as the barren wildernesse, being regenerate, shall bee fruitfull, and they that had some beginning of godlinesse, shall bring foorth fruites in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wildernesse where no fruites were. m They shall not neede to builde it in high places for feare of the enemie: for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance: or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made dry for your vses. o The fieldes shall be so rancke, that they shall send out their cattel to eate vp the first crop, which abundance shall be signes of Gods fauour and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of them, by whom God hath punished his Church.

WDo to thee that a spoylest, and wast not spoyled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt b cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoyled: when thou shalt make an a Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as were the Caldeans, and Assyrians: but chiefly of Saneherib, but not onely. b When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power, and that which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shall be giuen to others, as Amos 5.11.

c The Caldeans shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes and Persians shall doe the same to the Caldeans.

d He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God.

e Which helpedst our fathers so soone as they called vpon thee.

f That is, the Assyrians fled before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians.

g When thou, O Lord, didst lift vp thine arme to punish thine enemies.

h Ye that as caterpillers destroyed with your number the whole world, shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans, but shall be gathered on an heape and destroyed.

i Meaning, the Medes and Persians against the Caldeans.

k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah.

ende of doing wickedly, c they shall doe wickedly against thee.

2 d O Lorde haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: bee thou, which wast e their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3 At the noyse of the tumult, the f people fled: at thine g exalting, the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of h caterpillers: and i he shal goe against him like the leaping of grashoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6 And there shall bee stabilitie of k thy times, strength, saluation, wisedome and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall be his treasure.

7 Beholde, l their messengers shall crye without, and the m ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly.

8 The n paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: he hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: hee regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: o Sharon is like a wildernesse, and Basban is shaken and Carmel.

10 Now will I p arise, saith the Lorde: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

11 q Yee shall conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall be as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, yee that are r farre off, what I haue done, and yee that are neere, knowe my power.

14 The s sinners in Zion are afrayde: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: Who among vs shal dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings?

15 He that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gayne of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of giftes, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill, 16 Hee shall dwell on t high: his defence shall bee the munitions of rockes: bread shall bee giuen him, and his waters shall bee sure.

17 Thine eyes shall u see the King in his glorie: they shall behold the land x farre off.

18 Thine heart y shall meditate feare, Where is the Scribe? Where is the receiuer? Where is hee that counted the towers?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speech, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue, that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that cannot bee remooued, and the stakes thereof can neuer bee taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof bee broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lord will bee vnto vs, as a place z of floods and broad riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our Lawgiuer: the Lord is our King, he will saue vs.

23 Thy a cordes are loosed: they could not wel strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the b pray be diuided for a great spoile: yea, the lame shall take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein shal haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

p To helpe and deliuer my Church.

q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but hee sheweth that their enterprise shall bee in vayne, and that the fire, which they had kindled for others, should consume them.

r His vengeance shall be so great, that all the worlde shall talke thereof.

s Which doe not beleeue the woordes of the Prophet, and the assurance of their deliuerance.

t Meaning, that God will bee a sure defence to all them that liue according to his word.

u They shall see Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies, and restored to honour and glorie.

x They shall be no more shut in as they were by Sancherib, but goe where it pleaseth them.

y Before that this libertie commeth, thou shalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the enemie shall so sharpely assaile you, that one shall crie, Where is the clerke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiuer? another shall crie for him that valueth the rich houses, but God will deliuer you from this feare.

z Let vs bee content with this small riuer of Shiloah, and not desire the great streames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in shippes, and destroy vs.

a Hee derideth the Assyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction, as they that perish by shipwracke.

b Hee comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shall bee enriched with all benefites both of body and soule.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Hee sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue he beareth toward his Church.

COme neere, ye a nations and heare, and hearken, yee people: let the earth heare, and all that is therein, the world and al that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath b destroyed them and deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their slaine shall bee cast out, and their stink shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shall bee melted with their blood.

4 And all the host of heauen c shalbe dissolued, and the heauens shalbe folden like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figge tree.

5 For my sword shall be d drunken in the heauens:

a He prophesieth of the destruction of the Edomites and other nations which were enemies to the Church.

b God hath determined in his counsell, and hath giuen sentence for their destruction.

c He speaketh this in respect of mans iudgement, who in great feare and horrible troubles thinketh that heauen and earth perisheth.

d I haue determined in my secret counsell, and in the heauens to destroy them, till my sword bee wearie with shedding of blood.

1 Sancherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 Hu blasphemies against God.

NOw [a] in the [b] fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Sancherib King of Assur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the king of Assur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and hee stood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the d This declareth that there were fewe godly to be found in ỹ kings house, when hee was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weighty matter.

e Sanheribs chiefe captaine.

f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, falsly charging him, that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, whereas his only confidence was in the Lord.

g Satan laboured to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another, to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them, to yeeld himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God.

h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Sanheribs least captaines.

i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord, but we must try the spirits, whether they be of God or no.

sonne of Hilkiah the c steward of the house, and Shebna the d chancellor, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And e Rabshakeh sayde vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus sayeth the great King, the king of Assyr, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, f Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hande, and pierce it: so is g Pharaoh king of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say vnto me, Wee trust in the Lorde our GOD: Is not that hee whose hye places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and sayde to Judah and to Jerusalem, Yee shall worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the king of Assyr, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou bee able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou ‖ despise any captaine of the h least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lorde sayd vnto me, i Go vp against this land, and destroy it.

11 ¶ Then sayd Eliakim, and Shebna, & Joah vnto Rabshakeh, k Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then sayd Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent mee to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eat their owne dongue, and drinke their owne ‡ pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great king, of the King of Assyr.

14 Thus saieth the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this city shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Assyr.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Assyr, Make l appoyntment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eat of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well,

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne lande, euen a lande of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, 18 Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, the Lorde will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyr?

19 Where is the god of m Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or howe haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lorde should deliuer Jerusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they n kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chauncellour, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the Recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

l That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of the which these two other cities also were: whereby we see how euery towne had his peculiar idole, and how the wicked make God an idole, because they doe not vnderstand that God maketh them his scourge, and punisheth cities for sinne.

n Not that they did not shewe by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemy: for they had rent their clothes, but they knewe it was in vayne to vse long reasoning with this infidel, whose rage they shoulde haue so much more prouoked.

and he shall heare a f noyse, & returne to his owne lande, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assur fighting g against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God h deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Jerusalem shall not bee giuen into the hande of the king of Assur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what i kings of Assur haue done to all landes in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as k Gozan, and l Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, which m dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lorde, and see, and heare all the words of Sancherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Truely it is, O Lord, that the kings of Assur haue destroyed all lands, and n their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of mens hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that o all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou only art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel, Because thou hast praied vnto me concerning Sancherib king of Assur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him. The p virgin, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: The daughter of Jerusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou railed on, and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted vp thine eyes on hie? euen against the q holy One of Israel.

24 By thy seruants hast thou rayled on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the toppe of the mountaines, to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire fierre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heights of his top, and to the forrest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged r and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dryed all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it s and haue formed it long agoe? and should I now bring it, that it should bee destroyed, and layed on ruinous heapes, as cities defenced, 27 Whose inhabitants ‡ haue small power, and are afraid and confounded? they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or corne blasted afore it be growen.

28 But I know thy dwelling, and thy t going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against me.

29 Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine u hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lippes, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou x camest.

30 And this shalbe a y signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the z second yeere, such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yeere, sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruit thereof.

31 And a the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah, shall againe take roote downeward, and beare fruit vpward.

32 For out of Jerusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hostes shall doe this.

33 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, concerning the king of Assur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrow there, nor come before it with shielde, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, sayeth the Lord.

35 For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for my seruant b Dauids sake.

d Who was also called Sardanapalus, in whose dayes tenne yeeres after Sancheribs death, the Caldeans ouercame the Assyrians by Merodach their king.

38 So Sancherib king of Assur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at c Nineueh.

39 And as hee was in the Temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sharezer his sonnes slew him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of ‖ Ararat: and d Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Hezekiah is sicke. 5 Hee is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fifteene yeeres after. 10 He giueth thankes for his benefite.

2. King. 20. 1. 2 chron. 32. 24.

a Soone after that the Assyrians were slaine: so that God will haue the exercise of his children continuall, that they may learne onely to depend vpon God, and aspire to the heauens.

b For his heart was touched with feare of Gods iudgement, seeing he had appointed him to die so quickly after his deliuerance from so great calamity, as one vnworthy to remaine in that estate, and also foreseeing the great change, that should come in the Church, forasmuch as he left no sonne to reigne after him: for as yet Manasseh was not born, & when he reigned, wee see what a tyrant he was.

c He doeth not onely promise to prolong his life, but to giue him rest and quietnesse from the Assyrians, who might haue renued their armie to reuenge their former discomfiture.

d For Hezekiah had asked for confirmation of his faith a signe, as verse 22. and 2 King. 20. 8. whereunto he was mooued by the singular motion of Gods Spirit.

e Read 2 King. 20. 10.

f He left this song of his lamentation and thanksgiuing to all posterity, as a monument of his owne infirmity and thankfull heart for Gods benefits, as Dauid did, Psal. 51.

g At what time it was tolde mee, that I should die.

h I shall no more praise the Lord heere in this Temple among the faithfull: thus God suffereth his dearest children to want his consolation for a time, that his grace afterward may the more appeare when they feele their owne weakenesse.

A Bout a that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and sayde vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt dye, and not liue.

2 Then Hezekiah b turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord,

3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 Then came the worde of the Lorde to Isaiah, saying,

5 Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: beholde, I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene yeeres:

6 And I will deliuer thee e out of the hand of the king of Assur, and this city: for I will defend this citie.

7 And f this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath spoken,

8 Behold, I will bring againe the shadow of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the ‖ sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

9 f The writing of Hezekiah king of Iudah, when he had beene sicke, and was recouered of his sicknesse.

10 I said in the g cutting off of my daies, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeeres.

11 I sayde, h I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remooued from me, like a shepheards tent: I haue cut off like a weauer, my life: he will cut mee off from the height: from day k to night, thou wilt make an end of me.

13 I reckoned l to the morning: but he brake all my bones, like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane or a swallow, so did I m chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord n it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

15 What shall I say? o for he hath sayde it to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke p weakely all my yeeres in the bitternesse of my soule.

16 O Lord, q to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shall bee knowen, that thou causedst me to r sleepe, and hast giuen life to me.

17 Beholde, for s felicity I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pitte of corruption: for thou hast cast all my t sinnes behinde thy backe.

18 For u the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth.

19 But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the x children shall declare thy trueth.

20 The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore wee will sing my song, all the daies of our life in the house of the Lord.

21 Then sayde Isaiah, Take a lumpe of dry figges and y lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer.

22 Also Hezekiah a had said, What is the signe that I shall goe vp into the house of the Lord?

i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me.

k That is, in one day, or shortly.

l Ouer night I thought that I should liue till morning, but my pangs in y night perswaded mee the contrary: he sheweth the horrour, that the faithfull haue, when they apprehend Gods iudgment against their sinne.

m I was so oppressed with sorow, that I was not able to vtter my words, but onely to grone and sigh.

n To wit, sorow and griefe both of body and minde.

o God hath declared by his Prophet that I shall dye, and therefore I will yeelde vnto him.

p I shall haue no release, but continuall sorrowes whiles I liue.

q They that shall ouerliue the men that are now aliue, and all they that are in these yeeres, shall acknowledge this benefit.

r That after that thou haddest condemned me to death thou restoredst mee to life.

s Whereas I thought to haue liued in rest and ease, being deliuered from mine enemy, I had griefe vpon griefe.

t He esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, and Gods fauour, then a thousand liues.

u For as much as God hath placed man in this worlde to glorifie him, the godly take it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes were shortened, either because that they seemed vnworthy for their sinnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glory, seeing that there are so fewe in earth, that doe regard it, as Psal. 6. 5. and 115 17.

x All posterity shall acknowledge, and the fathers according to their duetie towarde their children, shall instruct them in thy graces and mercies towarde me.

y Hee sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation and Church: to wit, to giue the Lord thanks for his benefits.

3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto king Hezekiah, and sayde vnto him, What sayde these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah sayd, They are come from a farre countrey vnto mee, from Babel.

4 Then sayd he, What haue d they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Isaiah sayde to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hoastes.

6 Beholde, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layed vp in store vntill this day, shall bee e caryed to Babel: nothing shalbe left, sayth the Lord.

2 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The comming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproueth the idolaters, and them that trust not in the Lord.

a This is a consolation for the Church, assuring them that they shall be neuer destitute of Prophets, whereby he exhorteth the true ministers of God that then were, and those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of body and soule. b The time of her affliction. c Meaning, sufficient, as Chap. 61.7. and ful correction, or double grace, where as she deserued double punishment. d To wit, of the Prophets. e That is, in Babylon & other places where they were kept in captiuity and misery. f Meaning, Cyrus & Darius which should deliuer Gods people out of captiuity, & make them a ready way to Ierusalem: and this was fully accomplished, when Iohn the Baptist brought tidings of Iesus Christs comming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan, Mat. 3 3. g Whatsoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, shalbe remooued.

COmfort a yee, comfort ye my people, will your God say.

5 And the glory of the Lorde shall bee reuealed, and all h flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lorde hath spoken it.

6 A i voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I crie? All flesh is grasse, and all the k grace thereof is as the floure of the field.

7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the l Spirit of the Lorde bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the m word of our God shall stand for euer.

9 ¶ O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie n mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afrayd: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold o your God.

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and p his arme shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

25 To whom now will ye liken mee, that I should be like him, saith the holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth [b] out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names: by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest, O Israel, [c] My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the [d] ends of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his [e] vnderstanding.

29 But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, & vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 [f] Euen the yong men shall faint, and bee wearie, and the yong men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lorde, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the egles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke and not faint.

y Haue ye not the word of God which plainely condemneth idolatrie?

z Can you not learne by the visible creatures whom God hath made to serue your vse, that you should not serue them nor worship them?

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercie in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatrie. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

KEepe [a] silence before me, O ylands, and let the people [b] renew their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp [c] iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bow.

3 He pursued them, & passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete.

4 Who hath wrought and done it? hee that calleth the [d] generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the [e] first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The yles saw it, and did [f] feare, and the ends of the earth were abashed, drewe neere, and came.

8 But thou, Israel, art my [i] seruant, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the ends of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and saide vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, & not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: bee not afraide, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, & helpe thee, & will susteine thee with the [k] right hand of my iustice.

11 Beholde, all they that prouoke thee, shall be ashamed, and confounded: they shall be as nothing, and they that striue with thee shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them, and shalt not [l] find them; to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou [m] worme Iaakob, and yee men of Israel: I will helpe thee, sayth the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, & bring them to powder, and shalt make the hils as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the wind shall cary them away, and the whirlewind shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy one of Israel.

17 When [o] the poore and the needie seeke water, & there is none, (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them:)

18 I will open riuers in [p] tops of the hils, and fountaines in the mids of the valleyes: I will make the wildernesse as a poole of water, and the waste [p] land as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wildernesse the cedar, the shittah tree, and the myrthe tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wildernesse the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

God, as though hee pleaded his cause with all nations, requireth silence, that he may be heard in his right.

20 Therefore let them see and knowe, and let them consider and vnderstand together, that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel hath q created it.

21 r Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring foorth your strong reasons, sayeth the King of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring them forth, & let them tell vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that wee may consider them, and know the latter ende of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that wee may knowe that you are gods: yea, doe good or do euill, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

27 I am the first that sayeth to Zion, Behold, behold a them: and I will giue to Ierusalem b one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when c I beheld, there was none, and when I enquired of them, there was no counsellour, and when I demaunded of them, they answered not a word.

q That is, hath appointed, and determined that it shall come to passe.

r Hee biddeth the idolaters to proue their religion, and to bring forth their idoles, that they may be tried whether they know all things, and can doe all things: which if they cannot doe, hee concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.

t So that a man cannot make an idole, but hee must doe that, which God detesteth and abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuises, and forsaketh the Lords.

u Meaning, the Chaldeans.

x That is, Cyrus, who shall do all things in my Name, and by my direction: whereby he meaneth, that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shal be ordered by Gods prouidence and appointment.

y Both of the Chaldeans and others.

z Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can work any of these things.

a That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie.

b To wit, a continuall succession of Prophets and ministers.

c When I looked whether the idols could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisedome nor power to doe any thing: therefore hee concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in such vanitie.

BEholde, a my seruant: b I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule c delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth d iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not e cry, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the streete.

3 A f bruised reed shal he not breake, and the smoking g flare shall he not quench: hee shall bring forth iudgement in h truth.

4 Hee shall not faile nor be discouraged till he haue i set iudgement in the earth: and the k yles shall waite for his law.

5 Thus sayeth God the Lord, (hee that created the heauens & spread them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein.)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in l righteousnesse, and will holde m thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a n couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkenesse, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my o glory will I not giue to another, neither my prayse to grauen images.

9 Behold, the former things are p come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his prayse from the end of the earth: ye that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wildernesse & the cities thereof lift vp their voice, the townes that q Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shoute from the toppe of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his prayse in the yles.

13 The Lord shall goe forth as a r gyant: hee shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre, he shall shout and cry, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe: now will I cry like a s trauailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines and hilles, and dry vp all their herbes, & I will make the floods yles, and I will dry vp the poles.

16 ¶ And I will bring the t blinde by a way that they knew not, and leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked things streight. These things will I do vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall bee greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare, yee deafe: and yee blinde, regard, that ye may see.

19 Who is blinde but my u seruant? or deafe

f Hee will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support & comfort them.

g Meaning, the wick of a lampe, or candle, which is almost out, but hee will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter.

h Although hee fauor the weake, yet will he not spare the wicked, but wil iudge them according to truth and equitie.

i Till he haue set all things in good order.

k The Gentiles shalbe desirous to receiue his doctrine.

l Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation.

m To assist and guide thee.

n As him by whom the promise made to all nations in Abraham, shalbe fulfilled.

o I will not suffer my glorie to be diminished: which I should doe, if I were not faithfull in performing the same, & the idolaters thereby would extoll their idoles aboue mee.

p As in times past I haue bene true in my promises, so will I be in time to come.

q Meaning, the Arabians, vnder whome he comprehenderth all the people of the East.

r Hee sheweth the zeale of the Lorde, and his power in the conseruation of his Church.

s I will hast to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred, as a woman that desireth to bee deliuered, whe shee is in trauaile.

u To wit, Israel, which should haue most light because of my Law.

x The Priest to whom my word is committed, which should not onely heare it himselfe, but cause others to heare it.
y As the priests and prophets, that should be lights to others?
z Because they will not acknowledge this benefit of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, hee suffereth them to be spoyled of their enemies through their owne fault and incredulitie.
a There shall be none to succour them, or to will the enemie to restore that, which he hath spoyled.

deafe as my x messenger, that I sent? who is blind as the y perfect, and blinde as the Lords seruant?
20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not, opening the eares, but he heareth not?
21 The Lorde is willing for his righteousnesse sake that he may magnifie the Law, and exalt it, 22 But this people is z robbed and spoyled, and shall be all snared in dungeons, and they shall be hid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray, and none shal deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, a Restore.
23 Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for b afterwards?
24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Law.
25 Therefore he hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and hee knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

b Meaning Gods wrath.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

a After these threatnings, he promiseth deliuerance to his Church, because he hath regenerate them, adopted them, and called them.
b When thou seest dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefite and the loue of thy God, and it shall encourage thee.

BVt now thus saith the Lord, a that created thee, O Iaakob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, b Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, Thou art mine.
2 When thou passest thorow the c waters, I will be with thee, and thorowe the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest thorowe the very fire thou shalt not bee burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.
3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauiour: I gaue d Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia & Seba for thee.
4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue e man for thee, and people for thy sake.
5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the f East, and gather thee from the West.
6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not back: bring my sonnes from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

f He prophesieth of their deliuerance from the captiuitie of Babylon, and so of the calling of the vniuersall Church, alluding to that which is written, Deut.30.3.
g Meaning, that he could not be vnmindfull of them, except he would neglect his owne name & glory.

they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.
9 Let all the nations be gathered h together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this & shewe vs former things? let them bring forth their i witnesses, that they may bee iustified; but let them k heare, and say, It is trueth.
10 You l are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my m seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleeue me, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.
11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside mee there is no Sauiour.
12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, sayeth the Lord, that I am God.
13 Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it?
14 Thus saith the Lord your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and n brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Chaldeans crie in o the ships.
15 I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your king.
16 Thus saith the Lorde which maketh a way in p the sea, and a path in the mightie q waters, 18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will euen make a way in the t desert, and floods in the wildernesse.
20 The wilde u beasts shall honour mee, the dragons & the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wildernesse to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.
21 This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my prayse.
22 And thou hast not x called vpon mee, O Iaakob, but thou hast y wearied mee, O Israel.
23 Thou z hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured mee with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense.

5 The Lord promiseth comfort, and that he will assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlines of idolaters.

YEt now heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord that made thee, and formed a thee from the wombe: hee will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, b whom I haue chosen.

3 For I wil powre water vpon the c thirstie, and floods vpon the dry ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy buds,

4 And they d shall growe as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shal say, I am the Lords: another e shall be called by the name of Iaakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus sayeth the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts, f I am the first, and I am the last, and without me there is no God.

7 And who is like me, that shall g call, and shal declare it, and set h it in order before mee, since I appointed the i ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let k them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraid: haue not I told thee of old, and haue declared it? l you are euen my witnesses, whether there bee a God beside mee, and that there is no God that I know not.

b Whom God accepteth as righteous: or which haddest occasion thereunto because of the Law, and of thine holy vocation.

c Because man of himselfe is as the dry and barren land, he promiseth to moysten him with the waters of his holy Spirit, Ioel 2 28 ioh. 7. 38. acts 2. 17.

d That is, thy children and posteritie shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from Babylon.

e By this diuersitie of speach, he meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shall be holy, and receiue the true religion of God, as Psalme 87. 5. f I am alwayes like my selfe, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as Chap 41. 4. and 48. 12. reuelat 1. 17. and 22 13. g And appoint them that shall deliuer the Church. h That is, declare vnto mee how I ought to proceede herein. i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other, in his eternall election. k Meaning their idoles.

thing profit: and they are their owne witnesses, n that they see not nor knowe: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made o a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all that are of the q fellowship thereof shall be confounded: for the workemen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red threed, he planeth it, and he purtreyeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in r an house.

14 He will hewe him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doth nourish it.

15 And man burneth therof: for he will take thereof and s warme himselfe: hee also kindleth it, and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god and worshippeth it: hee maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he t eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof hee maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer me: for thou art my God.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstood: u for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none ‡ considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coales thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bow to the stocke of a tree?

20 Hee feedeth x of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that hee cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

n That is, the idolaters seeing their idoles blinde, must needes be witnesses of their owne blindenes, and feeling that they are not able to helpe them, must confesse that they haue no power.

o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hand of man, if it be esteemed as God, is most detestable.

p Whereby appeareth their blasphemie, which call images the bookes of the laitie, seeing that they are not onely here called vnprofitable, but chap. 41. 24 abominable: and Ieremie calleth them the worke of errors, Ierem. 10. 15. Habakkuk, a lying teacher, 2. 18.

q That is, which by any way consent either to the making, or worshipping.

r Signifying, that the multitude shall not then saue the idolaters, when God will take vengeance, although they excuse themselues therby among men.

s He describeth the raging affection of the idolaters, which forget their owne necessities to set foorth their deuotion towards their idoles. t To place it in some Temple.

u Hee setteth foorth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a God of the other, as the Papists make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles. x That is, he either maketh a table or trenchers. y The Prophet giueth heere an answere to all them that wonder how it is possible that any should be so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts. ‡ Ebr. turneth.

21 a Remember these (O Iaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 b Reioyce ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shoute, yee lower parts of the earth: breake forth into prayses, ye mountaines, O forest, and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, and hee that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the c tokens of the soothsayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wisemen backward, & make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 ¶ He confirmeth the word of his d seruant, & performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall bee built vp, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He saith to the e deepe, Be drie, and I will drie vp thy floods.

28 He sayeth of Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my delire: saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt bee built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall bee surely laied.

d Of Isaiah & the rest of his Prophets, which did assure the Church of Gods saiour and deliuerance. e He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when hee brought them out of Egypt through the sea. f To assure them of their deliuerance, hee nameth the person, by whom it should bee, more then a hundreth yeere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentation that they should abide, he nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anoynted for a time, but after an other sort then he called Dauid.

c To guide him in y deliuerance of my people.

THus sayeth the Lord vnto a Cyrus his b anoynted, whose right hand I haue holden c to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will goe before thee and make the d crooked straight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darknesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest e know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iaakob my seruants f sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not knowen mee.

d I will take away all impediments and lets. e Not that Cyrus did know God to worship him aright, but hee had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people. f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse,

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God beside mee: I g girded thee though thou hast not knowen me,

6 That they may know from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the h light and create darknesse: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things.

8 Yee heauens send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe i righteousnesse: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue k created him.

9 l Woe bee vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherds of the earth: shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, m It hath none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus sayeth the Lord, the Holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of n things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine hands: commaund you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commaunded all their o armie.

13 I haue rayled p him vp in righteousnesse, and I will direct all his wayes: he shal builde my citie, and hee shall let goe my captiues, not for q price nor reward, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shalbe r thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely, God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verily thou, O God, s hidest thy selfe, O God, the sauiour of Israel.

16 All they shalbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall bee saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: yee shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without ende.

18 For thus sayeth the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, g I haue giuen thee strength, power and authoritie.

h I send peace and warre, prosperitie, and aduersitie, as Amos. 3.6.

i He comforteth the Iewes, as if he would say, Though when yee looke to the heauens & earth for succour, ye see nothing now but signes of Gods wrath, yet I will cause them to bring forth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promise, which is meant by righteousnes.

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse and purpose.

l Hereby he bridleth their impatiencie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure against God, and will not tarie his pleasure: willing that man should match with his like, & not contend against God.

m That is, it is not perfitely made.

n Instead of murmuring, humble your selues, and aske what ye will for the consolation of my children, and you shall be sure of it, as ye are of these things which are at your cõmandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, & make it the application of the similitude. o That is, the starres. p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shew by him the faithfulnesse of my promise in deliuering my people. q Meaning, freely, and without ransome, or any grieuous condition r These people were tributaries to the Persians, and so King Artahshashte gaue his money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra. 7. 21. s Whereas before they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee, & thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ. t Hereby hee exhorteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliuerance bee deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither [x] in a place of darkenesse in the earth: I said not in vaine to the seed of Iaakob, Seeke you mee: I the Lord doe speake righteousnesse, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: draw neere together, [y] yee abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? haue not I the Lord? & there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there is none beside me.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon & of their idoles.
3 He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his workes.

BEl is bowed downe: [a] Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the [b] beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 [c] They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not ridde them of the burden, and their [d] soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare yee me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are [e] borne of mee, from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntil the hoare haires: I haue made you, I will also beare you, and I will carie you, [f] and I will deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whom will yee make mee like, or make mee equall, or [g] compare mee, that I should be like him?

6 They draw gold out of the bagge, and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow down and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carry him and set him in his place: so doeth hee stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe [h] to minde, O ye transgressers.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me,

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a [i] bird from the East, and the man of my [k] counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12 Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from [l] iustice.

13 I bring [m] neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: For I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

CHAP. LXVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

COme downe and sit in the dust, O [a] virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no [b] throne, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more bee called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones, and [c] grind meale: loose thy locks: [d] make bare the feete: vncouer the legge, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy filthinesse shall bee discouered, and thy shame shall bee seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a [e] man.

4 [f] Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the holy one of Israel.

5 [g] Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse: O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The Ladie of kingdomes.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest shew them no [h] mercy, but thou diddest lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saidest, I shall bee a Lady for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest careles, She saith in her heart, I am and none else: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shal come to thee suddenly in one day, the losse of children, and widowhoode, they shall come vpon h Become wise, meaning that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.

i That is, Cyrus, which shall come as swift as a bird, and fight against Babylon. k Him by whom I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.
l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise.
m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promise of God, Rom. 3.3.

a Which hast liued in wealth & wantonnes, and hast not yet been ouercome by any enemies.
b Thy gouernement shall be taken from thee.
c Thou shalt be brought to most vile seruitude: for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.
d The things wherein she setteth her greatest pride shall be made vile, euen from the head to the foote.
e I will vse no humanitie nor pitie toward thee.
f The Israelites shall confesse, that the Lord doeth this for his Churches sake.
g For very shame, and hide thy selfe.
h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that hee punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast them off, and therefore in stead of pitying their miserie, thou diddest increase it.

a These were chiefe idoles of Babylon.
b Because they were of gold and siluer, the Medes and Persians caried them away.
c The Beastes that caried the idoles, fel downe vnder their burden.
d He derideth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.
e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of other, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut. 32.11.
f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserue you for euer.
g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie, and the flourishing state of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke ỳ their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can bee spoken in their commendation, is but to proue them vile, Baruch 6.25.

i So that thy punishment shalbe so great as is possible to be imagined.

k Thou didst thinke that thine owne wisdom, & policie would haue saued thee.

l He derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing but in God condemning also such vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude ỹ people, & to bring them from depending onely on God.

m They shall vterly perish, and no part of them remaine.

n They shall flee euery one to that place, which he thought by his speculations to be most sure: but that shall deceiue them.

thee in their i perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast sayd, None seeth me. Thy k wisedome & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, yer thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in ỹ multitude of thy sothsaiers (with whom thou hast l wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profite, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the Astrologers, the starre-gazers, and Prognosticators stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shal come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall bee as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of ỹ flame: there shall be no coales m to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen the merchants from thy youth: euery one shal wander to his owne n quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrisie of the Iewes is reproued. 11 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

a He detecteth their hypocrisie which vaunted themselues to be Israelites and were not so in deed.

b Meaning, the fountaine and stocke.

c They make a shew, as though they would haue none other God.

d He sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing, forasmuch as he had performed whatsoeuer he had promised.

e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubburnnes and impudence might haue bene ouercome.

HEare ye this, O house of Iaakob, which are a called by the name of Israel, & are come out of b the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truetly nor in righteousnesse.

2 For they are called of the holy city, and stay themselues c vpon the God of Israel, whose name is the Lord of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former thinges of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed d them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that e thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy browe braße,

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed f it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, & my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, beholde all this, and will not ye g declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, euen now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of old, & euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldest say, Behold, I h knewe them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knew that thou wouldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the i wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praise will I refraine it from thee, k that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue tried thee, l but not as siluer: I haue m chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my Name n be polluted? o surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iaakob, and Israel my called, p I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath layd the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I call them, q they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued r him: he will doe his will in Babel: and his arme shalbe against the Caldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him, I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the s beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and nowe the Lorde God and his spirit hath t sent me.

17 Thus sayth the Lord thy Redeemer, the holy one of Israel, I am the Lorde thy God, which teach thee u to profite, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandements: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousnesse as the waues of the Sea.

19 Thy seede also had bene as the sand, & the fruit of thy body like the grauell thereof: his x name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

20 y Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Caldeans, with a voice of ioy: tell & declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say yee, The Lorde hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And they z were not thirstie: hee led them through the wildernesse: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no a peace, sayeth the Lord, vnto the wicked.

f How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon. g Will ye not acknowledge this my benefit and declare it vnto others?

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare all things at once, least they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisedome.

i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercy that I did chuse thee: so is it my free mercy that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weakenes and infirmity: for in siluer there is some pureneſſe, but in vs there is nothing but drosse.

m I tooke thee out of the fornace where thou shouldest haue bene consumed.

n God ioyneth the saluation of his with his owne honour: so that they cannot perish, but his glory should be diminished, as Deut. 32.27.

o Reade Chap. 42.8.

p Reade Chap. 41.4.

q To obey me and to do whatsoeuer I command them.

r Meaning, Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.

s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers.

t Thus the Prophet speaketh for himselfe, and to assure them of these things u What things shall do thee good. x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel. y After that he had forwarned them of their captiuitie, & of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy that shal come of their deliuerance. z He sheweth that it shalbe as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt. a Thus he speaketh, that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as chap. 57.21.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleeue, and will deliuer them from the tyranny of their enemies.

HEare ye me, O Iles, and hearken, yee people from farre. The Lord hath called [a] me from the [b] wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharpe [c] sword: vnder the shadowe of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiuer,

3 And sayd vnto me, Thou art my seruant [c] Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine, & for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now sayth the Lord that formed me from the wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, [g] yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shal be my strength.)

6 And he sayd, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I wil also giue [h] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my saluation vnto the ends of the world.

7 Thus sayth the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a [i] seruant of rulers, Kings shal see, and [k] arise, and princes shall worship, because of [l] the Lord, that is faithfull: and the holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus sayth the Lord, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I wil preserue thee, and wil giue [m] thee for a couenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the [n] earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to the [o] prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darknes, Shewe your selues: they shall feede in the wayes, and their [p] pastures shall be in al the tops of the hils.

10 They shall not be hungry, neither shal they be thirstie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion [q] on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of [r] Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O [s] heauens: and be ioyfull, O earth: burst forth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath [t] forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue graued thee vpon the palme of mine [u] hands: thy [x] wals are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make [y] haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eies round about, and behold: all these gather themselues together and come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely [z] put them all vpon thee as a garment, and gird thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places: and thy land destroyed, shal surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shal be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is straite for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles, and set vp my standard to the people, and they shal bring thy sonnes in their armes, and thy daughters shall be caried vpon their shoulders, 23 And kings [b] shall bee thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall bee thy nurses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the [c] dust of thy feete: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be [d] taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus sayth the Lord, [e] Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall bee taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children,

26 And will feede them that spoyle thee, with [f] their owne flesh, and they shall bee drunken with their owne blood, as with a This is spoken in the person of Christ, to assure the faithfull that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psa. 2. 7.

c By the sword and shaft, hee signifieth [y] vertue and efficacie of Christs doctrine.

d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, & may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

e By Israel is meant Christ, & all the body of the faithful, as the members and their head.

f Thus Christ in his members complaineth that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approued of God.

g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God wil approue my ministerie.

h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 42. 6. acts 13. 47. luke 2. 32.

i Meaning, the Iewes whom tyrants kept in bondage.

k The benefit of their deliuerance shalbe so great that great & small shall acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it.

l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercy toward it, 2 Cor. 6. 2.

m Meaning, Christ alone.

n Signifying, that before Christ renew the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion and disorder.

o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death.

p Being in Christs protection, they shall be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies.

q Meaning, that there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

r Meaning, the South countrey, so that Christ shall deliuer his frō all the parts of the world.

s Read Chap. 44. 23.

t He obiecteth what [y] faithfull might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a most proper similitude and full of consolation.

u Because I would not forget thee.

x Meaning, the good order of policie and discipline.

y I haue a continuall care to build thee vp again, and to destroy thine enemies.

z He sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the word of God, & gouerned by his Spirit.

a He sheweth that Christ will not onely gather this great number of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.

b Meaning, that kings shall be conuerted to the Gospel, and beslow their power and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church.

c Being ioyned with [y] Church, they shall humble themselues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour.

d He maketh this as an obiection, as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.

e This is the answere to this obiection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto cause them to destroy one another, as Iudges 7. 22. Chap. 19. 2.

f I will 2. Chron. 20. 22.

sweete wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Sauiour & thy Redeemer, the mighty one of Iaakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christes obedience and victory.

THus sayth the Lord, Where is that a bill of your mothers diuorcement, b whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor to whom I solde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore c came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so c shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Beholde, at my rebuke I drie vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknes, and make a d sacke their couering.

4 The Lorde GOD hath giuen e me a tongue of the learned, that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is f weary: he will raise mee vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious: neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the g smiters, and my cheeks to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I knowe that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with mee? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersary? let him come neere to me.

9 Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the moth shal eate them vp.

10 h Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darknesse, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle m a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that yee haue kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorrow.

a Meaning, that he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea 2.2.

b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shew none.

c Signifying, that he sold them not for any debt or pouerty, but that they sold themselues to sinnes to buy their owne lusts & pleasures.

d He came by his Prophets and ministers, but they would not beleeue their doctrine & conuert.

e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dried vp the red sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iorden?

f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10.21.

g The Prophet doeth represent here the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministerie of Gods word.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and misery.

i As they that are taught & made meet by him.

k I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.

l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hel to heauen.

m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light and consolation, which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorrow, and not be comforted.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

HEare me, ye that follow after righteousnes, & ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the b rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lorde shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, & he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy & gladnesse shall be found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a c Lawe shall proceede from me, and I will bring foorth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My d righteousnes is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine e armes shal iudge the people: the yles shal wait for me, and shal trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the f heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousnesse shall not bee abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousnesse, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like woolle: but my righteousnesse shalbe for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp, as g in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the h dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hath dried the sea, euen the waters of the great deep, making the depth of the sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lorde shall i returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shall obteine ioy and gladnes: and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall be made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lorde thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and layed the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue k hasteneth to be loosed and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lorde thy God that diuided a He comforteth the Church that they should not be discouraged for their small number.

b That is, to Abraham, of whō ye were begotten, and to Sarah of whom yee were borne.

c As plentifull as Paradise, Gen. 2.3.

d I will rule and gouerne my Church by my word and doctrine.

e The time that I wil accomplish my promise.

f My power and strength.

g He forewarneth them of the horrible changes and mutations of al things, & how he will preserue his Church in the mids of all these dangers.

h He putteth thē in remembrance of his great benefit for their deliuerance out of Egypt, that thereby they might learne to trust in him constantly.

k To wit, Pharaoh, Ezek 29.3

m He comforteth them by the short time of their banishmēt: for in 70. yeeres they were restored, & the greatest Empire of the world destroyed.

uided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hostes is his name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy [n] mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hande, that I may plant the [o] heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast dronke at the hande of the Lorde the [p] cup of his wrath: thou hast dronken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wring them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whome thee hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.

19 These two [q] things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, & lie at the head of al the streets as a wild bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and dronken, but [r] not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen the dregs of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt dronke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoyle thee: which haue sayde to thy soule, Bow downe, that we may go ouer, and thou hast layde thy body as the ground, and as the street to them that went ouer.

n Meaning of Isaiah, and of all true ministers, who are defended by his protection.

o That all things may bee restored in heauen and earth, Eph. 1. 10.

p Thou hast bin iustly punished & sufficiently, as Cha. 40. 2. and this punishment in the effect is by measure, and according as God giueth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iust vengeance of God to driue them to an insensiblenesse & madnes, as here. 25. 15, 16.

q Whereof the one is outward, as of the things that come to the body: as war and famine: and the other is inward, and appertaineth to the mind: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he sayth, How shalt thou be comforted? [s] But with trouble and feare.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

ARise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beauty, O Ierusalem, the holy City: for henceforth there shall no [a] more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the [b] dust: arise and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bands of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lord, Ye were sold for [c] nought: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.

4 For thus sayth the Lorde God, My people went [d] downe aforetime into Egypt to sojourne there, & Asshur [e] oppressed them without cause.

5 Nowe therefore what haue I here, sayth the Lorde, that my people is taken away for nought, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle sayth the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is [f] blasphemed.

6 Therefore my people shall knowe my Name: therefore they shall knowe in that day, that I am he that doe speake: behold, it is I.

7 How [g] beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace! that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

8 [h] The voice of the watchmen shall bee heard: they shal lift vp their voice, and shoute together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion.

9 O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.

10 The Lorde hath made [i] bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.

11 [k] Depart, depart yee: goe out from thence, and touch no vncleane thing: go out of the mids of her: be ye cleane, that [l] beare the vessels of the Lord.

12 For ye shall not goe out with [m] haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lorde will go before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together.

13 Beholde, my [n] seruant shall prosper: he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high.

14 As many were astonied at thee (his visage was so [o] deformed of men and his forme of the sonnes of men) so [p] shall hee sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their [q] mouthes at him: for that which had not bene tolde them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they [r] vnderstand.

f To wit, by the wicked, which thinke that I haue no power to deliuer them.

g Signifying, that the ioy and good tidings of their deliuerance should make their affliction in the meane time more easie: but this is chiefly meant of the spiritual ioy, as Nahum. 1. 15. rom. 10, 15.

h The Prophets which are thy watchmen, shall publish this thy deliuerance: this was begun vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra and Nehemiah, but was accomplished vnder Christ.

i As ready to smite his enemies and to deliuer his people.

k He warneth the faithfull not to pollute themselues with the superstitions of the Babylonians, as Chap. 48. 20. 2. cor 6. 17.

l For the time is at hand, that the Priests and Leuites chiefly (and so by them all the people which shall be as Leuites in this office) shall carie home the vessels of the Temple, which Nebuchad-nezzar had taken away.

m As your fathers did out of Egypt.

n Meaning Christ, by whom our spirituall deliuerance should be wrought, whereof this was a figure.

o In the corrupt iudgement of man, Christ in his person was not esteemed.

p He shall spread his word through many nations.

q In signe of reuerence, and as being astonished at his excellencie.

r By the preaching of the Gospell.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdome, whose word few will beleeue. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnes, 12 And is dead for our sinnes.

WHo [a] will beleeue our report? and to whom is the [b] arme of the Lord reueiled?

2 But he shall growe vp before him as a branch, and as a [c] roote out of a drye [d] ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that we should desire him.

a The Prophet sheweth that very few shall receiue this their preaching of Christ, and of their deliuerance by him, Iohn 12. 38. rom. 10. 16.

b Meaning, that none can beleeue, but whose hearts God toucheth with the vertue of his holy Spirit.

c The beginning of Christs kingdome shall be small, & contemptible in the sight of man, but it shall grow wonderfully, & flourish before God.

d Read Chap. 11. 1.

3 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorrowes, and hath experience of e infirmities, wee hid as it were our faces from him: he was despised, & we esteemed him not.

4 Surely hee hath borne our infirmities, and caried f our sorrowes: yet we did iudge him as a plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But hee was wounded for our transgressions, hee was broken for our iniquities: the b chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray, we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layd vpon him the i iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so hee openeth not his mouth.

8 Hee was taken out from l prison, and from iudgement: m and who shal declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 n And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord would breake him, & make him subiect to infirmities: when o hee shall make his soule an offering for sin, he shall see his seed and shall prolong his daies, & the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shal see of the trauaile of his soule, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my q righteous seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because he r hath powred out his soule vnto death, & he was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sinne s of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

e Which was by Gods singular prouidence for the comfort of sinners, He. 4. 15.

f That is, the punishment due to our sinnes: for ỹ which he hath both suffered, and made satisfaction, Matth. 8. 17. 1 Pet. 2. 24.

g We iudged euil, thinking ỹ he was punished for his owne sinnes, and not for ours.

h He was chastised for our reconciliation, 1. Cor. 15. 3.

i Meaning, the punishmẽt of our iniquity, and not the fault it selfe.

k But willingly and patiently obeyed his fathers appointment, Matth. 26. 63. actes 8. 32.

l From the crosse & graue, after that he was condẽned.

m Though he died for sinne, yet after his resurrection he shal liue for euer: and this his death is to restore life to his members, Rom. 6. 9.

n God the Father deliuered him into the hands of the wicked, & to the powers of the world to do with him what they would.

o Christ by offering vp himselfe shall giue life to his Church, and so cause them to liue with him for euer.

p That is, the fruit & effect of his labour, which is the saluation of his Church.

q Christ shall iustifie by faith through his word, whereas Moses could not iustifie by the Law.

r Because hee humbled himselfe, therefore he shalbe exalted to glory, Phil. 2. 7, 8.

s That is, of all that beleeue in him.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleeue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth hu for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.

REioyce, O a barren that didst not beare: breake forth into ioy and reioyce, thou that didst not trauaile with childe: for the b desolate hath moe children then the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 c Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spred out the curtaynes of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy d youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy e widowhoode any more.

5 For he that f made thee, is thine husband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shalbe called the God of the whole g world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a h young wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a little while I haue forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with euerlasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the i waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shal remoue, and the hils shall fall downe: but my mercy shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, sayeth the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, beholde, I will lay thy stones with the k carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphires, 12 And I wil make thy windowes of ‖ Emerauds, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall bee l taught of the Lorde, and much peace shall bee to thy children.

14 In m righteousnesse shalt thou be established, & bee farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Beholde, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without n mee: whosoeuer shall gather himselfe in thee, o against thee, shall fall.

16 Beholde, I haue created the p smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euerie tongue, that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lordes seruauntes, a After that he had declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church, because it should seeke the fruit of the same, & calleth her barré, because that in the captiuity she was as a widow without hope to haue any children.

b The Church in this her affliction and captiuity shall bring forth moe children then when shee was at liberty: or this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number ỹ should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childhood, and therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel.

c Signifying ỹ for the great number of children, that God should giue her, she should seeme to lacke roome to lodge them.

d The afflictions which thou sufferedst at the begining.

e When as thou wast refused for thy sinnes, Chap. 50. 1.

f That did regenerate thee by his holy spirit.

g His glory shall shine through the whole worlde, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea.

h As a wife which wast forsaken in thy youth.

i As sure as the promise that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflow the earth.

k Hereby hee declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.

‖ Or, Iasper, or, Pearle.

l By the hearing of his word and inward mouing of his spirit.

m In stability and sureuesse, so that it shall stand for euer.

n And therefore shall not preuaile.

o Meaning, the domesticall enemies of the Church, as are the hypocrites.

p Signifying heereby that man can dee nothing but so farre as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, he must needs gouerne and guide them.

and their righteousnesse is of mee, saieth the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

HO, euery one that [a] thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue [b] no siluer, come, buy, and eate: come, I say, buy [c] wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore do ye lay out siluer and not for bread? [d] and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in [e] fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, & come vnto mee: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting Couenant with you, euen the [f] sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Behold, I gaue [g] him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, [h] and a nation that knew not thee, shal runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while hee may [i] bee found, call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked [k] forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his own imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he will haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for hee is very ready to forgiue.

8 For my [l] thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, saieth the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snowe from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring foorth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth:

11 So shall my [m] word be, that goeth out of my mouth: It shall not returne vnto me voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shal prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore yee shall goe out with ioy, and bee led foorth with peace: the [n] mountaines and the hils shall breake foorth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the field shal clap their hands.

13 For thornes, there shall growe fiere trees: for nettles shall grow the myrthe tree, and it shall bee to the Lorde [o] for a name, and for an euerlasting [p] signe that shall not bee taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against Shepheards that deuoure their flocke.

THus sayth the Lord, [a] keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my [b] righteousnesse to be reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: he that keepeth the [c] Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is [d] ioyned to the Lorde, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separated me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a dry tree.

4 For thus sayeth the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth mee, and take hold of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine [e] House and within my walles, a place and a [f] name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and embraceth my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shalbe accepted vpon mine altar: for mine house shalbe called an House of prayer for [h] all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All yee [i] beastes of the field, come to deuoure, euen all ye beastes of the forrest.

10 Their [k] watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot barke: they lie and sleepe and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue inough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his own purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to [l] morrow shalbe as this day, and much more abundant.

a Christ by proposing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined works, and the epicures, which are full with their worldly lusts, and so thirst not after these waters.

b Signifying, that Gods benefits cannot bee bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things necessary to the spirituall life, as these are necessary to this corporall life.

d He reproueth their ingratitude which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labor to obtaine those which are nothing profitable.

e You shalbe fed abundantly.

f The same couenant, which through my mercie I ratified and confirmed to Dauid that it should be eternall, 2 Sam. 7. 13. actes 13 34.

g Meaning. Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receiue to be thy people.

i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

k Hereby he sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, and how wee cannot call vpon God aright, except the fruits of our faith appeare.

l Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea, I offer my mercies to you.

m If these small things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shall my promise which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe the things which I haue spoken for your deliuerance.

n Reade Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 13.

o To set foorth his glory.

p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he wil neuer forsake his Church.

a God sheweth what he requireth of the after that he hath deliuered them, to wit, the works of charity, whereby true faith is declared.

b Which I will declare coward you, and powre into your hearts by my spirit.

c Vnder the Sabbath hee comprehendeth the whole seruice of God and true religion.

d Let none thinke himselfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of the Lord: for the Lord will take away all impediments, and will forsake none which will keepe his true religion and beleeue in him.

e Meaning, in his Church.

f They shall bee called after my people, and be of the same religion: yea, vnder Christ the dignity of the faithful shalbe greater then y Iewes were at that time.

g Hereby hee meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom the faithfull offer continuall thankesgiuing, yea, themselues and all that they haue as a liuely & acceptable sacrifice.

h Not only for the Iewes, but for all others, Mat. 21. 13.

i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. Thus hee speaketh to feare the hypocrites, and to assure the faithful, that when this commeth they may know that it was told them before.

k He sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernors, prophets, & pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice, and obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.

l We are well yet, and to morrow shalbe better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues, before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations, which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 And their vaine confidence.

THe righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away [a] from the euill to come.

2 [b] Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one [y] walketh before him.

3 But you [c] witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer, and of the whore.

4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue yee gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, & a false seed,

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the [d] children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rockes?

6 Thy portion is in the smooth stones [e] of the riuer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delight in [f] these?

7 Thou hast made thy [g] bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behinde the [h] doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest vp, & diddest [i] enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee & them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest [k] to the Kings with oyle, and diddest increase thine ointments, and send thy messengers farre off, and didst humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iourneyes, yet saydst thou not, [l] There is no hope: thou [m] hast founde life by thine hand, therefore thou hast not grieued.

11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast [n] lyed vnto mee, and hast not remembred mee, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of [o] long time? therefore thou fearest not me.

12 I will declare thy [p] righteousnesse and thy workes, and they shall not profit thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou haste gathered together, deliuer thee: but the wind shal [q] take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me, shall inherit the land, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine.

14 [r] And he shal say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he, that is high and excellent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy One, I dwell in the hie and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to reuiue the spirit of the humble, & to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contend for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, [s] for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17 For his [t] wicked couetousnesse I am angrie with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me and was angrie, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his wayes, and wil [u] heale him: I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I create the [x] fruit of the lippes to bee peace: peace vnto them that are [y] far off, and to them that are neere, saith the Lord: for I will heale him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can [z] not rest, whose waters cast vp mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

a From the plague that is at hand, and also because God will punish [y] wicked.
b The soule of the righteous shalbe in ioy, and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.
c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the Name of Gods people, deriden Gods worde and his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of forcerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.
d Reade Leuit. 18.21. 2.King. 23.10.
e Meaning, euery place was polluted with their idolatrie: or, euery faire stone that they found, they made an idole of it.
f In the sacrifices which you, offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God.
g To wit, thine altars in an open place like an impudent harlot, that careth not for the sight of her husband.
h In stead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the posies and doores to haue it in remembrance, Deu. 6.9. & 27.1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatry in euery place.
i That is, diddest increase thine idolatry more and more.
k Thou diddest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by gifts and presents, to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians, and more & more diddest torment thy selfe.
l Although thou sawest all thy labours to be in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault and leaue off.
m He derideth their vnprofitable diligence, which thought to haue made all sure, and yet were deceiued.
n Broken promise with mee.
o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie and grow to further wickednesse.
p That is, thy naughtinesse, idolatries and impieties: which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.
q Meaning, the Assyrians and other, whose helpe they looked for.
r God shall say to Darius and Cyrus.
s I will not vse my power against fraile man whose life is but a blast.
t That is, for the vices and faults of the people, which is meant here by couetousnesse.
u Though they were obstinate, yet did I not withdraw my mercy frō them.
x That is, I frame the speach and wordes of my messengers which shall bring peace.
y As well to him that is in captiuitie, as to him that remaineth at home.
z Their euill conscience doeth euer torment them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest, Reade Chap. 48.22.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The works of the hypocrites. 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

CRie [a] alonde, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes.

2 Yet they [b] seeke mee dayly, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,

3 [c] Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold, in the day of your fast you will seeke [d] your will, and require all your debts.

4 Behold, yee fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as yee doe to day, to make your voyce to be [e] heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow downe his head like a bull rush, and to lie downe in sackecloth, and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen.

a The Lord thus speaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vse all diligence and seueritie to rebuke the hypocrites.
b They will seeme to worship me, and haue outward holinesse.
c He setteth forth the malice and disdaine of the hypocrites, which grudge against God, if their works be not accepted.
d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrites by the second table and by their dietie toward their neighbour, that they haue neither faith nor religion.
e So long as ye vse contention and oppression, your fasting and prayer shall not be heard.

chosen, to loose the bandes of wickednesse, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that yee breake euery f yoke?

f That you leaue off all your extortions.

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine houle? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from g thine owne flesh.

g For in him thou seest thy selfe as in a glasse

8 Then shall thy h light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall growe speedily: thy i righteousnesse shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lorde shall embrace thee.

h That is, the prosperous estate wherewith God will blesse thee.

i The testimony of thy goodnesse shall appeare before God & man.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answere: thou shalt cry, and he shal say, Here I am: if thou take away from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the k finger, and wicked speaking:

k Whereby is meant all manner of iniury.

10 If thou l powre out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the m darkenesse, and thy darkenesse shalbe as the noone day.

l That is, haue compassion on their miseries.

m Thine aduersity shalbe turned into prosperity.

11 And the Lorde shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

n Signifying, that of the Iewes should come such as should build againe the ruines of Ierusalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is meant of the spirituall Ierusalem, whose builders were ỹ Apostles, 12 And they shall bee of thee, that shall builde the olde n waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repayrer of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

o If thou refraine thy selfe from thy wicked workes,

13 If thou o turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, & shalt honour him, not doing thine owne waies, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, 14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hye places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP LIX.

2 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities. 12 The confession of sinnes. 16 God alone will preserue his Church, though all men faile.

Numb. 11. 23. chap 50. 2. Iere. 5. 25.

BEhold, *the Lords hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his eare heauy, that it cannot heare.

a Read cha. 1. 15

2 But * your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hid his face from you, that hee will not heare.

b All men winke at the iniuries & oppressions, and none goe about to remedy them.

3 For your hands are defiled with b blood, and your fingers with iniquity: your lippes haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquity.

c According to their wicked deuises they hurt their neighbours.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man b contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanity, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischiefe, and c bring forth iniquity.

d Whatsoeuer commeth from them, is poison, & bringeth death.

5 They hatch cockatrice d egges, and weaue the spiders e webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trod vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

e They are profitable to no purpose.

6 Their webbes shall bee no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are works of iniquity, and the worke of cruelty is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equity in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is f iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth g iustice come neere vnto vs: we wayt for light, but loe, it is darkenes; for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

f That is, Gods vengeance to punish our enemies.

g Gods protection to defend vs.

10 We grope for the wall like the b blind, and wee grope as one without eyes: wee stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitary places, as dead men.

h We are altogether destitute of counsell, and can find no end of our miseries.

11 Wee roare all like i beares, and mourne like doues: wee looke for equity, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

i We expresse our sorrowes by outward signes, some more, some lesse.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our k sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities k This confession is generall to the Church to obteine remission of sinnes, and the Prophets did not exempt themselues from the same.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of cruelty and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false l matters.

14 Therefore m iudgement is turned backeward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

m There is neither iustice nor vprightnesse among men.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe n a praye: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

n The wicked will destroy him.

16 And when hee saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer himselfe. o Therefore his arme did p saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it.

o Meaning, to doe iustice, and to remedie the things that were so farre out of order.

p That is, his Church: or his arme did helpe it selfe, and did not seeke ayde of any other.

17 For he put on righteousnes, as an habergion, and an q helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

q Signifying, that God hath all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church, and to punish their enemies.

18 As to make recompense, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompense to his enemies: he will fully repay the r Ilands.

r To wit, your enemies which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne: for the enemie shall f come like a flood: but the spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

f He sheweth that there shalbe great afflictiõ in the Church, but God wil euer deliuer his.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto t them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, sayth the Lord.

t Whereby he declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne and Satan belongeth to none but to the children of God, whom he iustifieth.

21 And I will make this my Couenant with them, sayeth the Lorde, My Spirite that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, u shall not de-u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the Spirit, he ioyneth the one with the other, and promiseth to giue them both to his Church for euer.

part out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lord, from henceforth even for ever.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

a The time of thy prosperity and felicity: whereas speaking of Babylon, he commanded her to goe downe, Chap. 47.1.

ARise, O Ierusalem: bee bright, for thy [a] light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For beholde, darkenesse shall couer the [b] earth, and grosse darkenesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shalbe seene vpon thee.

b Signifying, that all men are in darkenesse, till God giue them the light of his spirit, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in [c] thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

c Meaning, that Iudea should be as the morning starre, and that the Gentiles should receiue light of her.

4 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about, and beholde: all [d] these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall bee nourished at thy side.

d An infinite number from all countreyes, as Chap. 49.18.

5 Then shalt thou see & shine: thine heart shall be astonied and [e] enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be conuerted vnto thee, & the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

e For ioy: as the heart is drawen in for sorrow.

6 The [f] multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Epha: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shew forth the praises of the Lord.

f Meaning, that euery one shall honour the Lord with that wherewith he is able: Signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except we offer our selues to serue his glory, and all that we haue.

7 All the sheepe of [g] Kedar shalbe gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shal serue thee: they shall come vp to bee accepted vpon mine [h] altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

g That is, the Arabians, that haue great abundance of cattel. h Because the altar was a figure of Christ Heb. 13.10. hee sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him which is not offered to him by this altar, who was both the offring and the altar it selfe.

8 Who are these [i] that flee like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shall wait for me, and the ships [k] of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer and their golde with them, vnto the name of the Lorde thy God, and to the holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

i Shewing what great number shal come to the Church, and with what great diligence & zeale.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their [l] kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee.

k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends and setters foorth of the Church. l Meaning, Cyrus and his successours: but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuerted by his Gospel.

11 Therefore thy gates shalbe open continually: neither day nor night shal they bee shut, that they may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the [m] kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: & those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed.

m He sheweth that God hath giuen all power and authority here in earth for the vse of his Church: and that they which will not serue and profite the same, shall bee destroyed.

13 The [n] glory of Lebanon shal come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my [o] feete.

n There is nothing so excellent, which shall not serue the necessity of the Church.

o Signifying, that Gods maiesty is not included in the Temple, which is but the place for his feet, that we may learne to rise vp to the heauens.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall [p] downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shal call thee, The citie of the Lord, Sion of the holy one of Israel.

p To worship their head Christ by obeying his doctrine.

15 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the [q] breastes of kings: & thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mighty one of Iaakob.

q Both hie and low shalbe ready to helpe and succour thee.

17 For braſſe will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood braſſe, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement [r] peace, and thine exactours righteousnes.

r Thy gouernors shall loue thee, & seeke thy wealth and prosperity.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction, within thy borders: but thou shalt call [s] saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.

s Meaning, not a temporal felicity, but a spiritual, which is fulfilled in Christs kingdome.

19 Thou shalt haue no more Sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the [t] Moone shine vnto thee: for the Lorde shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

t Signifying, that al worldly means shall cease and u The children that Christ shalbe al in all, as Reuel. 21.22. & 22.5.

21 Thy people also shal be all righteous, they shall possesse the land for euer, y [u] graffe of my planting shall bee the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a [x] thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

of the Church. x Meaning, that the Church should be miraculously multiplied.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He propheſieth that Christ shalbe anointed, and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

THe [a] Spirit of the Lorde God is vpon me, therfore hath the Lord anoynted me: he hath sent mee to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the [b] broken hearted, to preach liberty to the [c] captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison,

Luke 4.18.

a This appertaineth to all the Prophets & ministers of God, but chiefly to Christ, of whose abundant graces euery one receiueth according as it pleaseth him to 2 To preach the acceptable yeere of the Lorde, and the day of [d] vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne, distribute. b To them that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes. c Which are in the bondage of sinne. d The time when it pleased God to shew his good fauour to man, which S. Paul calleth the fulnesse of time, Gal. 4.4. e For when God deliuereth his Church, he punisheth his enemies.

3 To appoynt vnto them that mourne in Zion, & to giue vnto them beauty for [f] ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnes for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called [g] trees of righteousnesse, the planting of the Lorde, that hee might bee glorified.

4 And they shall builde the olde waste places, and rayse vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste throwe many [h] generations.

5 And the strangers shall [i] stand & feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall bee your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shall be named [k] the Priests of the Lorde, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: yee shall eate the [l] riches of the Gentiles, and shall bee exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receiue [m] double, and for confusion [n] they shall reioyce in [o] their portion: for in their lande they shall possesse the [p] double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement & hate [q] robbery for burnt offering, and I will direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And their [r] seed shalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them shall knowe them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed.

10 [s] I will greatly reioyce in the Lorde, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for hee hath clothed mee with the garments of saluation, and couered mee with the robe of righteousnesse: hee hath decked mee like a bridegroome, and as a bride tyeth herselfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth foorth her bud, and as the garden causeth to grow that which is sowen in it: so the Lorde God will cause righteousnesse to growe, and prayse before all the heathen.

f Which was the signe of mourning.
g Trees [that] bring forth good fruits as Matth. 3.8.
h That is, for a long time.
i They shall be ready to serue you in all your necessities.
k This is accomplished in the time of Christ, by whom all the faithful are made Priests & Kings, 1 Pet. 2.9. reuel. 1.6. and 5.10. 1 Reade Chap. 60.11,16.
m Abundant recompense, as this word is vsed, Chap. 40.2. n That is, the Iewes.
o To wit, of the Gentiles.
p Whereas the Gentiles had dominion ouer the Iewes in times past, now they shall haue double authority ouer them, & possesse twise so much.
q I will not receiue their offering, which are extortioners, deceiuers, hypocrites, or that depriue me of my glory.
r That is, of the Church.
s He sheweth what shalbe the affection, when they feele this their deliuerance.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophets haue had for Christes comming. 6 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

FOR Zions sake I will not [a] holde my tongue, and for Ierusalems sake I wil not rest, vntill the righteousnesse thereof breake foorth as the [b] light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnesse, & all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by [c] a newe name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also be a [d] crowne of glory in the hand of the Lorde, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more bee sayde vnto thee, [e] Forsaken, neither shall it bee said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called ‖ Hephzibah, and thy land ‖ Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy lande shall haue an [f] husband.

5 For as a yong man marrieth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes [g] marrie thee: and as a bridegroome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set [k] watchmen vpon thy walls, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: [ye] yee that are mindefull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till hee repaire, and vntill he set vp Ierusalem the [k] praise of the world.

8 The Lorde hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme. Surely I will no more giue thy corne to be meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and prayse the Lorde, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

10 [l] Goe throwe, goe throw the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a standard for the people.

11 Beholde, the Lorde hath proclaymed vnto the ends of the world: [m] tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Sauiour commeth: beholde, his wages is with him, and [n] his worke is before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, The redeemed of the Lorde, & thou shalt be named, [o] A citty sought out, & not forsaken.

e Thou shalt no more be contemned as a woman forsaken of her husband.
‖ Or, my delight in her.
[f] Or, married.
f That it may be replenished with children.
g Forasmuch as they confesse one faith and religion with thee, they are in the same bond of mariage with thee: and they are called the children of the Church, inasmuch as Christ maketh her plentifull to bring foorth children vnto him.
h Prophets, pastours and ministers.
i He exhorteth the ministers heuer to cease to call vpon God by prayer for the deliuerance of his Church, and to teach others to doe the same.
k For the restauration whereof all the world shal praise him.
l Signifying the great number that should come to the Church, and what meanes he would prepare for the restitution of the same, as chap. 57.14.
m Ye Prophets and ministers shew the people of this their deliuerance: which was chiefly meant of our saluation by Christ, Zech. 9.9. Mat. 21.5.
n He shall haue all power to bring his purpose to passe, as chap. 40.10.
o That is, one, ouer whom God hath had a singular care to recouer her when thee was lost.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods benefits toward his Church.

WHo is this that commeth [a] from Edome, with red garments from Bozrah? he is glorious in his apparell, and walketh in his great strength. [b] I speak in righteousnes, and am mighty to saue.

2 [c] Wherefore is thine apparell red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepresse?

3 I haue troden the winepresse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for a This prophesie is against the Idumeans, & enemies which persecuted the Church, on whom God will take vengeance, and is heere set forth all bloody after that he hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe city of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcision, and the kinred of Abraham, claimed to themselues the chiefe religion & hated the true worshippers, Psal. 137.7.

b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and saith, Ye see now performed indeede the vengeance which my Prophets threatned.
c An other question to the which the Lord answereth.

I will

d Shewing, that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profit and deliuerance of his Church.

e God sheweth that he hath no neede of mans helpe for the deliuerance of his, and though men refuse to doe their duetie through negligence and ingratitude, yet hee himselfe will deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies; reade Chap. 59. 16.

f I wil so astonish them, and make them so giddie, that they shall not know which way to goe.

g The Prophet speaketh this to moue the people to remember Gods benifits in times past, that they may be confirmed in their troubles.

h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should bee holy and not deceiue mine expectation.

i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne.

k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence: and this may be referred to Christ, to whome belongeth the office of saluation.

l That is, the people of Israel being afflicted, called to remembrance Gods benifits, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past.

I will tread them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my rayment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the d yeere of the redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vphold: therefore mine owne e arme helped mee, and my wrath it selfe sustained mee.

6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them f drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will s remember the mercies of the Lord, and the prayses of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, & according to his great mercies.

8 For he sayd, Surely they are my h people, children that will not lie: so he was their sauiour.

9 In all their troubles he was i troubled, and the Angel k of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie hee redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemie, and he fought against them.

11 Then he l remembred the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the sea with the m shepheard of his sheepe? where is hee that put his holy Spirit within n him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name.

13 He led them through the deepe, as an o horse in the wildernes, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 p Looke downe from heauen, and beholde from the dwelling place of thine holinesse, and of thy glory. Where is thy q zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from r me.

16 Doubtles thou art our father: though s Abraham bee ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast t thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy u seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it but a little x while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 Wee haue bene as they, ouer whom thou neuer bearest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

m Meaning, Moses. n That is, in Moses, that he might well gouerne the people: some referre this giuing of the Spirit to the people. o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is led to his pasture. p Hauing declared Gods benifits shewed to their forefathers he turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue § same graces toward them. q Thy great affection which thou bearest toward vs. r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church. s Though Abraham would refuse vs to bee his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our father.

t By taking away thy holy Spirit from vs by whō we were gouerned and so for our ingratitude diddest deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiscence, & didst punish sin by sin according to thy iust iudgement.

u Meaning for the couenants sake made to Abraham, Izhak & Iaakob his seruants. x That is, in respect of the promise which is perpetuall: albeit they had now possessed the land of Canaan a thousand and foure hundreth yeeres: and thus they lament, to moue God rather to remember his couenant, then to punish their sinnes.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthy cloth.

O That thou wouldest a breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused b the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the worlde they haue not c heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meete him, d that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembred thee in thy e wayes: behold, thou art angry, for wee haue sinned: yet in f them is continuance, and we s shall be saued.

6 But wee haue all bene as an vncleane thing, and all our h righteousnesse is as filthy cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take holde of thee: for thou hast hidde thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the i clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Bee not angry, O Lord, k aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: lo, we beseech thee, behold, we are al thy people.

a The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to declare his loue toward his Church by miracles, and mighty power, as hee did in mount Sinai.

b Meaning, the raine, haile, fire, thunder, and lightnings.

c Saint Paul vseth the same kinde of admiration, 1 Cor. 2. 6. marueiling at Gods great benefite shewed to his Church by the preaching the Gospel.

d Thou shewedst fauour toward our fathers when they trusted in thee, and walked after thy commandements.

e They considered thy great mercies.

f That is, in thy mercies, which hee calleth the wayes of the Lord.

g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs. h We are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because wee haue prouoked thee to anger, and though wee could excuse our selues, yet our righteousnesse and best vertues are before thee as vile cloutes, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of women. i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgement thou mayest vtterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doth not immediatly send succour.

1 Which were dedicated to thy seruice and to call vpon thy Name.

10 [1] Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wildernesse, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie and of our glory, [m] where our fathers praysed thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou hold thy selfe still [n] at these things, O Lord? wilt thou hold thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

m Wherein we reioyced and worshipped thee.

n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glory? though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles and the reiection of the Iewes. 13. The ioy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

I haue beene sought of them that [a] asked not: I was found of them that sought mee not: I sayde, Behold mee, behold mee, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

a Meaning, the Gentiles, which knew not God, should seeke after him when he had moued their hearts, with his holy Spirit, Rom. 10.20.

2 I haue [b] spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne [c] imaginations:

b Hee sheweth the cause of the reiection of the Iewes, because they should not obey him for any admonition of his Prophets by whom hee called them continually, and stretched out his hand to draw them.

3 A people that prouoked mee euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in [d] gardens, and burneth incense vpon [e] brickes.

c Hee sheweth that to delite in our owne fantasies, is the declining from God, and the beginning of all superstition and idolatrie.

d Which were dedicate to idoles.

e Meaning, their altars, which he thus nameth by contempt.

4 Which remaine among the [f] graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eate [g] swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

f To consult with spirits and to coniure deuils, which was forbidden, Deut. 18.11. g Which was contrary to Gods commandement, Leuit. 11.7. deut. 14.8

5 Which say, [h] Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, & a fire that [i] burneth all the day.

h He sheweth that hypocrisie is euer ioyned with pride and contempt of others. i Their punishment shall neuer haue ende.

6 Behold, it [k] is written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shalbe [l] together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore will I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

k So that the remembrance thereof cannot be forgotten. l Shall bee both punished together: and this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers faultes: to wit, when the same faultes or like are found in them.

8 Thus sayth the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a [m] blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seede out of Iaakob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine: and mine elect shal inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And [n] Sharon shall be a sheepefolde, and the valley of Achor shall bee a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought mee.

m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineard, when he destroyeth the rotten stockes, that is, the hypocrits. n Which was a plentifull place in Iudea, to feede sheepe, as Achor was for cattell.

11 But yee are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the [o] multitude, & furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I [p] number you to the sworde, and all you shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and yee did not answere: I [q] spake, and yee heard not, but did euil in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shall [r] eate, and yee shall be hungry: behold, my seruants shall drinke, and yee shall be thirstie: behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and yee shall bee ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall crie for sorowe of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And yee shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my [s] chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you, and call his seruants by [t] an other name.

16 He that shall blesse in the [u] earth shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former [x] troubles are forgotten, and shal surely hide themselues from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I will create [y] new heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde.

18 But bee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Ierusalem as a reioycing, and her people as a ioy, 19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath [z] not filled his dayes: for he that shall be an hundreth yeeres old, shall die as a yong man: but the sinner being an hundreth yeeres old shal be accursed.

21 And they shall [b] builde houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineardes, and eate the fruit of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabite: they shal not plant, and another eat: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall inioy in olde age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare, for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lorde, and their buddes

o By the multitude and number he meaneth their innumerable idoles of whom they thought they could neuer haue ynough.

p Seeing you cannot number your gods, I will number you with the sword.

q By my Prophets whom ye would not obey.

r By these words, Eate and drinke, he meaneth the blessed life of the faithfull, which haue alwayes consolation and full contentment of all things in their God, though sometimes they lacke these corporall things.

s Meaning, that he would call the Gentiles, who should abhorre euen the very name of the Iewes for their infidelities sake.

t Then by the name of the Iewes.

u By blessing, and by swearing is meant the praysing of god for his benefits, and the true worshipping of him, which shall not be onely in Iudea, but through all the world.

x I will no more suffer my Church to bee desolate as in times past. y I will so alter and change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a newe world. z Meaning, in this wonderfull restauration of the Church there should be no weakenesse of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all should bee fresh and flourishing: and this is accomplished in the heauenly Ierusalem when all sinnes shall cease, and the teares shall be wiped away. a Whereby he sheweth that the infideles and vnrepentant sinners haue no part of this benediction. b He proposeth to the faithfull the blessings which are contained in the law, and so vnder temporall things comprehendeth the spirituall promises.

24 Yea, before they call, I will answere, and whiles they speake, I will heare.

e Reade Chap. 11.6.

25 The e wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lion shall eate straw like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall be his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy mountaine, sayeth the Lord.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 He despiseth sacrifices done without mercy and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked u everlasting.

Acts 7.48.49.

a My maiestie is so great, that it filleth both heauen and earth, and therfore can not be included in a Temple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices.

b Seeing that both the Temple and the things therein with the sacrifices, were made and done by his appoyntment, he sheweth that he hath no need therof, and that he can be without them, Psal. 50.10.

c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiueth my doctrine with reuerence and feare.

d Because the Iewes thought themselues holy by offering of their sacrifices, and in the meane season had neither faith nor repentance, God sheweth that he doeth no lesse detest these ceremonies, then he doeth the sacrifices of the heathen, who offered men, dogs and swine to their idoles, which things were expresly forbidden in the Law.

THus saith the Lorde, * The a heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footestoole: where is that house that yee will build vnto mee? and where is that place of my rest?

2 For all these things hath mine hande made, b and all these things haue bene, saith the Lorde: and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of c a contrite spirite and trembleth at my words.

3 Hee that killeth a bullocke, is as if hee d slew a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogs necke: he that offreth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: hee that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes: and their soule delighteth in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I e chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answere: I spake and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things, which I would not.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his f word, Your brethen that hated you, and cast you out for my names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall bee ashamed.

6 A voyce soundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lorde, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

7 Before h shee trauelled, shee brought forth: and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man childe.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shall the earth bee brought forth in one i day? or shal a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion trauelled, she brought forth her children.

9 Shall I k cause to trauell, & not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth and shall be barren, saith thy God?

10 Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, & be glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her.

11 That ye may suck l and bee satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out and bee delighted with the brightnesse of her glory.

12 For thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will extend m peace ouer her like a flood, and the glory of the n Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall bee o borne vpon her sides, and bee ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and yee shalbe comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your p bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be knowen among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and his chariots like a whirlewinde, that he may q recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with feare, & with his sword all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctifie r themselues, and purifie themselues in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating s swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the mouse, shalbe consumed together, sayth the Lord.

18 For I will visite their works, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations and tongues, and they shall come, and see my t glory.

19 And I will set a u signe among them, and will send those that x escape of them, vnto the nations of y Tarshish, z Pul, & a Lud, and to them that draw the b bowe, to c Tubal, and to d Iauan, Iles a farre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glory, and e they shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they shall bring all your f brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all f They despised my word, and therefore I will punish them.

g Hee encourageth the faithful, by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to bee as brethren, but were hypocrites and hated them that feared God.

h Meaning, that the restauration of the Church should be so sudden and contray to all mens opinion, as when a woman is deliuered before shee looke for it, and that without paine in trauell.

i This shall passe the capacitie of man to see such a multitude that shall come vp at once, meaning, vnder the preaching of the Gospel, whereof they that came vp out of Babylon, were a figure.

k Declaring hereby, that as by his power and prouidence woman trauelleth, and is deliuered: so hath he power to bring forth his Church at his time appoynted.

l That ye may reioyce for all the benefits that God bestoweth vpon his Church.

m I wil giue her felicity and posperitie in great aboundance.

n Reade Chap. 60.16.

o Ye shall be cherished, as her dearly beloued children.

p Ye shall haue new strength and new beautie.

q This vengeance God began to execute at the destruction of Babylon, and haue euer continued it against the enemies of his Church, and will doe til the last day, which shall be the accomplishment thereof.

r Meaning, the hypocrites.

s Whereby are meant them that did maliciously transgresse the Lawe, by eating beasts forbidden, euen to the mouse which nature abhorreth.

t The Gentiles shall bee partakers of that glory which before I shewed to the Iewes.

u I will marke these that I chuse, that they perish not with the rest of the Infidels, whereby hee alludeth to the marking of the postes of his people whom hee preserued, Exodus 12, 7.

x I will scatter the rest of the Iewes which escape destruction into diuers nations.

y That is, Cilicia.

z Meaning Affrica.

a To wit, Lydia, or Asia minor.

b Signifying, the Parthians.

c Italy.

e Meaning, the Apostle, Disciples, and others, which hee did first chuse of the Iewes to preach vnto the Gentiles.

f That is, the Gentiles, which by faith shall bee made the children of Abraham as you are.

g Whereby he meaneth that no necessary meanes shall want when God shall call the Gentiles to the knowledge of the Gospel.

h To wit, of the Gentiles, as he did Luke, Timothie, and Titus first, and others after, to preach his word.

nations, vpon s horses and in charets, and in horse litters, and vpon mules, and swift beasts to Ierusalem mine holy mountaine, sayeth the Lord, as the children of Israel offer in a cleane vessell in the house of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for h priests, and for Leuites, saith the Lord.

22 For as the new heauens, and the new earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

24 And they shall goe forth and looke vpon the k carcases of the men that haue transgressed against mee: for their l worme shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shall be an abhorring m vnto all flesh.

k As he hath declared the felicity that shal be within the Church for the comfort of the godly, so doth he shew what horrible calamitie shall come to the wicked, that are out of the Church.

i Hereby he signifieth the kingdome of Christ, wherein his Church shall bee renewed: and whereas before there were appoynted seasons to sacrifice, in this there shall be one continuall Sabbath, so that all times and seasons shal be meete.

l Meaning, a continuall torment of conscience, which shall euer gnaw them and neuer suffer them to bee at rest, Marke 9.44.

m This is the iust recompense for the wicked, which contemning God and his word, shal be by Gods iust iudgment abhorred of all his creatures.

Ieremiah.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whome some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of prophesie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eighteene yeeres vndet the sayd King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourtie yeeres, beside the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuity of the people for their idolatrie, couetousnesse, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion and contempt of Gods word: and for the consolation of the Church, reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainely of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preseruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

THe a wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of b Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at c Anathoth in the land of Beniamin.

2 To whom d the word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the e sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift f moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I g formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to bee a Prophet vnto the h nations.

6 Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I cannot speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord said vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoeuer I command thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand

b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Law vnder king Iosiah, 2. King. 22. 8 c This was a citie about 3. miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the priests the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21. 18.

d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God.

e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachin that reigned no longer.

f Of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were caried away into Babylon by Nebuchad-nezzar.

g The Scripture vseth this maner of speach to declare that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isaiah 49. 1. Galatians 1. 15.

h For Ieremiah did not onely prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations.

i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the world, he was mooued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pitie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isaiah 6. 11. Exod. 3. 11. and 4. 1.

k Which declareth, that God maketh them meet & assureth them, whom he calleth to set foorth his glory, giuing them all meanes necessarie for the same, Exod.4.12. isa.6.7.

l He sheweth, what is the authoritie of Gods true ministers, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoeuer lifteth it selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble and such as giue themselues to the obedience of Gods word, 2.Cor.10 4.heb. 4.12.and these are the keyes which Christ hath left to loose and binde, Matt. 18.18.

m Hee ioyneth the signe with the word for a more ample confirmation, signifying by the rod of the almond tree, which first buddeth, the hastie comming of the Babylonians against the Iewes.

n Signifying, that the Caldeans and Assyrians should be as a pot to seeth the Iewes which boyled in their pleasures and lustes. o Syria and Assyria were Northward in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans dominion. p I will giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance against the idolaters, which haue forsaken mee for their idoles. q Which declareth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which dare not execute their duety faithfully, either for feare of man, or for any other cause, 1.Cor.9.16. r Signifying on the one part, that the more that Satan and the world rage against Gods ministers, the more present will he be to helpe them, Ioth. 1.4. hebr.13.5. and on the other part, that they were vtterly vnmeete to serue God and his Church which are afraid, and doe not resist wickednesse, whatsoeuer danger depend thereon, Isa.50.7.ezek.3.8.

and k touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto mee, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the l nations and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throw downe, to build, and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I sayde, I see a m rod of an almond tree.

12 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto mee the second time, saying, What seest thou? and I said, I see a seething n pot looking out of the North.

14 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Out of the o North shall a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, sayeth the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my p iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise, and speake vnto them all that I command thee: be not afraid of their faces, lest I q destroy thee before them.

18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar, and walles of brasse against the whole land, against the kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priests thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 For they shall fight against thee: but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 8 Against the Priests and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Goe, and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the s kindnes of thy youth, and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernesse t in a land that was not sowen.

3 Israel was as a thing u hallowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruits: all they x that eate it, shall offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4 Heare yee the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in me, that they are gone y far from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become z vaine?

6 For they said not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the lande of Egypt? that led vs thorow the wildernes, thorow a desert and waste land, thorow a drie land, and a by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed thorow, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eate the fruit thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when yee entred, yee b defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The Priests said not, c Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the d Law, knew me not: the e pastours also offended against mee, and the Prophets prophesied in f Baal, and went after things that did not profit.

9 Wherefore I will yet g plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens children.

10 For goe yee to the yles of h Chittim, and behold, and send vnto i Kedar, and take diligent heed, and see whether there be such things.

11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their k glory, for that which doeth not l profit.

12 O ye heauens, be astonied at this: be afraide, and vtterly confounded, saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken me m the fountaine

f That is, speake vaine things, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idole of the Moabites, are meant all idoles.

g Signifying, that he would not as he might straightway condemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed & repent.

h Meaning, the Grecians and Italians.

i Vnto Arabia.

k That is, God which is their glory, and who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reprouing the Iewes, that they were lesse diligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities.

l Meaning, the idoles, which were their destruction, Psal. 106.36.

m Hee sheweth that the insensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, and as it were tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same.

n Signifying, that when men forsake Gods word, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God himselfe, and so fall to their owne inuentions, and vaine confidence, and procure to themselues destruction, Ionah.2.8.zech.10.2.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saydest, f I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hils, and vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whose ‡ plants were all naturall: how then are thou turned vnto mee into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou wash thee with g nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before mee, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I h followed Baalim? behold thy wayes in the valley, ‡ know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift i dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes:

24 And as a wilde k asse, vsed to the wildernesse, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselues, but will find her in her l moneth.

25 Keepe thou thy feete from m barenesse, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saydest desperatly, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

26 As the n thiefe is ashamed when he is found, so is y house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their princes, and their priestes, and their prophets,

27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my o father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten mee: for they haue turned their backe vnto mee, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? Let them arise if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according p to the number of thy cities, are thy Gods D Iudah.

29 Wherefore will q ye pleade with me? yee all haue rebelled against mee, sayeth the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your r owne sword hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon.

31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I beene as a s wildernesse vnto Israel? or a land of darkenesse? wherefore sayeth my people then, Wee are lordes, t wee will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dooest thou prepare thy way, to u seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy wayes are wickednesse

34 Also in thy x wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shall turne from mee: beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes? for thou shalt bee confounded of Egypt y as thou art confounded of Assur.

37 For thou shalt goe forth from thence, and thine hands vpon z thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

b If he take such one to wife againe.
c That is, with idoles, and with them whom thou hast put thy confidence in.
d And I will not cast thee off, but receiue thee according to my mercy.
e Which dwelleth in tents, and waiteth for them that passe by to spoile them.
f As God threatned by his law, Deut. 28.24.
g Thou wouldest neuerbe ashamed of thine acts and repent: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not giue off, though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted.
h He sheweth that the wicked in their miseries will cry vnto God & vse outward prayer, as the godly doe, but because they turne not from their euill, they are not heard, Isa. 58 3,4.
i Meaning, the ten tribes.
k And gaue her vnto the hands of the Assyrians.
l The Ebrewe word may either signifie lightnes and wantonnes, or noise & bruite.
m Iudah fained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good Kings, but thee was neuer truely touched or wholly reformed, as appeared, when occasion was offered by any wicked prince.

gaine vnto her? shall not this land b be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many c louers: yet d turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the bie places, and behold, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast lie waiting for them in the wayes, as the e Arabian in the wildernesse: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue bene restreined, and the f latter raine came not, and thou hadst a e whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Didst thou not still cry b vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will he reserue it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but then doest euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lorde sayd also vnto mee, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebell i Israel hath done? for she hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, & there played the harlot.

7 And I sayde, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto mee: but shee returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

8 When I sawe, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast k her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraide, but she went also, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the l lightnes of her whoredome she hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stockes.

10 Neuertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with m her whole heart, but fainedly, sayth the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath n iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and cry these words toward o the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast p scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, saith the Lord.

14 O yee disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lorde, for I am your Lorde, and I will take you one of a city, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

15 And I wil giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when ye be increased, and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The q Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to mind, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, r The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thence forth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shal walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the s North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I sayde, Howe did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and sayd, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from mee?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her t husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

21 u A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lorde their God.

22 O yee disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. x Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truely, the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our y fathers labour, from our youth, their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: z for wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde our God.

n Israel hath not declared her selfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call her to repentance.
o Whereas the Israelites were now kept in captiuity by the Assyrians, to whom he promiseth mercy, if they will repent.
p There was no way, which thou didst not haunt to seeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage, q This is to be vnderstood of the comming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shall cease.

r Meaning, the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Mat. 28.20.
s Where they are now in captiuitie.
t The Ebrewe word signifieth a friend or companion, and here may be taken for a husband, as it is vsed also, Hose. 3.1.
u Signifying that God whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them who should lead them captiue and make them to cry and lament.
x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the shame of Iudah, which stayed so long to turne vnto God.
y For their idolatry, Gods vengeance hath light vpon them and theirs.
z They iustifie not themselues, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings, and desire forgiuenesse of the same, as Ezra. 9.7. Psal. 106 6. Isa. 64.6.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is propheseid for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, a returne vnto me, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoone.

2 And thou shalt b sweare, The Lord liueth, in truth, in iudgement, and in righa That is, wholly and without hypocrisie, Ioel 2. 12. not dissembling to turne and serue God as they doe which serue him by halues, as Hosea 7.16.

b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psal. 16.4. and shalt with reuerence sweare by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduance Gods glory, and profite others: and here by swearing he meaneth the true religion of God.

teouſneſſe, and the nations ſhall be bleſſed in him, and ſhall glory in him.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ieruſalem,

4 Breake vp c your fallow ground, and ſow not among the thornes: be circumciſed to the Lord, and take away the foreſkinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ieruſalem, leaſt my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, becauſe of the wickedneſſe of your inuentions.

5 d Declare in Iudah, and ſhew forth in Ieruſalem, and ſay, Blowe the trumpet in the land: cry, and gather together, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelues, and let vs goe into ſtrong cities.

6 Set vp the ſtandard in Zion: e prepare to flee, and ſtay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great deſtruction.

7 The f lion is come vp from his denne, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waſte, and thy cities ſhall be deſtroyed without inhabitant.

8 Wherefore girde you with ſackcloth: lament and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, ſayeth the Lord, the heart of the king ſhall periſh, and the heart of the Princes, and the Prieſts ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and the g prophets ſhall wonder.

10 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lorde God, ſurely thou haſt h deceiued this people, and Ieruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhall haue peace, and the ſword pearceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time ſhall it be ſayd to this people and to Ieruſalem, A drie i winde in the high places of the wilderneſſe commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither k to fanne, nor to cleanſe.

12 A mightie winde ſhall come vnto mee from thoſe places, and now will I alſo giue ſentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, hee ſhall come vp as the l cloudes, and his charets ſhall be as a tempeſt: his horſes are lighter then eagles. m Wo vnto vs, for we are deſtroyed.

14 O Ieruſalem, waſh thine heart from wickednеſſe, that thou mayeſt be ſaued: how long ſhall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from n Dan, and publiſheth affliction from mount o Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publiſh in Ieruſalem, Beholde, the ſkoutes come from a farre countrey, and cry out againſt the cities of Iudah

17 They haue compaſſed her about as the p watchmen of the field, becauſe it hath prouoked me to wrath, ſaith the Lord.

18 Thy wayes & thine inuentions haue procured thee theſe things, ſuch is thy wickednеſſe: therefore it ſhalbe bitter, therefore it ſhall pearce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, q my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: my heart is troubled within me: I cannot be ſtill: for my ſoule hath heard the ſound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Deſtruction vpon deſtruction is cried, for the whole land is waſted: ſuddenly are my r tents deſtroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long ſhall I ſee the ſtandard, and heare the ſound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is fooliſh: they haue not knowen me: they are foolith children, and haue none vnderſtanding: ſ they are wiſe to doe euill, but to do well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and t void: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and lo, they trembled, and all the hilles ſhooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderneſſe, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the preſence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lorde ſayde, The whole land ſhall be deſolate: yet will I u not make a full end.

28 Therefore ſhal the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue ſhalbe darkened, becauſe I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole city ſhall flee, for the noiſe of the horſemen and bowemen: they ſhall go into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery city ſhall be forſaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou ſhalt bee deſtroyed, what wilt thou do? Though thou x clotheſt thy ſelfe with ſkarlet, though thou deckeſt thee with ornaments of gold, though thou painteſt thy face with colours, yet ſhalt thou trimme thy ſelfe in vaine: for thy louers wil abhorre thee, and ſeeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noyſe as of a woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her firſt child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that ſigheth and ſtretcheth out her hands: y woe is me now: for my ſoule fainteth becauſe of the murtherers.

d He warneth them of the great dangers that ſhall come vpon them by the Caldeans, except they repent and turne to the Lord.

ye can find a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the truth, and I will spare [a] it.

2 For though they say, The [b] Lorde liueth, yet doe they sweare falsly.

3 O Lorde, are not thine eyes vpon the [c] trueth? thou hast [d] stricken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

4 Therefore I sayde, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get mee vnto the [e] great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God, but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore [f] a Lion out of the forrest shall slay them, and a Wolfe of the wildernes shal destroy them: a Leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and [g] sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adultery, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man *neied after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, sayth the Lord? shall not my soule bee auenged on such a nation as this?

10 [h] Climbe vp vpon their wals, and destroy them, but make not a full ende, [i] take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

12 They haue [k] denied the Lorde, and sayd, It is not hee, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shall be as [l] winde, and the word is [m] not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus sayeth the Lord God of hosts, Because ye speake such words, behold, I will put my words into [n] thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall bee as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you [o] from farre, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

16 Whose quiuer is as an [p] open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

17 And they shall eate thine harnest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes, and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.

18 Neuertheless at those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will not make a full end of you.

19 And when *ye shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God do these things vnto vs? then shalt [r] thou answere them, Like as ye haue forsaken me & serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and ‡ without vnderstanding, which haue * eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare yee not me, sayth the Lord? or will ye not be afraid at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the * bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree, that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: hee reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harnest.

25 Yet your [f] iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that lay waite as he that setteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceite: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they do ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: * they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse, yet they [t] prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a [a] beautifull and dainty woman.

3 The pastors with their flockes [c] shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feed in his place.

4 [f] Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadows of the euening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes sayde, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the mids of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so shee casteth out her malice: [s] cruelty and spoyle is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O [h] Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne [i] backe thine hand as the grapegatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish, that they may heare? Beholde, their eares are [k] vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken, beholde, the worde of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: [l] I will powre it out vpon the [m] children in the street, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shall bee turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hande vpon the inhabitants of the lande, sayeth the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the prophet euen vnto the priest, they all deale falsly.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, [n] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the ‡ slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus sayth the Lord, Stande in the wayes and beholde, and aske for [o] the olde way which is the good way, & walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules: but they sayd, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set [p] watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heede to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therefore, yee [q] Gentiles, and thou Congregation know, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee [r] incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offrings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, a people commeth from the [t] North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shielde shall they bee weaponed: they are cruell, and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our handes [u] wax feeble: sorow is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, girde thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set [x] thee for a defence and for tresse among my people, that thou mayest know and try their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traytors, walking craftily: they are braße, and yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The [y] bellowes are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

2 Ieremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the word of God, which trusteth in the outward structure of the Temple. 13 The euils that shal come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe words that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house and cry this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, * Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place. Chap.26.13.

4 Trust

a I haue intreated her gently, and giuen her abundance of all things.

e She shalbe so destroyed, that the sheepe may be fed in her.

f He speaketh this in the person of the Babylonians, which complaine that the time faileth them before they haue brought their enterprises to passe.

g He sheweth the cause why it should be destroyed, and how it commeth of themselues.

h He warneth them to amend by his corrections, and to turne to him by repentance.

i He exhorteth the Babylonians to be diligent to search out al and to leaue none.

k They delight to heare vaine things, and to shut vp their eares to true doctrine.

l As the Lord had giuen him his worde to be as a fire of his indignation to burne the wicked, Chap. 5. 14. so he kindleth it now when he seeth that all remedies are past.

m None shall be spared.

n When the people began to feare Gods iudgements, the false prophets comforted them by flatterings, shewing that God would send peace and not warre.

o Wherein the Patriarkes and Prophets walked, directed by the word of God: signifying, that there is no true way, but that which God prescribeth.

p Prophets which should warne you of the dangers that were at hand.

q God taketh all the world to witnesse, and the insensible creatures, of the ingratitude of the Iewes.

r Reade Isa. 1. 11. and Amos 5. 21.

s From Babylon by Dan, which was North from Ierusalem.

t For feare of the enemie: he speaketh this in the person of the Iewes.

u Meaning, Ieremiah, whom God had appointed to trie out the godly from the wicked, as a founder doth the pure metall from the drosse.

x All the paine and labour that hath bene taken with them, is lost.

a Beleeue not the false prophets, which say ỹ for the Temples sake and the sacrifices there, the Lord wil preserue you, and so nourish you in your sin, and vaine confidence

b God sheweth on what condition he maie his promise to this Temple: that they should be an holy people vnto him, as he would be a faithfull God to them.

c As theeues hid in holes and dennes, thinke themselues safe, so when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be couered with the holinesse thereof, and that I cannot see your wickednesse, Mat. 21. 13.

d Because they depēded so much on the Temple, which was for his promise that he would be present, and defend them where the Arke was: hee sendeth them to Gods iudgements against Shilo, where the Arke had remayned about 300. yeeres, and after was taken, the Priestes slaine, and the people miserably discomfited, 1. Sam. 4. 11. chap. 26. 6.

e That is, I neuer ceased to warne you, as Isa 65. 2. Pro. 1. 23.

f He sheweth what is the only remedy to redresse our faults: to suffer God to lead vs into the way, & to obey his calling, Isa. 66. 4.

g I will send you into captiuity as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes.

h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednes, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auaile them, while they remaine in their obstinacy against God, and will not vse the meanes that he vseth to call them to repentance, Cha. 11. 14. & 14. 11.

i That is, They sacrifice to the sunne, moone, and starres, which they called the Queene of heauen, Chap. 44. 17. 2. king. 23. 5.

4 Trust not in a lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amende and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the straunger, the fatherlesse and the widowe, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then b will I let you dwell in this place in the lande that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying wordes, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adultery, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not,

10 And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become c a denne of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I see it, sayeth the Lord.

12 But goe yee nowe vnto my place which was in Shilo, d where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because yee haue done all these workes, saieth the Lord (and I e rose vp earely and spake vnto you: but when I spake, yee would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answere)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast f you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seede of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I wil not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke mee vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the fielde, and vpon the fruit of the ground, & it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, whe I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commaunded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will bee your God, and ye shalbe my people: and walke ye in all the waies which I haue commaunded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburneneſſe of their wicked heart, and went backewarde and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruaunts the Prophets, m rising vp early euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare me, nor incline their eare, but hardened their neck, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lorde their God, nor receiueth discipline: truth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine o haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the high places: for the Lorde hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayeth the Lorde: they haue set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the high place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I r commaunded them not, neyther came it in mine heart.

32 Therfore behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shal bury in Topheth, till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beastes of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 * Then will I cause to cease from the Cities of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem, the voyce of myrth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride: for the land shalbe desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnesse of the Prophets and Priests.

AT that time, sayeth the Lorde, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priestes, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their [a] graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, & whom they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not bee gathered nor be buried, but shalbe as dung vpon the earth.

3 And death shalbe desired [b] rather then life, of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked family, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shal they [c] fal and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they haue themselues to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery [d] one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the storke in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the Turtle, and the crane, & the swallow obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the [e] iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Law [f] of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainly in vaine made hee it, the pen of the Scribes is in vaine.

9 The [g] wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue reiected the worde of the Lord, and what wisedome is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fieldes to them that shall possesse them: *for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, [h] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slayne: when I shall visite them, they shall bee cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, sayth the Lord: there shall bee no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the fig tree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Why doe wee stay? [i] assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lorde our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with [k] gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 *Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and beholde, troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from [l] Dan, the whole land trembled at the noyse of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the lande with all that is in it, the citie and those that dwell therein.

17 For beholde, I will [m] send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not bee charmed: and they shall sting you, sayth the Lord.

18 I would haue [n] comforted my selfe against sorow, but mine heart is heauy in me.

19 Beholde, the voyce of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre country, Is not the Lorde in Zion? is not her King in her? Why [o] haue they prouoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The [p] haruest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not holpen.

21 I am [q] sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauy, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balme [r] at Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered?

a The enemy for greedines of gain shall rifle your graues, & lay you before those idoles, which in your life you worshipped, to see if they can helpe you.

b Because of the afflictions that they shall feele through Gods iudgements.

c Is there no hope that they will returne?

d They are ful of hypocrisie, and euery one followeth his owne fantasie without any consideratiō.

e He accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements, then these birds are of their appointed seasons, to discerne the colde and heate, as Isa. 1.3.

f The Law doth not profit you, neither needed it to haue bene written for ought that you haue learned by it.

g They that seeme wise may be ashamed of their ignorance, for all wisedome consisteth in Gods word. Isa.56.11. chap.5.31.& 6.13.

h Reade Chap. 6.14.

i He speaketh in the person of the people, who when the enemy commeth, will runne about to hide themselues, and acknowledge that it is Gods hand.

k That is, hath brought vs into extreme affliction, and thus they shall not attribute this plague to fortune, but to Gods iust iudgement, Chap.9.15. and 23.15. Chap.14.19.

l Read cha.4.15.

m God threatneth to send the Babylonians among them, who shall vtterly destroy them in such sort as by no meanes they shall escape.

n Read cha 4.19.

o Thus the Lord speaketh.

p The people wonder that they haue so long time looked for succour in vaine.

q The Prophet speaketh this.

r Meaning, that no mans helpe or meanes could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balme, Chap.46.11. or els deriding the vaine confidence of the people, who looked for helpe at their Priestes, who should haue beene the Phisicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hos.6.8.

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioice 26 The vncircūcision of the heart.

OH that mine head were full of [a] water, and mine eyes a fountain of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slayne of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh that I had in the wildernes a [b] cottage of waypfaring men, that I might leaue my people and goe from them: for they be all [c] adulterers and an assembly of rebels,

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for [d] lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euill to worse, and they haue not knowen me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust you not in any [e] brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully.

a The Prophet sheweth the great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that hee could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them. Which is a speciall note to discerne the true pastors from the hirelings: Reade Chap.4.19.

b He sheweth that this were more quietnesse, and greater safety for him to dwel among the wilde beastes, then among this wicked people, saue that God hath enioyned him this charge.

c Vtterly turned from God.

d To belie and slander their neighbours.

e Meaning, that all were corrupt, and none could find an honest man.

f They haue ſo practiſed deceit, that they cannot forſake it.

g They had rather forſake God then leaue their wicked trade.

h With the fire of affliction. Pſal. 28. 3. and 120. 4.

i Signifying, ỹ all the places about Ieruſalem ſhould be deſtroyed.

k Meaning, that they are all without ſenſe and vnderſtanding, and that God hath taken his ſpirit from them.

l He ſheweth that the children cannot excuſe themſelues by their fathers: for both father and child, if they be wicked, ſhall periſh.

m Reade Chap. 8. 14.

n Seeing you can not lament your owne ſinnes, call for thoſe fooliſh women, whom of a ſuperſtition you haue to lament for the dead, that they by their fained teares may prouoke you to ſome ſorrow.

o As though they were weary of vs becauſe of our iniquities, Leuit. 11. 28. & 20. 22.

p He derideth the ſuperſtition of the women, which made an art of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.

q Signifying, that there is no means to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be moſt ſure, and moſt farre off, then are they ſooneſt taken.

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not ſpeake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to ſpeake lies, and take great paines to doe wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceiuers: ſ becauſe of their deceit they refuſe to know me, ſaith the Lord.

7 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Beholde, I will [h] melt them, and try them: for what ſhould I els doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue * is as an arrow ſhot out, and ſpeaketh deceite: one ſpeaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shal I not viſit them for theſe things, ſaith the Lord? or ſhal not my ſoule be auenged on ſuch a nation as this?

10 Vpon the [i] mountaynes will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the fayre places of the wildernes a mourning, becauſe they are burnt vp: ſo that none can paſſe through them: neyther can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the ayre, and the beaſt are fled away, and gone.

11 And I will make Ieruſalem an heape, and a den of dragons, & I will make the cities of Iudah waſte, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wiſe to [k] vnderſtand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken euen he ſhall declare it. Why doeth the land periſh, and is burnt vp like a wildernes, that none paſſeth through?

13 And the Lord ſaith, Becauſe they haue forſaken my Lawe, which I ſet before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the ſtubburnneſſe of their own heart, and after Baalims, which [l] their fathers taught them,

15 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will feede this people with wormwood, and giue them waters of gall [m] to drinke:

16 I will ſcatter them alſo among the heathen, whome neither they nor their fathers haue knowen, and I will ſend a ſword after them, till I haue conſumed them.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Take heed, & call for the [n] mourning women, that they may come, and ſend for ſkilfull women, that they may come.

18 And let them make haſt, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may caſt out teares, and our eye lids guſh out water.

19 For a lamentable noyſe is heard out of Zion, How are we deſtroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forſaken the land, and our dwellings [o] haue caſt vs out.

20 Therfore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and [p] teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our [q] windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to deſtroy the children without, and the yong men in the ſtreetes.

22 Speake, Thus ſayeth the Lord, The carkeiſes of men ſhall lie euen as the dung vpon the fielde, and as the handfull after the mower, and none ſhall gather them.

23 Thus ſaith the Lord, Let not the [r] wiſe man glory in his wiſedome, nor the ſtrong man glory in his ſtrength: neither the rich man glory in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he vnderſtandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord which [ſ] ſhew mercie, iudgement, and righteouſneſſe in the earth: for in theſe things I delight, ſaith the Lord.

25 Behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I wil viſit all them, which are [t] circumciſed, with the vncircumciſed:

26 Egypt, and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmoſt corners of them that dwel in the wildernes: for all theſe nations are vncircumciſed, and all the houſe of Iſrael are vncircumciſed in the heart.

r Forasmuch as none can ſaue himſelfe by his owne labour or any worldly meanes, he ſheweth that it is in vaine to put our truſt therein, but that we truſt in the Lord, and reioyce in him, who only can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1. 31. 2. Cor. 10. 17.

ſ These three poynts are neceſſary to know aright: his mercy, wherein conſiſteth our ſaluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually againſt the wicked: & his iuſtice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull.

t Meaning both Iewes & Gentiles, as in the next verſe he ſheweth the cauſe, reade Chap. 4. 4.

CHAP. X.

1 The conſtellations of the ſtarres are not to be feared. 5 The weaknes of idoles. 6 Of the power of God. 21 Their paſtors are become brutiſh beaſts.

HEare yee the worde of the Lord that hee ſpeaketh vnto you, O houſe of Iſrael.

2 Thus ſayth the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the [a] ſignes of heauen, though the heathen be afrayd of ſuch.

3 For the [b] cuſtomes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the foreſt (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe,

4 And another decketh it with [c] ſiluer, and with golde: they faſten it with nailes and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles ſtand vp as the palme tree, but ſpeake not: they are borne becauſe they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: [d] thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O king of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wiſe men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdoms there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are fooliſh: for the ſtocke is a [e] doctrine of vanitie.

a God forbiddeth his people to giue credit or feare the conſtellations & coniunctions of ſtars and planets, which haue no power of themſelues, but are gouerned by him, & their ſecret motions and influences are not knowen to man, & therfore there can be no certain iudgement thereof, Deut. 18. 9.

b Meaning, not onely in the obſeruation of the ſtarres, but their Lawes and ceremonies, whereby they confirme their idolatry, which is forbidden, Deut. 12. 30.

c The Prophets vſe thus plainely and ſimply to ſet foorth the vile abſurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be aſhamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is moſt ſubiect, read Iſa. 44. 12.

d He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, & therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he ſheweth them not only the euil that they ought to eſchewe, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15. 4.

e Becauſe the people thought to haue images, was a meane to ſerue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he ſheweth that nothing more diſpleaſeth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errours, verſe 15. and Hab 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of liers: contrary to that wicked opinion that they are the books of the lay people.

f Whereas they found the best gold, shewing that they thought nothing too deare for their idoles: some read Ophir, as 1 King. 9.28.

g This declareth that all that hath beene in this Chapter spoken o fidoles, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and nowe with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, & how to answere them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatry, & therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Ebrew.

h The more that man thinketh to doe any thing well by his owne wisdome, and not as God instructeth him, the more doeth he prooue himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these words portion and rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicitie consisted in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes and succours, as of idoles. &c. Deut. 32.9. Psal. 16. 5.

k The Prophet wilketh the Iewes to prepare themselues to this captiuitie, shewing that it is now at hand, that they should feele the things whereof he had told them.

l It is my iust plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselues toward God.

o Reade Chap. 4 15.

p Hee speaketh this, because that Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made war against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, he turned his power to goe against Ierusalem, Ezek. 21, 21. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold from Uphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blue silk, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth shall perish from the earth, & from vnder these heauens)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the worlde by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

14 Euery man is a h beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falshood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanity, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The i portion of Iaakob is not like them: for hee is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his name.

17 k Gather vp the wares out of the lande, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, at this time I will throwe as with a sling the inhabitants of the lande, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Wo is me for my destruction, and my grieuous plague: but I thought, Yet it l is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

20 m My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines.

21 For the Pastors n are become beastes, and haue not sought the Lord: therfore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flocks of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noyse of the bruite is come, and a great commotion out of the o North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a den of Dragons.

23 O Lorde, I knowe, that p the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord correct me, but with q iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out r thy wrath vpon the heathen that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob, and deuoured him & consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

q Considering that God had reueiled vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7.16. hee onely prayeth, that he would punish them with mercie, which Isaiah calleth in measure, Chap. 27.8. measuring his roddes by their infirmities, 1 Cor. 10 13. for here by iudgment is meant not only the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap. 30.11.

r Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that he vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, hee prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79 6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the worde of Gods couenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the words of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, a Cursed bee the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant,

4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron fornace, saying, Obey my voice, and do according to all these things, which I commaund you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God.

5 That I may confirme the othe that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered b I and sayd, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord sayd vnto me, Cry all these wordes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the words of this couenant and do them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, c rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Neuertheles they would not obey, nor incline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubburnesse of his wicked d heart: therfore I will bring vpon them all the e words of this couenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord sayd vnto me, A f conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant which I made with their fathers.

a He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods mercies who freely chose them, made a couenant of eternal felicitie with them and how he euer performed it on his behalfe, & how they euer shewed themselues rebellious and ingrate toward him, and brake it on their part, and so are subiect & to the curse of the Law, Deut. 27.26.

b This he speaketh in the person of the people which agreed to the couenant.

c Read Chap. 7. 13.

o Let vs destroy the Prophet and his doctrine. Some reade, Let vs corrupt his meat with wood, meaning poyson.

p Thus he spake not for hatred but being mooued with ỹ spirit of God, he desireth the aduancemẽt of Godsglorie, and the verifying of his word which is by the destruction of his enemies.

q To wit, both the priests & the rest of ỹ people: for this towne was the Priests, & they dwelt in it, read Chap. 1.1.

r Not that they could not abide to heare God named: (for herein they would shew themselues most holy) but because they could not abide to be sharpely reproued, and therefore desired to be flattered, Isa. 30.10. and to bee maintained in their pleasures, Micah 2.11. and not to beare vice condemned, Amos 7.12.

11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not bee able to escape, and though they crie vnto me, g I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and cry vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not bee able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 h For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, & according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray for i this people, neither lift vp a cry, or prayer for the: for when they cry vnto mee in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my k beloued tary in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh l goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene olive tree, fayre, and of goodly fruite: but with m noyse and great tumult hee hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lorde of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke mee to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I know it, euen then thou shewedst me n their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs o destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memory.

20 But O Lorde of hostes, that iudgest righteously, & triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy p vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lorde therefore speaketh thus of the men of q Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, r Prophesie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I wil visit them: the yong men shal die by the sword: their sonnes & their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I wil bring a plague vpõ the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueileth at the prosperity of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lorde, if I dispute with thee, thou art a righteous: yet let mee talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked b prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they growe, and bring foorth fruit: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their c reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe from the slaughter, and d prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the hearbs of euery field wither, for the wickednes of them that dwell therin? the beasts are consumed and the birdes, because they said, e He will not see our last end.

5 If thou hast run with the f footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, & they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee, but beleeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken g mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto mee, as a h lion in the forest: it crieth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage bee vnto me as a bird i of diuers colours? are not the birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eate her?

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his acts.

b This question hath been alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperity, and his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob 21.7. psal. 37.1. and 73.3. Hab. 1.3.

c They professe God in mouth, but denie him in heart, which is here meant by the reines, Isa. 29 13. matth. 15.8.

d The Ebrew word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperity that afterward they should the more feele his heauy iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.

e Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, they flatttered themselues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselues in sinne, till at length the beastes and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubborne rebellion against God.

f Some thinke that God reproueth Ieremiah, in that that he would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footemen, meane them of Anathoth, and by the horsemen them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countrey men did.

g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatnings and flatteries labour to put him to silence.

h Euer ramping & raging against mee, and my Prophets.

i In stead of bearing my liuery and wearing onely my colours, they haue change and diuersities of colours of their idols and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thicke as the soules of the ayre, shal come about them to destroy them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The deſtruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Iſrael was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forſaken. 15 Hee exhorteth them to repentance.

THus ſayeth the Lord vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.
2 So I bought the girdle according to the commaundement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.
3 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the ſecond time, ſaying,
4 Take the girdle that thou haſt bought which is vpon thy loynes, and ariſe, goe toward [a] Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.
5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.
6 And after many dayes the Lorde ſayde vnto me, Ariſe, go toward Perath and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.
7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & beholde, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.
8 Then the word of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying, 9 Thus ſaith the Lord, After this maner will I deſtroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ieruſalem.
10 This wicked people haue refuſed to heare my word, & walke after the ſtubburneſſe of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to ſerue them, & to worſhip them: therefore they ſhalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

a Because this riuer Perath or Euphrates was farre from Ieruſalem, it is euident that this was a viſion, whereby was ſignified that the Iewes ſhould paſſe ouer Euphrates to be captiues in Babylon, and there for length of time ſhould ſeeme to be rotten, although they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, ſo haue I tyed to mee the whole houſe of Iſrael, and the whole houſe of Iudah, ſayeth the Lorde, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name and prayſe, and glory, but they would not heare.
12 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay vnto them this worde, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Euery [b] bottle ſhalbe filled with wine, & they ſhall ſay vnto thee, Doe wee not know, that euery bottle ſhalbe filled with wine?
13 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I will fill all the inhabitants of this lande, euen the kings that ſit vpon the throne of Dauid, & the Prieſtes, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem with drunkenneſſe.
14 And I will dash [c] them one againſt another, euen the fathers and the ſonnes together, ſayeth the Lord: I will not ſpare, I will not pity nor haue compaſſion, but deſtroy them.
15 Heare and giue eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.
16 Giue glory to the Lorde our God before he bring [d] darkeneſſe, and or euer your feete ſtumble in the darke mountaines, and while yee looke for [e] light, hee turne it into the ſhadow of death, and make it as darkeneſſe.
17 But if yee will not heare this, my ſoule ſhall [f] weepe in ſecret for your pride, & mine eye ſhall weepe and droppe downe teares, becauſe the Lords flocke is caried away captiue.
18 Say vnto the [g] King & to the Queene, Humble your ſelues, ſit downe, for the crown of your glory ſhall come downe from your heads.
19 The cities of [h] the South ſhall be ſhut vp, and no man ſhall open them: all Iudah ſhalbe caried away captiue: it ſhall be wholy caried away captiue.
20 Lift vp your eyes, and beholde them that come from the North: where is the [i] flocke that was giuen thee, euen the beautifull flocke?
21 What wilt thou ſay, when he ſhall viſite thee? (for thou haſt [k] taught them to bee captaynes and as chiefe ouer thee) ſhall not ſorrowe take thee as a woman in trauayle?
22 And if thou ſay in thine heart, Wherefore come theſe things vpon mee? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy ſkirts [l] diſcouered and thine heeles made bare.
23 Can the blacke Moore change his ſkin? or the leopard his ſpots? then may ye alſo do good, that are accuſtomed to do euill.
24 Therefore will I ſcatter them, as the ſtubble that is taken away with the South wind.
25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy meaſures from mee, ſayth the Lorde, becauſe thou haſt forgotten mee, and truſted in lies.
26 Therefore I haue alſo diſcouered thy ſkirts vpon thy face, [m] that thy ſhame may appeare.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, & of false prophets that seduce the people

THE word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the [a] dearth.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bin [b] brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the crie of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the wels, and found no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed and confounded, and [c] couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, & forsooke [d] it, because their was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drewe in their winde like [e] dragons: their eyes did fasle, because there was no grasse.

7 [f] O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as a [h] strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou O Lord, art in the mids of vs, and thy name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto his people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, [i] Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their crie, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, behold, the [k] Prophets say vnto them, Ye shal not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophesie lies in my Name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I commaunde them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophesie vnto you a false vision, and diuination and vanity, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these prophets doe prophesie shall bee cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to burie them, both they and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe [l] teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grieuous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold the them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer, the prophet also & the Priest goe a wandering [m] into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected [n] Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We [o] acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the [p] vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we wil waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no praier for the Iewes, 3 but threatneth to destroy thē with foure plagues.

THen said the Lord vnto me, [a] Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affectiō could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, * Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the [b] dogges to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I wil scatter them also in al kingdoms

a Which came for lack of raine, as verse 4.
Or, restraint.
b The word signifieth to bee made blacke, and so is here taken for extreme sorrow.
c To wit, with ashes in token of sorrow.
d Meaning, that the bruit beasts for drought were cōpelled to forsake their yong contrary to nature, and to goe seeke water which they could not find.
e Which are so hote of nature, that they cannot be cooled with drinking of water, but still gape for the aire to refresh them.
f Hee sheweth the onely way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfained cōfession of our sinnes and returning to him by repentance.
g That taketh no care for vs.
h As one that hath strength to helpe and yet is afraide to put to his hand.
i Reade Chap. 7.16. & 11.14.
k He pitieth the people, and accuseth the false prophets, which deceiued them, but the Lord answered, that both the prophets that deceiued, and the people which suffered themselues to be seduced, shal perish, Chap. 23. 15. and 27.8,9. and 29.8. Chap. 23.21. and 27.10, 15. and. 29.9.

l The false prophets promised peace and assurance, but Ieremiah calleth to teares and repentance for their affliction, which is at hand, as Chap. 9.1 Lam. 1.16. and 2.18.
m Both hie and low shall be led captiues into Babylon, n Though the Prophet knew that God had cast off the multitude which were hypocrites and bastard childrē, yet he was assured that for his promise sake, he would stil haue a Church, for the which he praieth, o He teacheth the Church a forme of prayer, to humble themselues to God by true repentance, which is the only meane to auoide this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues.
p Meaning their idoles, reade Chap. 10.15.

a Meaning, that if there were any man liuing mooued with so great zeale toward the people, as were these two, yet that he would not graunt this request, forasmuch as he had determined the contrary, Ezek. 14.14. Zach. 11.9.
b The dogges, birds and beasts should deuoure them that were slaine. c The word signifieth to runne to and fro for feare and vnquietnesse of conscience as did Kain.

d Not that the people was punished for the kings sinne onely, but for their owne sinnes also, because they consented to his wickednesse, 2 King. 21. 9.

c That is, I will not call backe my plagues, or spare thee any more.

f Meaning, the cities.

g Because I had slaine their husbands.

‖ Or, mother.

h She that had many lost all her children.

i Shee was destroyed in the middes of her prosperitie.

k These are the Prophets words, complaining of the obstinacie of the people, and that he was reserued to so wicked a time: wherein also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all the world against them, though they giue none occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention and hatred.

m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted mee, and said that my last dayes should be quiet: and by the enemie hee meaneth here, Nebuzar-adan the captaine of Nebuchad-nezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choyse either to remaine in his countrey, or to go whither he would: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, which should afterward know Ieremiahs fidelitie, and therefore fauour him.

n As for the people though they seemed strong as yron, yet should they not be able to resist the hard yron of Babylon, but should bee led captiue. ‖ Or, ransome.

o He speaketh not this for desire of reuengeance, but wishing that God would deliuer his Church of them whom he knew to be hardened & incorrigible.

p I receiued them with as great ioy, as he that is astamished, eateth meat.

q I had nothing to doe with the wicked contemners of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what the faithfull should doe when they see tokens of Gods anger.

of the earth, d because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah king of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be sorie for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, & destroy thee: for I am e wearie with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the fan f in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widowes g are increased by me aboue the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the ‖ assembly of the yong men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and ‖ speedily.

9 She that hath borne h seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto y sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 ¶ k Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a man that striueth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsury, yet euery one doth curse me.

11 The Lord said, l Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to entreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the m yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoyled without ‖ gaine, & that for all thy sinnes, euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visit me, and reuenge me of my o persecuters: take mee not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were found by me, and I did p eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon mee, O Lord God of hostes.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone q because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauinesse continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot be healed? why art thou vnto me r as a lyar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou s returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before mee, and if thou take away the t precious from the vile, thou shalt be u according to my word: let them returne x vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not y preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

21 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

r And hast not assisted me according to thy promise? wherein appeareth, that in the Saints of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatiencie is oft times assailed, as Chap. 20. 7.

s If thou forget these carnal considerations, and faithfully execute thy charge.

t That is, seeke to win the good from the bad.

u To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced, Chap. 1. 18 and as here followeth verse. 20.

x Conforme not thy selfe to their wickednesse, but let them follow thy godly example.

y I will arme thee with an inuincible strength and constancie, so that all the powers of the world shall not ouercome thee.

CHAP. XVI.

z The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marrie, sheweth him what should bee the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe word of the Lord came also vnto me, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take a thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land.

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall bee consumed by the sword and by famine, and their carkeises shall bee meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, b Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor bee mooued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, sayeth the Lord, euen mercie and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, c nor cut themselues, nor make themselues bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the d cup of consolatio to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke.

9 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shew this people all a Meaning, that the affliction should be so horrible in Ierusalem, that wife and children should but increase his sorrow.

b Signifying, that the affliction should bee so great, that one should not haue leasure to comfort another.

c That is, should not rent their clothes in signe of mourning.

d For in these great extremities all consolation & comfort shall be in vaine.

Chap.5.19.
c Because the wicked are alwayes rebellious and dissemble their owne sinnes, and murmure against Gods iudgements as though he had no iust cause to punish them, he sheweth him what to answere.
Chap.7.26.
Chap.23.7.
f Signifying the benefit of their deliuerãce out of Babylon should be so great, that it should abolish the remembrãce of their deliuerance from Egypt: but he hath here chiefly respect to the spirituall deliuerance vnder Christ.
g By the fishers and hunters are meant the Babylonians and Caldeans, who should destroy them in such sort, that if they escaped the one, the other should take them.
h That is, their sonnes and daughters, which they offered to Molech.
i He wondereth at the great mercy of God, in this deliuerance, which shall not only extend to the Iewes, but also the Gentiles.
k Our fathers were most vile idolaters, therefore it commeth onely of Gods mercy, that he performeth his promise, and hath not vtterly cast vs off.
l They shall once againe feele my power, and mercy for their deliuerance, that they may learne to worship me.

all these words, and they shall say vnto thee, *Wherefore hath the Lorde pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is c our iniquitie? & what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?
11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken mee, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Lawe,
12 (*And yee haue done worse then your fathers: for behold, you walke euery one after the stubbornesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me.)
13 Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that yee knowe not, neither you nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shewe you no grace.
14 *Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more bee sayde, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, 15 But, The Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel f from the lande of the North, and from all the lands where he had scattered them, & I will bring them again into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.
16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many g fishers, & they shall fish them, & after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine, and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rockes.
17 For mine eies are vpon all their waies: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.
18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my lande, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie h carions and their abominations.
19 O Lord, thou art my i force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited k lies, and vanity, wherein there was no profit.
20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?
21 Behold, therefore I will this once l teach them: I will shew them mine hande and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

and grauen vpon the b table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your c altars.
2 d They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the high hils.
3 e O my mountaine in the field, I will giue thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoiled, for the sin of thy hie places throughout all thy borders.
4 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shalbe arest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for ye haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shal burne for euer.
5 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, f Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord.
6 For he shalbe like the heath in the wildernes, & shal not see when any good cometh, but shall inhabite the parched places in the wildernes, in a salt land, and not inhabited.
7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.
8 g For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the riuer, & shall not feele when the heate commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yeelding fruit.
9 h The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can know it?
10 I the Lord search the heart, and trie the reines, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes.
11 k As the partrich gathereth the young, which she hath not brought forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shall be a foole.
12 As a glorious throne l exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuarie.
13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shall bee written m in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord the fountaine of liuing waters.
14 Heale mee, O Lord, and I shall bee whole: n saue me, and I shall be saued: for thou art my prayse.
15 Behold, *they say vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

b In stead of the law of God, they haue written idolatry and all abominations in their heart.
c Your sinnes appeare in all the altars that you haue erected to idoles.
d Some read, So that their children remember their altars, that is, follow their fathers wickednesse.
e Zion that was my mountaine, shall now be left as a waste field.
f Because thou wouldest not giue the lande rest at such times, dayes, and yeeres as I appoynted, thou shalt hereafter be caried away, and it shall rest for lacke of labourers.
g The Iewes were giuen to worldly policies, and thought to make themselues strong by the friendship of the Egyptians, Isa.31.3. and strangers, and in the meane season did not depend on God, and therefore bee denounceth Gods plagues against them, shewing that they preferre corruptible man to God, which is immortall, Isa.22.Chap.48.6,7.
h Reade Psalme 1.3.
i Because the wicked haue euer some excuse to defend their doings, he sheweth, that their owne lewde imaginations deceiue them, and bring them to these inconueniences: but God will examine their deeds by the malice of their hearts, 1.Sam.16.7. 1.Chron.28.9. Psal.7.10. Chapter 11.20 and 20.12. Reue 2.23.
k As the partrich by calling gathereth others, which forsake her, when they see that she is not their damme: so the couetous man is forsaken of his riches, because he commeth by them falsly.
l Shewing that the godly ought to glory in nothing, but in God: who doth exalt his, and hath left a signe of his fauour in his Temple.
m Their names shall not be registred in the booke of life.
n He desired God to preserue him that hee fall not into tentation, considering the great contempt of Gods word, and the multitude that fall from God.
o The wicked say, that my prophesie shall not come to passe, because thou deferrest the time of thy vengeance.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The frowardnesse of the Iewes. 5 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the heart 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

THe sinne of Iudah is a written with a pen of yron, and with the poynt of a diamond, a The remembrance of their contempt of God cannot passe, albeit, for a time he deferre the punishment, for it shall be manifest to men and Angels.

p I am assured of my vocation, & therefore know that the thing which thou speakest by me, shall come to passe, and that I speake not of any worldly affection.

q Howsoeuer the wicked deale rigorously with me, yet let me finde comfort in thee.

r Read Chap. 11.20.

s Whereas thy doctrine may be best vnderstood both of hie and low.

t By naming the Sabbath day, he comprehendeth the thing that is therby signified: for if they transgressed in the ceremonie, they must needs be culpable of the rest, read Exod. 20.8. and by the breaking of this one commandement, he maketh them transgressors of the whole Law, forasmuch as the first and second Table are conteined herein.

Chap. 22 4.

16 But I haue not thrust in my selfe to a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the day of misery, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Be not a terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let me not be confounded: let them be afraid, but let me not be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the s Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither cary foorth burthens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither do ye any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their necks stiffe, and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheless, if ye will heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doe no worke therein,

25 Then shall the kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shal sit *vpon the throne of Dauid, and shal ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offrings and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burthen, nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then wil I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.

4 And the vessell that he made of t clay, was broken in the hand of the potter: so hee returned and made it another vessell, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will b repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.

10 But if it do euil in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they said c desperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubbornesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and hath burnt incense to vanitie, & their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the c ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate and a perpetuall derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall bee astonished and wagge his head,

17 I will scatter them with an Eastwind before the enemie: I will shew them the backe, and f not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiah: for the Lawe g shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite a As the potter hath power ouer the clay to make what pot he will, or to breake them when he hath made them: so haue I power ouer you to doe with you as seemeth good to me, Isa. 45 9. wisdom. 15 7. rom. 9. 20, 21.

b When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doth contrary to that which he hath ordained in his secret counsell: but when he threatneth it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, the threatning (which euer containeth a condition in it) taketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.

c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne selfe will.

d As no man that hath thirst, refuseth fresh conduit waters which he hath at home, to goe and seeke waters abroad to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seeke for helpe and succour at strangers, and leaue God, which was present with them.

e That is, the way of trueth, which God had taught by his Law, reade Chap. 6.16.

f I will shew mine anger, and not my fauour toward them.

g This argument the wicked haue euer vsed against the seruaunts of God, The Church cannot erre: wee are the Church, and therefore whosoeuer speaketh against vs, they ought to die, 1 King 22. 24. chapter 7.4 and 20.2 malachi. 2. 4. and thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is known by the graces of the holy Ghost, him with the h tongue, and let vs not giue heed to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto me, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stoode before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore i deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them droppe away by the force of the sword, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and bee widowes: and let their husbands bee put to death, and let their yong men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crie be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

h Let vs slander him, and accuse him: for we shall be beleeued.

i Seeing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which grew dayly more and more, the Prophet being moued with Gods Spirite, without any carnall affection prayeth for their destruction, because hee knew that it should tend to Gods glory, and profit of his Church.

CHAP. XIX.

He propheſieth the deſtruction of Ieruſalem for the contempt and deſpiſing of the word of God.

THus said the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the ‖ East gate: and thou shalt preach there the words, that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the word of the Lord, O a Kings of Iudah, & inhabitants of Ieruſalem, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoeuer heareth, his eares shall b tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken mee, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I c commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde.)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more bee called d Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I wil bring the counsel of Iudah and Ieruſalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their karkeises will I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

8 *And I will make this citie desolate, and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to propheſie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardned their neckes, and would not heare my words.

2 Ieremiah is ſmitten and caſt into priſon for preaching of the word of God. 3 He propheſieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking ſtocke for the word of God. 9 Hee is compelled by the ſpirit to preach the word.

3 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the a stockes that were in the high gate of Beniamin which was by the house of the Lord.

prophesied lies.

7 ¶ O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am [c] deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast [d] preuailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out of wrong, and proclaimed [e] desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision daily.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and feare on euery side. [f] Declare, said they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for my halting, saying, It may bee that hee is deceiued: so wee shall preuaile against him, and wee shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 [g] But the Lord is with me like a mightie giant: therefore my persecuters shall bee ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shall bee greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shal neuer be forgotten.

12 * But, O Lord of hostes, that triest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for hee hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 ¶ [h] Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man bee as the [i] cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noontide, 17 Because hee hath not slaine mee, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue beene my graue, or her wombe a perpetuall [k] conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorrow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

c Herein appeareth the impatiencie which oftentimes ouercommeth the seruants of God, when they see not their labours to profit, and also feele their owne weakenesse, read Chap. 15. 18.

CHAP. XXI.

Hee propheseth that Zedekiah shall bee taken, and the cuite burned.

THe word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 [a] Enquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that hee may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will [b] turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this citie.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, & with a mightie arme, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, sayeth the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this city, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and hee shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shal not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the [c] way of life, and the way of [d] death.

9 * He that abideth in this city, shal die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a [e] pray.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 ¶ And say vnto the house of the king of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, * Execute iudgement [f] in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath goe out like fire and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

13 Behold, I come against thee, [g] O inhabitant of the valley, & rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, ¶ Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visite you according to the fruit of your workes, saith the Lord, and I wil kindle a fire in the forrest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon ỹ throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, & thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, * Execute yee iudgement and a righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the Kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this House, * and ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both hee and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I b sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this House shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art c Gilead vnto me, & the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wildernesse, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will d prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe e cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 f And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

9 Then shall they answere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not mooued for them, but weepe for him g that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native countrey.

11 For thus sayth the Lorde, as touching h Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, He shal not returne thither.

12 But hee shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by i vnrighteousnes, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make himself large windowes and sieling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy k father eate and drinke and prosper when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, They shall l not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or Ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or Ah, his glory.

19 He shall be buried as an asse m is buried, euen drawen and cast foorth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Go vp to n Lebanon, and crie: shout in o Bashan and crie by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperity: but thou saydst, I will not heare, this hath beene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voice.

22 The wind shal feede all thy pastours, p and thy louers shall go into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednes.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the q cedars, how beautifull shalt thou be when sorrowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauel?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though r Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carie thee away: and thy mother that bare thee into an other countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken Idole? or as a vessel, wherin is no pleasure? wherefore are they caried away, hee & his seede, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus sayth the Lorde, Write this t man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shalbe no man of his seed that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

people, Ye haue scattered my flocke & thrust them out, and haue not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your workes, sayth the Lord.

3 And I wil gather the [d] remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their folds, and they shall grow and increase.

4 And I will set vp shepheards ouer them, which shal feede them, and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dates come, saith the Lord, that I will rayse vnto Dauid a righteous [e] branch, & a king shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saued, and *Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, *The Lord our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that they shall no more say, The [f] Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

8 But, the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seed of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, and from all countreys where I had scattered them: and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the [g] prophets, all my bones shake I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath ‡ouercome) for the presence of the Lord, and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderneſſe are dryed vp, and their [h] course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the prophet and the priest ‖do wickedly: & their wickednesse haue I found in mine [i] house, sayth the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slipperie wayes in the darknes: they shalbe driuen forth and fall therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnes in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the Prophets of Ierusalem [k] filthinesse: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the handes of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto [l] me as Sodom, & the inhabitants thereof, as Gomorah.

15 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feede them with [m] wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is ‖ wickednes gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophesie vnto you and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne [n] heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye shal haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornnesse of his owne heart, No euill shal come vpon you.

18 For [p] who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord that he hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shal not returne vntil he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter daies ye [q] shall vnderstand it plainely.

21 *I haue not sent these Prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsel, and [r] had declared my words to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, sayth the Lorde, and not a God [s] farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfin secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, sayth the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets sayd, that prophesie lies in my Name, saying, I [t] haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? ‡Do the prophets delight to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause [u] my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbor, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him [x] tell a dreame, & he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: [y] what is the chaffe to the wheate, sayth the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, sayth the Lord? and like a hammer that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, sayth the Lord, that [z] steale my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets, sayth the Lord, which haue sweete tongues, and say, [a] He sayth.

32 Behold, I wil come against them that prophesie false dreames, sayth the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figs 5 signifieth that part of the people should bee brought againe from captiuity, 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

THe Lord shewed mee, and beholde, two a baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou Ieremiah? And I sayd, Figs: the good figs very good, and the naughty very naughty, which cannot bee eaten, they are so euill.

4 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus sayth the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I knowe them, that are caried away captiue of Iudah, to be good, whom I haue sent out of this b place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out,

7 And I will giue them an c heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my *people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 *And as the naughty figges which cannot bee eaten, they are so euill (surely thus sayth the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem that remaine in this land, and them that d dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, & for a reproch, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse in al places, where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

a The good figs signified them that were gone into captiuity, & so saued their life, as Cha. 21. 8. and the naughtie figs them that remained, which were yet subie & to the sword, famine and pestilence.

b Whereby he approueth the yeelding of Ieremiah & his company, because they obeyed the Prophet, who exhorted them thereunto.

c Which declareth that man of himselfe can know nothing, till God giue the heart and vnderstanding. *Chap. 31 33. *hebr. 8. 10. *Chap. 29. 17.

d Which fled thither for succour.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He propheseth that they shalbe in captiuity seuenty yeeres, 12 And that after the seuenty yeres the Babylonians should be destroyed, 15 The destruction of all nations is propheseid.

THe word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the a fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel:

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto b this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you c rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They d sayd, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, & ye shall dwel in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheles ye would not heare me, sayth the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Because ye haue not heard my words, 9 Behold, I will send, and take to me all the e families of the North, sayth the Lorde, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my f seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations s round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

10 *Moreouer I will ‖ take from them the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, a That is, in the third yeere accomplished, & in the beginning of the fourth: for though Nebuchad nezzar began to reigne in the end of the third yeere of Iehoiakims reigne, yet that yeere is not here counted, because it was almost expired, Dan. 1, 1.

b Which was the fift yeere and the ninth moneth of Iehoiakims reigne.

c That is, I haue spared no diligence or labour, Chap. 7, 13.

d He sheweth that the Prophets wholly with one consent did labour to pull the people from those vices, which then reigued: to wit, from idolatrie, and the vaine confidence of men: for vnder these two all other were conteined, 2. King. 17. 13 chap. 18. 11. and 35. 15. Ionah 3. 8.

e The Caldeans, and all their power. f So the wicked and Satan himselfe are Gods seruants, because hee maketh them to serue him by constraint, and turneth that which they doe of malice, to his honor and glory. g As the Philistims, Ammonites, Egyptians and others. *Chap. 16. 9. ‖ Or, destroy.

neſſe, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the noyſe of the h mil-ſtones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land ſhall be deſolate, and an aſtoniſhment, and theſe nations ſhall ſerue the king of Babel ſeuenty yeeres.

12 And when the i ſeuenty yeeres are accompliſhed, I will viſite k the king of Babel and that nation, ſayth the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall deſolation, 13 And I will bring vpon that lande all my words which I haue pronounced againſt it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophecied againſt all nations.

14 For many nations and great kings ſhall euen l ſerue themſelues of them: thus will I recompenſe them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Iſrael ſpoken vnto me, m Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cauſe all the nations to whom I ſend thee, to drinke it.

16 And they ſhall drinke, and be mooued, and be mad, becauſe of the ſword, that I will ſend among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had ſent me:

18 Euen Ieruſalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and the Princes thereof, to make them deſolate, an aſtoniſhment, an hiſſing, and a curſe, n as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaoh alſo king of Egypt, and his ſeruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all ſorts of people, & all the kings of the land o of Uz: and all the kings of the lande of the Philiſtims, and p Aſhkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Aſhdod:

21 q Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites,

23 And r Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermoſt corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of Arabia that dwell in the t deſert, 26 And all the kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the world, which are vpon y earth, and the king of u Sheſhach ſhall drinke after them.

27 Therefore ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Drinke and be drunken, and ſpew and fall and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſword, which I will ſend among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuſe to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, Ye ſhall certainely drinke.

29 For loe, I begin to plague the x citie, where my name is called vpon, and ſhould you goe free? Ye ſhall not go quite: for I will call for a ſword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

30 Therefore prophecie thou againſt them all theſe words, and ſay vnto them, * The Lord ſhall roare from aboue, and thruſt out his voyce from his holy habitation: he ſhall roare vpon his habitation: and cry aloud, as they that preſſe the grapes, againſt all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The ſound ſhal come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuerſie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all fleſh, and he will giue them that are wicked to the ſword, ſayth the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, Behold, a plague ſhall goe forth from nation to nation, and a * great whirlewind ſhalbe raiſed vp from the coaſts of the earth, 33 And the y ſlaine of the Lord ſhall be at that day from one end of the earth, euen vnto the other end of the earth: they ſhal not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but ſhalbe as the dung vpon the ground.

34 Howle, z ye ſhepheards, and crie, and wallow your ſelues in the aſhes, ye principal of the flocke: for your dayes of ſlaughter are accompliſhed, and of your diſperſion, and ye ſhall fall like a precious veſſels.

35 And the b flight ſhall faile from the ſhepheards, and the eſcaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the crie of the ſhepheards, and an howling of the principal of the flock ſhall be heard: for the Lord hath deſtroyed their paſture.

37 And the ‡ beſt paſtures are deſtroyed becauſe of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forſaken his couert, as the lion: for their land is waſte, becauſe of the wrath of the oppreſſour, and becauſe of the wrath of his indignation.

every man from his euill way, that I may c repent mee of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If yee will not heare mee to walke in my lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the words of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this House like d Shiloh, and will make this citie e a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these words in the house of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and said, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This f House shalbe like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the house of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the kings house into the House of the Lord, and sate downe in the entrie of the g new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priests and the Prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, ‡ This man is worthie to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiah vnto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath h sent me to prophesie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore nowe amend your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that hee hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as yee thinke good and right.

15 But know yee for certaine, that if yee put mee to death, yee shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth the Lord hath sent mee vnto you to speake all these words in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthie to die: for he hath spoken to vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite * prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall bee plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shall bee an heape, and the mountaine of the House shalbe as the high places of y forest.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did hee not feare the Lorde, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the k plague, that hee had pronounced against them? thus might wee procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Vrijah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarim, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his wordes, the king sought to slay him. But when Vrijah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the king l sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Vrijah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and m cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam n the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

e So that when they would curse any, they shall say, God doe to thee as to Ierusalem.

f Because of Gods promise to the Temple, Psal.132.14. that he would for euer remaine there, the hypocrites thought this Temple could neuer perish, & therefore thought it blasphemie to speake against it, Matt. 26.61. Acts 6. 13. not considering that this was meant of the Church where God will remaine for euer.

g So called, because it was repaired by Ioatham, 2. King. 15. 35.

h He both sheweth the cause of his doings plainly, and also threateneth them that they should nothing auaile, though they should put him to death, but keape greater vengeance vpon their heads. Mich. 1.1. and 3.12.

i That is, of the House of the Lord, to wit, Zion: and these examples the godly alledged to deliuer Ieremiah out of the Priestes hands, whose rage else would not haue bene satisfied, but by his death.

k So that the city was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Sancherib.

l Here is declared the fury of tyrants, who cannot abide to heare Gods word declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the ende they prevaile nothing, but prouoke Gods iudgments so much the more.

m As in the first, Hezekiahs example is to be followed, so in this other, Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household.

n Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their fury, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

1 In the beginning of the reigne of a Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee b bonds, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke, great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whome it pleaseth mee.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my c seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

c Reade Chap. 25.9.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his d sonne, and his sonnes sonne, vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great Kings shall e serue themselues of him.

d Meaning, Euilmerodach, and his sonne Belshazar.

e They shall bring him, and his kingdome in subiection, as Chap. 25.14.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shal not serue the king of Babel.

10 For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will yee die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Yee shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not * sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophesie vnto you.

Chap. 14.14. and 23.21. and 29.9. Chap. 28.3.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your Prophets that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold, * the vessels of the House of the Lord shall now shortly bee f brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

f Which were taken when Iechoniah was led captiue into Babel.

17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that yee may liue: wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they bee Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, goe not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the * pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

2 King. 24.12, 13.

21 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, 22 They shall bee brought to Babel, and there they shall be vntil the day that I visite them, sayeth the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

h That is, for the space of seuenty yeeres, till I haue caused the Medes and Persians to ouercome the Caldeans.

b After that the land had rested, as Leuit. 25.2.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Iechoniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah said vnto the c prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priestes, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord, d He was so esteemed, though he was a false prophet.

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah said, So bee it: the c Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophesied, to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue from Babel, into this place.

c That is, I would wish the same for Gods honour, and wealth of my people, but hee hath appointed the contrary.

7 But heare thou now this word that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue beene before me and before thee in time past, f prophesied against many countreyes, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

f Meaning, that the Prophets that did either denounce warre or peace, were tried either true or false by the successe of their prophesies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh, to trie the faith of his, Deut. 13.3.

13 Goe, and tell Hananiah, ſaying, Thus ſayth the Lord, Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood, but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus ſaieth the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, I haue put a h yoke of yron vpon the necke of all theſe nations, that they may ſerue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they ſhall ſerue him, and I haue giuen him the i beaſtes of the fielde alſo.

15 Then ſaid the Prophet Jeremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lorde hath not ſent thee, but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lie.

16 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will caſt thee from off the earth: this yeere thou ſhalt die, becauſe thou haſt ſpoken rebelliouſly againſt the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet k died the ſame yeere in the ſeuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuity in Babylon. 10 He propheſieth their returne after ſeuenty yeres. 16 He propheſieth the deſtruction of the king and of the people that remaine in Ieruſalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets that ſeduce the people. 32 The death of Shemaiah is propheſied.

NOw theſe are the wordes of the ‖ booke that Jeremiah the Prophet ſent from Jeruſalem vnto a the reſidue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Prieſtes and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad nezzar had carryed away captiue from Jeruſalem to Babel,

2 (After that Jeconiah the king, and the b Queene, and the Eunuches, the *princes of Judah, and of Jeruſalem, and the workmen and cunning men were departed from Jeruſalem)

3 By the hande of Elaſah the ſonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the ſonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Judah c ſent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) ſaying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael ſpoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue d cauſed to be caried away captiues from Jeruſalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houſes to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

6 Take you wiues, & beget ſonnes and daughters: and take wiues for your ſonnes, and giue your daughters to huſbands, that they may beare ſonnes and daughters, that ye may be increaſed there, and not diminiſhed.

7 And ſeeke the proſperity of the city, whither I haue cauſed you to bee caryed away captiues, and e pray vnto the Lorde for it: for in the peace thereof ſhall you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Let not your prophets & your ſoothſayers that be among you, deceiue you, neyther giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they propheſie you a lye in my Name: I haue not ſent them, ſayeth the Lord.

10 But thus ſayth the Lord, That after ſeuentie yeeres be accompliſhed at Babel, I wil viſit you, and performe my good promiſe toward you, and cauſe you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I haue thought towards you, ſayeth the Lorde, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then ſhall you cry vnto mee, and yee ſhall goe and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

13 And you ſhall ſeeke me, and finde me, becauſe yee ſhall ſeeke mee with all f your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, ſaieth the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuity, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue caſt you, ſaith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I cauſed you to bee caried away captiue.

15 ¶ Becauſe yee haue ſaid, The Lorde hath raiſed vs vp g prophets in Babel,

16 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord of the king, that ſitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people that dwell in this city, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuity:

17 Euen thus ſayth the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will ſend vpon them the h ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence, and will make them like vile i figges, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo naughty.

18 And I will perſecute them with the ſword, with the famine, and with the peſtilence: and I will make them a terrour to all kingdomes of the earth, and k a curſe, and aſtoniſhment and an hiſſing, and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue caſt them.

19 Becauſe they haue not heard my wordes, ſayth the Lorde, which I ſent vnto them by my ſeruants the Prophets, ſtriuing vp early, and ſending them, but ye would not heare, ſaith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare yee therefore the word of the Lord all ye of the captiuity, whom I haue ſent from Jeruſalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophesie lies vnto you in my name, Behold, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuity of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babel burnt [m] in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed [n] villeny in Israel, and haue committed adultery with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying words in my name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I know it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the ‖ Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lorde hath made thee Priest, for [o] Iehoiada the Priest, that yee should be officers in the House of the Lorde, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captiuity, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophelied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: he shall not haue a man [p] to dwell among this people, neither shal he behold the good, that I will doe for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

m Because they gaue the people hope of speedy returning.

n Which was adultery, and falsifying the word of God.

o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe priest as though God had giuen him the spirit & zeale of Iehoiada to punish whosoeuer trespassed against the word of God, of the which hee would haue made Ieremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophet.

p Hee and his seede shal be destroyed, so that none of them should see the benefit of this deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 and comforteth the Church.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes that I haue spoken vnto thee, in [a] a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, sayeth the Lorde: for I will restore them vnto the land that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

a Because they should be assured, & their posteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Wee haue heard a [b] terrible voyce, of feare, and not of peace.

6 Demaund now and beholde, if man trauaile with childe. Wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his handes on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a paleneſſe?

7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath been like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that [d] day, saith the Lord of hostes, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselues [f] of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lorde their God, and [g] Dauid their king, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruaunt Iaakob, saith the Lord, neither bee afraide, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shal be in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not [h] vtterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 [l] Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall bee deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoile thee, shall bee spoyled, and all they that robbe thee, will I giue to bee robbed.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The castaway, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring again the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, and haue compassio on his dwelling places: and the citie shall be builded vpon her owne heape, [m] and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

b He sheweth that before that this deliuerance shall come, the Caldeans should be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and that they should be in such perplexitie and sorow as a woman in her trauaile, as Isa. 13.8.

c Meaning, that the time of their captiuitie should be grieuous.

d When I shall visite Babylon.

e Of the king of Babylon.

f To wit, of Iaakob.

g That is, Messiah, which should come of the stocke of Dauid, according to the flesh, and should be the true pastour, as Ezekiel 34.23. who is set forth, and his kingdome that should be euerlasting in the person of Dauid, Hosea 3.5.

h Read Chap. 10.24.

i Meaning, that no man is able to finde out a meane to deliuer them, but that it must be the worke of God.

k The Assyrians and Egyptians whom thou didst entertaine with gifts, who left thee in thine affliction.

l Herein is commended Gods great mercie toward his who doth not destroy them for their sinnes, but correct and chastise them, till he haue purged and pardoned them, and so burneth the roddes by the which hee did punish them, Isa. 33.1.

m Meaning that the citie and the Temple should be restored to their former state.

19 And

19 And out of them shal proceed n thanksgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I wil multiply them, and they shall not bee fewe: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished.

20 Their children also shall bee as afore time, and their congregation shall bee established before mee: and I will visit all that vexe them.

21 And their o noble ruler shal be of themselues, & their gouernour shall proceed from the middes of them, and I will cause him to draw neere, and approch vnto me: for who is this that directeth his p heart to come vnto me, saith the Lord?

22 And ye shalbe my people, and I wil be your God.

23 Behold, q the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlewind that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shal not returne vntill he haue done, and vntill hee haue performed the intents of his heart: in the r latter daies ye shall vnderstand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Hee rehearseth Gods benefits after their returne from Babylon, 23 and the spirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

AT the a same time, saith the Lord, will I bee the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

2 Thus sayeth the Lorde, The people which b escaped the sword, founde grace in the wildernesse: c he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me d of old, saying: e Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therfore with mercy I haue drawen thee.

4 Againe, I wil build thee, and thou shalt bee builded, O virgin Israel: thou shalt still f be adorned with thy tymbrels, and shalt go forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaynes of g Samaria, and the planters that plant them h shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that the i watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shal cry, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto k Zion, to the Lord our God.

7 For thus sayth the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iaakob, & shout for ioy among the chiefe of the l Gentiles: publish prayse, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the worlde, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and her that is deliuered also: a great company shall returne hither.

9 They shall come m weeping, and with mercy will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of n water in a straight way, wherin they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is o my first borne.

10 ¶ Heare the worde of the Lord O yee Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, he that scattered Israel, will gather him, and will keepe him as a shepheard doth his flocke.

11 For the Lorde hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hande of p him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come and reioyce in the height of Zion, & shall run to the bountifulnesse of the Lord, euen for the q wheate, and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe and bullockes: and their soule shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow.

13 Then shall the virgine reioyce in the r daunce, and the yong men, and the old men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with s fatnes, and my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.

15 Thus sayth the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning & bitter weeping. t Rahel weeping for her children, refused to bee comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus sayeth the Lord, Refrayne thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded (saith the Lord), and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy.

17 And there is hope in thine end, (sayth the Lord), that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard u Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected mee, and I was chastised as an x vntamed calfe: y conuert thou me, and I shall bee conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely, after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my z thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim a my deare sonne or pleasant child? yet since I spake vnto him, I still b remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp c signes: make thee heaps; set thine heart toward the path & way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord bl. esse thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiate the weary soule, & I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule.

26 Therefore I waked, and beheld, and my sleepe was sweete vnto me.

27 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the seede of man and with the seede of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the daies come, saith ỳ Lord, that I will make a h new couenant with the house of Israel, & with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they i brake, although I was ‖ an husbande vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After k those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Lawe in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shalbe my people.

34 And they shall l teach no more euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord, for they shall all knowe me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, sayeth the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

35 Thus saieth the Lorde, which giueth m the Sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the Moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, sayeth the Lorde, then shall the seed of Israel cease from being a nation before mee, for euer.

37 Thus sayeth the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, n or the foundations of the earth bee searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that the o city shalbe built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the lyne of the measure shall goe forth in his presence vpon the hil Gareb, and shall compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, & al the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shalbe holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it bee plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sin, he sheweth how this should bee procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceiue and beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because hee should bee borne of a virgin without man: or, he meaneth that Ierusalem which was like a barren woman in her captiuity should be fruitful, as she that is ioyned in mariage, and whom God blesseth with children.

e Hauing vnderstood this vision of the Messiah to come, in whom the two houses of Israel and Iudah should be ioyned, I reioyced.

f I will multiply and enrich them with people and cattel.

g The wicked vsed this prouerbe, when they did murmure against Gods iudgements pronounced by the prophets, saying that their fathers had committed the fault, and that the children were punished, Eze. 18.3.

h Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers, and this which was giuen after, seeme diuers, yet they are all one, and grounded on Iesus Christ, saue ỳ this is called newe, because of the manifestation of Christ, and the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen to his Church vnder the Gospel.

i And so were the occasion of their owne diuorcement through their infidelity, Isa. 50.1. ‖ Or, master.

k In the time of Christ, my Law shall in stead of tables of stone be written in their hearts by mine holy spirit, Heb. 8.8, 10.

l Vnder the kingdome of Christ there shall none be blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them faith and knowledge of God for remission of their sinnes, & daily increase the same, so that it shal not seeme to come so much by the preaching of my ministers, as by the instruction of my holy Spirit, Isa. 54.13, but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to the kingdome of Christ, when we shal be ioyned with our head.

m If the Sunne, Moone and stars cannot but giue light according to mine ordinance, so long as this world lasteth, so shal my church neuer fayle, neyther shall any thing hinder it: and as sure as I wil haue a people, so certayne is it, that I will leaue them my word for euer to gouerne them with.

n The one and the other is impossible.

o As it was performed, Nehem. 3.1. By this description hee sheweth that the citie should be as ample and beautifull as euer it was: but hee alludeth to the spirituall Ierusalem whose beauty should be incomparable.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is cast into prison because he prophesied that the city should be taken of the king of Babylon. 7 Hee sheweth that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the a tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I wil giue this city into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shal surely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall beholde his face.

5 And he shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntil b I visit him, saith the Lord: though yee fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shal come vnto thee and say, c Buy vnto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kinred appertaineth vnto thee d to buy it.

8 So Hanameel mine vncles sonne, came to a So that Ieremiah had now prophesied from the thirteenth yere of Iosiah, vnto ỳ last yeere saue one of Zedekiahs reigne, which was almost forty yeres. Chap 29.16, 17. and 34.2.

b Till I take Zedekiah away by death: for he shall not die by the sword, as Chap. 34.4.

c Whereby was meant, that the people should returne againe out of captiuity, and enioy their possessions & vineyards, as verse 15 and 44.

d Because he was next of the kinred, as Ruth. 4.4.

e Of the possession of the Leuites, reade Leuit. 25. 32.

f Which mounteth to of our money about ten shillings sixe pence, if this shekel were the common shekel, reade Gen. 23. 15 for the shekel of the Temple was of double value, and ten pieces of siluer were halfe a shekel: for twentie made the shekel.

g According to the custome, the instrument, or euidence was scaled vp with ỹ common scale, & a copie thereof remained, which conteined the same in effect, but was not so authenticall as ỹ other, but was left open to be seene, if any thing should bee called into doubt.

h And so to hide them in the ground, that they might be preserued as a token of their deliuerance, ‖ Or, hid. Exod. 34. 7. deut 5. 9.

i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth, that their posteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shall be punished both for their owne wickednesse, and that the iniquitie of their fathers, which is likewise in them, shall be also reuenged on their head.

k Meaning, that his miracles in deliuering his people, should neuer bee forgotten.

to me in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lord, and sayde vnto mee, Buy my e fielde, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen f shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

10 And I writte it in the booke, and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the ballances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed g according to the Law, and custome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen h vessell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possessions vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lorde, saying, 17 Ah Lorde God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing ‖ hard vnto thee.

18 * Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their i children after them: O God the great and mightie, whose name is the Lord of hostes,

19 Great in counsell, & mighty in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a lande that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Behold, the l mountes, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it, by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, & behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast sayd vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shal be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all m flesh: is there any thing too hard for mee?

28 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel, & he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rooftes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their n youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their handes, sayeth the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remooue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priestes, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe & not the face: though I taught them o rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name was called, to defile it,

35 And they built the hie p places of Baal, which are in the valley of q Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to r passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now s therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shal be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by ỹ sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 * Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, whereto I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

l The word signifieth anything that is cast vp, as a mount or rampart, and is also vsed for engins of warre, which were layd on an hie place to shoote into a citie, before that gunnes were in vse.

m That is, of euery creature: who as they are his worke, so doth he gouerne and guide them as pleaseth him, whereby hee sheweth that as he is the author of this their captiuitie for their sinnes, so will he for his mercies be their redeemer to restore them againe to libertie.

Chap. 30,22.

38 And they shall bee * my people, and I will be their God.

t One consent and one religion, as Ezek,11.19. and. 36,27.

39 And I will giue them t one heart and one way, that they may feare me for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

u Reade Chap. 31.32,33.

40 And I will make an u euerlasting couenant with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will delight in them to do them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule.

42 For thus sayeth the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shall be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shall bee giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

x This is the declaration of that which was spoken, verse.8.

44 Men shall buy x fields for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, & take witnesses in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captiuitie to turne, sayeth the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet is monished of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised. 8 God forgiueth sinnes, for his owne glory 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdome of Christ in the Church shall neuer be ended.

a Which was in the kings house at Ierusalem, as Chap. 32.1,2.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while hee was yet shut vp in the a court of the prison) saying,

b To wit, of Ierusalem, who as he made it, so will he preserueit, reade Isa.37.26.

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker b thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

c Reade Chap. 32.24.

3 Call vnto me, and I wil answere thee, and shew thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not.

d The Iewes thinke to ouercome the Caldeans, but they seeke their owne destruction.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the c mounts, and by the sword, e He sheweth that Gods fauour is cause of all prosperitie, as his anger is of all aduersitie.

5 They come to d fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselues with the dead bodies of men, whom I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my e face from the citie, because of all their wickednesse.

f In the mids of his threatnings, God remembreth his, and comforteth them.

6 ¶ Behold, f I will giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

g Declaring that there is no deliuerance nor ioy, but whereas wee seeke remission of sinnes.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah, and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will g clense them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against mee: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against mee.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a h ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare, and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie.

h Whereby he sheweth that the Church, wherein is remission of sinnes, is Gods honour & glory, so that whosoeuer is enemie to it, laboureth to dishonour God.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord, Againe there shal be heard in this place (which ye say shal be desolate, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

i Which was a song appointed for the Leuites to praise God by, 1 Chro.16.8. psa 105.1. isa 12. 4. psal.106.1 & 107.1.& 118.1, and 136.1.

11 The voyce of the ioy and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, i Praise the Lord of hosts, because the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the house of the Lord. for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

k Meaning, that all the countrey of Iudah shall be inhabited againe 12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shalbe dwelling for shepheards to rest their flocks.

l That is, I will send the Messiah which shal come of the house of Dauid, of whom this prophesie is meant, as testifieth all the Iewes, and that which is written, Chap. 23.5.

13 In the cities of the k mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, & in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

m To wit, Christ that shall call his Church.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

n That is, Christ is our Lord God, our righteousnes, sanctification & redemption, 1. Cor. 1.30.

15 In those dayes and at that time will I cause l the branch of righteousnesse to grow vp vnto Dauid, and hee shall execute iudgement, and righteousnesse in the land.

o This is chiefly meant of the spirituall sacrifice of thankesgiuing, which is left to the Church in the time of Christ, who was the euerlasting Priest, and the euerlasting sacrifice, figured by the sacrifices of the Law.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call m her, is y Lord our n righteousnes.

p Reade Chap. 31.35.

17 For thus sayeth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer o burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually q Meaning, the Caldeans and other infidels, which thought God had vtterly cast off Iudah and Israel, or Beniamin, because he did correct them for a time for their amendment.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus sayeth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the p day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my couenant bee broken with Dauid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priestes my ministers.

22 As the armie of heauen cannot bee numbred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what q this people hath spoken, saying, The two families, lies, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, & not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Hee threatneth that the citie and the king Zedekiah shalbe giuen into the hands of the king of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelties toward their seruants.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when [a] Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saieth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, * I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shal burne it with fire,

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the face of the king of Babel, and hee shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah: Thus saith the Lord of thee, thou shalt not die by the sword.

5 But thou shalt die in [b] peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh [c] Lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people which were at Ierusalem, [d] to proclaim libertie vnto them,

9 That euery man should let his [e] seruant go free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebrewe or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruaunt goe free, and euery one his handmaide, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they ‡ repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants & handmaides.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ‖ seruants, saying,

14 *At the terme of seuen yeeres let ye go euery man his brother an Ebrewe which hath been sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee sixe yeeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed mee not, neither enclined their eares.

15 And yee were now turned, & had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in [f] the House, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But yee repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, & euery man his handmaid, whom yee had let at liberty at their pleasure, to returne and hold them in subiection to bee vnto you as seruants and handmaids.

17 Therefore thus saieth the Lord, Yee haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedom euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, saieth the Lord, to [g] the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the parts thereof.

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hande of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, & into the hand of the king of Babels hoste, which [i] are gone vp from you.

22 Beholde, I will commaund, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this city, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

2 Goe vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, vnto the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, & cups, and [d] said vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they sayd, We will drink no wine: For [e] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commaunded vs, saying, [f] Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

7 Neither shall you build house, nor sow seede, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes yee shall dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all all our dates, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwel in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor seede.

10 But we haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the lande, wee sayde, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we [g] dwell at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that he commaunded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commaundement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [h] rising early, & speaking, but yee would not obey me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, *Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but yee would not incline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely, the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commaundement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [i] spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Ieremiah sayde vnto the house of the Rechabites, Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Because yee haue obeied the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah enditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people, & readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, saying,

2 Take thee a roll or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to do vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roll, or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commaunded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roll, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lorde, in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the [e] fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger, & the wrath that the Lorde hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lorde in the Lords Lords house.

9 ¶ And in the fift g yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretarie, in the higher court at the entrie of the h new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the Princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the words that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they said vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that wee may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the words, they were i afraide, both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the king of all these words.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these words vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke.

19 Then said the Princes vnto Baruch, Goe, k hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where yee be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they laide vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and told the King all the words, that hee might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudi to fette the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in the winterhouse, in the l ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, he cut it with the pen knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntil all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent m their garments, neither the king, nor any of his seruants that heard all these words.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that hee would not burne the roule, but hee would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet: but the Lord n hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe o another roule, and write in it all the former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt,

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, p Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainely come & destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Hee shal haue q none to sitte vpon the throne of Dauid, and his r dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the Scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeedeth Ieconiah. 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Beniamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten, and put in prison.

AND *King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for a Koniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel b made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither hee, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord, which he spake by the ‡ ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King c sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah d went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

g The fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a little before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel and his companions were led away captiues.

k They that were godly among the princes, gaue this counsell, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of the King and of the wicked to bee such, that they could not escape without danger of their liues.

e To helpe the Iewes.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was e come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that beseged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they ‡departed from Ierusalem) ‡Ebr. went vp.

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying.

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Iudah, that sent you vnto me, to enquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it, and burne it with fire.

‖Or, lift not vp your mindes.

9 Thus saith the Lord, ‖ Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though yee had smitten the whole host of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the host of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, f As some thinke to goe to Anathoth his owne towne.

12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the f land of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

g By the which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

13 And when hee was in the g gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou ‡ fleest to the Caldeans.

‡Ebr. fallest.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but hee would not heare him: so Iriah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angrie with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Ionathan the scribe: for they had made that the h prison.

h Because it was a vile and streit prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the pillors, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be delinered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah said vnto king Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that yee haue put me in prison?

Chap. 28.4.

19 *Where are now your prophets, which prophesied vnto you, saying, The king of Babel shal not come against you, nor against this land?

i That is, so long as there was any bread in the citie: thus God prouideth for his, that he will cause their enemies to preserue them to that end, whereunto he hath appointed them.

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my prayer ‡ bee accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Ionathan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the Bakers streete, vntill all the i bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed melech the king commandeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the king how he might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, a For Zedekiah had sent these to Ieremiah to enquire at the Lord for the state of the countrie now when Nebuchadnezzar came, as Chap. 21.2.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Hee that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for b a pray, and shall liue.

b Reade Chap. 21.9. and 45.5.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shall surely bee giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

‖Or, discourageth.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto the king, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

c Thus wee see how the wicked when they can not abide to heare the trueth of Gods word, seeke to put the ministers to death as transgressours of policies.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, hee is in your hands, for the king can denie d you nothing.

d Wherein he grieuously offended in that that not onely he would not heare the trueth spoken by the Prophet, but also gaue him to the lusts of the wicked, to be cruelly intreated.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the mire.

‡Ebr. Cushite, or Ethiopian.

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 My lord the king, f these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

f Hereby is declared, that the Prophet found more fauour at this strangers hands, then hee did by all them of his countrey, which was to their great condemnation.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, saying, Take from hence thirtie men ‡ with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

‡Ebr. vnder thine hand.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moze said vnto Ieremiah, Put nowe these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine armeholes, betweene the cords. And Ieremiah did so.

and Jeremiah remained in g the court of the priſon.

14 Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the houſe of the Lorde, and the king ſaid vnto Jeremiah, I wil aſke thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah ſayd to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou ſlay mee? and if I giue thee counſell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king ſware ſecretly vnto Jeremiah, ſaying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs theſe ſoules, I will not ſlay thee, nor giue thee into the handes of thoſe men that ſeeke thy life.

17 Then ſayd Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus ſayth the Lord God of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels h princes, then thy ſoule ſhall liue, and this citie ſhall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou ſhalt liue, and thine houſe.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the king of Babels princes, then ſhall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they ſhall burne it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king ſayd vnto Jeremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, leſt they deliuer me into their hands, and they i mocke me.

20 But Jeremiah ſayd, They ſhall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beſeech thee, which I ſpeake vnto thee: ſo ſhall it be well vnto thee, and thy ſoule ſhall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuſe to goe foorth, this is the word that the Lord hath ſhewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are k left in the king of Iudahs houſe, ſhall bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends haue perſwaded thee, and haue preuailed againſt thee, thy feete are faſtened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie ſhalt thou cauſe to bee burnt with fire.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderſtand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and ſay vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou haſt ſayd vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not ſlay thee: alſo what the king ſaid vnto thee,

26 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, I humbly l beſought the king that hee would not cauſe me to returne to Jonathans houſe to die there.

27 Then came all the Princes vnto Jeremiah and aſked him. And hee tolde them according to all theſe wordes that the king had commaunded: ſo they left off ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiah abode ſtill in the court of the priſon, vntill the day that Jeruſalem was taken: and hee was there, when Jeruſalem was taken.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſawe them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the b gate between the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes.

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto f Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that hee should carry him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Goe and speake to Ebed melech the blacke Moze, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this city for euill, and not for good, and they shalbe accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, sayth the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall bee for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he wil. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lorde after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 a And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and sayd vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath sayd: because yee haue b sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therfore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And nowe behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, ‡ tary still: behold, all the lande is ‖ before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore hee sayd, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whome the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whereeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe Steward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to c Mizpah, & dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the captaines of the hoste, d which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and childzen, and of the poore of the lande, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen e Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan * sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to ‖ serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruits, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that ye haue ‖ taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in f Moab, & among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruits very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not, that g Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? but Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Iehonan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam sayd vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt h not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

a From this second verse, vnto chap. 42.7. it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, and separated matter: and there this storie beginneth againe, and this vision is declared what it was.

b God mooued this infidel to speake this, to declare the great blindnesse and obstinacie of the Iewes, which could not feele that which this heathen man confessed.

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offrings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: & when he met them, he sayd vnto them, Come to [e] Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the middest of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that sayd vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for wee haue treasures in the field, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so hee stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherin Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom hee had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had [f] made because of Basha king of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [g] captaines of the host that were with him, heard of al the euil that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, & went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpeh, returned, and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham: which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made gouernour in the land.

d For they thought that the Temple had not been destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorow.

e For his death was kept secret, and hee fained that he lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem, and the Temple; but after shewe them when they seemed to fauour Gedaliah.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsel of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the host, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And said vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, ‡ Heare our prayer, wee beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may [a] doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God, according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they said to Ieremiah, [b] The Lord bee a witnesse of truth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things, for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whom we send thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 [c] And so after tenne dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all captaines of the host, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

9 And sayd vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom yee sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If yee will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I [d] repent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom yee are afraide: bee not afraid of him, sayeth the Lord: for I am with you to saue you, and to deliuer you [e] from his hand,

Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but wee will goe into the land of Egypt, where wee shall see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell.

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, If yee set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there,) f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselues sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchadnezzar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46.25.

16 Then the sword that ye feared, f shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which yee care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall yee die,

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt, to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath beene powred foorth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and yee shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch, and ye shall see this place no more.

g Reade Chap. 26.6. & 44.12. shewing that this should come vpon them for their infidelitie and stubburnnesse.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath sayd concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

h For you were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

20 Surely ye h dissembled in your hearts when yee sent mee vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainely that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, i in the place whither yee desire to goe and dwell.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah propheseieth the destruction of Egypt.

a Who was also called Iezaniah, Chap. 42.1.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes, b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

2 Then spake a Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the b proud men, saying vnto Ieremiah, c Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath d not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, c When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they burst forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Isa. 30 10. d He sheweth what is the nature of hypocrites: to wit, to feigne that they would obey God and imbrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the trueth: though indeed they be most farre from all obedience.

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah e prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwel in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all f nations, whither they had been driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

e Thus the wicked doe not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander & speake wickedly of all them that support or fauour the the godly.

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, Chap. 40.11.

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and euery person that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the g Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

g Whom these wicked led away by force.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to h Tahpanhes.

h A citie in Egypt neere to Nilus.

8 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and i hide them in the clay in the bricke kill which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah, i Which signified that Nebuchad-nezzar should come euen to the gates of Pharaoh, where were his bricke killes for his buildings.

10 And say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will sende and bring Nebuchad-rezzar the King of Babel, k my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and hee shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

k Reade Chap. 25.9.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: l such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

l Euery one shall be slaine by that meanes that God hath appointed, Chap. 15.2.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the Gods of Egypt, and hee shall burne them, and cary them away captiues, and hee shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a m shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

m Meaning, most easily, and suddenly shall he carie the Egyptians away.

13 Hee shall also breake the images of ‖ Beth-shemesh that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

‖ Or, the house of the sunne.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their idolatry. 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lord are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein prophesied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at a Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying, a These were all famous & strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes ỹ were fled dwelt for their safetie: but the Prophet declareth ỹ there is no hold so strong, ỹ can preserue them from Gods vengeance.

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke mee to anger, in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knewe not, neither they, nor you, nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets [b] rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor encline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and waste, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and sucking out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye bee gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue yee forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the [d] kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednes, and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Law nor in my Statutes, that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you * to euill, and to destroy all Iudah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that [e] haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall bee a detestation, and an astonishment, and a [f] curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah, to the which they ‡haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but [g] such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, & all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lorde, we will [h] not heare it of thee,

17 But we will do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our own mouth, as to burn incense vnto [i] the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both wee and our fathers, our Kings and our Princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then ‡had wee [k] plenty of victuales, and were well and felt none euill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had ‖scarcenesse of all things, & haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense to the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offrings vnto her, did we make her cakes to [l] make her glad, and powre out drinke offrings vnto her without [m] our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings, & your princes, and the people of the land, and ‡ hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense, and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, & haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his Lawe, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer Ieremiah sayde vnto all the people, and to all the women, Heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Yee and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your [n] hande, saying, Wee will performe our vowes that wee haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that dwel in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, sayeth the Lorde, that my Name n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therefore, that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, whersoeuer they are scattered: for though they be but two or three, yet he will deliuer them when he destroyeth his enemies.

p He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certaintie of the plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10 de Ant. cap 11. writeth, that fiue yeere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchadnezzar the yonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slewe the king, and so brought these Iewes, and other into Babylon.

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Behold, That which I haue built, will I d destroy, and that which I haue planted will I plucke vp, euen this whole land.

3 c Make ready buckler and shield, and goe forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your helmets, furbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 d Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, & are fled away, & looke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong men escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the e North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this, that commeth vp as f a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and hee saith, I will goe vp, and will couer the earth: I will destroy the citie with them that dwel therein.

9 Come vp, yee horses, and rage yee charets, and let the valiant men come forth, & the blacke Moores, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that hee may auenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall deuoure, and it shalbe saciate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath g a sacrifice in the North countrey h by the riuer Perath.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, i and take balme, O k virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many l medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, & thy crie hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong, and they are fallen both together.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did driue them.

16 He made many to fall, & one fell vpon another: and they said, Arise, let vs goe againe to our m own people, and to the land of our nativitie from the sword of the violent.

17 They did crie there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and of a great multitude n hath passed the time appointed.

20 Egypt is like a q faire calfe, but destruction commeth: out of the North it commeth.
21 Also her hired men r are in the midst of her like fat calues: they are also turned back and fledde away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation.
22 The voyce thereof shall goe forth like a s serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against t her with axes, as hewers of wood.
23 They shal cut downe her u forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot bee counted, because they are more then the x grashoppers, and are innumerable.
24 The daughter of Egypt shalbe confounded: she shalbe deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.
25 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the y common people of No, and Pharaoh, & Egypt, with their gods and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him, 28 Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, & I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct b thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

The word of the Lord against the Moabites, 26 Because of their pride and cruelty.

COncerning Moab, thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto a Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken; Misgab is confounded and afraid.
2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euil against it. b Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, c O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.
3 A voice of crying shalbe from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.
4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue caused their cry to be heard.
5 For at the going vp of d Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction.
6 Flee, and saue your liues, and bee like vnto the e heath in the wildernesse.
7 For because thou hast trusted in thy f works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and g Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his priestes and his princes together.
8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, & no city shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.
9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee & get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate, without any to dwel therein.
10 h Cursed be he that doth the worke of the Lord ‖ negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.
11 Moab hath bin at rest from his youth, and hee hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene i powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remayned in him, and his sent is not changed.
12 ¶ Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall cary him away, and shall empty his vessels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab shall bee ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of k Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you thus, We are mighty and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroied, ‡ his cities ‖ burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone down to slaughter, saith the King, whose name is, The Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all yee that knowe his name, say, l Howe is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that dost inhabit Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, ‡ behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell yee it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste,

21 And iudgement is come vpon ỳ plaine countrey, vpon Holon ‡ vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, ‡ vpon Bethgamul, and vpon Beth-meon,

24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab farre or neere.

25 The n horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him o drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shal ‖ wallow in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art moued.

28 O yee that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the doue that maketh her nest in the side of the holes mouth.

29 p We haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, q but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

31 r Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crie out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: the plantes are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea ſof Iazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon the summer fruits, and vpon the vintage, 33 And ioy, and gladnes is taken from the plentifull field ‡ from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shalbe no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh, and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the t heifer of three yeere old shal goe lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.

35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the hie places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sounde for Moab like a u shaume, and mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that hee hath gotten, is perished.

37 * For euery head shall be ‖ balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall bee cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

38 And mourning shal bee vpon all the houle tops of Moab and in all the streetes therof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shal howle, saying, How is he destroyed? how hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, x he shall flee as an eagle, ‡ shal spread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are wonne, ‡ the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 y Feare, and pit and snare shalbe vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, ‡ he that getteth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for I wil bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stoode vnder the shadow z of Heshbon, because of the force: for a the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the topps of the seditious children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of b Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuity.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuity of Moab in the c latter dates, saith the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

warre to bee heard in [d] Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crie ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackecloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges, for their king shall goe into captiuitie, and his Priestes, and his Princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the [e] valleyes? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: the trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5 Behold, I will bring a [f] feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, of all those that be about thee, and ye shall be scattered euery man [g] right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And [h] afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Is wisedome no more in [i] Teman? Is counsell perished from their children? Is their wisedome vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan ([k] they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the [l] grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy til they haue ynough.

10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shal not be able to hide himselfe: his seed is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaue thy [m] fatherlesse children, and I will preserue them alive, & let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, [n] Behold, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not go free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, saith the Lord, that [o] Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against her, and rise vp to the battel.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 The ‖ feare, & the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hil: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the Eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall bee astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, 18 As in the ouerthrow of Sodome, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saieth the Lorde: no man shall dwell there, neyther shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, [p] he shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make [r] him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoynt mee the time? and who is the [s] shepheard that will stande before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lorde that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitantes of Teman: surely the least [t] of the flocke shall draw them out: surely hee [u] shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is mooued at the noyse of their fall: the cry of their voyce is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, hee shall come vp, and flee as the Eagle, [x] and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauell.

23 ¶ Vnto [y] Damascus he saith, Hamath is confounded, and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, & they are faynt hearted as one on the fearefull sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth herselfe to flight, [z] and feare hath seased her: anguish and sorrowes haue taken her as a woman in trauell.

25 How is the glorious [a] citie not reserued, the city of my ioy!

26 Therefore her yong men shal fall in her streets, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of [b] Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Vnto [c] Kedar and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel shall smite, thus sayth the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks shal they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their [d] curtaines, and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crye vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off (e they haue consulted to dwell) O yee inhabitants of Hazor, sayeth the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 [f] Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthye nation, that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

CHAP. L.

Hee propheseth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuity.

‡ Ebr. hand.

THe word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the lande of the Caldeans by the ‡ ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North there c commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, & none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, sayth the Lord, the children of Israel shall d come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and e weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their f shepheardes haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaynes: they haue gone from g mountayne to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that founde them, haue deuoured them, & their enemies sayd, We offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lorde, h the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 i Flee from the middest of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates k before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mighty nations from the North country, and they shal set themselues in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrowes shalbe as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shal be a spoyle: all that spoyle her, l shall bee satisfied, sayeth the Lord.

11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fat, as the calues in the grasse, m and neyed like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and shee that bare you shall bee ashamed: beholde, the vttermost of the nations shalbe a desert, a dry land and a wildernesse.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lorde, it shal not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shalbe astonished, and n hisse at all her plagues.

14 o Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Cry against her round about: shee hath ‖ giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the q sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sickle in the time of harueste: because of the sworde of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lyons haue driuen them: first the King r of Assur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken s his bones.

18 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the king of Babel, and his lande, as I haue visited the king of Assur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feede on Carmel & Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lorde, the iniquity of Israel shall bee sought for, and there shall bee none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shal not be found: for I will bee mercifull vnto them, whom I reserue.

21 Goe vp against the lande of the t rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants * of ‖ Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commaunded thee.

22 A cry of battell is in the lande, and of great destruction.

23 Howe is the u hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, & also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hosts in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her ‡ from the vtmost border: open her store houses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her * bullockes: let them go downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that † flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend ỹ bowe, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her work, and according to al that she hath done, do vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, euen against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, sayth the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, sayth the Lorde God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visite thee.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shal raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shal deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their strong Redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shall mayntayne their cause, that hee may giue rest to the land, ‖ and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sword is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.

36 A sword is vpon the ‡ soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sworde is vpon her strong men, and they shalbe afraid.

37 A sword is vpon their horses, and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shall be like women: a sword is vpon her treasures, and they shalbe spoyled.

38 A * drought is vpon her waters, and they shall bee dried vp: for it is the land of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles.

39 Therefore the ᵇ Iiims with the Iims, shall dwell there, and the ‡ ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

40 As God destroyed * Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayth the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 ¶ Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised vp from the ᶜ coastes of the earth.

42 They shall hold the bowe and the buckler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voice shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his handes ᵈ waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euen sorow as of a woman in trauaile.

44 Beholde, he * shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like mee, and who will appoint mee the time? and who is the ᵉ shepheard that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall draw them out: surely hee shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the cry is heard among the nations.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streetes.

5 For Israel hath bene no ᵇ widow, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lorde of hostes, though their lande was filled with sinne against the Holy one of Israel.

could not be healed: forſake her, and let vs goe euery one into his owne countrey: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath brought foorth our [g] righteouſneſſe: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather the ſhields: the Lord hath raiſed vp the ſpirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpoſe is againſt Babel to deſtroy it, becauſe it is the [h] vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the ſtanderd vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch ſtrong: ſet vp the watchmen: prepare the ſkoutes: for the Lord hath both deuiſed, and done that which hee ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwelleſt vpon many [i] waters, abundant in treaſures, thine ende is come, euen the [‖] ende of thy couetouſneſſe.

14 The Lord of hoſtes hath ſworne by [‡] him [*] ſelfe, ſaying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they ſhal crie and ſhout againſt thee.

15 [*] He hath made the earth by his power, and eſtabliſhed the worlde by his wiſedome, and hath ſtretched out the heauen by his diſcretion.

16 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee cauſeth the cloudes to aſcende from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth foorth the winde out of his treaſures.

17 Euery man is a beaſt by his owne [k] knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falſhood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their [l] viſitation they ſhall periſh.

19 The [m] portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine [n] hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdomes, 21 And by thee will I breake horſe and horſeman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee alſo will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maide.

23 I will alſo breake by thee the ſhepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the huſbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your ſight, ſaith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O deſtroying [o] mountaine, ſayth the Lord, which deſtroyeſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountayne.

26 They ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt bee deſtroyed for euer, ſayeth the Lord.

27 Set vp a ſtandard in the lande: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations againſt her: call vp the kingdomes of [q] Ararat, Minni, and Aſchchenaz againſt her: appoint the prince againſt her: cauſe horſes to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorow: for the deuice of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babel, to make the land of Babel waſte without an inhabitant.

30 The ſtrong men of Babel haue ceaſed to fight, they haue remained in their holdes: their ſtrength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poſte ſhall runne to meete the poſte, and a meſſenger to meete the meſſenger, to ſhew the king of Babel, that his citie is taken on a [r] ſide thereof, 32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, The daughter of Babel is like a threſhing floore: the time of her threſhing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her [s] harueſt ſhall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath [t] deuoured me, and deſtroyed mee: he hath made me an emptie veſſel: he ſwallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath caſt me out.

35 The ſpoyle of me, and that which was left of mee, is brought vnto Babel, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, ſhall Ieruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſayeth the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy [u] cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the ſea, and drie vp her ſpringes, 37 And Babel ſhall be as heapes, a dwelling place for Dragons, an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their [x] heate I will make them feaſtes, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſayth the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the ſlaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is [y] Sheſhach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wildernesse, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visit Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shal run no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her and deliuer ye euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Lest your heart faint, & ye feare the rumor, that shalbe heard in the land: the rumor shal come this yere, & after that in the other [b] yere shall come a rumor, and cruelty in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the [c] earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the [d] slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that [e] haue escaped the sword, goe away, & stand not still: remember the Lord afarre off, and let Ierusalem come into your mind.

51 We are [f] confounded because we haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords house.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to [g] heauen, and though shee should defend her strength on high, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, sayth the Lord.

54 A sound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the lande of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lord hath layed Babel waste, & destroyed from her the great voice, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noise:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shall surely recompense.

57 And I will [h] make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes and her nobles and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayth the king, whose name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The [i] thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be weary.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded Sheraiah the son of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when hee went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah into Babel, in the [k] fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah sayde to Sheraiah, When thou commest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt read all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt bind a [l] stone to it, and cast it in the midst of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel bee drowned, and shal not rise from the euil, that I will bring vpon her, & they shall [m] be weary. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

18.21 m They shall not be able to resist but shall labour in vaine.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The city is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a king.

ZEdekiah * was one and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah. 2.King.24.18. 2.chron.36.11.

2 And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 [a] Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 * But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, hee and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built fortes against it round about.

5 So the city was besieged vnto the eleuenth yere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, & went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two wals, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes.

8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and caryed him vp to the king of Babel to Riblah [c] in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, k This was not in the time of his captiuitie, but seuen yeres before, when he went either to gratulate Nebuchad-nezzar, or to intreate of some matters.

and the king of Babel bound him in chaines and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

d In the 2. King. 25.8. it is called the seuenth day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

12 Now in the fift moneth in the d tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which e stood before the king of Babel in Jerusalem, e That is, which was his seruant as 2. King. 25.8.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the kings house, and al the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt hee with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, & the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

f Of these pillars, read 1. king. 7.15

17 Also the f pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, & the brasen sea that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

g Which were also made of brasse, as 1. King. 7.45.

18 The pots also and the g besoms, and the instruments of musicke, & the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the ashpans, and the basins, and the pots, & the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, & that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away,

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen buls, that were vnder the bases, which king Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without h weight.

h It was so much in quantitie.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threed of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thickenes thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with network, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, and the pomegranats were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninetie & fiue pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were i an hundreth round about.

i But because of the roundnesse no more could be seene but ninetie and fiue.

24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah k the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

k Which serued in the hie Priestes stead, if he had any necessary impediment.

25 He tooke also out of the city an eunuch which had the ouersight of the men of warre and l seuen men that were in the kings presence which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the host who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the citie.

l In the 2. king. 25.19. is read but of fiue, those were the most excellent & the other two, which were not so noble, are not there mentioned with them.

26 Nebuzar adan the chiefe steward took them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whome Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the m seuenth yeere, euen three thousand Iewes and three and twenty.

m Which was the latter end of the seuenth yeere of his reigne, and the beginning of the eight.

29 In the n eightenth yere of Nebuchadnezzar he caried away captiue from Jerusalem eight hundreth thirtie & two ‡ persons.

n In the latter end also of that yeere, and the beginning of the nineteenth.

‡ Ebr. soules.

30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fortie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and six hundreth.

o That is, restored him to liberty and honour.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Jehoiachin king of Iudah, in the twelft moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the first yere of his reigne, o lifted vp the head of Jehoiachin king of Iuda, and brought him out of prison, p And gaue him princely apparel.

32 And spake kindly vnto him, & set his throne aboue the throne of the kinges, that were with him in Babel, 33 And changed his prison p garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

q That is, he had allowance in the Court, and thus at length hee had rest and quietnesse, because he obeyed Ieremiah the Prophet, whereas the other were cruelly ordered, that would not obey him.

34 His portion was a q continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life, vntill he died.

Lamentations.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 And sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first & second chapter begin euery verse according to the letters of the Ebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondereth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Ierusalem, which was so strong and so full of people, to be now destroyed & desolate.

HOw doth a the city remaine solitary that was full of people! she is as a widow: shee that was great among the nations, and b princesse among the prouinces, is made tributary.

b Which had chiefly rule ouer many prouinces and countreys.

2 She weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares run downe by her cheekes: among all her d louers, shee hath none to comfort her: all her friendes haue delt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

c So that she taketh no rest.

no man commeth f to the solemne feasts: all her gates are desolate: her Priestes sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and shee is in ‡ heauinesse.

5 Her aduersaries are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become h like harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that shee had in times past, when her people i fell into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries saw her, and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore she is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, shee sigheth and turneth backward.

9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirts: shee remembred not her last ende, therefore shee came downe wonderfully: shee had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemie is ‡ proud.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasaunt things: for shee hath seene the Heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom m thou diddest commaunde, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh f seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, all ye that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any n sorow like vnto my sorow, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath o he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: hee hath spread a net for my feet, and turned me backe: he hath made mee desolate, and daily in heauinesse.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered mee into their handes, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the midst of me: hee hath called an assembly against me to destroy my young men: the Lord hath troden q the winepresse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 *For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

17 Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob round about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstruous woman in the midst of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his ‡ commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorow: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued mee: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the city, while they sought their meat to refresh their soules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within mee, for I am full of heauinesse: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou hast pronounced, and they shal be like vnto me.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkned the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footstoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, and not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: hee hath drawen backe his e right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 Hee f hath bent his bowe like an enemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slew al that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to bee forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the king and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemie the walles of her palaces: they haue made a g noyse in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made 9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her Princes are among the Gentiles: the lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets ‖ receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughters of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselues with sackcloth: the virgins of Ierusalem hang downe their heads to the ground.

‡Ebr. powred out the soule.

k Because the false prophets called themselues Seers, as the other were called, therefore hee sheweth, that they saw amisse, because they did not reproue the peoples faults, but flattered them in their sinnes, which was the cause of their destruction.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their handes at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

CHAP. III.

I Am the man that hath seene [a] affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought mee into darkenesse, but not to light.

3 Surely hee is turned against mee: hee turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skin hath hee caused to waxe old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 Hee hath [b] builded against mee, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 Hee hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: hee hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shout, hee shutteth out my [c] prayer.

9 Hee hath [d] stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 [e] Hee was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 Hee hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 Hee hath bent his bowe, and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused † the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternesse, and made me drunken with [f] wormewood.

16 Hee hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie,

18 And I said, My strength and mine hope [g] is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled [h] in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords [i] mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed [k] euery morning: great is thy faithfulnesse.

24 The Lord is my [l] portion, saith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declareth the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ier. 20.2

b Hee speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which hee greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of words.

c This is a great tentation to the godly, when they see not the fruit of their praiers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly and the ofter

h Hee sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent, that hereby they may know themselues and feele his mercies.

i Considering the wickednesse of man, it is maruaile that any remaineth aliue: but onely that God for his owne mercies sake, and for his promise will euer haue his Church to remaine, though they be neuer so fewe in number, Isa. 1.9.

26 It is good both to trust and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his [m] youth.

28 He sitteth alone, [n] and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 Hee putteth his [o] mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For hee doeth not [p] punish [t] willingly, nor afflict the children of men, 34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth,

35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High, 36 In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord [q] seeth it not.

37 Who is he then that sayth, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord [r] commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not [s] euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the liuing man [u] sorowfull? man suffereth for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe vnto the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp [v] our hearts with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

42 We haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through.

45 Thou hast made vs as the * offscouring and refuse in the mids of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.

47 Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs with deolation and destruction.

48 Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not,

50 Till the Lord looke downe, and behold from heauen.

51 Mine eye [x] breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my citie.

52 Mine enemies chaled mee sore like a bird without cause.

53 They haue shut vp my life [y] in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voyce: stop not thine eare from my sigh, and from my crie.

57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my [z] soule, & hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me:

62 The lips also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against mee continually.

63 Behold their sitting downe and their rising vp, how I am their song.

64 * Giue them a recompense, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands. *Psal.28.4.

65 Giue them ‖ sorow of heart, euen thy curse to them. ‖Or, an obstinate heart.

66 Persecute with wrath and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

10 The hands of the pitiful women haue sodden their own children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: hee hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

h Some referre this to the blind men, which as they went, stumbled on ỹ blood, whereof the citie was full.

i Meaning, the heathen which came to destroy them, could not abide them.

‖ Or, face.

k That is, the enemies.

l He sheweth two principall causes of their destruction: their cruelty and their vaine confidence in man: for they trusted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

m Our king Iosiah, in whome stood our hope of Gods fauour, and on whom depended our state and life, was slaine, whom hee calleth anointed, because he was a figure of Christ.

n This is spoken by derision.

14 They haue wandred as blind men h in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cried vnto them, Depart yee polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandred: they haue said among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

16 The ‖ anger of the Lord hath scattered them, hee will no more regard them: k they reuerenced not the face of the Priests, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 While we waited for our vaine help, our eyes failed: for in our waiting wee looked for l a nation that could not saue vs.

18 They hunt our steps that we cannot goe in our streetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and laid waite for vs in the wildernesse.

20 The m breath of our nostrels, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom wee sayde, Vnder his shadowe wee shall be preserued aliue among the heathen.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: hee o will no more cary thee away into captiuitie, but hee will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, hee will discouer thy sinnes.

‖ Or, shew thy nakednesse.

o He comforteth the Church by that after seuenty yeeres their sorowes shall haue an end, whereas the wicked should be tormented for euer.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Jeremiah.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the poorest, remained, and some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: a consider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.

3 Wee are fatherlesse, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunken our b water for money, and our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our necks are vnder persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our c hands to the Egyptians, and to Asshur, to bee satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their d iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword e of the wildernesse.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen, because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by f their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder g the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from ỹ b gate, and the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wo now vnto vs that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauy for these things, i our eyes are dimme.

18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes run vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lorde, remainest for k euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 l Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lorde, and we shall be turned: renew our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.

c We are ioyned in league and amity with them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.

d As our fathers haue been punished for their sinnes, so we that are culpable of the same sinnes, are punished.

e Because of the enemie that came from the wildernesse, and would not suffer vs to goe and seeke our necessary foode.

f That is, by the enemies hand.

g Their slauery was so great, that they were not able to abide it.

h There were no more lawes nor fourme of common wealth.

i With weeping.

k And therefore thy couenant and mercies can neuer faile.

l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs, before wee can turne to him, Ierem. 31, 18.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuity with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should bee still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof hee confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, should be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, hee assureth them that God wil deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this Booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea, at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

IT came to passe in the a thirtieth yeere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer b Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I saw visions of c God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Ioiachins captiuitie)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the d hande of the Lorde was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a e whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenesse of ‖ amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenesse of foure f beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were straight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were g ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went foorth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as h the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their ‡ spirit led them, and they returned not when they went foorth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne, and i returned like vnto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beastes, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a k chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also ‖ rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

19 And when the beastes went, the wheeles went with them: ‡ when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, & thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, like vnto chrystall, spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which couered them, and euery one had two which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went foorth, I heard the noyse of their l wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, euen the voyce of speach, as the noise of an hoste: and when they stood, they m let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a saphire stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire n round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpwarde: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downewarde, I sawe as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell o vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

a After that the booke of the law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twenty yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after saw these visions.

c So that hee could not abide Gods presence till Gods spirit did enter into him.

‡ Eb. hard of face.

d This declareth on the one part Gods great affection toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will send his Prophets among them, and admonisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to doe their duety, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the word of God shall be either to their saluation or greater condemnation.

e Reade Ier. 1. 17. he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to doe their dueties.

f Hee doeth not onely exhort him to his duetie, but also giueth him the meanes wherewith he may be able to execute it.

g Hee sheweth what were the contents of this booke: to wit, Gods iudgements against the wicked.

2 c And the spirit entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are ‡ impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither indeede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that d there hath been a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, e feare them not, neither bee afraid of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes bee with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afrayd at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: bee not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and f eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hand was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, g Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: a eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as hony.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an ‡ vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel:

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language whose words thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face b strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither bee afrayd at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, c receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, ‡ tell them, Thus sayth the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behind me a noyse of a great rushing, saying, d Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beastes, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheels that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I e went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to f Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them g seuen dayes.

16 And at the ende of seuen dayes, the worde of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a h watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 (When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a i righteous man turne from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a k stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shal die in his sinne, and his ! righteous deedes, which hee hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

c He sheweth what is meant by the eating of the booke, which is, that the ministers of God may speake nothing as of themselues, but that onely which they haue receiued of the Lord.

d Whereby he signifieth, that Gods glory should not be diminished, although he departed out of his Temple: for this declared that the citie and Temple should be destroyed.

e This sheweth that there is euer an infirmitie of the flesh which can neuer be ready to render full obedience to God, and also Gods grace, who euer assisteth his, and ouercometh their rebellious affections.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it b in the dung that commeth out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not beene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any c vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then hee said vnto mee, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullocks d dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer, hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake e the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, that they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

10 For in the mids of thee, the fathers * shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuarie with all thy filthines, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shal mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their c idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the high places shall be laide waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall bee broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your workes shall be abolished.

7 And the slaine shall fall in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, d that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thorow the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations, where they shall bee in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they e shalbe displeased in themselues for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I would doe this euill vnto them.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

10 Beholde, the day, beholde, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the e rod flourisheth: f pride hath budded.

11 g Cruelty is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be h lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere, let not the buyer i reioyce, nor let him that selleth, k mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For hee that selleth, shall not l returne to that which is sold, although they were yet aliue: for the m vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, & they returned not, n neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 o They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: hee that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doues of the valleys: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 *All hands shall bee weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 *They shall also gird themselues with sackecloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall bee vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their siluer in ỹ streetes, and their gold shall bee cast farre off: their *siluer and their golde cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shal not satisfie their soules, neither fil their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beauty of his p ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the q strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my r secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, & defile it.

23 ¶ Make a s chaine: for the land is full of the t iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of cruelty.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, & they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mighty to cease, and their u holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shal seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shalbe vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the law shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the Ancient.

27 The king shal mourne, and the prince shalbe clothed with desolation, & the handes of the people in the land shalbe troubled: I will do vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

AND in the a first yere, in the b first moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon mee.

2 Then I beheld, and loe, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of c fire to looke to, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And hee stretched out the likenesse of an hand, & tooke mee by an hairie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift mee vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee ‡ by a Diuine d vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner e gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of f indignation, which prouoked indignation.

5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward at the gate of the h altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.

h That is, in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.

6 He sayd furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they do? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from i my Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee & thou shalt see greater abominations.

i For God will not be where idoles are.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore, 9 And he sayd vnto mee, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping things and k abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

k Which were forbidden in the Law, Leuit. 11.4.

11 And there stood before them seuentie l men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Iaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censer in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like m a cloud.

l Thus that they should haue kept all the rest in the feare & true seruice of God, were the ring leaders to al abomination, & by their example pulled others fro God.

m It was in such abundance.

12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel n doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagery? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

n For besides their common idolatry, they had particular seruice, which they had in secret chambers.

13 Againe hee said also vnto mee, Turne thee againe, & thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and beholde, there sate women mourning for o Tammuz.

o The Iewes write that this was a prophet of the idoles, who after his death was once a yeere mourned for in the night.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, & behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with cruelty, and haue returned to prouoke me: and lo, they haue cast out p stinke before their noses.

p Declaring that the censings, and seruice of the idolaters are but infection & villany before God. Pro. 1.28. isa. 46.7. iere. 11.11. micah. 3.4.

18 Therefore wil I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, and * though they cry in mine eares with a loud voyce, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the city. 4 They that shall be saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HEe cryed also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of q the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

q The time to take vengeance.

2 And behold, fiue r men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the s North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers t inkhorne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.

r Which were Angels in the similitude of men.

s Signifying, that the Babylonians should come from the North to destroy the citie and the Temple.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was u gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stoode on the ‖ doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inkhorne by his side.

t To marke thē that should be saued.

u Which declared, that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednes, and worship him aright.

‖ Or, threshold.

4 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Goe through the mids of the citie, euen through the mids of Ierusalem, and ‖ set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that x mourne, and crie for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

‖ Or, marke with Thau.

x He sheweth what is y manet of Gods childrē, whom he marketh to saluation: to wit, to mourne & cry out against the wicked nesse which they see committed against Gods glory.

5 And to the other he sayd, that I might heare, Go ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy vtterly the old, and the young, and the maids, and the children, and the women, but touch no man vpon whom is the y marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the z Ancient men, which were before the house.

y Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his small number, which he marketh, as Exod. 12. 22. reue. 7. 3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.

z Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8. 11.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile a the house and fill the courts with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie.

a This declareth, that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgements executed.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, b Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy al the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

b That is, with all kind of wickednesse, reade Isa. 1.15.

9 Then said hee vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full c of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

c Thus is all the land defiled, as Chap. 8. 11.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linnen which had the inkehorne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke hote burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearsall of the vision of the wheeles, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

And

Chap. 1. 22.

AND as I looked, beholde, in the * firmament that was aboue the heade of the [a] Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a Saphir stone.

a Which in the first chap. vers. 5. hee called the foure beasts.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and sayd, Goe in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fill thine hands with coales of fire from betwene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer [b] the city. And he went in in my sight.

b This signified that the city should be burnt.

3 Nowe the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner Court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord [c] went vp from the Cherub, & stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, & the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.

c Meaning, that the glory of God should depart from the Temple.

5 And the [d] sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

d Reade Chap. 1. 24.

6 And when hee had commaunded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched foorth his hande from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hande vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, & another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a [e] Chrysolite stone.

e Reade Chap. 1. 16.

10 And their appearance (for they were al foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they [f] turned not as they went.

f Vntil they had executed Gods iudgements.

12 And their whole body, & their [g] rings, and their handes and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

g Or, trents.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, & the third the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: * this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar.

Chap. 1. 5.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 Then the glory of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, & mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lordes house, at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20 * This is the [h] beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.

h Reade Chap. 9. 3.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, & they went euery one straight forward.

Chap 1. 15.

i That is, the whole body of the foure beasts, or Cherubims.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he propheseth, shewing the how they shalbe dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart cometh of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the Spirit lift mee vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lyeth Eastward, and beholde, at the entry of the gate were fiue and twenty men: among whome I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this city.

3 For they say, [a] It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the [b] caldron, and we be the flesh.

a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, & therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

b We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, til the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it bee sod.

4 Therefore propheste against them, son of man, propheste.

5 And the Spirit of the Lorde fell vpon me, and sayd vnto me, Speake, Thus sayth the Lord. O ye house of Israel, this haue yee sayde, and I knowe that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye murthered in this city, and ye haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue layed in the middes of it, they are [c] the flesh, and this city is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murdred therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

8 Yee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the [d] hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

10 Yee shall fall by the sworde, and I will iudge you in the border of [e] Israel, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

e That is, in Riblah, Reade 2. King. 25. 6.

12 And ye shal know that I am the Lord: for yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgemēts, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of f Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loud voyce, and sayde, Ah Lorde God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitantes of Ierusalem haue sayde, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, & although I haue scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little h Sanctuary in the countryes where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lord God, I wil gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreyes where ye haue bin scattered, and I wil giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away al the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 *And I will giue them one heart, and I wil put a new spirit within their bowels: and I wil take the i stony heart out of their bodies, and I will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, & execute them: and they shall bee my people, and I will bee their God.

21 But vpon them whose heart is toward their idoles, & whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, sayth the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hye.

23 And the glory of the Lorde went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountayne which is towarde the East side of the city.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke mee vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were k led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuity. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in þ mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, & heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, t prepare thy stuffe to go into captiuity, & go forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuity: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuity.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carry out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, & cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a l ligne vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was cōmanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as þ stuffe of one that goeth into captiuity: and by night I digged thorow the wall with mine hand, & brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayd vnto thee, What m doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, This ‖burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel, that are among them.

11 Say, I am your ligne: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them, they shall go into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke and shall go forth: they shall dig through the wall, to carrie out thereby: hee shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon n him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I wil scatter toward euery wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countries.

16 But I will leaue a o little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse,

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus sayeth the Lorde God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eate their bread with care-

f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgemēt of God toward the rest of the people.

g They that remained still at Ierusalem, thus reproched them that were gone into captiuity, as though they were cast off, and forsaken of God.

h They shall be yet a little church shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whō he will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

t Ebr. make thee vessels to goe into captiuity.

b That as thou doest, so shall they doe, and therefore in thee they shall see their owne plague and punishment.

c Doe not they deride thy doings?

carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shal be desolate from her abundance, because of the cruelitie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyde, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes [e] are prolonged, and all visions ‖ faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayth the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall bee any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering deuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speak, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, & will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth is for [g] many dayes to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, All my words shall no longer bee delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of * Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their [a] owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes [b] in the waste places.

5 [c] Ye haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue yee not seene a vaine vision? and haue yee not spoken a lying diuination? [d] yee say, The Lord sayth it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because yee haue spoken vanitie, and haue seene lies, therfore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not be in ỳ assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the [e] writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: & ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I will send haile stones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not bee sayde vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, I wil cause a stormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shall bee in mine anger, and haile stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that yee haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that ỳ foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the middes thereof, & ye shall know that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto ỳ women that sow [i] pillowes vnder al armeholes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will yee hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And wil yee pollute mee among my people for handfuls of [k] barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and [l] to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith yee hunt the [m] soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies yee haue made the heart of the [n] righteous sad, whome I they should depart from the body. n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

haue not made sadde, and strengthened the handes of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, 23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.

a Hee sheweth the hypocrisie of the Idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophets of God though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also howe by one meanes or other, God doth discouer them.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthie idoles openly, which leade them in blindnesse, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Iere. 10. 15.

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, & putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles, c To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to passe.

d As his abomination hath deserued: that is, he shalbe led with lies: according as he delighted therein, 2 Thess. 2. 10.

5 That [e] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

e That is, conuince them by their owne conscience.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that [f] sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to enquire of him for mee, I the Lord will answere him [g] for my selfe.

f The Prophet declareth that God for mans ingratitude raiseth vp false prophets to seduce them that delight in lies rather then in the trueth of God, & thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1 King. 22. 20, 22. and destroyeth aswell those prophets as that people. g Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked are admonitions to the godly to cleaue vnto the Lord, and not to defile themselues with like abominations.

g Or, by my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example & prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the midst of my people, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the prophet be [h] deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the midst of my people of Israel.

h Reade Chap. 4. 16. and 5. 17. Isa. 3. 1.

10 And they shal beare their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of [i] Israel may go no more astray fro me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

i Though Noah & Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men, (for at this time Daniel was in captiuitie with Ezekiel) and so these three together shall pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them reade Iere. 15. 1.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against mee by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, [k] and wil breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

k Meaning, ỳ a very few (which hee calleth the remnant, ver. 22) should escape these plagues whom God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousnesse is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his owne sake.

14 Though these three men, [l] Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their [k] righteousnesse, saith the Lord God.

l Though Noah & Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men, (for at this time Daniel was in captiuitie with Ezekiel) and so these three together shall pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them reade Iere. 15. 1.

15 If I bring noysome beastes into the land, and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe thorowe, because of beastes, 16 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shal saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shall bee delinered, but the land shall be waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe thorow the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall bee deliuered themselues.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast,

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnesse, 21 For thus saith the Lord God, Howe much more when I sende my [m] foure sore iudgements vpo Ierusalem, euen the sword, and famine, and the noysome beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

m Reade Chap. 5. 17.

22 Yet behold, therin shalbe left a [l] remnant of them that shall be caryed away both sonnes and daughters: beholde, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and yee shall bee comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

l Reade Chap. 5. 3.

23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises, and yee shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the [a] trees of the forrest?

a Which bringeth foorth no fruit, no more then the other trees of the forest doe: meaning, that if Ierusalem, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring forth fruit it should be vterly destroyed:

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pinne of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was

meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meet for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

b Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one b fire, and another fire shall consume them: and yee shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them,

8 And when I make the land waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnes. 46 He iustifieth the wickednes of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations, a Thou boastest to be of the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerated & followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the maners of their fathers, Isa. 1.4. and 57.3.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation & thy kinred is of the land a of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

4 And in thy nativitie when thou wast b borne, thy navill was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in cloutes.

c Being thus in thy filthinesse and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee and gaue thee life, whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthinesse and death.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out into the open field, to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine c owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

d These words as blood, pollution, nakednesse, and filthines, are oftentimes repeated, to beat downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God receiued them to mercy, fauoured them, & couered their shame.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, and couered d thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with e thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

e That thou shouldest be a chast wife vnto mee, and that I should maintaine thee & endue thee with all graces.

9 Then washed I thee with f water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle.

f I washed away thy sinnes.

10 I clothed thee also with broydered worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne, and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull b crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy rayment was of fine linnen and silke and broidred worke: thou diddest eate fine floure, and hony and oile, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my g beauty which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy spirit.

15 Now thou didst h trust in thine owne beauty, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowme, and hast powred out i thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

h Hereby hee sheweth how hee saued his church, enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

i He declareth wherein the dignitie of Ierusalem stood, to wit, in that that the Lord gaue thē of his beauty and excellency.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, k and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

k In abusing my gifts, and in putting thy confidence in thine owne wisedome and dignitie, which were the occasions of thine idolatry.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my gold and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and l madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them, l There was none idolatry so vile, wherewith thou didst not pollute thy selfe.

18 And tookest thy broidred garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oile and hony wherewith I fedde thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweet sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

m This declareth how the idolaters put their chiefe delight in those things, which please the eyes and outward senses.

20 Moreouer, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to m bee deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

n Thou hast conuerted my vessels and instruments, which I gaue thee to serue me with, to the vse of thine idoles.

21 That thou hast slaun my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe thorow fire for them.

o Meaning, by fire, read Leuit. 18.21. 2. King. 23.10.

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes, thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse, (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God.)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery ‖ corner of the way, & hast made thy beauty to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

‖ Or, head.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the p Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members: and hast increased thy whoredome to prouoke me.

p He noteth the great impiety of this people, who first falling from God to seeke helpe at strange nations, did also at length imbrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amity more strong.

27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

‖ Or, cities.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, sayth the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a ‖ presumptious whorish woman?

‖ Or, that will beare rule.

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery street, and hast not beene as an harlot q that despisest a reward, q Meaning, that some harlots contemne small rewards, but no louers gaue a reward to Israel, but they gaue to all others: signifying that the idolaters bestow of their substance which they receiue of God for his glory, to serue their vile abominations.

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrarie.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because thy ‖ shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them,

‖ Or, nether parts.

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all r thy louers, with whome thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

r Egyptians, Assyrians and Caldeans, whom thou tookest to be thy louers, shall come and destroy thee, Chap. 23. 9.

38 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are f harlots, and of them that shed blood, and will giue thee the blood of wrath and iealousie.

f I will iudge thee to death, as the adulterers and mutherers.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine hie places: they shall breake downe thine hie places: they shal strippe thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a companie against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they * shal burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: & I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

2. King. 25. 9.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my t iealousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and bee no more angry.

t I will vtterly destroy thee, and so my iealousie shall cease.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked mee with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue u brought thy way vpon thine head, sayeth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

u I haue punished thy faults, but thou wouldest not repent.

44 Beholde, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, x so is her daughter.

x As were the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and others your predecessors, so are you their successours.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy y sisters, which forlooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite, y That is, of Samaria and Sodom.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her z daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy ‡ younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, & her daughters.

z That is, her cities.

‡ Ebr. thy sister younger then thou.

47 Yet hast thou a not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had beene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

a But done farre worse.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, b Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

b He alleadgeth these foure vices, pride, excesse, idlenesse, and contempt of the poore, as foure principall causes of such abomination, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Gen. 19. 24.

50 But they were hauty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither c hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast d iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

c Which worshipped the calues in Bethel and Dan.

d Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee, Sodom and Samaria were iuste.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sins, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

e This he speaketh in comparison, saying, that he would restore Ierusalem when Sodom should be restored, that is, neuer: and this is meant of the greatest part of the Iewes.

53 Therefore I will bring againe e their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them, 54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast f comforted them.

f In that thou hast shewed thy selfe worse then they, and yet thoughtest to escape punishment.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, g when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

g Meaning, that it should neuer come to passe.

56 For thy sister Sodom ‡ was not heard of h by thy report in the day of thy pride, ‡ Ebr. was not a rumour in thy mouth.

57 Before thy wickednesse was i discouered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about k her which despise thee on all sides.

h Thou wouldest not call her punishment to mind when thou wast aloft, to learne by her example to feare my iudgements. i That is, till thou wast brought vnder by the Syrians & Philistims, 2. Chro. 28. 19. k Which ioyned with the Syrians, or compassed about Ierusalem.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse, and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

62 And I will establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable, and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great a Eagle with great wings, and long wings, and ful of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twigge, and carried it into the land b of merchants, & set it in a city of merchants.

5 He tooke also of the c seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, & was d like a spreading vine of e lowe stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also f another great Eagle with great wings, and many feathers, & behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great g waters, that it should bring foorth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Shall it prosper? Shall h he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dryed vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches where it grew.

11 Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say nowe to this rebellious house, Know yee not what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the king of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken k the king thereof, and the princes therof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the kings seed, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an l oath of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land,

14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him and sent his Ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shal he prosper? shal he escape, that doth such things? or shall hee breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shal die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the King that had made him King, whose oath he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shal Pharaoh with his mighty hoste, & great multitude of people, maintaine him in the war, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath and broken the couenant: (yet lo, he had giuen m his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine oath that hee hath despised, and my couenant that hee hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 * And I wil spread my net vpon him, and hee shall bee taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasse that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the swoorde, and they that remayne, shall bee scattered towarde all the windes: and yee shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top n of this high cedar, and will set it, and cut off the o top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the high mountaine of Israel wil I plant it: and it shal bring forth boughs and beare fruite, and bee an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery p foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the q trees of the fielde shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the hye tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dryed vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised: 24 Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THe word of the LORD came vnto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane yee that yee speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel saying, a The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord GOD, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shal die.

5 But if a man bee iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten b vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath ‡defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath lyen with a *menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtour: hee that hath spoyled none by violence, * but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen forth *vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement between man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, saith the Lord GOD.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is ‖a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he do any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shal not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, c he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath witholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but hee shall surely liue.

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgment and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnesse of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall bee vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my d statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be ‖mentioned vnto him, but in his e righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue.

23 f Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord GOD? ‖ or shall hee not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall hee liue? all his g righteousnesse that hee hath done, shall not bee mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his sinne that hee hath sinned, in them shall hee die.

25 Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not b equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule aliue.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, saith the Lord GOD: returne therfore ‡ cause others to turne away from al your transgressions: so iniquity shal not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you al your transgressions, whereby yee haue transgressed, and make i you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will yee die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord GOD: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue yee.

THou also, take vp a lamentation for the [a] princes of Israel,

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he will anſwere them when they pray, becauſe of their vnkindneſſe. 33 Hee promiſeth that his people ſhall returne from captiuity. 46 By the forreſt that ſhould be burnt, is ſignified the burning of Ieruſalem.

a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

AND in the [a] ſeuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the LORD, and ſate before me.

2 Then came the word of the LORD vnto me, ſaying,

3 Sonne of man, Speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord GOD, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, ſayth the Lord GOD, when I am aſked, I will not anſwere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, ſonne of man, wilt thou iudge them? cauſe [b] them to vnderſtand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord GOD, In the day when I choſe Israel, and [c] lift vp mine hand vnto the ſeede of the houſe of Iaakob, and made my ſelfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and ſayd, I am the LORD your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hande vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleaſant among all lands,

7 Then ſaid I vnto them, Let euery man caſt away the abominations of his eies, and defile not your ſelues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the LORD your God.

8 But they rebelled againſt me, & would not heare me: for none caſt away the abominations of their [c] eyes, neither did they forſake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accompliſh my wrath againſt them in the midſt of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had reſpect to my [f] Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whoſe ſight I made my ſelfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderneſſe, 11 And I gaue them my ſtatutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man doe, he ſhall liue in them.

12 Moreouer, I gaue them alſo my [g] Sabbaths to be a ſigne betweene mee and them, that they might know that I am the LORD, that ſanctifie them.

13 But the houſe of Israel rebelled againſt mee in the wilderneſſe: they walked not in my ſtatutes, and they caſt away my iudgements, which if a man doe, hee ſhall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wilderneſſe to conſume them,

14 But I had reſpect to my Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheleſſe I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderneſſe, that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleaſant aboue all lands, 16 Becauſe they caſt away my iudgements, and walked not in my ſtatutes, but haue polluted my [h] Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheleſſe mine eye ſpared them, that I would not deſtroy them, neither would I conſume them in the wildernes.

18 But I ſayd vnto their children in the wilderneſſe, Walke ye not in the ordinances

b This declareth the great lenity and patience of God, which calleth ſinners to repentance before he condemne them.
c I ſware that I would be their God, which maner of othe was obſerued from al antiquitie where they vſed to lift vp their hãds toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of trueth, and the defender thereof, and alſo the iudge of the heart, wiſhing that he ſhould take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.
d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, exod. 23. 13. pſal. 16. 4.
e Which thing declareth ſ wickedneſſe of mans heart, which iudge Gods ſeruice by their eyes and outward ſenſes.
f God had euer this reſpect to his glory, that he would not haue his name euill ſpoken of among the Gentiles for the puniſhment that his people deſerued, in confidence whereof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32. 12 Numb. 14. 13. Leuit. 18. 5. rom. 10. 5. gal. 3. 12. Exod. 20. 8. and 31. 13. deut. 5. 12. Num. 14. 28, 29. and 26. 65.
g Who might thereby take an occaſion to blaſpheme my Name, and to accuſe mee of lacke of abilitie, or els that I had ſought a meanes to deſtroy them more commodiouſly.
h That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gaue themſelues to ſerue mee according to their owne fantaſies.

of your fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernesse.

22 Neuertheles I withdrew mine hand, and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse, that I would scatter them among the heathen, & disperse them thorow the countreys, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after [k] their fathers idols.

25 Wherfore I [l] gaue them also statutes, that were not good, and iudgements wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne [m] gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the womb, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore sonne of man speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grieuously transgressed against me,

28 [n] For when I had brought them into the land, for [p] which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offrings.

29 Then I sayd vnto them, What is the high place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called [o] Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Are ye not polluted [t] after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredom after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your sonnes to passe thorow the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, sayth the Lord God, [p] I will not answere you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that be done that commeth vnto your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood and [q] stone.

33 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hande, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherin ye are scattered with a mighty hand and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the [r] wildernes of the people, & there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, sayth the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I will [s] chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shal know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, [t] Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye wil not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, sayth the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serue me: there will I accept them, and there wil I require your offrings, and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I wil accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue been scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen, 42 And ye shal know that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your waies, and all your works wherein ye haue been defiled, and ye [u] shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shal know that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my names sake, & not after your wicked waies, nor according to your corrupt works, O ye house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, & drop thy word toward [x] the South, and prophesie toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, & it shall deuour all the [y] greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame shall not bee quenched, and euery face

3 He threatneth the sword, and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 Hee sheweth the fall of king Zedekiah. 28 He is commanded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, [a] and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sworde out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the [b] righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the [c] North,

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord haue drawen my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy [d] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answere, Because [e] of the bruite: for it commeth, and every heart shall melt, and all hands shalbe weake, and all minds shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and shall be done, sayth the Lord God.

8 Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus sayth the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and furbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is furbished that it may [f] glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it contemneth the [g] rod of my sonne, as [h] all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be furbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is furbished, that he may giue it into the hand of the [i] slayer.

12 Cry, and howle, sonne of man: for this shal come to my people, and it shal come vnto all the Princes of Israel: the terrors of the sword shalbe vpon my people; [k] smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a triall, [l] and what shall this be, if the sword contemne euen the rod? It shall be no more, sayth the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and smite [m] hand to hand, & let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priuy chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah it is made bright, & it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee [n] alone: go to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whithersoeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

18 The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee [o] two wayes, that the sword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie.

21 And the King of Babel stood at the [p] parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he consulted with idols, and looked in the [q] liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortresse.

23 And it shall bee vnto them [r] as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: [s] but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because yee haue made your iniquity to be remembred, in discouering your rebellion, that in all your works your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shalbe taken with the hand.

25 And thou [t] Prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an end, 26 Thus sayeth the Lord God, I will take away the [x] diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall bee no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall bee no more, vntill he come whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 And thou sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayeth the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sworde, the sworde is drawen foorth, and furbished to the slaughter to consume, because of the glittering:

and prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the necks of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an end.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall bee in the mids of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reproued for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their vnsatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyranny of their rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MOreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus sayth the Lord God, The citie sheadeth blood in the mids of it, that her [b] time may come, and maketh idols [c] against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in [d] name, and sore in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 * In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one * hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsury & the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten mee, sayth the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue [f] smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath been in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands [g] be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy [h] filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, The house of Israel is vnto mee as [k] drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because yee are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the mids of the fornace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there [l] and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall bee melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the mids of the fornace, so shall yee bee melted in the mids thereof, and yee shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, [m] and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie [n] of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy & prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the clean, and haue hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the * mids thereof, are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her [p] prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them that should [q] make vp the hedge, and stand

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

a Meaning Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one family.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother.

3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breastes pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginitie.

b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

4 And the names of [c] them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria which was the royall citie of Israel: And Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.

5 And Aholah played the harlot ‡ when [d] she was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

6 Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom shee doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left shee her fornication, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they clay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and shee had an euill name among women: for [e] they had executed iudgement vpon her.

e The holy Ghost vseth these termes which seeme strange to chaste eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie so to be abhorred, that vnneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

11 And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, shee married her selfe with inordinate loue, more then shee, and with her fornications, more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant young men.

13 Then I saw that shee was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that shee increased her fornications: for when shee saw men [g] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermillion, f Meaning, the Assyrians.

g This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging loue and filthy lustes dote vpon the images and paintings of them after whom they lust.

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with died attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativitie.)

16 Assoone, I say, as shee saw them, shee doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them: and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and discloled her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredom more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein shee had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruants, whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the pappes of thy youth are thus:

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I wil bring them against thee on euery side,

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad nezzar.

24 Euen these shall come against thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and ‡ I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shal iudge thee according to their ‖ iudgements.

‡ Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.

‖ Or, lawes.

25 And I wil lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy [i] nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shal fall by the sword: they shall carie away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shalbe deuoured by the fire.

i They shall destroy the princes and priests with the rest of thy people.

26 They shall also strippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shal handle thee despitefully, and shal take away all thy [k] labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shall bee discouered, both thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labor.

30 I wil doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

l All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her [m] cup into thine hand.

m I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, & that with greater seuerite.

32 Thus

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt bee laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it conteineth much.

n Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great, that they should cause them to lose their senses and reason.

33 Thou shalt bee filled with [n] drunkennesse and sorrowe, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheardes thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast mee behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto mee, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah, and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their [o] meate.

o That is, to be sacrifices to their idoles, reade Chap. 16. 20.

38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and lo, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house.

40 And howe much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] far, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments, p They sent into other countreys to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

41 And satest [q] vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

q He meaneth the altar, that was prepared for the idoles.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great, were brought men of [r] Saba from the wildernesse, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

r Which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

43 Then I said vnto her that was old in adulteries, Now shall shee and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them, after the maner of [s] harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

s That is, worthy death, reade Chap. 16. 38.

46 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I wil bring a multitude vpon them, and wil giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoile, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednes to cease out of the land, that all [t] women may bee taught, not to doe after their wickednesse.

t Meaning, all other cities, and countreys.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and yee shall beare the sinnes of your idols, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel's wife being dead.

AGaine in the [a] ninth yeere, in the tenth [b] moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth came the word of the Lord vnto mee saying, a Of Ieconiahs captiuitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25. 1.

b Called Teheth, which conteineth part of December and part of Ianuarie: in the which moneth and day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Ierusalem.

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

c Whereby was meant Ierusalem.

4 Gather the [d] pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

d That is, the citizens, and the chiefe men thereof.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and ‖ burne also the [e] bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seeth the bones of it therein.

‖ Or, heape.

e Meaning, of the innocents, whom they had slaine, who were the cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, [f] whose skumme is therein, and whose skumme is not gone out of it: bring it out s piece by piece: let no [h] lot fall vpon it.

f Whose iniquities, and wicked citizens there yet remaine.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: she set it vpon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust, g Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by litle and litle.

h Spare none estate or condition.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered.

i The citie shewed her cruelnie to all the world, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, * Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make ‖ the burning great.

*Nahum. 3. 1. habak. 2. 12.

‖ Or, an heape of wood.

10 Heape on much wood: [k] kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

k Meaning, that the citie should be vtterly destroyed, and that hee would giue the enemies an appetite thereunto.

11 Then set it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that ‖ the braste of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may bee molten in it, and that the skumme of it may be consumed.

‖ Or, bottome.

12 [l] She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skumme went not out of her: therefore her skumme shall bee consumed with fire.

l The citie hath flattered her selfe in vaine.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednesse: because I would [m] haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, til I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

m I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shal come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy waies, and according to thy workes shall [n] they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

n That is, the Babylonians.

15 Also

o Meaning, his wife in whom he delited, as verse 18.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the o pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares run downe.

p For in mourning, they went bareheaded and barefooted, and also couered their lips.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and bind the tyre of thine head vpon thee, p and put on thy shooes vpon thy feet, and couer not thy lips, and eat q not the bread of men.

q That is, which the neighbours sent to them that mourned.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in r the morning, as I was commanded.

r Meaning, the morning following.

19 And the people sayd vnto mee, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will f pollute my Sanctuary, euen the t pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

f By sending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7. 22.

t Wherein you boast and delite.

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lips, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire shalbe vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feet: yee shall not mourne nor weepe, but yee shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that hee hath done, yee shall doe: and when this commeth, yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the ‡ desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, ‡ Ebr. lifting vp of their soules.

26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, & thou shalt speake and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, a Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, a Because ye reioyced when the enemie destroyed my citie and Temple.

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the b men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their c palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

b That is, to the Babylonians.

c They shall chase thee away and take thy goodly houses to dwell in.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, & hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shal do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the f Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

f Which were certaine garrisons of Philistims, whereby they oft times molested the Iewes. Of the Cherethims Dauid also had a guard, 2. Sam. 8. 18.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yere, in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Jerusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing shee is desolate, I shall be [c] replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall bee a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the field, shall bee slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings, from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shal slay with the sword the daughters in the field, and hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shal couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when hee shall enter into thy gates, as into the entry of a city that is broken downe.

11 With the hookes of his horses shall hee tread downe all thy streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the [e] pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy merchandile, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: [f] thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt bee built no more, for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall, and at the crie of the wounded, when they shall bee slaine and murthered in the middes of thee?

16 Then all the [g] princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydred garments, and shall cloth themselues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and bee astonished at euery moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [h] of the sea men, the renowmed citie which was strong in the sea, both thee and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shalbe troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people [i] of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the [k] liuing,

21 I will ‖ bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer bee found againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He propheseth a like destruction to them both.

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou b like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughs, and hot vp very hie, and his top was among the thicke boughs.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on high with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her c little riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of ‖ waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughs, and vnder his branches did all the beasts of the field bring foorth their yong, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden d of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chesnut trees were not like his boughs: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ‖ he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the e mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroied him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are f broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shalbe vpon his branches, 41 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall be exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their toppe among the thick boughs, neither shal their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the middes of the children of men, among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus saieth the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hel, I caused them to mourne, and I ‖ couered the deepe for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, & the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend to the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon; euen all that are nourished with waters, shall g bee comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadow in the midst of the heathen.

18 To whom i art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the k vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mount so high (meaning his great aboundance & pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered with sackcloth.

h To cause this destruction of the king of Assyria to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and princes, which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of such a tyrant,

i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was.

k Reade Chap. 28. 10.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 He propheseth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

AND in the a twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a b lyon of the nations, and art as ‖ dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers c and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lorde God, * I will therefore spread my nette ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open fielde, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all all the beastes of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, & fill the valleys d with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou e swimmest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall bee full of thee.

7 And when I shall f put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring g darkenesse vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreyes which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall bee terrible nations, and they shall destroy the h pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great water sides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make i their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to run like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shal make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be layed waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwel therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherwith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere also, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and k cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom doest thou passe l in beauty? go downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shal fall in the mids of them that are slaine by the sword: m she is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and al her multitude.

21 The most mighty and strong shall speake to n him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: thongh they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are layed in the mids of them that be slaine.

26 There is r Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant s of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone down to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layd their swordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall bee vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt bee broken in the mids of the vncircumcised: and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are layed by them that were slaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, & with them that goe downe to the pit.

I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their a watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, hee blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall bee vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shalbe vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away for his b iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my c mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie: but his blood will I d require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions e our sinnes be vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, e how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, f I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way & liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O yee house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The g righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fal therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that hee sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his own righteousnesse, and commit iniquity, all his righteousnesse shall bee no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe, when I shal say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if hee turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and h right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lorde is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall. Chap.18.25.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquity, hee shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, the way of the Lord is not equal. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of i our captiuity, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the k hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in the euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, vntill he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my l mouth, I was no more dumbe.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, they that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, m Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therfore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Yee eate with the n blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood: should yee then possesse the land?

26 Yee leane vpon your o swordes: yee worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shal fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall dye of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shall cease, and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe thorow.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layd the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that p talk of thee by the wals and in the doores of houses, & speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make q iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can sing well: for they heare thy words, but but they doe them not.

33 And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know that a Prophet hath beene among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheardes that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 Hee promiseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepheards of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Woe be vnto the [a] shepheards of Israel, that feede themselues: should not the shepheards feede the flockes?

3 Ye eate the [b] fat, and ye cloth you with the wool: yee kill them that are fed, but yee feede not the sheepe.

4 The [c] weake haue yee not strengthened: the sick haue ye not healed, neither haue yee bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue ye sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue yee ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were [d] deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered through all the mountaines, and vpon euery high hill: yea, my flock was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore yee shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheardes fed themselues, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore heare yee the word of the Lord, O yee shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheardes, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede themselues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flock, when hee hath beene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe, and wil deliuer them out of al places, where they haue bene scattered in [f] the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde bee: there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fat pasture shal they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the [g] strong, and I will feede them with [h] iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saieth the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good [i] pasture, but ye must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue drunk of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eat that which ye haue troden with your feete, & drinke that which yee haue troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because yee haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pusht all the weake with your hornes, till yee haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shal feed them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, hee shall feede them, and he shall be their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall [l] dwell safely in the wildernesse, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the [m] tree of the field shall yeelde her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the coardes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shall no more bee spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a [n] plant of renowme, and they shalbe no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount [a] Seir, and prophesie against it, a Where the Idumeans dwelt.

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an ende, b When by their punishment I called them from their iniquitie.

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

c Except thou repent thy former crueltie.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate, and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleys, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

d To wit, to their former estate.

10 Because thou hast said, [e] These two nations, and these two countreyes shall bee mine, and wee will possesse them (seeing the Lord was [f] there.)

e Meaning, Israel and Iudah.

f And so by fighting against Gods people, they should go about to put him out of his owne possession.

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will euen doe according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knowen among [h] them when I haue iudged thee.

g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

h Shewing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that he hath a care ouer them, and so praise his Name: and also that the wicked rage as though there were no God, till they feele his hand to their destruction.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes yee haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your words against mee: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefits done vnto the Iewes, are to bee ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deseruings. 26 God reneweth our hearts, that we may walke in his commandements.

ALso thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the * mountaines of Israel, and say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

Chap. 6. 2.

2 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Because the [a] enemie hath said against you, Aha, euen the [b] hie places of the world are ours in possession, a That is, the Idumean.

b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the world.

3 Therefore prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that yee might bee a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people, c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the world.

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleyes, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea which [d] haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despightfull mindes to cast it out for a pray.

d They appointed with themselues to haue it, and therefore came with Nebuchadnezzar against Ierusalem for this purpose.

6 Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleyes, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, & in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen, e Because you haue beene a laughing stocke vnto them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

f By making a solemne oath, reade Chap. 20 5

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are readie to come.

g God declareth his mercies and goodnesse toward his Church, who still preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.

10 And I will multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall bee inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I wil multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I will bestow benefits vpon you more then [h] at the first, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whom all these temporall deliuerances did direct them.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon [i] you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse §you, and ye shalbe their inheritance, and ye shal no more henceforth depriue them of men.

i That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem.

§ Or, thee.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou [k] land deuourest vp men, and hast beene a waster of thy people, k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying, 17 Sonne of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthineſſe of the menſtruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had ſhed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it, 19 And I ſcattered them among the heathen, and they were diſperſed throwe the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

Iſa.52.5. rom.2,24.

20 *And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted my holy Name, when they ſayd of them, Theſe are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy [l] Name, which the houſe of Iſrael had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therfore ſay vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I doe not this for your ſakes, O houſe of Iſrael, but for mine [m] holy Names ſake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will ſanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen ſhal know that I am the Lord, ſaith the Lord God, when I ſhall bee ſanctified in you before [‖] their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of al countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane [n] water vpon you, and ye ſhall bee cleane: yea, from all your filthineſſe, and from all your idoles wil I cleanſe you.

26 *A new heart alſo will I giue you, and a new ſpirit will I put within you, and I will take away the ſtonie heart out of your bodie, and I will giue you a heart of fleſh.

27 And I will put my ſpirit within you, and cauſe you to walke in my ſtatutes, and ye ſhall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And yee ſhal dwel in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will alſo deliuer you from all your filthineſſe, and I wil call for [o] corne, and wil increaſe it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I wil multiplie the fruit of the trees, and the increaſe of the field, that yee ſhall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then ſhall yee remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and ſhall iudge your ſelues worthy to haue been [p] deſtroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I doe not this for your ſakes, ſaith the Lord God: therfore, O ye houſe of Iſrael, bee aſhamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus ſayth the Lord God, What time as I ſhal haue cleanſed you from al your iniquities, I wil cauſe you to dwell in the cities, and the deſolate places ſhalbe builded.

34 And the deſolate land ſhall bee tilled, whereas it lay walte in the ſight of all that paſſed by.

35 For they ſayd, This walte land was like the garden of Eden, and theſe walte and deſolate and ruinous cities were ſtrong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the reſidue of the heathen that are left round about you, ſhal [q] know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the deſolate places: I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and wil doe it.

37 Thus ſayth the Lord God, I wil yet for this bee ſought of the houſe of Iſrael, to performe it vnto them: I wil increaſe them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ieruſalem in their ſolemne feaſtes, ſo ſhal the deſolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Hee propheſieth the bringing againe of the people being in captiuitie. 16 Hee ſheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caried mee out in the ſpirit of the Lord, and ſet me downe in the mids of the [‖] fielde, which was full of [a] bones.

2 And he led mee round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very drie.

3 And hee ſayd vnto me, Sonne of man, can theſe bones line? And I anſwered, O Lord God, thou knoweſt.

4 Againe hee ſayd vnto mee, Propheſie vpon theſe bones, and ſay vnto them, O yee drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus ſayth the Lord God vnto theſe bones, Behold, I wil cauſe breath to enter into you, and ye ſhal liue.

6 And I will lay ſinewes vpon you, and make fleſh grow vpon you, and couer you with ſkin, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I propheſied as I was commaunded: and as I propheſied, there was a noiſe, and behold, there was a ſhaking, & the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the ſinewes, and the fleſh grew vpon them, and aboue the ſkin couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then ſayd he vnto me, Propheſie vnto the winde: propheſie, Sonne of man, and ſay to the winde, Thus ſayth the Lord God, Come from the foure [b] windes, O breath, and breathe vpon theſe ſlaine, that they may liue.

10 So I propheſied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they lyued, and ſtood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he ſayd vnto me, Sonne of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael, Behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore propheſie, & ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lorde God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cauſe you to come out of your ſepulchres, and bring you into the land of Iſrael, 13 And ye ſhal know that I am the Lord, c when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your ſepulchres, c That is, when I haue brought you out of thoſe places & townes where you are captiues.

14 And ſhall put my ſpirit in you, and yee ſhall liue, and I ſhall place you in your owne land: then ſhall yee know that I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and performed it, ſayth the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe to me, ſaying, 16 Moreouer, thou ſonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Iſrael his companions: then take d another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioſeph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the houſe of Iſrael his companions.

d Which ſignifieth the ioyning together of the two houſes of Iſrael and Iudah.

17 And thou ſhalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, and they ſhall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people ſhall ſpeake vnto thee, ſaying, Wilt thou not ſhew vs what thou meaneſt by theſe?

19 Then ſhalt anſwere them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree e of Ioſeph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Iſrael his fellowes, and wil put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they ſhalbe one in mine hand.

e That is, the houſe of Iſrael.

20 And the pieces of wood whereon thou writeſt, ſhalbe in thine hand in their ſight.

21 And ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery ſide, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the lande vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, * and one king ſhalbe king to them all: and they ſhall bee no more two peoples, neither bee diuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes, Iohn 10.16.

23 Neither ſhall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their tranſgreſſions: but I will ſaue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue ſinned, and will cleanſe them: ſo ſhall they bee my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my* ſeruant ſhall be king ouer them, and they ſhall all haue one ſhepheard: they ſhall alſo walke in my iudgements, and obſerue my ſtatutes, and doe them.

Iſa.40.11. iere.23.5. chap.34.23. dan.9.24.

f Meaning, that the elect by Chriſt ſhall dwell in the heauenly Ieruſalem, which is meant by the land of Canaan.

25 And they ſhal dwell in the f land, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my ſeruat, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they ſhal dwel therein, euen they and their ſonnes, and their ſonnes ſonnes for euer, and my ſeruant Dauid ſhalbe their prince for euer.

Pſal.109 4. and 116.2.

26 Moreouer, I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it ſhalbe an euerlaſting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiplie them, and wil ſet my ſanctuary among them for euermore.

27 My Tabernacle alſo ſhall bee with them; yea, I will bee their God, and they ſhalbe my people.

28 Thus the heathen ſhall know, that I the Lord do ſanctifie Iſrael, when my Sanctuary ſhalbe among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 Hee propheſieth that Gog and Magog ſhall fight with great power againſt the people of God.
21 Their deſtruction.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt a Gog, and againſt the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal, and propheſie againſt them, a Which was a people that came of Magog the ſonne of Iapher, Gen.10.2. Magog alſo heere ſignifieth a certaine countrey, ſo that by theſe two countreys, which had the gouernment of Greecia and Italie, he meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Reuel. 20.8.

3 And ſay, Thus ſayth the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal.

4 And I wil deſtroy thee, and put hookes in thy lawes, and I will bring thee forth and all thine hoſte, both horſes, and horſemen, all clothed with all ſorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers & ſhieldes, all b handling ſwords.

b He ſheweth that the enemies ſhould bende themſelues againſt the Church, but it ſhould be to their owne deſtruction.

5 They of c Paras, of Cuſh, and Phut with them, euen all they that beare ſhield and helmet.

c The Perſians, Ethiopians, and men of Africa.

6 d Gomer and all his bandes, and the houſe of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bandes, and much people with thee.

d Gomer was Iaphets ſonne, and Togarmah the ſonne of Gomer, and are thought to bee they that inhabite Aſia minor.

7 Prepare thy ſelfe, and e make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are aſſembled vnto thee, and bee thou their ſafegard.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world ſhould aſſemble themſelues againſt the Church and Chriſt their head.

8 After many dayes thou ſhalt bee viſited: for in the latter yeeres thou ſhalt come into the land, that hath been deſtroyed with the ſword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, which haue long lien waſte: yet ‖ they haue beene brought out of the people, and they ſhal dwel all ſafe.

‖ Or, it: meaning the land of Iſrael

9 Thou ſhalt aſcend and come vp like a tempeſt, and ſhalt be like a cloud to couer the land, both thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus ſayth the Lord God, Euen at the ſame time ſhall many things come into thy minde, and thou ſhalt thinke f euill thoughts, f That is, to moleſt and deſtroy the Church.

11 And thou ſhalt ſay, I wil goe vp to the lande that hath no walled towers: g I will goe to them that are at reſt, and dwell in ſafety, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, g Meaning, Iſrael, which had now beene deſtroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the ſimplicitie of the godly, who ſeeke not ſo much to fortifie themſelues by outward force, as to depend on the prouidence and goodneſſe of God.

12 Thinking to ſpoyle the pray, & to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the deſolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwel in the middes of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarſhiſh with all the lyons thereof ſhall ſay vnto thee, h Art thou come to h One enemie ſhall enuie another, becauſe euery one ſhall thinke to haue the ſpoyle of the Church.

spoyle the pray? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to cary away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray?

14 Therefore sonne of man, prophesie, and say vnto Gog, Thus sayth the Lorde God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it,

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mighty army.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt be in the [k] latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may know me, when I [l] shalbe sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus sayth the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in old time, [m] by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the field, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be ouerthrowen, and the [n] stayres shall fall, and euery wall shal fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him [o] throughout all my mountaines, sayth the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be [*] magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his host. 17 They shall bee deuoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe Prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee [a] and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, & will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thyne arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou [b] shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds, and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the [c] Iles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lorde, the holy One of Israel.

8 Beholde, [d] it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall [e] goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, both the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forrests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shal robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog [f] a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men go toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ‖ Hamon-gog.

12 [h] And seuen monethes long shal the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land, 13 Yea, all the people of the land shal bury them, and they shall haue a name when I shalbe glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to go continually thorow the [i] land to them that trauaile, to bury those that remayne vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen monethes.

15 And the trauellers that passe thorow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall bee ‖ Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lorde God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: [k] gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice, for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaynes of Israel, that ye may eate flesh and drinke blood.

18 Yee shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the Princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fatte beastes of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eate fatte till yee be full, and i Shalt not thou spie thine occasions to come against my Church when they suspect nothing?

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the comming of Christ vnto the ende of the world.

l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36. 23. and 37. 28.

m Hereby hee declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not been aduertised aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath so ordained.

n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe, shall faile, and the affliction in those dayes shalbe so great, and the enemies destruction shalbe so terrible.

o Against the people of Gog and Magog. Chap. 36. 23. and 37. 28.

a Or, destroy thee with sixe plagues, as chap. 38. 22.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word the enemy shalbe destroyed where-soeuer he assayleth his Church.

c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsell, and cannot bee changed.

e After this destruction the Church shal haue great peace and tranquility, and burne all their weapons, because they shall no more feare the enemy: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christes kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.

g For the stinke of the carkeises.

‖ Or, the multitude of Gog.

h Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the Holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.

‖ Or, multitude.

k Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

and drinke blood, til ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, sayth the Lorde God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layd vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall know, that the house of Israel went into captiuity for their iniquity, because they trespassed against me: therfore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

‖ The heathen shall know that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakenesse of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

24 According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuity of Iaakob, & haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be iealous for mine holy Name.

26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, & gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

Chap. 36.23.

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to bee ledde into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lande, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither wil I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the Citie and the Temple.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the * beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the foureteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lorde was vpon mee, and brought mee thither.

* The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sorts: for their feasts they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstood of September.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by ‖ a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very hye mountayne, whereupon was as the building of a citie toward the South.

‖ Or, visions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, & behold, there was a * man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

* Which was an Angel in forme of a man that came to measure out this building.

4 And the man sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon al that I shall shew thee: for to the intent that they might bee shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare al that thou seest vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which lookerh towards the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖ poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and ‖ the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad.

‖ Or, threshold.
‖ Or, vpper poste.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured hee the porch of the gate of eight cubits, and the ‖ posts thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

‖ Or, pentises.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the posts had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side, and sixe cubits on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twenty cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the posts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought he mee into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against y lengths of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward ỳ East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stoode ouer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steps to goe vp to it, & the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And hee brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, & hee measured the South gate according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the posts thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Againe hee brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures, 33 And the chambers thereof, & the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After, hee brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the posts thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And ẽerie chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entry of the North gate stood two tables, & on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offring, of a cubit and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubit hie: whereupon also they laide the instruments wherewith they slewe the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastned round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offring.

44 And without the inner gate, were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And hee said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priestes that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui, which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So hee measured the court an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps wherby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things therto belonging.

AFterward, hee brought me to the Temple and measured the postes, fiue cubites broad on the one side, and fiue cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fortie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fiue cubites, and the breadth of the entry seuen cubites.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And hee said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubits round about the house on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wal made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the posts might be fastned therein, and not be fastned in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpward round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst.

8 I saw also the house hie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of sixe great cubites.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the wideneſſe of twentie cubits round about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubites long, and the separate place, and the building with the wals thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house, and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundreth cubites.

15 And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side, and on the other side an hundred cubites with the temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The posts and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made thorow all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were square, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And hee said vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims, and palme trees, like as was made vpon the wals, and there were thicke plankes vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priestes, and the holy things.

THen brought hee me to the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of tenne cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundred cubites.

9 And

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknes of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broade as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said hee vnto mee, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approch vnto the Lorde, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shal lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things which are for the people.

15 Now when they had made an end of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, & measured it round about.

16 Hee measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reed round about.

17 Hee measured also the Northside, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reed round about.

18 And he measured the South ‖ side, fiue hundreth reeds with the measuring reed.

‖ Or, winde.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reed.

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuary and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 Hee mentioneth the idolatry of the children of Israel for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward hee brought mee to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

Chap. 9. 3.

a When I propheſied the deſtruction of the citie by the Caldeans.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, euen as the vision that I sawe a when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

b Which was departed afore, Chap. 10. 4. and 11. 22.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, & brought me into the inner court, and behold the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwel among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more c defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of d their kings in their hie places.

c By their idolatries.

d He alludeth to Amon and Manasseh, who were buried in their gardens neere the Temple, and there had erected vp monuments to their idoles.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my threshols, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall between me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwel among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the ‡ description of the house, It shall bee vpon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

‡ Ebr. law.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubits: the cubite is a cubite and an hand breadth, euen the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof, round about shalbe a span: and this shalbe the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shalbe two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece shalbe foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shalbe foure cubites, and from the altar vpward shalbe foure hornes.

16 And the altar shall bee twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and foure square in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall bee fourteene cubites long, and fourteene broad in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shall bee halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall bee a cubite about, and the steps thereof shalbe turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shal make it to offer the burnt offring thereon, and to sprinckle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, and to the Leuites, that be of the seed of Zadok, which approch vnto me, to minister vnto me sayth the Lord God, a young bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure homes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offring, & burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offring, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 ¶ When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, & the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offring vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goat for a sinne offring: they shall also prepare a young bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

‡Eb. fill his hand.

26 Thus shall they leuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and ‡ consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offrings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

THen hee brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate a Meaning, from the cõmon people, but not from the Priests nor the Prince, reade Chap. 46.8,9.

shalbe a shut, & shall not be opened, & no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought hee mee toward the North gate before the house: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

‡Ebr. set thine heart.

5 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, ‡ marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the House of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the House with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie,

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to the house of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary b strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine House, when ye offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations.

b For they had brought idolaters, which were of other countreys, to teach them their idolatry, Chap. 23.40.

8 For yee haue not kept the c ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my sanctuarie.

c Ye haue not offered vnto mee according to my Law.

9 Thus sayth the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the d Leuites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

d The Leuites which had committed idolatry, were put from their dignity, and could not be receiued into the Priests office, although they had been of the house of Aaron, but must serue in the inferior offices, as to watch and to keepe the doores, reade 2. King. 23.9.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fal into iniquitie: therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to do the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priestes of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that e kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from mee, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fat and the blood, sayth the Lord God.

e Which obserued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatry.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary and shall come nere to my table to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, and no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not gird themselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there seperate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the priests and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the city, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreouer when yee shall diuide the land for inheritance, ye shal offer an oblation vnto the Lord an a holy portion of the land, fiue and twenty thousand reeds long, & ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the citie and for the Prince.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fifty cubites rounde about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twenty thousand, and the breadth of tenne thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shalbe the priestes, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which come nere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the fiue and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth, shal the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also yee shall appoynt the possession of the city fiue thousand broad, & fiue and twenty thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shalbe for the prince on the one side, & on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the city, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the city from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall bee by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall bee his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus sayth the Lord God, Let it b suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off cruelty & oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

b The Prophet sheweth that the heads must be first reformed, afore any good order can be established among the people.

10 Ye shal haue iust balances, and a true c Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equality thereof shalbe after the Homer.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantitie, saue that Ephah contained in drye things that which Bath did in liquor, Leuit. 5. 11. 1. king 5. 11. Exod. 30. 13. leuit. 27. 25. num. 3. 47.

d That is, three score shekels make a waight called Mina: for he ioyneth these three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shal offer, the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, yee shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor. (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offring, & for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, sayth the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shal giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe moones. 8 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus sayeth the Lorde God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall bee opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shall bee opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and hee shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after he shall goe forth, but the gate shall not bee shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the lande shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lorde on the Sabbathes, and in the newe moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shal offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day shall bee sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meat offring shalbe an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes * a gift of his hande, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe moone it shalbe a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ramme: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offring, euen an Ephah for a bullock, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

8 And when the prince shal enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feastes, hee that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feasts, & in the solemnities the meat offering shalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hande, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shal make a free burnt offring or peace offerings freely vnto the Lorde, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offring, & his peace offrings as he did on the Sabbath day: after he shall go forth, and when he is gone forth, one shal shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lorde of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oile, to mingle with the fine floure: this meate offering shal be continually by a perpetual ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shal they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall bee his sonnes, and it shalbe their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the [c] yere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remayne to his sonnes for them.

c Which was at the Iubile, Leuit. 25.9.

18 Moreouer, the prince shall not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45.8.

19 ¶ After, he brought me thorow the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stood toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then sayd he vnto mee, This is the place where the priests shall seethe the trespasse offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

e That the people should not haue to doe with those things which appertaine to the Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners corners of the court: and behold, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courtes ioyned of fourtie cubits long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wal about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then said he vnto mee, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The visiõ of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the land of promise, & the diuision thereof by tribes.

AFterward he brought me vnto the dooze of the house: and behold, a waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stoode towarde the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he mee out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward hee measured a thousand, and it was a b riuer that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a riuer that could not bee passed ouer.

6 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, & caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many c trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one d sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the e waters shalbe wholsome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, whereseouer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholsome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the f fishers shall stand vpon it, & from En-gedi euen vnto g En-eglaim, they shall spred out their nets: for their fish shalbe according to their kinds, as the fish of h the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But i the myrie places thereof, and the marishes thereof shall not be wholsome: they shall be made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall growe all ‖ fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuarie: and the fruite thereof shall be meate, and the leafe thereof shalbe for f medicine. ‖Or, tree for meate. ‖Or, for bruises and sores.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby yee shall inherit the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions. Gen.48.22.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as an other: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shal fall vnto you for inheritance. Gen.12.7 & 13.15. & 15.18. and 26.4. deut.34.4.

15 And this shall bee the border k of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah: k By the land of promise he signifieth the spiritual land, whereof this was a figure.

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall bee Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall bee the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall bee the East part.

19 And the Southside shall bee toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of ‖ Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman. ‖Or, strife.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man came ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, l they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel. l Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iew nor Gentile, but that al should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOw these are the names of the a tribes: From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall bee a portion for Dan. a The tribes, after that they entred into the land vnder Iosua, diuided the land somewhat otherwise then is here set foorth by this vision.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side to the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the Kingdome of Christ.
b Signifying, that the graces of God should neuer decrease, but euer abound in his Church.
c Meaning, the multitude of the that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.
d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the worlde should be ful therof, which is here meant by the Persian sea, or Genezareth, and the sea called Mediterraneum, Zech.14.8.
e The waters which of nature are salt and vnholesome, shalbe made sweete and comfortable.
f Signifying that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance the ministers shall by their preaching winne many.
g Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.
h They shall be here of all sorts, and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are bred.
i That is, the wicked & reprobate.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah, from the East part vnto the West part [b] shall bee the offering which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousand reeds broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shal be in the midst of it.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be diuided into three parts: for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lord shall bee of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests, shalbe this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shall bee in the midst thereof.

11 It shall bee for the Priests, that are sanctified of the sonnes of *Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

*Chap. 44. 15.

12 Therefore this oblatiõ of the land that is offered, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Leuites shall haue fiue & twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue & twenty thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shalbe in the midst thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousande, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

c Meaning, that it should bee square.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shall bee toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the East two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall bee ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward, and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shal be for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall bee of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall be fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousand: you shal offer this oblatio foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

d Euery way it shall be fiue and twentie thousand.

21 And the residue shall bee for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and West ward ouer against the fiue & twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against thalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the midst thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shalbe the princes: betweene the border [e] of Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shall bee the princes.

e So that Iudah was on the North side of the Princes and Leuites portions, and Beniamin on the South side.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Beniamin shall bee a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Temath, the border shall bee euen from Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, & to the [g] riuer, that runneth into the maine sea.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.

g Which was Iericho, the citie of Palme trees.

29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

h Meaning Nilus, that runneth into the sea called Mediterraneum.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and three gates, one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, & three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

Daniel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great prouidence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most liuely here set forth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians and Romans. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christs office & the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sins, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They haue the kings ordinarie appointed, 8 But they abstaine from it.

a Reade 2. King. 24. 1. and Iere. 25. 1.

IN the a third yere of the raigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto Ierusalem, and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hande, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carted into the land of b Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

3 And the king spake vnto c Ashpenaz the master of his d Eunuches, that hee should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the e Kings seede, and of the princes:

c Who was as master of the wards.

d Hee calleth them eunuches whom the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreyes afterward.

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but wel f fauoured, and instructed in all wisdome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the g learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their land: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men. f The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witty and learned, & that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might do him better seruice: this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to prayse his liberalitie: yet in this he is worthy of praise, that he esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion and country fashions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to bee thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that hee would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things. h That by their good entertainement, they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.

5 And the king appointed them prouision euery day of a h portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which he dranke, so nourishing them i three yere, that at the end thereof, they might stand k before the king.

h To the intent that in this time they might both learne the manners of the Caldeans, & also their tongue.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the eunuches l gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

k As well to serue at the table, as in other offices.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion, therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee would not m defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meat, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that hee might not defile himselfe.

m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward he did eate) but because the king should not entice him by this sweete poyson, to forget his religion and accustomed sobrietie, and that in his meate and drinke he might dayly remember of what people hee was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shewe howe God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, n I feare my lorde the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if hee see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall yee make mee lose mine head vnto the king.

n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians: and therefore herein he representeth them which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 12 Proone thy seruants, I beseech thee, o ten dayes, and let them giue vs p pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to discerne it: and thus he spake, being moued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eat daintie meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby beene wonne to the King, and haue refused their owne religion, that meat and drinke had beene accursed.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee: and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the kings meat: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of tenne dayes, their q countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the children, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and giue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning r and wisedome: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all s visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was t expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wisedome, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them ten times better then all the inchanters & astrologians, that were in all his realme.

CHAP II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchadnezzar. 13 The king commaundeth all the wise men of Babylon to bee slaine because they could not interpret his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king, and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

AND in the second yeere of the reigne of a Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed b dreames wherewith his spirit was c troubled, and his d sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians & the sorcerers, and the e Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stoode before the King.

3 And the king sayd vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the f Aramites language, O king liue for euer: shew thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the King answered, and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from mee. If ye will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shal bee drawen in pieces, & your houses shalbe made a takes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame, and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of mee gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shewe h his seruants the dreame, and we wil declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered and sayd, I know certainely that yee ‡ would game the time, because yee see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying & corrupt words, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell mee the dreame, that I may know, if yee can declare mee the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth, that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian, or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angrie and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine, and they i sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the Kings ‖chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leasure, and that hee would shewe the King the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, *The name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his.

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: hee taketh away kings: hee setteth vp kings: hee giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and a The father and the sonne were both called by this name, so that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.

b Not ‡ he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame that he had not had the like.

d He was so heauy with sleepe, that he began to sleep againe. Some read, and his sleepe was broken from him.

e For all these astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour as though all the wisedome and knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voide of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned vse to speake it: as the Iewish writers doe to this day.

g This is a iust reward of their arrogacy (which vanted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be proued fooles, and that to their perpetual shame and confusion.

h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their rags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, & so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

‡ Ebr. redeeme the time.

and vnderstanding to those th at vnderstād.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darknes, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed mee nowe the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and sayd thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and sayd, The secret which the king hath demaunded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As for [p] me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great Image: this great image whose glorie was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] gold, his brest and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighes of brasse, 33 His legs of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut k He sheweth that man hath neither wisedome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpret it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse. 13. and the rest at Daniels offer were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie, because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason & arte is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding only thereof must come of God: whereby hee smiteth the king with a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that hee might be the more apt to receiue the high mysteries that should be reueiled.

p Because he had said that God onely must reueile the significations of his dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it. and therfore he sheweth that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set foorth his glorie.

q By gold, siluer, brasse, and yron, are meant, the Caldeans, Persians, Macedonian and Romane kindome, which should successiuely rule all the world till Christ (which heere is called the stone) come himselfe and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not end with the Empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchie.

without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the gold broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the Summer flowers, and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, strength, and glorie.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art [r] this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another [r] third kingdome shall be of brasse, which shal beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in [u] pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be [x] diuided: but there shall be in it the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with [y] y seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixt with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which [z] shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest that the [a] stone was cut off the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and the gold; so r Daniel leaueth out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchie and generall Empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, the Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, and riches, but were worse, touching ambition, cruelty, and all kind of vice: shewing, that the world should grow worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brasse, not alluding to the hardnesse thereof, but the vilenesse in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane empire shall subdue these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians, and Egyptians.

x They shal haue ciuil warres, and continual discords among themselues.

y They shall by marriages and affinities, thinke to make themselues strong, yet shall they neuer bee ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shew that all the kingdomes of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without beautie to mans iudgement, but should at length growe and fil the whole earth which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse. 35. And this kingdome which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shall be eternall: for the spirit that is in them is life eternal, Rom. 8. 10.

the great God hath shewed the King what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [b] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and sayd, I know of a trueth that your [c] God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great [d] gifts. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [e] made request to the king, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the [f] gate of the king.

b Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred if hee suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.

d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuity, and also he receiued them, lest he should offend this cruel king, which willingly gaue them.

e Hee did not this for their priuat profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release and ease by this benefit.

f Meaning, that either he was a Iudge, or that hee had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The king setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the kings commandement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

[a] Vnder pretence of religion and holinesse in making an image to his idole Bel, he sought his owne ambition & vaine glory: and this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are ouercome with the greatnesse of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the king feared least the Iewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse then Gods glory.

b Shewing that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.

c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approue their religion, if the kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

NEbuchad-nezzar the king made [a] an image of golde, whose height was three score cubites, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent foorth to gather together the Nobles, the Princes and the Dukes, the Iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the [b] dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloude, Vnto it knowen to you, O people, [c] nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the midst of an hote fierie fornace.

7 Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and sayde to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that hee should be cast into the midst of an hote fierie fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, [c] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commaundement, neyther will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said vnto them, Is it of purpose? will not you, Shadrah, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 [f] Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered, and sayde to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee [g] are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Beholde, our God whom wee serue, is able b The dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

c Nations, and languages,

d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the cruelty of the punishment: for though some feared God yet the multitude which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the king required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true religion.

c It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniury to God if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, & so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatrie.

i This declareth that ỹ more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience & constancie to abide the cruelty of their punishment: for either bee deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God because of their excellency: therefore the King called this Angell, whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him foorth.

m He was mooued by the greatnesse of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we se that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be annexed, without the which there can be no faith.

a able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and he will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, be it knowen to thee, O King, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the fourme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hot fierie fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the midst of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slewe those men that brought foorth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the midst of the hote fierie fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and sayd vnto his counsellers, Did not wee cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered, and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And hee answered, and sayd, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the fourme of the fourth is like the [k] Sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the High God, goe foorth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego [l] came foorth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies; for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherfore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, [m] Blessed bee the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angell, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commaundement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any God, saue their owne God.

29 Therfore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any [o] blaspheme against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall bee drawen in peeces, and their houses shall be made a takes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwel in all the [p] world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the high God hath wrought towards me.

33 How great are his signes, and howe mightie are his wonders! his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

m If this heathen king mooued by Gods spirit would not see blaspheme vnpunished, but made a law, and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, to take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment. o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended. p Read Chap. 2. 44.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king he should become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

NEbuchad-nezzar being at [a] rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Sawe a [b] dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I told the dreame, but [c] they could not shew me the interpretation thereof,

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was [d] Beltesshazzar, according to the name of my God, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I told the dreame, saying,

6 O Beltesshazzar, [e] chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth ther, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I sawe a [f] tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height therof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the field, and the a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came only of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which hee saw of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it meant: and here he onely expounded the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel, not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God. e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet, to be numbred among the sorcerers, and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a king, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head, vpon my bed, and behold, a ſ watchman, and an holy one came downe from heauen,

11 And cried aloud, and ſayd thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: ſhake off his leaues, and ſcatter his fruit, that the beaſts may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheleſſe leaue the ſtumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe bin le it among the graſſe of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beaſts among the graſſe of the field.

13 h Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beaſts heart be giuen vnto him, and let ſeuen times be paſſed ouer him.

14 i The ſentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was anſwered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the moſt High hath power ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomſoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the moſt abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue ſeene: therefore thou, O Belteſhazzar, declare the interpretation therof: for all the wiſe men of my kingdome are not able to ſhew me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whoſe name was Belteſhazzar) held his k peace by the ſpace of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the king ſpake and ſaid, Belteſhazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteſhazzar anſwered, and ſaid, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation therof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou ſaweſt, which was great and mighty, whoſe height reached vnto the heauen, and the ſight thereof throughout all the world,

18 Whoſe leaues were faire and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beaſtes of the field dwelt, and vpon whoſe branches the foules of the heauen did ſit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatneſſe is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king ſaw a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, and ſaid, Hewe downe the tree, and deſtroy it, yet leaue the ſtumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe bind it among the graſſe of the field, and let it bee wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beaſtes of the field, l till ſeuen times paſſe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the moſt High, which is come vpon my lord the King, 22 That they ſhall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe as the m oxen, and they ſhall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and ſeuen times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, till thou know, that n the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomſoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they ſaid, that one ſhould leaue the ſtumpe of the tree rootes, the kingdome ſhall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou ſhalt know that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counſell be acceptable vnto thee, and o breake off thy ſinnes by righteouſnes, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there be an p healing of thine errour.

25 All theſe things ſhall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue q moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king ſpake and ſayd, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the houſe of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maieſtie?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, ſaying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it ſpoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they ſhall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſtes of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe, as the oxen, and ſeuen times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, vntill thou knoweſt, that the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomſoeuer he will.

30 The very ſame houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate graſſe as the oxen, and his bodie was wet with the dew of heauen, till his haires were growen as Egles feathers, and his nayles like birds clawes.

31 And at the end of theſe r dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderſtanding was reſtored vnto me, and I gaue thankes vnto the moſt High, and I praiſed and honoured him that liueth for euer, * whoſe power is an euerlaſting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: & according to his ſ will he worketh in the army of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: & none can ſtay his hand, nor ſay vnto him, What doeſt thou?

33 At the ſame time was mine vnderſtanding reſtored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beauty was reſtored vnto mee, and my counſellers t and my princes ſought vnto me, and I was eſtabliſhed in my kingdome, and my glorie was augmented toward me.

34 Nowe therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar to ſtand content therewith, and giue him the glory, ſeemeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The sooth sayers called of the king cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slaine. 31 Darius inioyeth the kingdome.

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Balthazzar Euilmerodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgemẽts against the wicked, for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophesie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuenty yeeres.

KIng a Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thousand.

b The kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemy, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banquet, and vsed excesse in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

2 And Belshazzar ‖ whiles hee tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his c father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine and praysed the d gods of gold and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

d In contempt of the true God they praised their idoles, not that they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and powet in them to do them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer e against the candlesticke vpon the playster of the wall of the kings palace, & the king sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

e That it might the better be seene.

6 Then the Kings countenaunce was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his f knees smote one against another.

f So he that before contemned God, was mooued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.

7 Wherefore the King cryed aloude, that they shoulde bring g the Astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the king spake and sayde to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall bee clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Now the h Queene by reason of the talke of the king and his princes, came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchadnezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisedome like the wisedome of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad nezzar thy father the king, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the i Inchanters, Astrologians, Caldeans, and Sooth sayers, i Reade Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iurie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee that k the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdome is found in thee.

k For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie, and vnderstanding came of them.

15 Now therefore, wise men, and Astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they should reade this writting, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst read the writting, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of gold about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the king, Keepe thy rewardes to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, the most High God gaue vnto l Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour and glory.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be mooued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

19 And for the maiesty that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: hee put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom hee would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, & his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till he knew that the most High God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer hee pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

23 But

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, & they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and golde, of braſſe, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand, and the God in whose hande thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 m Then was the palme of the hande sent from him, & hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, n MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar, they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chayne of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius o of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore & two yeere old.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

n This word is twise written for the certainty of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

‖ Or, wanting.

o Cyrus his sonne in lawe gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made rul r ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He u put into a den of lions by the commandement of the King. 23 He u deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome a an hundreth and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernors might giue accompts vnto them, and the King ‖ should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel b was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and gouernours c sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then sayd these men, Wee shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the king, and sayd thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, and dukes haue counted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius d sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel vnderstoode that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his e window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any God or man within thirty dayes, saue to thee, O king, shall be cast into the denne of lions? The king answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayde vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and sayd vnto the king, Vnderstand, O king, that the Lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be f altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musicke brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, hee cryed with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and a Reade Esther Chap. 1. 1.

‖ Or, not be troubled.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiar, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedy then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the king, who would be let vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when hee prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people, whe they should pray toward that Temple, and also that other might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

f Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancie and authoritie, which is oft times either lightnesse, or stubbornnesse, when as the innocents thereby perish, and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

and the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whome thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then sayd Daniel vnto the king, O king, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angell, and hath shut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt me: for my h iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O king, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commaunded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because hee k beleeued in his God.

24 And by the commaundement of the king, these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were l cast into the den of lions, euen they, their children, & their wiues: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the den.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble & feare m before the God of Daniel: for he is the n liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.

27 He rescueth & deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h My iust cause and vprightnesse in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandement, to obey God, and so did no iniury to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God should be dishonoured.

k Because he committed himselfe wholly vnto God, whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33.

l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which do against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in euery poynt, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

m This prooueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for then he would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatry, & not only giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certayne confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the only fountayne of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beastes u shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

a In the first yere of Belshazzar king of Babel Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: a then he wrote the dreame, & declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake, and sayde, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon b the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a c lion, and had egles wings: I beheld, til the wings thereof were pluckt off, & it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a d beare, and stood vpon the e one side: and hee had three ribbes in his f mouth betweene his teeth, & they sayd thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a h leopard, which had vpon his backe i foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and k dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I sawe in the visions by night, and beholde, the l fourth beast was fearefull, and terrible, and very strong. It had great m yron teeth: it deuoured, and brake in pieces, and stamped n the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had o tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little p horne, before whom there were q three of a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnesse after these seuenty yeres, as Jeremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encourageth them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered and reuealed, by whome they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certayne token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world, in all corners of the world, and at sundry times.

c Meaning, the Assyrian and Caldean Empire, which was most strong and fierce in power and most soone come to their authority, as though they had had wings to fly: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning the Persians, which were barbarous and cruel.

e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines and had no bruit.

f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, & was insatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commaundement, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the world.

h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonia.

i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire among thē after his death Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus ỹ lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was king of Macedony, and Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of himselfe, nor of his owne power, that hee gate al these countries: for his army conteined but thirty thousand men, and he ouercame in one battel Darius, which had tenne hundred thousand, when he was so heauy with sleepe, that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

l That is, the Romane Empire, which was as a monster, and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.

m Signifying the tyranny and greedinesse of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly inioyin other coūtries, they would giue it to other kings and rulers that all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberality is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete.

o That is, sundry & diuers prouinces, which were gouerned by the Deputies and Proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King.

p Which is meant of Iulius Cæsar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula Claudius and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot bee applied vnto them. And also in this prophesie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was plucke away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chusing the Deputies to send into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernment of certaine countreys to himselfe.

the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde, in this horne were r eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the s thrones were set vp, and the t Ancient of daies did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hatre of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousande thousandes ministred vnto him, and ten thousande u thousandes stoode before him: the iudgement was set, and the x bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, y because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slayne, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As z concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, behold, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him,

14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, & a kingdome, that all people, nations, and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shal neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was d troubled in my spirite in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine heade made mee afrayd.

16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them that stoode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the f kingdome of the Saints of the g most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so h vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, & of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose i looke was more stout then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same i horne made battel against the Saints, yea, and preuayled against them, 22 Until k the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he sayd, The fourth beast shalbe the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shal be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, & shal tread it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall rise: & another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue l three kings,

25 And shall speake words against m the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, & thinke that he may n change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand, vntill a o time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the p iudgement shal sit, and they shal take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the q kingdome, and dominion, r These Romane Emperors at the first vsed a certaine humanity, and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls and Senate should beare the name of dignity, so that they might haue the profit, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies & those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

s Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgment should beginne at the first comming of Christ.

t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commaundement. x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reuealed by his Gospell. y Meaning, that hee was astonyed when hee saw these Emperours in such dignity and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchy was subiect to men of other nations. z As the three former Monarchies had an ende, at the time that God appoynted, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appoyntment, shall enioy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as hee was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinity. b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine Maiesty appeared, that all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne here his Church in earth continually, till the time that hee brought them to eternall life. d Through the strangenesse of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

f Because Abraham was appoynted heire of all the world, Rom. 4.13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.

g That is, of the most hie things, because God hath chosen them out of this world that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three monarchies were gouerned by a king, and the Romane Empire by consuls: the Romans changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other monarchies reteined them for terme of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues. i Reade verse 7. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning, the Romane Emperors, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, & by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteined a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Reade the exposition hereof verse 8. o That is, shal make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods word, and send thorowout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it. p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c. q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length hee will asswage these troubles, and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matth. 24.22. which is here meant by the diuiding of time. r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s Hee sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which although they doe not fully inioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, Vnder the heauens: and therefore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this world, which kingdom the faithful haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

and the greatnes of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and all [c] powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many [u] cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

[c] That is, some of euery sort that beare rule.

[u] Though hee had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet hee was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memory, and wrote it for the vse of the church.

CHAP VIII.

1 A vision of a battell bet weene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, [a] after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince [b] of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold there stood before the riuer a [c] ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was [d] higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no [e] beastes might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what hee listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, [f] a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an [g] horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he [h] smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [k] appeared towarde the foure winds of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a [l] little horne, which waxed very great towarde the [m] South, and toward the [n] East, and toward the [o] pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grewe vp vnto the [p] hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the grounde, and trode vpon them,

11 And extolled himselfe against [q] the prince of the hoste from whom the [r] daily sacrifice was taken away, & the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And [s] a time shall bee giuen him ouer the daily sacrifice for the iniquity: and it shall [t] cast downe the trueth to the ground, & thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the [u] Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, & the iniquity of the [x] desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the [y] army vnder foote?

14 And he [z] answered me, Vnto the [a] euening, and the morning, two thousand & three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie bee cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me [b] like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Ulai, which called and sayd, Gabriel, [c] make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, & fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for [d] in the last time shalbe the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, & set me vp in my place.

19 And he sayd, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last [e] wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goat is the king of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shal stand vp [f] of that nation, but not [g] in his strength.

23 And in the ende of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of [h] fierce countenance, and vnderstanding

[a] After the generall vision he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the monarchy of the Persians and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

[b] That is, of Persia.

[c] Which represented the kingdome of the Persians and Medes which were ioyned together.

[d] Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle & father in law.

[e] That is, no kings or nations.

[f] Meaning, Alexander that came frō Grecia with great speed and expedition.

[g] Though hee came in ỹ name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignity of the generall captaine, so that the strēgth was attributed to him which is meant by this horne.

[h] Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundry battels, & so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.

[i] Alexanders great power was broken: for whē he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia, to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

[k] That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yere, there were fifteen diuers successors before this monarchy was diuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolemeus Egypt.

[l] Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, and also there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therfore is here called ỹ little horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdome.

[m] That is, toward Egypt.

[n] Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais.

[o] That is, Iudea.

[p] Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious starres vnder feet, which are so called because they are separated from the world.

[q] That is, God who gouerneth and maintaineth his Church.

[r] He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to haue his Name there truely called vpon.

[s] He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

[t] This horne shal abolish for a time the true doctrine, and so corrupt Gods seruice.

[u] Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whom he calleth a certaine one, or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

[x] That is, the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

[y] That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people.

[z] Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church.

[a] That is, vntil so many natural dayes be past, which make sixe yeeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

[b] Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the olde fathers how he would be God manifested in flesh.

[c] This power to commaund the Angel declared that he was God.

[d] The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after.

[e] Meaning that great rage, which Antiochus should shew against the Church.

[f] That is, out of Grecia.

[g] They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.

[h] Noting that this Antiochus was impudent, and cruell, and also craftie, that he could not be deceiued.

darke darke sentences shall stand vp.

24 And his power shall bee mighty, but not in his i strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper and practise, and shall destroy the k mighty, and the holy people.

25 And through his l policie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, & hee shall extoll himselfe in his heart, & by m peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the n Prince of princes, but he shal be broken downe • without hand.

26 And the vision of the euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shalbe after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke q certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings businesse, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

i That is, not like Alexanders strength.
k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.
l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shal bring it to passe.
m That is, vnder pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.
n Meaning, against God.
o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church, 2. Mac. 9. 9. p Reade verse 14.
q For feare and astonishment.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the return of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoũdeth vnto him the vision of the seuenty weekes. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of a Ahashuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the b realme of the Caldeans,

2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by c bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lorde had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that hee would accomplish seuenty yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, & d sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lorde God, which art e great & fearefull, and keepest couenant & mercie toward them which loue † thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

5 Wee haue sinned, and haue committed iniquity and haue done wickedly, yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For we would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lorde, f righteousnesse belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs † open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreyes whither thou hast driuen them because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lorde, vnto vs appertayneth open shame, to our g Kings, to our Princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forginenes is in the Lorde our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.

10 For wee haue not obeyed the h voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had layd before vs by the ministery of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the i curse is powred vpon vs, & the othe that is written in the Lawe of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that ‖ iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not beene the like, as hath beene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord † made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lorde our God is righteous in all his workes which hee doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 * And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowme, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy k righteousneſſe, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem & thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to l shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the m Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne n righteousnes, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord o conlider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy city, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the a Who was also called Astyages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about wars in other countries, and therefore Darius had y title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was king in effect.
c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he dayly increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He speaketh not of that ordinary prayer, which he vsed in his house thrise a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, least their sinnes should cause God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophesied by Ieremiah.
e That is, hast all power in thy selfe to execute thy terrible iudgemẽts against obstinate sinners, as thou art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee. †Ebr. him.
f He sheweth that whensoeuer God punisheth, hee doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in themselues there is iust cause why he should so intreat them. †Ebr. confusion of face.

g Hee doeth not excuse the kings because of their authority, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occasions of these great plagues.
h He sheweth that they rebel against God, which serue him not according to his commandement and word.
i As Deut. 27. 15. or the curse confirmed by an othe.
‖ Or, gouerned vs.

† Ebr. watched vpon the euill. Exod. 14. 28. baruc. 2. 11.
k That is, according to all thy mercifull promises and the performance thereof.
l Shew thy selfe fauourable.
m That is, for thy Christs sake in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers.
n Declaring, that the godly flee only vnto Gods mercies, and renounce their owne workes when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.
o Thus he could not content himselfe with any vehemencie of wordes: for he was so led with a feruent zeale cõsidering Gods promise, made to the citie in respect of his Church, and for the aduancement of Gods glory.

Chap. 8. 16.

p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophesie, who prophesied that their captiuity should be seuenty yeres: but now Gods mercy should seuen fold exceede his iudgement which should bee foure hundred & ninety yeres, euen to the comming of Christ, and so then it should cõtinue for euer.

q Meaning, Daniels nation, ouer whom hee was carefull.

r To shew mercy, & to put sin out of remembrance.

s That is, from the time ỹ Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.

t These weekes make 49. yeeres, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and 3. to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting from the sixt yeere of Darius who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434. yeeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple, vnto the baptisme of Christ. ‡ Ebr. in streights of time.

x In this last weeke of the seuenty, shall Christ come and preach and suffer death.

y He shall seeme to haue no beauty, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa. 53. 2.

z Meaning, Titus, Vespasians sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouery.

a By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, & after to the Gentiles.

b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.

c Meaning that Ierusalem and the sanctuary should bee vterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: or as some read, that the plagues shalbe so great, that they shall all bee astonied at them.

the holy mountaine of my God,

21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with mee, and sayde, O Daniel, I am nowe come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commaundement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuenty p weeks are determined vpon q thy people, and vpon thine holy citie to finish the wickednes, & to seale vp the sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquity, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnes, and to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the going r forth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shal be seuen s weeks, and t threescore and two weeks, and the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in a ‡ troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two x weeks, shall Messiah bee slaine, and shall y haue nothing, & the people of z the prince that shall come, shal destroy the citie and the Sanctuary, & the end therof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the end of the battel it shal be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he shall a confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice & the oblation to b ceasse, c & for the ouerspreading of the abominations, hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11 which sheweth him wherfore he is sent.

a He noteth this third yere because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made war in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

IN the a third yeere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the worde was true, but the time appointed was b long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time, I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoynt my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the c first moneth, as I was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man d clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of * Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his words was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, & saw this great visiõ, and there remained no strength in mee: for my ‡ strength was turned in mee into corruption, and I reteined no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his words, and when I heard the voyce of his words, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand e touched mee which set mee vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of my hands, 11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had said this word vnto mee, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the f prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood me one and twenty dayes: but loe, g Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Nowe I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the h vision is for many dayes.

15 And when hee spake these words vnto mee, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and saide vnto him that stood before mee, O my Lord, m by the vision my sorrowes are returned vpon me, and I haue reteined no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such a one? for as for mee, straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

c Called Abib which cõtaineth part of March, & part of April.

d Being caried by the spirit of prophesie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophesie that followeth. Iere. 10. 9.

‡ The word also signifieth comelinesse or beauty, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformity.

f Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maiesty of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

g Meaning, Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not onely for this space hinder the building of the Tẽple, but would haue further raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore haue I stayed for the profite of the Church.

h Though God could by one Angel destroy al the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, hee sendeth foorth double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the cõming of Christ for the comfort of his church.

l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was ouercome with feare and sorrow, when I saw the vision.

n He declareth hereby that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel.

o Which declareth ỹ when God smiteth down his children, he doth not immediatly lift thē vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by little and little.

p Meaning, ỹ hee would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, 19 And sayde, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: n peace be vnto thee: bee strong and of good courage. And when hee had spoken vnto me, o I was strengthened, and saide, Let my Lorde speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherfore I am come vnto thee? but now will I return to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the p prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shewe thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: q and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

1 A prophesie of the kingdoms which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing hee appointed him to assist Darius when hee ouercame the Caldeans.

ALso I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I a stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shewe thee the trueth. Behold, there shal stand vp yet b three kings in Persia, and the fourth shalbe farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shal stir vp c all against the realme of Grecia.

b Whereof Cambyses that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, ỹ third Darius the son of Hystaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to ỹ people of God, and stood against thē.

3 But a d mighty king shall stande vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

c For he raised vp all the East countries to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his army nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels hee was discomfited and fled away with shame.

4 And when he shal stand vp, e his kingdome shalbe broken, f and shalbe diuided toward the g foure windes of heauen: & not to his h posterity, nor according to i his dominiō, which hee ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euē to be for others besides k those.

d That is, Alexander the great.

5 And the King of the South shall bee mighty, & one of l his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shalbe a great dominion.

e For when his estate was most flourishing he ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poisoned by Cassander.

f For his twelue chiefe princes first diuided his kingdom among themselues.

g After this his monarchy was diuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, & Ptolemeus Egypt.

h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition & cruelty, in causing his posterity to be murthered, partly of ỹ fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another.

i None of these foure shalbe able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

k That is, his posterity hauing no part therof.

l To wit, Ptolemeus king of Egypt.

6 And in the end of yeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the kings m daughter of the South shal come to the king of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not retaine the power of the n arme, neither shal he continue, nor his o arme: but she shall be deliuered to death, & they that brought her, and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

m That is, Alexander the great.

7 But out of the budde of her p rootes shall one stande vp in his stead, q which shall come with an armye, and shall enter into the fortresse of the king of the North, and doe with them as hee list, and shall preuaile, n Meaning, ỹ hee would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia.

o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after, Berenice and her yong sonne alter her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but putaway for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus, nor Antiochus.

q Some reade seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

8 And shall also cary captiues into Egypt their gods with their moulten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue r moe yeeres then the king of the North.

r Some reade, shee that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this mariage, were destroyed.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his s sonnes shalbe stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great army: and one t shall come and ouerflow, and passe thorow: then shal u he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succeede in the kingdome, being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

11 And the King of the South shall bee angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for hee shall set forth a great x multitude, and the multitude shall bee giuen into his hand.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

12 Then the multitude shall bee proude, and their heart shall bee lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but hee shal not still preuaile.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned fiue and fourtie yeeres.

13 For the king of the North y shall returne, & shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeres) with a mighty armie, and great riches.

x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make warre against Ptolemeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus.

14 And at the same time there shall z many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy a people shall exalt themselues to stablish the vision, but they shall fall.

y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine whiles the warres were preparing.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall b not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

z That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt.

a For Antiochus had sixe thousande horsemen, and threescore thousande footemen.

16 But hee that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stand ab After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heyre.

c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them.

d For vnder Onias which falsly alledged that place of Isaiah 19.19. certayne of the Iewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophesie: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsell of God.

e The Egyptians were not able to resist Stopas Antiochus captaine.

f Hee sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter, in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loue her husband, as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the sea called Mediterraneum: for ẏ Iewes called all countries yles, which were diuided from them by sea.

against him: and he shall stand in the [1] pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Againe he shall [s] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he do, and he shall giue him the [h] daughter of women, to destroy [i] her: but [k] she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the [l] yles, and shall take many: but a prince [m] shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon [n] himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of his [o] owne land: but he shalbe ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more [p] found.

20 [q] Then shall stand vp in his place in the glory of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after few dayes hee shall bee destroyed, neither in [r] wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a [t] vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, & obteine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the [u] armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of [x] the couenant.

23 And after [x] the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a [y] small people.

24 He shal enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers [z] haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall diuide among them the prey and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuices against the strong holdes, euen for a [a] time.

25 Also he shall stir vp his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great army, and ẏ king of the South shall bee stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not [b] stand:

for they shall forecast and practise against him.

29 Yea, they that feede of the portion of [c] his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie [d] shall ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall bee to doe [e] mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auaile: for [f] yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his lande with great [g] substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he do and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shal returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships [h] of Chittim shall come against him: [i] therefore he shalbe sory and returne, and fret against the holy couenant: so shall hee doe, he shall euen returne: [k] and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes [l] shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie [m] of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly [n] breake the couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among [o] the people, shall instruct many: [p] yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuity and by spoyle, many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a [q] little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them [r] fainedly.

35 And some of them [s] of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, tell the time bee out: for there is a time appointed.

m For whereas Antiochus was woont to contemne the Romanes, & put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, & caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsel.

o For feare of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodonæus, the countrey men slew him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeed his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battell, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell, and flattering nature, & defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t Hee sheweth that great forraine powers shall come to helpe the yong sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthrowen.

u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because hee was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell, Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For he came vpon him at vnawares, and when he suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a Hee will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b Hee shalbe ouercome with treason.

ing ẏ all things are done by Gods prouidence.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassador appointed him to depart in the Romans name: to which thing hee obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage, hee came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shal forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the hie Priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus.

l So called because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, & so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God in Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse: for they sold their soules and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

m They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

n Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

o As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet will he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof hee here prophesieth p That is, there shall bee euen of this small number, many hypocrites.

q That is, there shall bee euen of this small number, many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them that feare God, and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey.

c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his soulders shall burst out and venture their liues to slay and to be slaine for the safegard of their prince.

e The vncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shal imagine mischiefe one against an other.

f Signifying that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot doe what they list themselues.

f Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchie o the Romanes, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shall prevaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but hee sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romans shall observe no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall chãge their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them, & preferte themselues to their gods.

x Signifying, that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2 Sam. 1.26

y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods, and worship it. z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall inrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that herby all men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shallat length fight against the Ronanes, but they shalbe ouercome. c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they should see the Romans inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, & therfore he would stil preserue them. d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antonius discomfited. e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost. f the Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreyes, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

36 And the t king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall hee regard the u God of his fathers, nor the desires x of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the y god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not shall hee honour with z gold and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the a holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall encrease his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the king of the b South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde, with charets, and with horsemen, and with many shippes, and hee shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe thorow.

41 Hee shall enter also into the c pleasant land, and many countreys shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hande, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch foorth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libranes, and of the blacke Moores where he shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall d trouble him: therefore hee shall goe forth e with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles f of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his ende, and none shall helpe him.

A Nd at that g time shal Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall bee a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there beganne to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shalbe deliuered, euery one that shalbe found written in the booke.

2 And many h of them ỹ sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, & some to shame & perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be i wise, shall shine, as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that k turne many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, l shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke m till the ende of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the n riuer, & the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one said vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shal be the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when hee held vp his o right hand & his left hand vnto heauen, & sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tary for a p time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished q to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shalbe finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he said, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the ende of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the r daily sacrifice shalbe taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there s shall be a thousand two hundreth and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is hee that waiteth and commeth to the thousand three hundreth and t fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But goe u thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great affliction and trouble at Christs comming, & next that God will send his Angel to deliuer it, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by ỹ preaching of the Gospel.

b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because the faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure comfort.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion.

d Hee chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, & next all ỹ faithfull which instruct ỹ ignorãt and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure.

f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things, and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obteine now by the light of the Gospel.

g Which was Tigris. h Which was as it were a double other, and did the more confirme the thing. i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should haue an end. k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power. l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the law. m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred. n In this number he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

Hosea.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtil counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commaunded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grewe euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperity was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah and Michaiah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away the kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuenty yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetenesse of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part hee directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whome onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Lawe containe these two poynts, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly, both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ the head of all people.

THE worde of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of [a] Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah [b] kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the son of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lord sayd vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So he went, and tooke [d] Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that [g] day will I also breake the bow of Israel, in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God sayd vnto him, Call her name [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vtterly [i] take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will [k] saue them by the Lorde their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when shee had weined Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued and bare a sonne.

9 Then sayd God, Call his name [l] Loammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the [m] children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot bee measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Yee are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be [n] gathered together, and appoynt themselues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper, was deposed from his kingdome.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached aboue three score yeeres.
c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatry of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.
d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figges, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figges.
e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2. Kings 10 8, 11.
f I will bee reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that hee shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet hee did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for hee built vp that Idolatry, which he had destroyed.
g When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.
h That is, not obteining mercy: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauor was departed from them.
i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.
k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra. 1. 1.
l That is, not my people.
m Because they thought that God could not haue bene true in his promise except he had preserued them, hee declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom 9. 26.
n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.
o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your [a] brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Pleade with your [b] mother: pleade a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercie.

b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that hee forsooke them, Isa 50. 1.

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries c from betweene her breasts,

3 d Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was e borne, and make her as a wilderneſſe, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children; for they be the f children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for shee said, I will goe after my g louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I will stoppe h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not find her paths.

7 Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not find them: then shall shee say, i I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now shee did not know that I k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore I will returne, & take away l my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent to couer her shame.

10 And now will I discouer her m lewdneſſe in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to ceaſe, her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines, and her fig trees, whereof shee hath sayd, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forrest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

13 And I will visit vpon her the daies n of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked herselfe with her o earerings and her iewels, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore, behold, I will p allure her, and bring her into the wilderneſſe, & speake friendly vnto her,

15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley q of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall r sing there as in the dayes of her youth, & as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me s Ishi, and shalt call me no more t Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall bee no more remembred by their u names.

18 And in that day will I make a couenant for them, with the x wilde beasts, and with the fowles of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth, & I will breake the bow and the sword and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to lie safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto mee in righteouſneſſe, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compaſſion.

20 I will euen marry thee vnto mee in y faithfulnes, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare z the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Iezreel.

23 And I will sow her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercy vpon her, that was not pitied, & I will say vnto them which were not my people, * Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shall be cast off for their idolatry. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to me, a Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and b loued the wine bottels.

2 So c I bought her to mee for fifteene pieces of siluer, & for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with d me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shal e remaine many dayes without a king, and without a f prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and g Dauid their King, and shal feare the Lord, and his goodneſſe in the latter dayes.

c Meaning that their idolatrie was so great that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.25.

d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he hath left them with their apparel & dowry & certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, hee would vtterly destroy them.

e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4.

f That is, bastards, & begotten in adultery.

g Meaning, the idoles which they serued and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

h I will punish thee, that then thou mayest try whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such straitneſſe, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

i This he speaketh of the faithfull which are truely conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profit of Gods rods.

k This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honour, when they attribute his benefites to their idoles.

l Signifying that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them.

m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies, and inuentions, whereby she worshipped her idoles.

n I will punish her for her idolatry.

o By shewing how harlots trimme themselues to please others, hee declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on their holy dayes.

p By my benefits in offering her grace & mercy, euen in that place where she shall thinke herselfe destitute of all helpe and comfort.

q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderneſſe, as Iosh 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing frō death, and an entry into life.

r She shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.

t That is, my master: which name was applyed to their idoles.

u No idolatry shall once come into their mouth but they shall serue me purely according to my word.

x Meaning, that he will so bleſſe them, that all creatures shall fauour them.

y With a couenant that neuer shalbe broken.

z Then shall the heauen desire raine for y earth which shal bring forth for the vse of man. Rom 9.25. 1.Pet.2.10.

a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before hee called her, and did not withdraw the same when she gaue herselfe to idoles.

b That is, gaue themselues wholly to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennesse.

c Yet I loued her, and payed a small portion for her, leſt she abused mee and were but halfe the a long time as in perceiuing the greatneſſe of my loue, should haue not been vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of siluer price of a slaue, Exod. 21.32.

d I will trie thee thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ.

f That is, they should neither haue policie nor Religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, should be destroyed.

g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psalme 72.17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the priests of Israel.

Heare

HEare the word of the Lord, yee children of Israel: for the Lord [a] hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and [b] blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shalbe taken away.

4 Yet [c] let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the [d] day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy [e] mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because [f] thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to mee: and seeing [g] thou hast forgotten the Lawe of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were [h] increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 [i] They eate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their minds in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall bee like people, like [k] Priest: for I will visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue enough: they shall [l] commit adulterie, & shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 [m] Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine, take away their heart.

12 My [n] people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the [o] spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hils vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadowe thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be [p] harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not [q] visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet [r] let not Iudah sinne: come not yee vnto [s] Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to [t] Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a [u] lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim [x] is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their [y] drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, [x] Bring ye.

19 The winde hath [y] bound them vp in her wings, and they shall bee ashamed of their sacrifices.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement seat of God against whom they chiefly offended, Isa. 7. 13. Micah. 6. 1, 2. Zech. 12. 10.

b In euery place appeareth a libertie to most heinous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another.

c As though he would say, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophets and Priests whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye shall perish all together: the one, because he would not obey, and the other because he would not admonish.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.

f That is, the Priests shall be cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut 33. 3. Mal. 2. 7.

g Meaning, the whole body of the people which were weary with hearing the word of God.

h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.

i To wit, the Priests seeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their sinnes.

k Signifying that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.

l Shewing that their wickednesse shalbe punished on all sorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shall be deceiued of their hope.

m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like bruit beasts.

n Thus bee speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stockes and stickes.

o They are caried away with a rage.

p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lustes, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1. 28.

q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendement, but let you run headlong to your owne damnation.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet [r] let not Iudah sinne: come not yee vnto [s] Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to [t] Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a [u] lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim [x] is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their [y] drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, [x] Bring ye.

19 The winde hath [y] bound them vp in her wings, and they shall bee ashamed of their sacrifices.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne by their example to returne in time.

s For albeit the Lord had honored this place in times past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, hee would not that his people should resort thither.

t Hee calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.

u God will so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place.

x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them.

y To carry them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priestes and rulers of Israel.
13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

OYe Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue yee eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue beene a [a] snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to [b] slaughter, though I haue bene a [c] rebuker of them all.

3 I know [d] Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the midst of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the [e] pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel & Ephraim fall into their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullocks to seeke the Lord: but they shall not find him: for hee hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten [f] strange children: nowe shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shawme in Ramah: crye out at Beth-auen, after thee, O [h] Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to [i] know the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that [k] remoue the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in a The Priests and Princes catched the poore people in their snares, as the foulers did the birds, in these two hie mountaines.

b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holines, and sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning their contemning of all admonitions.

f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lordes plagues should pursue them from place to place, till they were destroyed.

i By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this.

k They haue turned vpside downe all politicall order, and all maner of religion.

iudgement, because he willingly walked after the [1] commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto [m] Ashur, and sent vnto king [n] Iareb: yet could hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will bee vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall relcue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

COme, and let vs [a] returne to the Lord: for hee hath spoyled, and hee will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and hee will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will [b] hee reuiue vs, and in the third day hee will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall wee haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I entreate thee? for [c] your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and [e] thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired [f] mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like [g] men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues wait for a man, so the companie of Priestes murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene villanie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

1 To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God.

m In stead of seeking for remedy at Gods hand.

n Who was king of the Assyrians.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord that he might call backe his plagues.

b Though hee correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to haue a certaine holinesse, and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloud.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment: but all was in vaine: for my word was not meate to feede them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.

f Hee sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weake persons.

h Which was the place where the Priestes dwelt, and which should haue beene best instructed in my word.

i That is, doth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wanionnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the [a] thiefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them aboue: they are in my sight.

3 They make the [b] king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the [d] day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] deuoured their Iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and hee knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet hee knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they goe to Ashur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I wil chastise them as their [i] congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cried vnto me with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds: [m] they assemble themselues for corne and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound, and strengthened their armes, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shall bee their derision in the land of Egypt.

a Meaning, that there was not one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.

b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.

c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raised.

d They vsed all ryot and excesse in their feasts and solemnities, whereby their king was ouercome with surfeit, and brought into diseases, and delighted in flatteries.

e By their occasion God hath depriued them of all good rulers.

f That is, he counterfeiteth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other: that is, neither through hot nor through colde, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

h That is, without all iudgment, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.

i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.

k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.

l When they were in affliction, and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.

m They only seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for mee their God.

n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psal. 73. 9.

a God encourageth the Prophet to signifie the speedy comming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.

SEt the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an Egle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall [b] cry vnto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a [c] king, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long wil they be without [d] innocencie!

6 [e] For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall bee broken in pieces.

7 For they haue [f] sowen the wind, & they shal reape the whirlewind: it hath no stalke: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if so bee it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shal they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Assur: they are as a [g] wild asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little, for the [h] burthen of the king, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offrings, and eate it: but [k] the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shal deuoure the palaces thereof.

b They shall crie like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.

c That is, Ieroboam by whom they sought their owne liberty, and not to obey my will.

d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.

e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wildernesse.

f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but vanitie.

g They neuer cease, but ruu to and fro to seeke helpe.

h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.

i Thus the idolaters count the word of God is strange in respect of their owne inuentions.

k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

a For although all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatry in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled, Ier 44.17.

REioyce not, O Israel, for ioy, [a] as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued [b] a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 [c] The flooze, & the winepresse shall not feed them, & the new wine shall fayle in her.

3 They wil not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Assur.

4 They shall not offer [d] wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall bee vnto them as the breade of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall be polluted: for their bread [e] for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What wil ye doe [f] then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from [g] destruction: but Egypt shal gather them vp, & Memphis shall bury them: the nettle shal possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: [h] the prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] should be with my God: but the prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the house of his God.

9 They [k] are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like [l] grapes in the wildernes: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figtree at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to [m] their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth [n] and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet will I depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lorde, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a [p] barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in [q] Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the deerest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

c The meate offering which they offered for themselues.

d When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shall be the most grieuous point of your captiuity, when you shall see your selues cut off from God.

e Though they thinke to escape by flying the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

f Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who chalenged to themselues to be their Prophets & spirituall men.

g The Prophets duetie is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

h This people is so rooted in their wickednes, that Gibeah which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19. 22.

i Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delited in them.

k They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idols.

l Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little & little.

m As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserue them from the cold a te of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now will I giue him to the slaughter.

n The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.

o The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

CHAP. X.

ISrael is an [a] emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the [b] goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is [c] diuided: now shal they be found faulty: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, Wee haue no [d] king because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king do to vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsly in making a [e] couenant: thus [f] iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall [g] feare because of the calfe of Beth auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the [h] Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shal receiue shame, & Israel shalbe ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed as the fome vpon the water.

8 The hie places also of [i] Auen shalbe destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shal say to the mountaines, *Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs.

9 ¶ O Israel, thou hast [k] sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they [l] stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not [m] touch them.

10 It is my desire [n] that I should chastise them, and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two [o] furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delight [p] in threshing: but I will passe by her [q] faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iaakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnesse: reape after the measure of mercy: [r] breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousnesse vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquity: you haue eaten [s] the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine own waies, & in the multitude of thy strong men,

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall bee destroyed, as [t] Shalman destroyed Betharbel in the day of battell. the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth el do vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lorde toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel [a] was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but [b] they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords [c] of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layd the meat vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Asshur shall be his [d] king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though [e] they called them to the most High, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 [f] How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as [g] Admah? how shall I set thee as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: [h] my repentings are rolled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim, for I am God, and not man, the Holie one in the mids of thee, and I will not enter into the city.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a lyon: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare

11 [k] They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue out of the land of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth [l] with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

a Wherof though the grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered newe strength, it encreased new wickednesse, so that the correction which should haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their stubbornnes.

b As they were rich and had abundance.

c To wit, from God.

d The day shall come that God shall take away their king, and then they shall feele the fruit of their sinnes and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17. 6, 7.

e In promising to be faithfull toward God.

f Thus their integrity and fidelity which they pretended, was nothing but bitternesse and griefe.

g When the calfe shall be caried away.

h Chemarims were certain idolatrous priests which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices and cried with a loude voyce: which superstition Eliiah derided, 1. King. 18. 27. reade 2. Kin. 23. 5.

i This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4. 15. Isa 2. 19. luk. 23. 30. reuel 6. 16. and 9. 6.

k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deeds were as wicked as theirs.

l To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remained in their stubbornnesse from that time.

m The Israelites were not moued by their example to cease from their sinnes.

n Because they are so desperate, I will deliuer to destroy them.

o That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together.

p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and paine.

q I will laye my yoke vpon her fat necke.

r Read Ierem. 4. 4.

s That is, Shalmanazzar in the destruction of that citie spared neither kind nor age.

a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.

b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.

c That is, friendly and not as beasts or slaues.

d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse, they shall be led captiue into Assiria.

e To wit, the Prophets.

f God considereth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe, how to punish them.

g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29. 23.

h Meaning, that his loue wherewith he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to do: and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his shall ouercome his iudgements, as he declareth in the next verse.

i To consume thee, but will cause thee to yeeld and so receiue thee to mercy: and this is meant of the small number who shall walke after the Lord k The Egyptians and Assyrians shall bee afraide when the Lord maintaineth his people.

l Gouerneth their estate according to Gods word, and doth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

He admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God and not in man.

EPhraim is fed [a] with the wind, and followeth after the East wind: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Asshur, and [b] oyle is carried into Egypt.

2 The Lorde hath also a controuersie with [c] Iudah, and will visit Iaakob, according to his waies: according to his workes will he recompense him.

a That is, flattereth himself with vain confidence.

b Meaning, presents to get friendship.

c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had d power with God,

4 And had e power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is g Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand, he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, h that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in i the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue spoken also by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, & vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.

11 Is there k iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 l And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a m Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with bie places: therefore shall his blood bee powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

e Reade Gen. 32.28.

f God found Iakob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el. Gen. 28.12. and so spake with him there, that the fruit of that speech appertained to the whole bodie of the people, whereof we are.

g As for Ephraim, he is more like the wicked Canaanites, then godly Abraham or Iaakob.

h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reproue their doings.

i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwel in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest nowe contemne. k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead that holy place, and yet the Prophet saith, that all their religion was but vanitie. l If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, yee seeme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitiue and seruant. m Meaning Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And cause of their destruction.

a He sheweth the excellencie and authoritie that this tribe had aboue all the rest.

b Hee made a king of his tribe

c The Ephraimites are not farre from destruction, and haue lost their authoritie.

d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and hee sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kisse and worship these calues which were their idoles.

WHen Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: he b exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, c and is dead.

2 And nowe they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a d man, Let them kisse the calues.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lorde thy God e from the lande of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but mee: for there is no Sauiour beside mee.

5 I did know thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meete them as a Beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lyon: the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one f hath destroyed thee, but in me is thy helpe.

10 g I am: where is thy king, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy Iudges of whom thou saydest, Giue me a king, and princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is h bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, euen at the i breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O k death, I will bee thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: l repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though hee grow vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lorde shall come vp from the wilderneſſe, and ~~shall~~ dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shall bee dryed vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

e He calleth them to repentance, and reproueth their ingratitude.

f Thy destruction is certaine, & my benefits toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatrie and vaine confidence in men must needes be the cause thereof.

g I am all one, Iames 1.17.

h It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Iere. 17.1.

i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger, wherein he is, and not tarie to be stifeled.

k Meaning, that no power shal resist God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death will he giue them life.

l Because they will not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth prayse and thankes.

SAmaria shall be desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall bee dashed in peeces, and their women with childe shall be ript.

2 O Israel, a returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, b Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our c lips.

4 Asshur shall d not saue vs: neither will wee ride vpon horses: neither will wee say any more to the worke of our hands, Yee are our Gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 e I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will bee as the dewe vnto Israel: hee shall growe as the lillie, and fasten his a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoide all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

b He sheweth them, how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

c Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithfull can offer, euen thankes and praise Heb. 13.15.

d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride.

e Hee declareth how ready God is to receiue them that doe repent.

rootes as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beautie shalbe as the olive tree, and his smel as Lebanon.

f Whosoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shall be blessed.

8 They that dwell vnder his f shadow shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shal be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon mee is thy fruite found.

g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, whē they repent, and to offer himself as a protection and safegard vnto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profit.

10 Who is h wise, & he shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and hee shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

h Signifying, that the true wisdom and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

Ioel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine remaine stil obstinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew dayly to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and procede from the heart, because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A propheſie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lorde that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

a Signifying, the Princes, the Priests, and the gouernours.

2 Heare yee this, O a Elders, and hearken, all yee inhabitants of the land, whether b such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements who had now plagued the fruites of the ground for the space of foure yeeres, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shewe to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake yee c drunkardes, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse and drunkennesse, was taken away.

6 For, d a nation commeth vpon my land, mightie, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the iawes of a great lyon.

d This was an other plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the e husband of her youth.

e Mourne grieuously as a woman which hath lost her husband, to whom shee hath bene married in her youth.

9 The meate offring, and the drinke offring is f cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, in so much as Gods seruice was left off.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed, & the newe wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Bee yee ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheat, and for the barley, because the harueste of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the fig tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

g All comfort and substance for nourishment is taken away.

13 h Gird your selues and lament, yee Priestes, howle yee ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoid Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored, is vnfeined repentance.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and crie vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the i day of the Lord is at hand, & it commeth as a destruction from the Almightie.

i We see by these great plagues that vtter destruction is at hand.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 Howe did the beastes mourne? the heards of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field crie also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the k fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse.

k That is, drought.

CHAP. II.

He propheſieth of the comming and cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLowe a the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

a He sheweth the great iudgements of God which are at hand, except they repent.

2 A b day of darkenesse, and of blackenesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountaines, so is there a c great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeres of many generations.

b Of affliction and trouble.

c Meaning, the Assyrians.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the lande is as the garden of d Eden before him, & behind him a desolate wildernesse, so that nothing shall escape him.

d The enemy destroyeth our plentifull countrey, where so he commeth.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, & like the horsmen, so shal they run.

5 Like the noise of charets in the toppes of the mountaynes shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shal the people tremble: all faces e shall gather blacknesse.

e They shall bee pale and blacke for feare, as Nahum 2.10.

7 They shal run like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall go forward in his waies, and they shall not stay in their paths.

f For none shall be able to resist them.

8 Neither shall one f thrust another, but euery one shal walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sworde, they shall not bee wounded.

g Reade verses 2.31. and isa. 13.10. ezek. 32.7. chap. 3.15. mat. 24.29.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the city: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

h The Lord shall stirre vp the Assyrians to execute his iudgements. Ier. 30 7 amos 5. 18. zeph. 1.15.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shall bee darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

i Mortifie your affections, and serue God with purenes of heart, and not with ceremonies.

11 And the Lord shall h vtter his voice before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strong that doth his word: *for the day of the Lorde is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

k He speaketh this to stirre vp their slouthfulnes, and not that he doubted of Gods mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, reade Ier. 18.8.

12 Therefore also now the Lorde sayeth, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

l That as al haue sinned, so all may shew forth signes of their repentance, that men seeing the children which are not free frō Gods wrath, might be the more liuely touched with the consideration of their owne sinnes. Psal. 79.10.

13 And i rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repenteth him of the euill.

m If they repent, he sheweth that God will preserue and defend them with a most ardent affection.

14 Who knoweth, if he will k returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the Congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the l children, & those that sucke the breastes: let the bridegroome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lorde, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathe should rule ouer them. *Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

n That is, the Assyrians your enemies.

18 Then will the Lord bee m ielous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answere, & say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you corne and wine, and oyle, and you shal be satisfied therwith: and I wil no more make you a reproch among the heathen.

20 But I will remoue farre off from you the n Northren armie, and I will drine him into a lande, barren and desolate, with his face toward the o East sea, and his ende to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because hee hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

o Called the salt sea, or Persian sea: meaning, that though his armie were so great, that it filled all from this sea to the sea called Mediterraneum, yet he would scatter them.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Bee not afraid, yee beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wildernes are greene: for the tree beareth her frute: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

p That is, such as should come by iust measure, and as was woont to be sent when God was reconciled with them. Leuit. 26 4. deut. 11.14.

23 Be glad then ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of p righteousnes, * and he wil cause to come down for you the raine, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

q That is, in greater abundance, & more generally then in time past: & this was fulfilled vnder Christ, when as Gods graces, and his Spirit vnder the Gospel was abundantly giuen to the Church, Isa. 44.3. act. 2.17. ioh. 7.38, 39.

24 And the barnes shall be ful of wheate, and the presses shal abound with wine & oile.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worm and the caterpiller, and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eate and be satisfied, and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Yee shall also knowe that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward wil I powre out q my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shal prophelie: your old men shall dreame r dreames, and your yong men shall see visions.

r As they had visions & dreames in olde time, so shall they now haue clearer reuelations.

29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I wil shew s wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

s He warneth the faithfull what terrible things should come, to the intent that they should not looke for continuall quietnesse in this world, and yet in all these troubles he would preserue them.

31 The t sunne shalbe turned into darknesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

t The order of nature shal seeme to be changed for the horible afflictions that shall bee in the world. Isa 13.10. ezek. 32.7. chap. 3.15. matth. 24.29.

32 But whosoeuer shal call u on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion and in Ierusalem, shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath sayd, and in the x remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

u Gods iudgements are for the destruction of the infidels, and to moouue the godly to call vpon the Name of God, who will giue them saluation.

x Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10.13.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

FOr behold, in a those dayes, and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem, a When I shall deliuer my Church, which standeth of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the b valley of b It appeareth that hee alludeth to that great victorie of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20.26. also hee hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

Iehoshaphat,

Iehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue cast lots for my people, & haue giuen the childe for the harlot, & sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Sidon, and all the coasts of Palestina? will yee render me a recompense? and if yee recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompense vpon your head:

5 For yee haue taken my siluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they shall sel them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all yee heathen, and gather your selues together round about: there shal the Lord cast downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen bee wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge al the heathen round about.

13 Put in your sithes, for the haruest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the wine presses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne & moone shalbe darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voice from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall yee know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then shall Ierusalem bee holy, and there shall no strangers go thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe new wine, and the hilles shall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall run with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the house of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall bee waste, and Edom shalbe a desolate wildernesse, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent bloud in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their bloud, that I haue not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

c That which the enemie gate for the sale of my people, he bestowed vpon harlots and drinke.

d He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemie, as though the iniurie were done to himselfe.

e Haue I done you wrong that yee will render me the like?

f For afterward God sold them by Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.

g When I shall execute my iudgments against mine enemies, I will cause euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another for my Church sake.

h Thus he shall encourage the enemies, when their wickednesse is full ripe, to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

i God assureth his against all troubles, that when hee destroyeth his enemies, his children shall be deliuered.

k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they doe, it is the people which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemie.

l He promiseth to his Church abundance of graces, read Ezekiel 47.1. which should water and comfort the most barren places, Amos 9.13.

m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace. n He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthinesse, but nowe promiseth to cleanse them and to make them pure vnto him.

Amos.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednesse and idolatrie, he stirred vp Amos, who was an herdman or shepherd of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reproue al estates & degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally he comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfect deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 6 the Philistims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THE wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen a at Tecoa, which he saw vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of b Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel, two yere before the c earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheardes shall perish, and the toppe of d Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus sayeth the Lord, For e three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue f threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the g palaces of Ben-hadad.

a Which was a towne fixe miles from Ierusalem in Iudea, but he prophesied in Israel.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Israel did most flourish.

c Which, as Iosephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vsurped the Priests office, and therefore was smitten with the leprosie.

d Whatsoeuer is fruitful and pleasant in Israel shall shortly perish.

e He sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroyed for their manifold sinnes: which are meant by three and foure which make seuen, because the Israelites should the more deepely consider Gods iudgements toward them.

f If the Syrians shall not bee spared for committing this cruelties against one citie, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment, which hath committed so many and grieuous sinnes against God and man.

g The antiquitie of their buildings shall not auoid my iudgements, reade Ierem. 49.27.

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto h Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they i caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore I will send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the k brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword: and did ‡ cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him l alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they m haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewind.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, hee and his princes together, saith the Lord.

h Tiglath Pileser led the Syrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

i They ioyned themselues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

k For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admonished the of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred.

l He was a continuall enemie vnto him.

m He noteth the great crueltie of the Ammonites, that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the household of Abraham.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

THus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the a bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kirioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the Iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, b I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandements, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore I will send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of c Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for silver, & the poore for d shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore in the e dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maid to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes layd to pledge f by euery altar: and they g drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the h Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorow the wildernesse, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and i of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

13 Behold, I am k pressed vnder you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the l swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty saue his life.

15 Nor hee that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and hee that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mighty courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

a For the Moabites were so cruel against the King of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead, which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge, were thus punished, Iudah, which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

e When they haue spoyled him and throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednesse.

g They spoyle others and offer therof vnto God, thinking that hee will dispense with them, when hee is made partaker of their iniquitie.

h The destruction of their enemies, & his mercie toward them, should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

i Yee contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.

k You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1.14.

l None shall be deliuered by any meanes.

CHAP. III.

He reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude, 11 for the which God will punish them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You a onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be b agreed?

4 Will a c lion roare in the forrest, when he hath no pray? or will a lyons whelpe cry out of his den if he haue taken nothing?

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me

b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth and mooueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

5 [d] Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the [e] snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or [f] shall a trumpet bee blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or shall there [g] bee euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lorde God will doe nothing, but he [h] reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? The Lord God hath spoken: who can but [i] prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at [k] Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to do right, saith the Lord: they store vp violence, and robberie [l] in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersarie shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.

12 Thus saieth the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh [m] out of the mouth of the Lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in [n] Damascus, as in a couch.

13 Heare and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shalbe broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I wil smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, saith the Lord.

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?

e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraid?

g Doeth any aduersitie come without Gods appoyntment? Isa. 45.7.

h God dealeth not with the Israelites as hee doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues, by his Prophets.

i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit mooued them so to speak as they did.

k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians to be witnesses of Gods iudgments against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

l The fruit of their crueltie & theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses. m When the Lion hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge, or a tip of an eare, to shewe that the sheepe haue bene woried. n Where they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue bene in safety.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this worde yee [a] kine of Bashan, that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, & destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, [b] Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holinesse, that loe the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with [c] thornes and your posteritie with fishhooks.

3 And yee shall goe out at the breaches, euery kowe forward: and yee shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beasts and not of men.

b They encourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them so that they may haue profite by it. c Hee alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.

4 Come to [d] Beth el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three [e] yeeres.

5 And offer a thanksgiuing [f] of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this [g] liketh you, O yee children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you [h] cleannesse of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three [i] monethes to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie, to drinke water, but they were [k] not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyardes, and your figge trees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of [l] Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: and haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord, 11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodome and Gomorah: and yee were as a [m] firebrand pluckt out of the burning, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to [n] meet thy God, O Israel.

13 For lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the high places of the earth, the Lorde God of hostes is his Name.

d He speaketh this in contempt of them which reserted to these places, thinking that their great deuotiō & good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them.

e Reade Deut. 14.28.

f As Leuit. 7.13.

g You onely delite in these outward ceremonies and haue none other respect.

h That is, lacke of bread and meate.

i I stayed ȳ raine til the fruits of the earth were destroyed with drouth, and yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.

k They could not finde water ynough where they had heard say it had rained.

l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod 9.10.

m You were almost all consumed, and a few of you wonderfully preserued, 2. King. 14.26.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The [a] virgine Israel is fallen, and shal no more rise: she is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an [b] hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into [c] Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall liue, lest he a He so calleth them, because they so boasted of themselues, or because they were giuen to wantonnesse and daintinesse.

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saued.

c In these places they worshipped new idoles which aforetime serued for the true honour of God: therefore he saith that these shall not saue them.

breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph, and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne [d] iudgement to wormewood, & leaue off righteousnes in the earth.

8 He [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day dark as night: he calleth the waters out of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lorde is his name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mighty: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him, [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and [g] ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I knowe your manifolde transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflicte the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore [h] the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euil, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hosts shalbe with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill & loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hosts will be merciful vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord sayeth thus: Mourning shall be in all streetes: and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: & they shal call the [i] husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shalbe lamentation: for I will passe thorow thee, sayth the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that [k] desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darknesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lorde bee darknesse, and not light? euen darknes and no light in it.

21 I hate & abhorre your feast daies, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though you offer me burnt offerings and meat offerings, [l] I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melody of thy viols.)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as [m] waters, & righteousnes as a mighty riuer.

25 Haue ye offred vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness fortie yeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne [n] Siccuth your king, & Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues, 27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captiuity beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hosts.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel liuing in pleasure.

WOe to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: bee [c] they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their lands greater then your border,

3 Yee that put farre away the [d] euill day, and approch to the seat of iniquity?

4 They lye vpon beds of yuory, & stretch themselues vpon their beddes, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselues instrumentes of musicke like [e] Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoynt themselues with the chiefe oyntments, but no man is [f] sory for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and [g] the sorrow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand.

8 [h] The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre [i] the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vncle [k] shal take him vp and burne him to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him that is by the [l] sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, [m] None. Then shall he say, Hold thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses [n] runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite a The Prophet threatneth the wealthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Cananites: and seeing before time they did nothing auaile them that were there borne, why should you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions.

c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse, then yours are yet, thinke you to be better, or to escape?

d Ye that continue still in your wickednesse and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your selues to all idlenesse, wantonnesse and ryot.

d In stead of iudgement and equity, they execute cruelty and oppression.

e He describeth the power of God, Iob 9.9.

f They hate the Prophets, which reproue them in the open assemblies.

g Ye take both his money and also his foode wherewith he should liue.

h God wil so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouthes to admonish them of their faults.

i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

k Thus hee speaketh because the wicked & hypocrites sayd they were content to abide Gods iudgments, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30.7. ioel. 2. 2, 11. zeph. 1. 15.

l Because ye haue corrupted my true seruice and remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1. 11. ierem. 6. 20.

m Doe your dutie to God and to your neighbour, and so ye shall feele his grace plentifully, if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods word.

n That idole which you esteemed as your king, and caried about as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinity.

e As he caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lustes.

f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slayne, and caryed away captiue.

g Some reade, the ioy of them that stretch themselues shall depart.

h Reade Ierem. 51. 14.

i That is, the riches and pompe.

k The destruction shalbe so great, that none almost shal bee left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to cary out the burnt ashes with more ease.

l That is, to some neighbour that dwelleth rounde about.

m They shall be so astonied at this destruction, that they shall no more boast of the name of God, and that they are his people: but they shalbe dumbe when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate.

h Hee compareth them to barren rockes whereupon it is in vayne to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefits can haue no place among them.

fruit of righteousnesse into o wormewood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue we not gotten vs p hornes by our owne strength?

14 But beholde, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord God of hoste: and they shal afflict you, from the entring in of q Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

p That is, power and glory.

q From one corner of the countrey to another.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby hee signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His crafty counsell.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and behold, he formed a grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth b after the kings mowing.

a To deuoure the land: and he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, when the Kings sheepe were shorne.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayd, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It shal not be, saith the Lord.

c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire: d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

d Meaning, that Gods indignatiō was inflamed against the stubburnnesse of this people.

5 Then sayd I, O Lorde God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe hee shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line e with a line in his hand.

e Signifying, that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would deferre his iudgement no longer.

8 And the Lord saide vnto mee, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A line. Then sayde the Lord, Beholde, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Isaak shalbe desolate, f the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: and I wil rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

f That is, when Amos had prophesied that the King should be destroyed: for this wicked priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet, then for loue toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemn him, wheras none other could take place.

10 ¶ g Then Amaziah h Priest of Bethel, sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the lande is not able to beare all his words.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the king, he assayed by another practise: that was, to feare the Prophet, that hee might depart, and not reproue their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profit.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shal die by the sword, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also i Amaziah sayd vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappel, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no k Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinarie vocation, that God hath giuen him a charge which hee must needs execute.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord sayd vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou saist, Prophesie not against Israel, and speak nothing against the house of Isaak.

17 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, l Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt dye in a polluted lande, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuity foorth of his land.

i Thus God vsed to approue the authority of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against the which were malicious enemies, Ier. 28.12. & 29. 21,25. as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lorde sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, f behold, a basket of summer frutt.

2 And hee sayd, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayde, A basket of summer a frutt. Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more

3 And the songes of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, sayeth the Lord God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with b silence.

5 Saying, When will the d new moneth be gone, that wee may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, and make the Ephah smal, and the shekel great, and falsifie the waights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needy for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I wil neuer forget any of their works.

8 Shal not the land tremble for this? and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shalbe cast out, and g drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, sayeth the Lord God, I wil euen cause the sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, & all your songs into lamentatiō: and I will bring sackecloth vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dates come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shal wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shal they run to and fro to seeke the h word of the Lord, and shall not find it.

e That is, the measure smal, and the price great.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall bee drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

g In the mids of their prosperity I will send great affliction.

h Whereby he sheweth that they shal not only perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word, which is the food thereof.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple, 2 and against Israel. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Saw the Lord standing vpon the a altar, and he said, Smite the lintell of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the b heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: & he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they bee hid from my sight in the bottome of the Sea, thence will I commaund the c serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I commaund the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein, shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 Hee buildeth his d spheres in the heauen, & hath layd the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are yee not as the Ethiopians e vnto mee, O children of Israel, sayeth the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from f Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel. b Both the chiefe of them and also the common people.

c He sheweth ỹ God will declare himselfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them. d He declareth by the wonderfull power of God, by the making of the heauens, and the elements, that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth. e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or blacke Moores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefits.

f Read Ierem. 47.4.

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheless I will not vtterly g destroy the house of Iaakob, sayth the Lord.

9 For loe, I will commaund, and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the h least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the i tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I wil raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of old,

12 That they may possesse the remnant of k Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayth the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lorde, that the plowman shall l touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall m droppe sweet wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof, they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

15 And n I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more bee pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, sayth the Lord thy God.

g Though he destroy the rebellious multitude, yet he wil euer reserue the remnant his Church to call vpon his Name. h Meaning, that none of his should perish in his wrath. i I will send the Messiah promised, and restore by him the spirituall Israel, Actes 15. 16. k Meaning, that the very enemies, as were the Edomites and others, should be ioyned with the Iewes in one societie & body, whereof Christ should be the head. l Signifying, that there shall be great plentie of all things, so that when one kind of fruit is ripe, another. should follow, & euery one in course, Leuit. 26.5. m Read Ioel 3. 18. n The accomplishment hereof is vnder Christ, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer bee pulled, after they are once graffed therein.

¶ Obadiah.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alwayes to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob: and therfore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kinds of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and misery, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, hwich he had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus sayeth the Lorde God against Edom, a Wee haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and b let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The c pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the egle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 d Came theeues to thee or robbers by night?

a God hath certainely reueled to his Prophets that hee will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumor is now published, Iere. 49. 14. b Thus the heathen encourage themselues to rise against Edom. c Which despiseth all other in respect of thy selfe, & yet are but an handfull in comparison of others, and art shut vp among the hils as separate from the rest of the world. d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but till they haue enough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them, Ierem. 49.9.

night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stollen, till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

6 Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie e haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shal not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afrayd, because euery one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy g brother Iaakob, shame shal couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest h on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made i a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde handes on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stoode in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shutte vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day k of the Lord is neere vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue l drunke vpon mine holy mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall bee m as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall bee holy, and the houle of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions.

18 And the house of Iaakob shall bee a n fire, and the houle of Ioseph a flame, and the houle of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the houle of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the o mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they q that shall saue, shal come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

e They in whom thou didst trust, for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shall be thine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friendes & ghests haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharpely punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom now hee comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nabuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, and haddst part of the spoile, and so diddest reioyce, when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied & holpen thy brother.

i When the Lorde depriued them of their former dignitie, & gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

k When hee will summon all the heathen, & send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shall bee vtterly destroyed, and yet in despight of all the enemies, I will reserue my Church, and restore it.

n God attributeth this power to consume his enemies to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. hebr. 12. 29.

o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lordes of all things by him which is their head.

p By the Canaanites, the Iewes meane the Dutch men, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

q Meaning that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen Ionah had long propheſied in Iſrael, & had little profited, God gaue him expreſſe charge to goe & denounce his iudgements againſt Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Aſſyrians, becauſe hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, ſhould conuert by the mighty power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Iſrael might ſee how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the ſpace of ſo many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for ſo many Prophets, and ſo diligent preaching. He propheſied vnder Ioaſh & Ieroboam, as 2. Kings 14 25.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein hee would haue assisted him.

g As one that would haue cast off this care and solicitude by seeking rest and quietnesse.

h As they had called on their idoles: which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seeke they cannot tell to whom.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremitie and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that ỹ very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shead mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God by whom they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare, and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word.

m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was enioyned him.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the Sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the Shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, [g] What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy [h] God, if so be that God wil thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they said euery one to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast [i] lots, that we may knowe, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? & whence commest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because hee had told them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the Sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know, that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, [k] We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, & the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men [l] feared the Lorde exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Nowe the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the [m] belly of the fish three dates and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God [a] out of the fishes belly,

2 And saide, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly [b] of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the mids of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I sayd, I am [c] cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe towarde thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my [d] life from the pit, O Lorde my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembred the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that wait vpon lying [e] vanities forsake their owne [f] mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

a Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedy to escape, his faith brast out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

b For he was now in the fishes belly, as in a graue or place of darkenesse.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gate the victory.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all these dangers, as it were raising mee from death to life.

e They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.

f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnesse which they should else receiue of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto [a] Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a [b] great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a [c] dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh [d] beleeued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsel of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor [e] beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sacke-a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiueth him againe & sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmitie.

b Reade Chap. 1.2.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumbe beastes had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

cloth, and f cry mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent & turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God sawe their h workes that they turned from their euill wayes: & i God repented of the euill that he had said, that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

f He willed, that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie.

g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conscience he doubted whether God would shew them mercy.

h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceed of faith, which God had planted by the ministery of his Prophet.

i Reade Iere. 18.8.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God which he preached should be blasphemed.

b Reade Chap. 1.3.

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might bee blasphemed, as though hee sent his Prophets foorth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.

d Wilt thou be iudge when I do things for my glory, and when I doe not?

THerefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lorde, take, I beseech thee, my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be d angry?

5 So Ionah went out of the citie, & sate on the East side of the city, and there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadow e till he might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a f gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day: and it smote the gourd that it withered.

8 And when the Sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the Sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for mee to die, then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Ionah, Doest thou wel to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I doe well to be g angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, 11 And shoulde h not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are fiue score thousand persons, that i cannot discerne betweene their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattell?

e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourtie dayes he departed out of the city, looking what issue God would send.

f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heat of the Sunne, as he remained in his boothe.

g This declareth the great inconueniences where into Gods seruants doe fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and doe not in all things willingly submit themselues to God.

h Thus God mercifully reproueth him which would pitie himselfe and this gourd, and yet would restraine God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people.

i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

¶ Micah.

THE ARGVMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah, serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirtie yeeres, at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatry. And to this end he noteth the wickednesse of the people, the cruelty of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he setteth foorth the comming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab, and all his false prophets, as 1. King. 22.8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatry.

THE word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the a Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which hee sawe concerning Samaria and Ierusalem.

2 Heare, b all yee people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnesse against you, euen the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lorde commeth out of his place, and will come c down, and tread vpon the hie places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleane) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednesse of Iaakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? and which are the hie e places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shal be broken, and all the f gifts thereof shall be burnt a Borne in Mareshah a citie of Iudah.

b Because of the malice and obstinacie of the people whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoned them to Gods Iudgements, taking all creatures and God himselfe to witnesse, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shalbe reuenged.

c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holds.

d Samaria which should haue bene an example to all Israel of true religion and iustice, was the puddle and stewes of all idolatry and corruption, and boasted themselues of their father Iaakob.

e That is, the idolatrie & infection.

f Which they gathered by euill practises, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their seruice vnto them.

burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I destroy: for the gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne s to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore will I mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I wil make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yee it not at h Gath, neither weepe ye: for the houle of i Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at k Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: the that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie shall l receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the m gate of Ierusalem.

13 D thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beastes n of vnice: the o is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Morasheth p Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an q heire vnto thee, D inhabitant of Mareshah, hee shall come vnto Adullam, r the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the egle: for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

g The gaine that came by their idols, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

h Lest the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction.

i Which was a citie neere to Ierusalem, Iosh. 18. 23. there called Ophrah, & signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themselues in the dust, for their dustie citie.

k These were cities whereby the enemie should passe as he came to Iudah.

l He shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a cord by lot, in the c congregation of the Lord.

6 d They that prophesied, Prophesie ye not. e They shall not prophecie to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 D thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortned? f are these his workes? are not my workes good vnto him s that walketh vprightly?

8 But hee that was h yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemie: they spoyle the i beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away k my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your l rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.

11 If a man m walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, n I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen be the Prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather o thee wholly, D Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the middes of their folde: the cities shall bee full of braue men.

13 The p breaker vp shall come before them: they shall breake out and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be q vpon their heads.

m Ye shall haue no more lands to diuide, as you had in times past, and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.

d Thus the people warne ỹ Prophets that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.

e God saith that they shall not prophesie, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.

f Are these your workes according to his law?

g Doe not the godly finde my words comfortable?

h That is, afore-time.

i The poore can haue no commoditie by them, but they spoyle them as though they were enemies.

k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were part of his glorie.

l Ierusalem shall not be your safegard, but the cause of your destruction.

m That is, shew himselfe to bee a Prophet.

n Hee sheweth what Prophets they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.

o To destroy thee.

p The enemie shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea.

q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and daintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WOe vnto them that imagine iniquity, and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: a when the morning is light they practise it, because their hand t hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, & houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saieth the Lord, Behold, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, wherefrom yee shall not plucke your necks, and ye shal not goe so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, b Wee bee vtterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath hee taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

a Assoone as they rise, they execute their wicked deuices of the night and according to their power hurt other.

t Ebr. ù in power.

b Thus the Iewes lament, and say, that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are diuided among the enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophets.

AND I said, Heare, I pray you, D heads of Iaakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: Should not yee knowe a iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skins from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the b flesh of my people, and flay off their skinne from them, and they breake their bones, and choppe them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then c shall they crie vnto the Lord, but hee will not heare them: hee will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their works.

a That thing which is iust and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, and also to discharge your owne conscience?

b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours not onely of couetousnesse, theft and murther, but com-pareth them to wolues, lions, and most cruell beastes.

c That is, though I heare the godly when I shall visite their wickednesse: for though they crie, before they crie, Isa. 65. 24. yet I will not heare them. Isa. 1. 15. ezek. 8. 18. Iam. 2. 13. 1. pet. 3. 11, 12.

d They deuoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischiefe.

e As you haue loued to walke in darknesse and to prophesie lies, so God shall reward you with grosse blindnesse and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in the night.

f When God shal discouer them to the world, they shalbe afraid to speake: for all shall know that they were but false prophets and did belie the word of God.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and d bite them with their teeth, and crie Peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him,

6 Therefore e night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the Prophets, and the day shalbe darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer f their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full g of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with h blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards and the Priestes thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they i leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee k plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest.

g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God both gaue him giftes, abilitie and knowledge to discerne betweene good and euill, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses by briberie, which he calleth blood and iniquitie. i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie. k Reade Iere. 26, 18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ and felicitie of his Church.

a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed.

b Reade Isa. 2. 2.

c He sheweth that there is no true Church, but whereas the people are taught by Gods pure word.

d By his corrections & threatnings, he will bring the people into subiection, which are in the vtmost corners of the world.

e They shall abstaine from all euill doing, and exercise themselues in godlinesse and in well doing to others.

BVt in the a last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it shalbe exalted aboue the b hils, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Iaakob, and hee will c teach vs his wayes, and wee will walke in his paths: for the Law shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and d rebuke mighty nations afarre off, and they shall breake their swords into mattockes, and their speares into e sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they f learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shal make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke g euery one in the Name of his god, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, h a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall raigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O i tower of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen k the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is l there no king in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorrow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorrow & mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou goe foorth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou bee deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they m know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and thresh, n O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hoofes brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

f Hee sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all ỹ world should giue themselues to their superstition and idolatrie.

g Hee sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all ỹ world should giue themselues to their superstition and idolatrie.

h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and so almost destroyed, shall liue againe, and grow into a great people.

i Meaning Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.

l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations, when they saw themselues neither to haue king nor counsell.

m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the braggs and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church victorie, so oft as hee ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment heereof shall bee at the last comming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-lehem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter o of garisons: he hath layd siege against vs: they shal smite the Iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah, art p little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall hee come forth vnto mee, that shall bee the ruler in Israel: whose c goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that d he which shal heare, shal trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he e shall stand, and feede in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lorde his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he f shalbe our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall wee raise against him seuen shepheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy g Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he b deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our land, and when hee shall tread within our borders.

7 And the i remnant of Iaakob shall bee among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showers vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shall be among the Gentiles, in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beasts of the forrest, and as the lyons whelpe among the flocks of sheepe, who when he goeth through, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine k horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.

11 And I wil cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrew all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine inchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp the groues out of the mids of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I wil execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, l which they haue not heard.

2 Heare yee, O mountaines, the Lords quarrell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell against his people, and he will plead with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee: or wherein haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I b brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I hauesent before thee Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember nowe what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from c Shittim vnto Gilgal, that yee may know the d righteousnesse of the Lord.

6 Wherewith e shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeere olde?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my f first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my body for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: g surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce crieth vnto the h citie, and the man of wisedome shall see thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men i thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and k thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt tread the oliues, but thou shalt not annoint thee with oyle: and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the m statutes of Omri are kept, b I haue not lure thee, but bestowed infinite benefits vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefits from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into your land promised.

d That is, the trueth of his promise, and his manifold benefits toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie aske how to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is no thing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoid his angers but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections, & to giue themselues willingly to serue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in fewe words calleth them to the obseruation of the second table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying, that God hath prescribed them to do this.

h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any city or nation, the godly wil acknowledge his Maiestie, & consider not the mortal man that bringeth the threatning, but God that sendeth it.

i That is, of Ierusalem.

k Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe and euils.

l Meaning, that the citie should goe about to saue her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserue.

m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the kings vnrighteous lawes, and statutes, and also wisedome and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luk. 12. 47.

f If shall be so terrible, that the like hath not bene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dum creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkind. 6 What maner of sacrifices do please God

HEarken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the a mountaines, and let the hils heare thy voyce.

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rockes to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.

and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and yee walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproch of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

WOe is me, for I am as a the Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lie in waite for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

b He sheweth that the Prince, the iudge, and the rich man are linked together, all to do euill and to cloke the doings one of another.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednesse, nor iniurie.

4 The best of them is as e a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall be their confusion.

d These men agree among themselues, and conspire with one consent to doe euill.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

e They that are of most estimation, & are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore g I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wait for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.

8 Reioyce not against me, h O mine enemy: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedy for the godly in desperate euils, is to flee vnto God for succour.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lorde, because I haue sinned against him, vntill he plead my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

10 Then shee that is mine enemy, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes shall behold her: now shall shee bee troden downe as the mire of the streetes.

11 This is i the day that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall driue farre away k the decree.

i To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Ashur, and from the strong cities and from the strong holds euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therin, and for the fruits of m their inuentions.

l When the Church shal be restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holds, riuers, seas, nor mountaines shall be able to let them.

14 n Feed thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitary in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne, shal be made waste because of their wickednesse.

15 o According to the dayes of thy coming out of the land of Egypt will I shewe vnto him marueilous things.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitary places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them, as in time past.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p lay their hand vpon their mouth: q their eares shall be deafe.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people, as he had be ne afore time.

17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent: they shall moue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

p They shall be as dumme men, and dare brag no more.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and s passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? He retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercy pleaseth him.

q They shalbe astonished, and afraid to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction.

19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all t their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare.

20 Thou wilt performe thy u trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in old time.

s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.

t Meaning of his elect.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which hee had made of old to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

Nahum.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and ready to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of Religion, & so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth he prophecied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THE [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.

2 God [d] is ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but hee is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lorde hath his way in the whirlewind, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and he drieth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good, [h] and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What do yee [k] imagine against the Lord? he wil make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For [l] he shall come as vnto thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shalbe deuoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euil against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour.

12 Thus sayth the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 * Behold, vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth and publisheth [p] peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Reade Isa. 13.1. b The vision or reuelation which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninenites.
c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.
d Meaning, of his glory.
e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer aswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.
f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.
g If all creatures bee at Gods commandement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?
h Lest the faithfull should bee discouraged by hearing the power of God, hee sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them.
i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort, as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.
k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore he would so destroy them at once, that he should not neede to returne the second time.
l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him.
m Which may be vnderstood either of Sancherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.
n. Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he will destroy them: notwithstanding hee comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an end of punishing them by the Assyrians.
o Meaning, Sancherib, who should haue no more children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2. King. 19.36,37. Isa. 52.7. rom. 10.15.
p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sancherib.

CHAP. II.

He describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THE [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loines strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mightie men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in scarlet: the charets shall be as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the bie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shal shoot like the lightning.

5 [f] He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shall be led away captiue, and her maides shal lead her as with the voyce of doues smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is [g] of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the golde: for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] She is emptie and voide, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loynes, and the faces [k] of them all gather blackenesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelpes? where the lyons and the lyonesse walked, and the lyons whelpe, and none made them afraid.

12 The lyon did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and wozied for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with spoyle.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians, which prepared to resist him.
b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom hee scourged them: reade Isa. 10, 12.
c Signifying, that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.
d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them.
e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.
f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.
g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes cannot touch: but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them.
h God commandeth the enemies to spoile Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures.
i That is, Nineueh and the men thereof shall be after this sort.
k Reade Ioel 2.6.
l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruell like lions, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyranny to prouide for their wiues and children.

13 Behold,

13 Behold, I come vnto thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I will burne her charets in the [m] ſmoke, and the ſword ſhall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy ſpoile from the earth, and the voice of thy [n] meſſengers ſhall no more be heard.

m That is, as ſoone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.
n Signifying the heralds, which were accuſtomed to proclaime warre. Some reade, of thy gumme teeth, wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruiſe the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fal of Nineueh. 8 No power can eſcape the hand of God.

O Bloodie citie, it is all full of lies, and robberie: [a] the pray departeth not:

2 The noiſe of a whip, [b] and the noiſe of the mouing of the wheles, and the beating of the horſes and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horſeman lifteth vp both the bright ſword, and the glittering ſpeare, and a multitude is ſlaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none end of their corpſes; they ſtumble vpon their corpſes,

4 Becauſe of the multitude of the fornications of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a miſtreſſe of witchcraft, and ſelleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I come vpon thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and will diſcouer thy ſkirts vpon thy face, and will ſhew the nations thy filthineſſe, and the kingdomes thy ſhame.

6 And I will caſt filth vpon thee, & make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gaſing ſtocke.

7 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that all they that looke vpon thee, ſhal flee from thee, and ſay, Nineueh is deſtroyed, who will haue pity vpon her? where ſhall I ſeeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then [d] No, which was full of people, that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it, whoſe ditch was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and there was none end: Put and Lubim were ‖ her helpers.

‖ Or, thine.

10 Yet was ſhee caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the head of all y ſtreetes: and they caſt lots for her noble men, and all her mightie men were bound in chaines.

11 Alſo thou ſhalt be drunken: thou ſhalt hide thy ſelfe, and ſhalt ſeeke helpe, becauſe of the enemy.

12 All thy ſtrong cities ſhall be like figge trees with the firſt ripe figges: for if they be ſhaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land ſhalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire ſhal deuoure thy barres.

14 Draw thee waters for the ſiege: fortifie thy ſtrong holds: go into the clay, and temper the mortar: make ſtrong bricke.

15 There ſhall the fire deuoure thee: the ſword ſhall cut thee off: it ſhall eate thee vp like the [e] locuſts, though thou be multiplied like the locuſts, and multiplied like the graſſhopper.

16 Thou haſt multiplied thy merchants aboue the ſtarres of heauen: the locuſt ſpoileth and flieth away.

17 Thy princes are as the graſſhoppers, and thy captaines as the great graſſhoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the ſunne ariſeth, they flee away, and their place is not knowen where they are.

18 Thy [f] ſhepheards do ſleepe, O king of Aſſhur: thy ſtrong men lie downe: thy people is ſcattered vpon the mountains, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the bruit of thee ſhall clap the hands ouer thee: for vpon [g] whom hath not thy malice paſſed continually?

a It neuer ceaſeth to ſpoile and robbe.
b He ſheweth how the Caldeans ſhall haſte, and how courageous their horſes ſhalbe in beating the ground, when they come againſt the Aſſyrians.
c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and ſubtiltie entiſeth young men and bringeth them to deſtruction.
d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with ſo many nations, and yet was now deſtroyed.
e Signifying that Gods iudgements ſhould ſuddenly deſtroy the Aſſyrians, as theſe vermine are with raine or change of weather.
f Thy princes and counſellers.
g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Aſſyrians had not done hurt.

Habakkuk.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, conſidering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miſerable oppreſſion of the godly, which endure all kind of affliction and cruelty, and yet can ſee none end. Therefore he had this reuelation ſhewed him of God, that the Caldeans ſhould come and take them away captiues, ſo that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, becauſe of their ſtubburneſſe and rebellion againſt the Lord. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire, ſeeing this horrible confuſion, he comforteth them by this, that God will puniſh the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty ſhalbe at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and ſheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they ſhould comfort themſelues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint againſt the wicked that perſecute the iuſt.

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but inſtead hereof reigneth cruelty, theft, contention & ſtrife.

THe burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee.

2 O Lord, how long ſhal I cry, and thou wilt not heare! euē cry out vnto thee [a] for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doeſt thou ſhew me iniquity, and cauſe me to behold ſorrow? for ſpoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that raiſe vp ſtrife and contention.

4 Therefore the Lawe is diſſolued, and iudgement doth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth [b] compaſſe about the righteous: therefore [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and maruelle: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: [d] yee will not beleeue it, though it be told you.

6 For loe, I raiſe vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which ſhall goe vpon the breadth of the land to poſſeſſe the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

b To ſuppreſſe him if any ſhould ſhew himſelfe zealous of Gods cauſe.
c Becauſe the iudges which ſhould redreſſe this exceſſe, are as euill as the reſt.
d As in times paſt you would not beleeue Gods word, ſo ſhall ye not now beleeue the ſtrange plagues which are at hand.

7 They

e They themselues shalbe your iudges in this cause and none shall haue authority ouer them, to controll them. Zeph. 3.3.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruites.

g They shal be so many in number.

h They shall cast vp mounts against it.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithful that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victory & become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.

k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, & also that their sinnes required such a sharper rod.

l So that the great deuoureth the smal, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of themselues.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, & are more fierce then the wolues in the * euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from far: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an f East winde, and they shall gather the captiuitie as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, and the Princes shall be a scorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong hold: for they shal gather [h] dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they [i] take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall [k] not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, & O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, & canst not see euil: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the [l] fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their [m] net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fatte, and their meate plenteous.

17 Shal they therfore stretch out their net & not spare continually to slay [n] the nations?

m Meaning, that ỹ enemies flatter themselues, & glorie in their own force, power, & wit.

n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

2 A vision 5 against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

1 I Will stand vpon my [a] watch, and set mee vpon the towre, and will looke & see what hee would say vnto me, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered mee, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne [b] that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Behold, [d] hee that lifteth vp himselfe, his mind is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, in deede the proud man is as [e] hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, & a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Vo, hee that increaseth that which is not his! how long? and he that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall [g] they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their prey?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoile thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Vo, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou [h] hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the [i] stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the [k] Lord of hosts, that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wearie themselues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall bee [l] filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour [m] drinke: thou powrest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame [n] for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shall bee for thy glory.

17 For the [o] crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beasties, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the [p] image? for the maker therof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: [q] beholde, it is layde a I will renounce mine owne iudgment, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shall answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.

c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hastie affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed.

d To trust in himselfe or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom 1.17. gal.3 11. heb.10.38.

e He compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God wil punish, and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.

f Signifying, that all the world shall with the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression & couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as hee thinketh to enrich it by crueltie and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall crie, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labors, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare thorow all the world.

m He reproacheth thus the king of Babylon, who as hee was drunken with couetousnesse and crueltie, so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, & so in the end brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.

o Because the Babylonians were cruell, not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like cruelty shall hee executed against them.

p Hee sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing availe them: for they were but blocks and stones, read Iere.10.8.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAP. III.

A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lord, reuiue thy [c] worke in the middes of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from [d] Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. his glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: [e] hee had hornes comming out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bow: his [f] wayes are euerlasting.

7 [g] For his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the [h] riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride [i] vpon thine horses? thy charets broughte saluation.

9 Thy [k] bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the [l] othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou [m] diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water [n] passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The [o] Sunne and Moone stood still in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine [q] Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discouerdst the foundations vnto the necke. Selah.

14 Thou diddest [r] strike thorow with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [t] heard, my bellie trembled: my lippes shooke at the voice: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in [u] the day of trouble: for when he commeth vp [x] vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figge tree shall not flourish, neither shall frute be in the vines: the labour of the Olme shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meate: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy [y] in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like hindes feete, and hee will make mee to walke vpon mine high places. [z] To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were affraid when they heard Gods threatnings, and praied.

c That is, the state of thy Church which is now readie to perish, before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.

e Whereby is meant a power that was ioyned with his brightnesse, which was hid to the rest of the world: but was reueiled in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31.16.

f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when hee would deliuer his Church.

g The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing the people, was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3.10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7.22.

h Meaning, that God was not angrie with the waters, but that by this meanes hee would destroy his enemies, and deliuer his Church.

i And so dideſt vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For hee had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renued it with his posteritie.

m Reade Num. 20.11.

n He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands.

o As appeareth, Ioſh. 10.12.

p According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

q Signifying that there is no saluation but by Christ.

r From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

t He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraide of Gods iudgements.

u Hee sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall bee quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

y Hee declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musicke shall haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

Zephaniah.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendement, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should bee vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, hee prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continually care ouer them. And as the wicked should bee punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so hee exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promises of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they should bee gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord which came vnto Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the daies of *Iosiah, the sonne of *Amon king of Iudah.

2.*King.*22.1. 2.*King.*21.19.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the [a] foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I wil cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the [b] Chemarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by [c] Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Bee still at the presence of the Lorde God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the Princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with [d] strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that [e] daunce vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noyse, and cry from the [f] fish gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

11 Howle yee inhabitants of [g] the lowe place: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with [h] lights, and visite the men that are frosen [i] in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shalbe spoyled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: [k] the strong man shal cry there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blacknesse, 16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the hie towers.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land shall bee deuoured by the fire of his iealousie: for hee shal make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

k They that trusted in their owne strength and contemned the Prophets of God. *Iere.*30.7. ioel 2.11. amos 5.18.

*Ezek.*7.19. *Chap.*3.8.

CHAP. II.

He moueth to returne to God, 5 prophesying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites, and others.

GAther [a] your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loued,

2 Before the decree come forth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue [b] wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that yee may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For [c] Azzah shalbe forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the sea [d] coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shalbe dwellings, and cottages for shepheards and sheepefolds.

7 And that coast shall bee for the [e] remnant of the house of Iudah to feede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbrayded my people, and [f] magnified themselues against their borders.

9 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Surely Moab

b That is, which haue liued vprightly and godly, according as he prescribeth by his word.

c He comforteth the faithfull in that, that God would change his punishments from them vnto the Philistims their enemies and other nations.

d That is, Galilea: by these nations he meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Iewes, and in stead of friendship were their enemies: therefore he calleth them Canaanites whome the Lorde appointed to bee slaine.

e He sheweth why God would destroy their enemies, because their countrey might bee a resting place for his Church.

f These nations presumed to take from the Iewes that countrey which the Lord had giuen them.

a Not that God was angry with these dumbe creatures, but because man was so wicked for whose cause they were created, God maketh them to take part of the punishment with him.

b Which were an order of superstitious priests appointed to minister in the seruice of Baal, and were as his peculiar chaplaines, reade 2.King.23.5. Hosea 10.5.

c He alludeth to their idole Molech, which was forbidden, Leuit.20.2. yet they called him their king, and made him as a God: therefore he here noteth them that will both say they worship God, and yet will sweare by idoles, and serue them: which halting is here condemned, as Ezek. 20.39.1.King. 18.21.2.King. 17.33.

d Meaning, the courtiers, which did imitate the strange apparell of other nations to winne their fauour thereby, and to appeare glorious in the eyes of all other, Reade Ezek.23.14.

e Hee meaneth the seruants of the rulers which inuade other mens houses, and reioyce and leape for ioy when they can get any pray to please their masters withall.

f Signifying, that all the corners of the Citie of Ierusalem should bee full of trouble.

g This is meant of the street of the Merchants, which was lower then the rest of the place about it.

h So that nothing shall escape me.

shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles and salt pits, and a perpetuall desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoile them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them.

10 This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched, and magnified themselues against the Lord of hosts people.

11 The Lord will bee terrible vnto them, g for he wil consume al the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

12 Ye Morians also shall be slaine by my sword with them.

13 And hee will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Assur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wilderneſſe.

14 And flockes shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the h pelicane, and the ‖ owle shall abide in the vpper postes of it: the voyce of birdes shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shall be vpon the postes: for the cedars are vncouered.

15 This is the i reioycing citie that dwelt careleſſe, that sayd in her heart, I am, and there is none beſides me: how is shee made waste, and the lodging of the beastes! euery one that passeth by her, shal hisse and wagge his hand.

g When he shall deliuer his people and destroy their enemies and idoles, his glory shall shine throughout all the world.

4 Against the gouernours of Ieruſalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the reſidue of Iſrael.

WOe to her that is filthy and polluted, to the robbing a city.

a That is, Ieruſalem. Ezek. 22.25,27. micah 3.11. Habak. 1.8.

2 She heard not the voyce: she receiued not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: she drew not neere to her God.

b They are so greedy that they eate vp bones and all.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring * lyons: her Iudges are as * wolues in the euening, which b leaue not the bones till the morrow.

c The wicked thus boasted that God was euer among them, but the Prophet answereth that that cannot excuse their wickednes: for God will not beare with their sinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and sent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but he profited nothing.

4 Her prophets are light, & wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the sanctuarie: they haue wrested the Law.

5 The c iuſt Lord is in the mids thereof: he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light, hee faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

d By the destruction of other nations, he sheweth that the Iewes should haue learned to feare God.

6 I haue d cut off the nations: their towers are desolate: I haue made their streetes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling should not be destroyed, howsoeuer I visited them, but e they rose early and corrupted all their works.

e They were most earnest and ready to do wickedly.

8 Therefore f wait ye vpon me, saith the Lorde, vntill the day that I rise vp to the praye: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shal be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

f Seeing ye will not repent, you shall looke for my vengeance aswell as other nations.

9 Surely g then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lorde, to serue him ‡ with one consent.

g Left any should thinke then that Gods glory should haue perished when Iudah was destroyed, he sheweth that he will publish his grace through all the world.

‡ Ebr. with one shoulder, as Hoſe.6.9.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the h daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto me, shall bring me an offering.

h That is, the Iewes shall come as well as the Gentiles: which is to be vnderstood vnder the time of the Gospel.

11 In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for i all thy workes, wherein thou hast transgressed against me: for then I will take away out of the mids of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy mountaine.

i For they shall haue full remiſsion of their sinnes: and the hypocrites which boasted of the Temple, which was also thy pride in time past, shalbe taken from thee.

12 Then will I leaue in the mids of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shall doe none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth: for they shalbe fed, and lie downe, and none shal make them afraid.

14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ieruſalem.

15 The Lorde hath taken away thy k iudgements: he hath cast out thine l enemie: the King of Israel, euen the Lord is in the mids of m thee: thou shalt see no more euill.

k That is, the punishment for thy sinne.

l As the Assyrians, Caldeans, Egyptians, and other nations.

16 In that day it shall be sayd to Ieruſalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mightie: he will saue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himselfe in n his loue: hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.

m To defend thee, as by thy sinnes thou hast put him away and left thy selfe naked, as Exod. 32.25.

n Signifying, that God delighteth to shew his loue and great affection toward his Church.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for o it.

o That is, them that were had in hatred and reuiled for the Church, and because of their religion.

19 Behold, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thee, and I will p saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them prayse and fame in all the q lands of their shame.

p I will deliuer the Church which is now afflicted, as Micah. 4.6.

q As among the Assyrians and Caldeans which did mocke them, and put them to shame.

20 At that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name and prayse among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, sayth the Lord.

Haggai.

THE ARGVMENT.

VVHen the time of the seuentie yeres captiuitie, propheſied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raiſed vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the ſpirituall Temple and Church of God, whoſe perfection and excellencie ſtood in Chriſt. And becauſe that all were giuen to their owne pleaſures and commodities, hee declareth that that plague of famine, which God ſent among them, was a iuſt rewarde of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promiſe of greater felicitie, foraſmuch as the Lorde will finiſh the worke that hee hath begun, and ſend Chriſt whom hee had promiſed, and by whome they ſhould attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the Propheſie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the ſeconde yeere of King [a] Darius, in the firſt moneth, the firſt day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the miniſterie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto [b] Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak, the hie Prieſt, ſaying,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſtes, ſaying, This people ſay, The time is not yet come, [c] that the Lordes houſe ſhould bee builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the miniſterie of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

4 Is it time for you your ſelues to dwell in your [d] ſieled houſes, & this houſe lie waſte?

5 Now therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Conſider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 [e] Yee haue ſowen much, and bring in little: yee eate, but yee haue not enough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee are not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Conſider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe [f] vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this houſe, and [g] I will bee fauourable in it, and I will [h] bee glorified, ſaith the Lord.

9 Yee looked for much, and loe, it came to little: and when yee brought it home, I did blowe [i] vpon it. And why, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes? becauſe of mine houſe that is waſte, and yee runne euery man vnto his owne houſe.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you ſtayed it ſelfe from deaw, and the earth ſtayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oile, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the high Prieſt with all the remnant of the people, heard the [k] voyce of the Lorde their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as [l] the Lord their God had ſent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then ſpake Haggai the Lords meſſenger in the Lordes meſſage vnto the people, ſaying, I am with you, ſaith the Lord.

14 And the Lord ſtirred vp the [m] ſpirit of Zerubbabel, the ſonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the ſpirit of Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Prieſt, and the ſpirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the houſe of the Lorde of hoſts their God.

CHAP. II.

He ſheweth that the glory of the ſecond Temple ſhall exceede the firſt.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the ſixt moneth, in the ſecond yere of king Darius,

2 In the ſeuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the miniſtery of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Prieſt, and to the reſidue of the people, ſaying,

4 Who is left among you, that ſaw this [a] houſe in her firſt glory, and how doe you ſee it now? Is it not in your eyes, in compariſon of it as nothing?

5 Yet now bee of good courage, O Zerubbabel, ſayeth the Lorde, and be of good comfort, O Iehoſhua, ſonne of Iehozadak the high Prieſt: and be ſtrong all ye people of the land, ſaith the Lord, and [b] doe it: for I am with you, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes,

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when yee came out of Egypt: ſo my ſpirit ſhall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, [c] Yet a litle while, and I will ſhake the heauens, and the earth, and the ſea, and the dry land:

a Who was the ſonne of Hyſtaſpis, and the third king of the Perſians, as ſome thinke.

b Becauſe the building of the Temple began to ceaſe by reaſon that the people were diſcouraged by their enemies: and if theſe two notable men had need to be ſtirred vp and admoniſhed of their dueties, what ſhall we thinke of other gouernours, whoſe doings are either againſt God, or very cold in his cauſe?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie, and priuate profit to religion, being content with ſmall beginnings.

d Shewing that they ſought not onely their neceſſities, but their very pleaſures before Gods honour.

e Conſider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policie to his religion, and becauſe ye ſeeke not him firſt of all.

f Meaning, that they ſhould leaue off their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the ſetting forth of his religion.

g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promiſe, 1. King. 8. 21, 29.

h That is, my glory ſhall be ſet forth by you,

i And ſo bring it to nothing.

k This declared that God was the authour of the doctrine, and that he was but the miniſter, as Exod. 14. 31. Iud. 7. 20. Acts 15. 28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to ſerue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his meſſengers before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new ſpirits, Iohn 6. 44.

m He exhorteth them to patience, though they ſee not as yet this Temple ſo glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this ſhould bee accompliſhed in Chriſt, by whom all things ſhould be renewed.

a For the people according as Iſa. 32. 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had propheſied, thought this Temple ſhould haue bene more excellent then Salamons Temple, which was deſtroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the ſpirituall Temple the Church of Chriſt.

b That is, go forward in building the Temple.

d Meaning Christ, whom all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire, hee may signifie all precious things, as riches and such like.

8 And I will moue all nations, and [d] the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

9 The [e] siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last house shall bee greater then the first, sayeth the Lorde of hosts: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, sayth the Lord of hostes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Aske now the priests concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one beare g holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? and the Priests answered, and sayd, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it bee vncleane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shall be vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this [h] day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layed vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine presse for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands; yet you turned not to mee, saith the Lord.

19 Consider I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] seed yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought foorth: from this day will I blesse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [m] will shake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the [o] word of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lorde, and wil make thee as a [o] signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

e Therfore when his time cōmeth, he can make all the treasures of the world to serue his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doeth not stand in materiall things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spirituall blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4.7.

g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that that thing, which of it self is good, cannot make an other thing so: and therfore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary, hee that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt those things, and make them detestable vnto God, which else are good and godly.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruit was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the haruest came, and then they should see Gods blessings.

m I will make a change, and renew all things in Christ of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby hee sheweth that there shalbe no let or hinderance when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.

o Signifying, this his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

¶ Zechariah.

THE ARGVMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore he putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers; and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue, from death and sinne, by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse and coldnesse to set forth Gods glory and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 Hee exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2. Chro. 24.20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as hee was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Ioiada or Berechiah and Iddo.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius came the worde of the Lorde vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lorde hath bene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, [d] Turne yee vnto mee, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements, that they should not prouoke him, as their fathers had done, whom hee so grieuously punished.

d Let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit, and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18. Lament. 5. 21. Isaiah 21. 8. and 31. 6. and 45. 21.

Iere. 3, 12. ezek. 18. 30. hose. 14. 2 ioel 2. 12.

c Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2 Pet. 1. 15.

f Seeing ye saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not ye feare the threatnings conteined in the same, and declared by my Prophets?

g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

h Which conteineth part of Ianuarie and part of Februarie.

i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church, but as yet it should not appeare to mans eyes, which is here ment by the night, by the bottome and by the myrrhe trees, which are blacke and giue a darke shadow: yet he compareth God to a king, who hath his postes and messengers abroad, by whom he still woorketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.

the *former Prophets haue cryed, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked woorkes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, sayeth the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where c are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my woordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of f your fathers? And g they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our woorkes, so hath hee dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth h Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I i saw by night, and beholde k a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there l red horses speckled and white

9 Then said I, O my Lord, What are these? And the Angel that talked with mee, said vnto mee, I will shew thee what these bee.

10 And the man that stoode among the myrrhe trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to go thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stoode among the myrrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the m Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good woords and comfortable woords.

14 So the Angel that communed with mee, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, I am n tenlous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angrie against the careleste heathen: for I was angrie but o a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall bee builded in it, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and a line p shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet q bee dronken with plentie: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and sawe, and behold, r foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed mee foure s carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to doe? And hee answered, and sayd, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

j I saw by night, and beholde k a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there l red horses speckled and white

9 Then said I, O my Lord, What are these? And the Angel that talked with mee, said vnto mee, I will shew thee what these bee.

p To measure out the buildings.

q The abundance shall be so great, that the places of store shall not be able to containe these blessings, that God will send, but shall euen breake for fulnesse.

r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.

s These carpenters or smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And hee said vnto mee, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breedth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with mee, went foorth: and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this b yong man, and say, c Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of d fire round about, and will e be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, f come foorth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure g windes of the heauen, saith the Lord.

7 Saue h thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, After this i glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for hee that toucheth a That is, the Angel, who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence is God, and so called.

b Meaning, himselfe Zechariah.

c Signifying the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel thorow all the world, and should neede no materiall walles, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preserued, and dwel in peace among all their enemies.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approch neere.

e In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glory.

f Hee calleth to them, which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promised in his Church.

g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you.

h By fleeing from Babylon, and comming to the Church.

i Seeing that God hath begun to shew his grace among you by deliuering you, hee continueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth mee his Angel and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

k Yee are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal 17.8.
l Vpon the heathen your enemies.
m They shall be your seruants, as you haue bene theirs.
n This must necessarily be vnderstood of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

pon, toucheth the k apple of his eye.
9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand l vpon them: and they m shall bee a spoyle to those that serued them, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath n sent me.
10 Reioyce, and bee glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the Lord.
11 And many nations shall bee ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.
12 And the Lord shall inherit Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.
13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophecie of Christ, and of his kingdome.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.
b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephes. 6.12.
c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church.
d Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuitie, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him, when hee was doing his office.

AND hee shewed mee Iehoshua the high Priest, a standing before the Angel of the Lord, and b Satan stoode at his right hand to resist him.
2 And the c Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, rebuke thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?
3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stood before the Angel.
4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stoode before him, saying, Take away the e filthie garments from him. And vnto him hee said, Behold, I haue f caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.
5 And I said, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.
6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,
7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also g iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my i courts, and I will giue thee place among k these that stand by.
8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they l are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the m Branch my seruant.
9 For loe, the n stone that I haue layde before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: behold, I will cut out the o grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take p away the iniquity of this land in one day.
10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figge tree.

e That is, filthie sinnes.
f He sheweth of what apparel he speaketh, which is, when our filthie sinnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution.
g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might bee perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtaineth it.
h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church, as thy predecessours haue had.
i Whereby hee meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministery of the Church.
k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithful: signifying, that all the godly should willingly receiue him.
l Because they folow my word, they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8. 18.
m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely hee became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11.1. Iere. 23 5. and. 33.14, 15.
n He sheweth that the ministers cannot build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is ful of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4.10.
o That is, I wil make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God.
p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now bee pacified, and visite their sinnes no more.
q Yee shall then liue in peace and quietnesse, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa. 2.2. micah 4.4. hag. 2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

a Which was euer in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the grace of Gods spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.
b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithful, that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though hee had no helpe of man.

AND the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe, 2 And said vnto mee, What seest thou? and I said, I haue looked, and beholde, a a candlestick all of gold, with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes thereon, and seuen b pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.
3 And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.
4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?
5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I said, No, my Lord.
6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto c Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by d an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.
7 Who art thou, O e great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and f hee shall bring forth the head stone

c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.
d Hee sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though hee vse not mans helpe thereunto.
e Hee compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies dayly labour to let in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine.
f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

thereof,

thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layd the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the [h] small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of [i] tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olive trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two olive branches, which thorow the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? and I said, No my Lord.

14 Then said hee, These are the two [l] olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ, sent of my Father for the building and preseruation of my spirituall Temple.

h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.

i Whereby he signifieth the plummet & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should go forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though ỹ world be against him, and though his for a while bee discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.

k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9.

l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred forth oyle into the lampes: Signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theeues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THen I turned mee, and lifted vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then said hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that [b] stealeth, shall be cut off aswell on this [c] side, as on that: and euery one that [d] sweareth shall be cut off, aswell on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the theefe, and into the house of him that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shal consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth and said vnto mee, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And hee said, This is an [e] Ephah that goeth forth. Hee said moreouer, This is the [f] sight of them, thorow all the earth.

7 And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a [h] woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is [i] wickednes, and he cast it into the mids of the Ephah, and hee cast the waight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came out two [k] women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the winges of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with mee, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee said vnto mee, [l] To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and set there vpon her owne place.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, & casting off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth ỹ Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them, & their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

b That is, vseth any iniury toward his neighbour.

c Meaning, whersoeuer hee be in the world.

d Hee that transgresseth the first table, and seeueth not God aright, but abuseth Gods name.

e Which was a measure in dry things, conteining about ten pottels.

f That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it, or open it at his pleasure.

g To couer the measure.

h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.

i Signifying that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquity in a measure as in a prison.

k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes.

l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure monarchies.

AGaine, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: & behold, there came foure [a] charets out from betweene [b] two mountaines, & the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charet were [c] red horses, and in the second charet [d] blacke horses,

3 And in the third charet [e] white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of [f] diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto mee, These are the [g] foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the [h] South countrey.

7 And the [i] reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe thorow the world. And he said, Go passe thorow the world. So they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cryed he vpon me, and spake vnto mee, saying, Behold, these that goe toward a By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the eternall counsell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

c Which signified the great cruelty and persecutions that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies.

d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians.

e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie.

f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh and Babylon, and other their enemies.

g Meaning, all the actions & motions of Gods spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsell hee causeth to appeare thorow all the world.

h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreyes thereabout.

i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him, Iob. 1. 12.

the North countrey, haue pacified my [k] spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go vnto the house [l] of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the [m] head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hoastes, and sayth, Behold the man whose name is the [n] Branch, and hee shall grow [o] vp out of his place, and he shall [p] build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the [q] glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and hee shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shalbe betweene [r] them both.

14 And the crowne shall bee to [s] Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, [t] to [c] Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a [u] memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are [x] farre off, shall come and builde in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know that the Lord of hoastes hath sent mee vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will [y] obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

k By punishing the Caldeans, mine anger ceased, & you were deliuered.

h To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes. which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes & doubted of the restitution of the kingdome and of the priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning, Christ, of whome Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.

o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man.

p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Haggai. 2.10.

q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow.

r The two offices of the kingdome and priesthood shall be so ioyned together, that they shalbe no more diuiseured.

s Who was also called Heldai.

t Hee was also called Iosiah.

u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue beene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens. Actes 1. 6.

x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shall help toward the building of this spirituall temple.

y If yee will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

AND in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in [a] Chisleu,

2 For [b] they had sent vnto the house of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lord of hoastes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I [c] weepe in the fift moneth, and [d] separate my selfe as I haue done these so many [e] yeeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lorde of hoastes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the [f] Priests, & say, When yee fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth month, euen these seuentie yeres, did ye fast vnto me? s doe I approue it?

6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drinke, did yee not eate [h] for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should yee not heare the words which the Lord [i] hath cryed by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hoastes, saying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and shew mercie and compassion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger, nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and [l] pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an Adamant stone, lest they should heare the law and the words which the Lord of hoastes sent in his [m] spirite by the ministery of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hoastes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cryed, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hoastes.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whome they knew not: thus the land was desolate [n] after them, that no man passed thorow nor returned: for they layed the pleasant land [o] waste.

a Which contained part of Nouember and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feastes were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroied, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Ier. 41.2.

c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting.

d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast.

e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.

f For there were both of the people, and of the Priestes, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserued toward God, because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe bee good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued.

h Did you not eate and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did absteine according to your own fantasies, & not after the prescript of my law.

i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.

k He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth. 23.23.

l And would not carry the Lordes burden, which was sweet and easie: but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehem. 9.29.

m Which declareth that they rebelled not only against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them.

n That is, after they were caried captiue.

o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the word of the Lord of hoastes came to me, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes, I was [a] iealous for Zion with great iealousie, and I was iealous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall bee called a [b] citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord a I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any iniury.

b Because she shall bee faithfull & loyall toward me her husband.

Lord of hostes, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall yet [c] olde men and old women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streets of the citie shall be ful of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Though it be [d] vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in thele dayes, should it therefore be unpossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hosts?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall [e] dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will bee their God in trueth and in righteousnesse.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your [f] hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might bee builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for [g] man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now I wil not intreate the residue of this people as afore time, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall bee prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish [h] you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hosts, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes [i] to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall doe. Speake yee euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oath: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the [k] tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous high feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come [l] people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, * Up, let vs goe and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Iew, and say, We will goe with you: for wee haue heard that God is with you.

c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance.

d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gene. 18. 14. Rom. 4. 20.

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shal bee sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which incourage you thereunto.

g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 18. 20.

i Which declareth that man cannot turne to God till hee change mans heart by his Spirit, and so begin to doe well, which is to pardon his sinnes, and to giue him his graces.

k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these foure: and here the Prophet sheweth that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heauinesse: for God wil send them ioy and gladnesse.

l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ. Isa. 2. 2. micah. 4. 1.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lord in the land of [a] Hadrach: and Damascus shall bee his [b] rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border [d] thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they bee [e] very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the mire of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and he will smite her [f] power in the Sea, and she shalbe deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the [g] stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his [h] teeth: but hee that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and hee shall be as a prince in Iudah, but [i] Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about [k] mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, a Whereby he meaneth Syria.

b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.

c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloked with this name of Wisedome.

f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the Sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.

g Meaning, that all should bee destroyed saue a very few, that should remaine as strangers.

h Hee promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them.

i As the Iebusites had beene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.

k He sheweth that Gods power onely shall bee sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries, bee they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

and no oppression shall come vpon them any more: for now I haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy king commeth vnto thee: m hee is iust, and saued himselfe, poore, and riding vpon an u asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the o charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall bee broken, and hee shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from p sea vnto sea, and from the q riuer to the ende of the land.

11 r Thou also shalt bee saued through the blood of the Couenant, I haue loosed thy s prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the t strong holde, yee u prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the x double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I y bent as a bow for mee: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shal be seene ouer them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shal blow the trumpet, z shall come forth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, z and subdue them with sling stones, and they shal drinke, and make a noyse as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the a stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cheerefull, and new wine the maides.

CHAP. X.

2 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

Aske you of the a Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely the b idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore c they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visit the d goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as e his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out f of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery sappointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mightie men, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders and horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house g of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitie them, and they shalbe as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and bee glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will h hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shal increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will k sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreyes: and they shall liue with their children, and l turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And hee m shall goe into the Sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depths of the riuer shall drie vp: and the pride of Assyria shall bee cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

1 That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue beene afflicted of their enemies.

m That is, hee hath righteousnesse and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.

n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Matt. 21.5.

o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word.

p That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world.

q That is, from Euphrates.

r Meaning, Ierusalem, or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is heere called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them, for the loue that hee bare vnto them.

s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great.

t That is, into the holy land, where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you.

u Meaning, the faithfull, which seemed to bee in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie.

x This is, double benefites and prosperitie, in respect of that, which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie.

y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee heere meaneth by the Grecians.

z Hee promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies, and haue abundance and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to mooue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

a The faithfull shalbe preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great, when he met Iadi the high Priest.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes, because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoid this plague, he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him but in their idols and sorcerers, who euer deceiued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

d Meaning, the cruel gouernours which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34.16,17.

e He will be mercifull to his Church, and cherish them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse, which shall bee for his owne vse in the warre.

f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceed, who shall be as a corner to vphold the building and as a naile to fasten it together.

g Ouer their enemies.

b That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

i Wherby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when hee will deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse hee can call them from all places suddenly.

k Though they shall yet be scattered, and seeme to be lost, yet it shal bee profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached.

l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.

m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and riuers,

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

OPen thy doores, O a Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure the cedars.

2 Howle, b firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: howle ye, O okes of Bashan, for the c defenced forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepheards: for their d glory is destroyed: a voice of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus sayth the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the e slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them, f and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, g Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but loe, h I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his i king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto mee l two staues: the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 m Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed n them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beauty, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the o poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue mee p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of silver.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the q potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

14 And the Lord said vnto mee, Take to thee yet r the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that s standeth vp: but he shal eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O Idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shall bee vpon his t arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall bee cleane dried vp, and his right eye shalbe vterly darkened.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountain that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet theweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shal shew it selfe ready to receiue them.
b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.
c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.
d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Israel should perish.
e Which being now ordinate to bee slaine, were deliuered as out of the Lions mouth.
f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience or yet thinking that they doe euill.
g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they deny God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoyle of their brethren.
h I will cause one to destroy another.
i Their gouernours shal execute cruelty ouer them.
k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthy to shew mercy vnto.
l God sheweth his great benefits toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnity, and therefore hee breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bands destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed.
m Whereby hee theweth his care and diligence that hee would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue.
n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefits of God.
o He sheweth that the least part euer profite by Gods iudgements.
p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednes, which did not onely forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of nought.
q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a few tiles for to couer the Temple.
r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shew of gouernement: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolues and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon a Israel, sayth the Lord, which spread the heauens, and layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a b cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will bee be, in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauy stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, sayth the Lorde, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The c inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shal preserue the d tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shalbe as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lorde before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of a That is, the ten tribes which neglected Gods benefit in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home, when God called them.

b Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies: so shal God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies
c Euery captaine that had many vnder him afore shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies because the Lord is among them.
d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their kings, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of e grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue f pierced, and they shall lament for g him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sory for him as one is sory for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there bee a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the h mourning of i Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the k land shall bewaile euery family apart, the family of the m house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Leui apart and their wiues apart: the family of n Shemei apart, and their wiues apart.

14 All the families that o remaine, euery family apart, and their wiues apart.

e They shal haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compassion on them.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed w their obstinacie, and grieued my spirit, Iohn 19. 37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grieuously offended by their ingratitude.

h They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God.

i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2. Chron. 35. 22.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine.

l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not bee a vaine ceremony: but euery one touched with his owne griefe shall lament.

m Vnder these certaine families he containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes pierced Christ.

n Called also Simeon.

o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatry. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

1 IN that day there a shall bee a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 And in that day, sayeth the Lorde of hosts, I will cut off the b names of the idoles out of the land: and they shal no more be remembred: and I will cause the c prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet d prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, e shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth.

4 And in that day shal the prophets f be ashamed euery one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shall say, I am no g Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught mee to be an herdman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these h wounds in thine hands? Then hee shall answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Arise, O sword, vpon my i shepheard, and vpon the man that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hosts: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall bee scattered, and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the lande, sayth the Lord, k two parts therein shall bee cut off, and die, but the third shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will try them as gold is tryed: they shal call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

a He sheweth what shalbe the fruite of their repentance, to wit, remission of sinnes by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continuall running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleannesse.

b He promiseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shalbe pure.

c Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

d That is, when they shall prophesie lies, and make God, which is the authour of trueth, a cloke thereunto.

e He sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdome of Christ, Deut. 13. 6, 9.

f God shall make them ashamed of their errors and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

g They shal confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

h Hereby hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should bee an horrible dissipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should bee destroyed, and the people should bee as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all pastours, Matth. 26. 31.

k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shall be tried with great afflictions, so that it shall bee knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preserue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

1 BEhold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall bee a diuided in the mids of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shalbe taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then shal the Lord go forth, and fight against those nations, as when b he fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feete shall stande in that day vpon the c mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shall bee a very great d valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remooue towarde the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And yee shall flee vnto the e valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shal reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shal flee like as yee fled from the f earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord g my God shall come, and all the saints with thee.

6 And in that day shal there be no cleere light, but darke.

7 And there shalbe a day (it is knowen to a He armeth the godly against the great tentations that should come before they enioyed this prosperous state promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might know that they were warned of them afore.

b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at the red sea and at all other times.

c By this maner of speach the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle saue it.

d So that out of all the parts of the world they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this hee meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

e Hee speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountains.

f Reade Amos 1. 1.

g Because they did not credite the Prophets words, he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in that that hee knew that these things should come, and sayth, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

8 And in that day ſhall there i waters of life goe out from Ieruſalem, halfe of them toward the Eaſt ſea, and halfe of them toward the vttermoſt ſea, and ſhall be both in ſummer and winter.

9 And the Lord ſhall be king ouer all the earth: in that day ſhall there be one k Lord, and his Name ſhall be one.

10 All the land ſhalbe turned l as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ieruſalem, and it ſhalbe lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the firſt gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel, vnto the kings wineprelles.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall be no more deſtruction, but Ieruſalem ſhalbe ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhalbe the plague wherewith the Lord ſhall ſmite all people, that haue fought againſt Ieruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtand vpon their feete, and their eyes ſhall conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhal conſume in their mouth.

13 But in that day m a great tumult of the Lord ſhalbe among them, and euery one ſhall take the n hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhal riſe vp againſt the hand of his neighbour, 14 And Iudah ſhal fight alſo againſt Ieruſalem, and the arme of all the heathen ſhal bee gathered round about, with o golde and ſiluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this ſhalbe the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camel, and of the aſſe, and of all the beaſts that be in theſe tents as this p plague.

16 But it ſhal come to paſſe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came againſt Ieruſalem, ſhall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſts, and to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

17 And who ſo will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ieruſalem to worſhip the king the Lord of hoſtes, euen vpon them ſhall come no raine.

18 And if the family of q Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it ſhal not raine vpon them. This ſhall be the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

19 This ſhall bee the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations, that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

20 In that day ſhall there be written vpon the r bridles of the horſes, The holineſſe vnto the Lord, and the ſ pots in the Lords houſe ſhalbe like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ieruſalem and Iudah ſhalbe holy vnto the Lord of hoſtes, and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeethe therein: and in that day there ſhall be no more the t Canaanite in the houſe of the Lord of hoſtes.

o The enemies are rich, and therefore ſhall not come for a pray, but to deſtroy and ſhed blood.

ſ As precious the one as the other, becauſe they ſhal be ſanctified.

t But all ſhalbe pure and cleane, and there ſhall neither be hypocrite, nor any that ſhal corrupt the true ſeruice of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raiſed vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptiſt was ſent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they ſhould with more feruent deſires looke for the comming of Meſſiah. He confirmeth the ſame doctrine that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproueth the Prieſts for their couetouſneſſe, and for that they ſerued God after their owne fantaſies, and not according to the preſcript of his word. He alſo noteth certaine peculiar ſinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings againſt God, impatience and ſuch like. Notwithſtanding, for the comfort of the godly, hee declareth that God would not forget his promiſe made vnto their fathers, but would ſend Chriſt his meſſenger, in whom the Couenant ſhould bee accompliſhed, whoſe comming ſhould be terrible to the wicked, and bring all conſolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint againſt Iſrael & chiefly the Prieſts.

a Reade Na. 1.1.

THe a burden of the worde of the Lord to Iſrael by the miniſtery of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, ſayth the Lord: yet ye ſay, b Wherein haſt thou loued vs? Was not Eſau Iaakobs brother, ſayth the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob,

3 And I c hated Eſau, and made his mountaines waſte, and his heritage a wilderneſſe for dragons.

4 Though Edom ſay, We are impouerriſhed, but wee will returne, and builde the deſolate places, yet ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, They ſhall build, but I will deſtroy it, and they ſhall call them, The border of wickedneſſe, and the people with whom the Lorde is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes ſhall ſee it, and ye ſhall ſay, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Iſrael.

6 A ſonne honoureth his father, d a ſeruant his maſter. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a maſter, where is my feare, ſayth the Lord of hoſts vnto you, d O Prieſts that deſpiſe my Name? and yee ſay, e Wherein haue we deſpiſed thy Name?

b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was ſo euident in that he choſe Abraham from out of all the worlde, and next choſe Iaakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Eſau the elder.

c For beſides that the ſignes of mine hatred appeared euen when hee was made ſeruant vnto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and alſo afterward in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the ſignes hereof are euident, in that that his country lieth waſte, and hee ſhall neuer returne to inhabite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, reade Rom. 9. 13.

d Beſides the reſt of the people he condemneth the Prieſts chiefly, becauſe they ſhould haue reproued others for their hypocriſie, and obſtinacie againſt God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.

e He noteth their groſſe hypocriſie, which would not ſee the ir faults, but moſt impudently couered them, and ſo were blinde guides, f Ye receiue all maner offerings for your owne greedinesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.

g Not that they sayd thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.

h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commaunded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that pureness of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so serued.

i He derideth the Priests who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.

k Will God consider your office and state, seeing ye are so couetous and wicked? l Because the Leuites who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God witheth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receiue such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice, shalbe the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe, framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an ende should be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christs onely sacrifice. n Both the Priestes, and the people were infected with this errour, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fatte: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which hee required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse. o The Priests and people were both weary with seruing God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath abilitie to serue the Lord according to his word, and yet will serue him according to his couetous minde.

7 Yee offer f vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not g to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is h not euill: and if yee offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto thy Prince: will hee bee content with thee, or accept thy person, sayth the Lord of hostes?

9 And nowe, I pray you, i pray before God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath beene by your meanes: will hee regard k your persons, sayth the Lorde of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, l that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is m great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall bee offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is n polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Yee sayd also, Behold, it is a o wearines, and ye haue snuffed at it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and yee offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, sayth the Lord?

14 But cursed bee the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke p a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lorde a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

AND now, O ye a Priests, this commandement is for you.

2 If ye wil not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue b glory vnto my Name, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, & will curse your c blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because yee doe not consider it in your heart.

2 Behold, I will corrupt d your seed, and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the e dung of your solemne feasts, and you shall bee like vnto it.

4 And ye shall know, that I haue f sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant which I made with Leui, might stand, sayth the Lord of hostes.

5 My g couenant was with him of life and peace, and I h gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was afraid before i my Name.

6 The law of k trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes: hee walked with mee in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priestes l lips should preserue knowledge, and they should seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for hee is the m messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, sayth the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue been partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one n father? hath not one God made vs? why doe wee transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of o our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord, which he loued, and hath married the p daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that q offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and r couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping, and with mourning: because a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.

b To serue me according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

d Your seede sowen shal come to no profit.

e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices, and feasts, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as a vile as dung.

f The Priests obiected against the Prophet, that hee could not reproue them, but hee must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but hee sheweth that the office is nothing slandered, when these villaines and dung are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui on Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part, that they should faithfully serue him according to his worde.

h I prescribed Leui a certaine Lawe to serue me.

i He serued me and set foorth my glory with all humilitie and submission.

k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct others in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue euery one according to their necessitie, and not to reserue it for himselfe.

m Shewing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods will is not his messenger and Priest.

n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God, nor their brethren.

o Whereby they had bound themselues to God to be an holy people.

p They haue ioyned themselues in marriage with them that are of another religion.

q That is, the Priestes.

r Ye cause the people to lament, because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

the

f This is another fault, whereof hee accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage.

the offering is no more regarded, neither received acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, [f] Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet she is thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [u] couenant.

t As the one halfe of thy selfe.

u She that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name.

15 And did not [x] he make one? yet had he y abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly [z] seede: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none transgresse against the wife of his youth.

x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?

y By his power & vertue he could haue made many women for one man.

z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate mariage wherein is no excesse of lusts.

16 If thou hatest her, [b] put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth [c] the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

a Conteine your selues within your bounds, and be sober in mind, & bridle your affections.

b Not that he doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults, hee sheweth which is the lesse.

17 Ye haue [d] wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that [e] doth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Or where is the God of [f] iudgement?

c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit he take others, and so as it were couereth his fault.

d Ye murmured against God, because he heard you not assoone as yee called.

e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him.

f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christs office.

BEhold, I will send my [a] messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and the [b] Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the [c] messenger of the couenant whom yee desire: behold, hee shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expounded it, Luke 7.27

b Meaning, Messias as Psal. 40.1, 7. dan. 9 17, 25.

c That is, Christ by whō the couenant was made & ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant, because he reconcileth vs to his Father: and is Lord or King, because he hath the gouernment of his Church.

2 But who may [d] abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when hee appeareth? for hee is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: hee shall euen fine the sonnes of [e] Leui, and purifie them as gold and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.

d He sheweth that the hypocrits which wish so much for ỹ Lords comming, wil not abide when hee draweth neere: for he will consume them, and purge his, and make them cleane.

e He beginneth at the Priests, that they might be lights & shine vnto others.

4 Then shall the offrings of Iudah and Ierusalem bee acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time, and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widow and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and yee sonnes of Iaakob [f] are not consumed.

f They murmured against God, because they saw not his help euer present to defend them: and therfore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not daily consumed, it is a token that he doth still defend them, and so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, yee are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: [g] returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but yee said, Wherein shall wee returne?

g Reade Zech. 1.3.

8 Will a [h] man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In [i] tithes and offerings.

h There are then so of the heathen that barbarous, their will defy and hogods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation.

i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bene maintained, and the Priests, and the poore relieued.

10 Bring yee all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and proone me now herewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing [k] without measure.

k Not hauing respect how much yee neede, but I will giue you in all abundance, so that yee shall lacke place to put my blessings in.

11 And I will rebuke the [l] deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the field saith the Lord of hostes.

l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruits.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout [m] against me, saith the Lord: yet yee say, What haue we spoken against thee?

m The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God: first in that they said that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.

14 Yee haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commaundement, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hosts?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are [n] deliuered.

n They are not onely preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.

16 [o] Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a [p] booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were liuely touched, and encouraged others to feare God.

p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might bee an example of Gods mercies, to all penitent sinners.

17 And they shall be to me, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day [q] that I shal doe this, for a flocke, and I will [r] spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shalbe as mine owne proper goods.

r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my spirit.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked: betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lord, before the which Eliiah should come.

FOr behold, the day commeth, that shall [a] burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shalbe stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, saith the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branch.

e This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Mat.11.13,14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Elijah. f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance. g Hee sheweth wherein Iohns office should stand: in the turning of men to God, and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is converted to Christ, and the sonne shall embrace the faith of the true fathers Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob. h The second point of his office, was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the new Testament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes which were not receiued by a common consent to bee read and expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, saue in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to bee read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, & so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP. I.

1 Iosias appointeth Priestes, and keepeth the Passeouer. 7 Offrings for the Priestes & the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

2.*King.*23.21. 2.chron. 35.1.

AND Iosias kept the *Passeouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offred the Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the house, which Salomon the sonne of king Dauid had built,

4 And sayd, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpō your shoulders: now therfore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the maiesty of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passeouer, & make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passeouer after the Lordes commandement giuen to Moses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and ‖ Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the priests for the Passeouer two thousand six hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias and Nathanael his brethren, and ‖ Sabias, and ‖ Ethelus, and ‖ Ioram captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer fiue thousand sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests & the Leuites stood in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire as * appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, *Exod.*12.8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselues, and for the Priestes their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fatte vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make readie for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and ‖ Eddinus, which was of the kings appointment. ‖Or, Iedithum.

16 And the porters were at euery gate so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commaundement of king Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer, and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kinges of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the Priests and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before before his Lord with a heart full of godlines.

24 And concerning the thinges which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, above every nation and kingdome, and grieued him with ‖sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.
Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.
25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, 2.Chron. 35. 20. it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue war at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him
26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?
27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.
28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.
29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megiddo, and the Princes came downe to king Iosias.
30 And the King said to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.
31 So hee gate vp on his second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, & was buried in his fathers graue.
32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewayled, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.
33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, & euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the law of the Lord, and the things which hee did before, and the thinges now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel & Iudea.
34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twenty yeere old. 2.King.23.30. 2.chron. 36. 1.
35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.
36 Hee taxed also the people of an hundreth talents of siluer, & one talent of gold.
37 And the king of Egypt made Ioacim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.
38 And hee bound Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when hee had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.
39 Twenty and fiue yeere old was Ioacim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.
40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.
41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lorde, and caried them away, & set them in his temple at Babylon.
42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch, are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.
43 And Ioacim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, hee was eighteene yeere old.
44 And hee reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.
45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.
46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when he was one and twenty yeere old, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.
47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken *by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord. Iere. 38. 21.
48 For after that he was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, hee forsware himselfe by the name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, & transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.
49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.
50 Neuertheless the God of their fathers sent his messengers to cal him backe, because he spared them, and his owne Tabernacle.
51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that hee, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, comanded the kings of the Chaldeans to inuade them.
53 These killed their young men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare young man, nor mayden, neither old man nor child among them.
54 But hee deliuered them all into their handes, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caryed away the kings treasures into Babylon.
55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towers with fire.
56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, hee caried away into Babylon.
57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of *Ieremias, Iere. 25. 11. and 29. 10.
58 And that the land might enioy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seuenty yeeres were accomplished.

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus sayeth Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most hie Lord, hath made me King ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath cõmanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem which is in Judea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord euen his Lord bee with him, and let him goe vp to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and siluer,

7 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shal be brought, according to the vowes, into the temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Judea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuits, and all whose mind the Lord had moued to go vp, and build an house to the Lord in Jerusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonozor had caried out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer.

12 By whom they were giuen to ‖ Abassar the gouernour of Judea.

‖ Or, Shash-basar, or, Sanabassar.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, & a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twenty, viols of gold thirty, & of siluer two thousand foure hundreth and tenne, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they caried away, were fiue thousand foure hundreth, threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Persians, ‖ Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖ Semellius the secretary, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them that dwelt in Judea and Jerusalem, Ezra 4. 6.

‖ Or, Beselemus.

‖ Or, Shimshi.

TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD,

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretary, and the rest of their councell, and the Judges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Bee it now therefore knowen to our Lord the King, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the wals thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie bee built, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not endure to pay tribute, but also will resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the King, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this city did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this city was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, we declare it, that if this citie bee built, and the wals therof repaired, you shal haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria, & Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which ye sent to me: therfore I commanded, that it should be sought out, & it was found, that this city hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and wars, and how that mighty kings and fierce haue reigned in Jerusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the city, & that it be taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, go not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretary, & the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they mooued their tents with speede to Jerusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Jerusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentẽces.

NOw when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernors & captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and dronke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept & he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the the guard, keepers of the kings body, sayde one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shal ouercome, & whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, & great things in token of victory,

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tire of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shal sit next to Darius for his wisdome, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence, and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of king Darius,

9 And sayde, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, & whose sentence the king and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and he read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernors and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the Consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the Councell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first bega, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And sayd on this maner, O ye men, howe strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bonde man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorow nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernor, and causeth to speake all things by ||talents.

|| Or, pounds.

22 When men haue dronke, they haue no minde to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they do not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and he held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a king. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued, 47 and his petition granted.

THen the second which had spoken of the strength of the king began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is Lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make war one against another, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they go & breake downe mountaines, and walles, and towers.

5 They kill & are killed, and do not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoyles as all other things,

6 And those also which go not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowen it again, they reape it, & bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth down, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one go & do his owne business, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how should not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed? So hee held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women & of the truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, nether the mighty King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the king, & all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them which planted y vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honourable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all those things and giue themselues wholly vnto her, and gape, and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he ieopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor country.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauel, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kil and to steale, and to sayle vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lion & goeth in darknes, and when he hath stolen, rauished and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherfore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea,

26 Yea, many haue run mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Howe therefore doe you not beleeue mee? is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King, 30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings heade, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, hee laughed: and if shee were angrie with him, hee did flatter her, that hee might be reconciled with her.

32 Howe then, O ye men, are not women moze strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon an other, and he began to speake of the trueth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the Sun is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but she doeth the things which are iust, & abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So hee ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and said, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he sayd to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to send again all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when hee made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O lorde the king, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to do to the King of heauen.

47 Then king Darius riling vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the Stewards, and lieutenants, and captains, & gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And hee wrote leters to all the Lieutenants in Coelosyria, and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no prince nor Lieutenant, nor gouernor nor Steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents, vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuenteene) other ten talents euery yeere:

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 Hee wrote also touching the charges, and the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges, vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the ‖ young man was gone foorth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towardes Ierusalem, and gaue thankes to the King of heauen, ‖ Or, Zorobabel.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victorye, and of thee is wisedome, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wisdome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lorde of our fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters, and went out and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie

63 To goe vp and to builde Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy seuen dayes.

40 For ‖ Neemias and Attharias sayd to them, that they should not bee partakers of the holy thinges, till there arose an hie Priest clothed with doctrine and trueth.

41 So all they of Israel, from them of twelue yeere olde, and little children, were ‖ fortie thousand, besides men seruants and women seruants, two thousand three hundreth and sixtie.

42 Their seruants and handmaides were seuen thousand, three hundreth fortie and seuen: the singing men and women, two hundreth, fortie and fiue:

45 And to giue to the treasure of the works, a ‖ thousand pound in gold, and fiue thousand pound in siluer, and an hundreth priestly garments.

46 And the Priests and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the countrey, and the holy singers and the porters, and all Israel in their ‖ villages.

47 ¶ But * when the seuenth moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Jesus the sonne of Josedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offred sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offrings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Law, and offred sacrifices euery day, as was requisite, 52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offrings of the Sabbaths, and of the new moneths and of all holy feasts.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And charets to the Sidonians, & to those of Tyrus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should bee brought by flotes to the hauen of Joppe, according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yeere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedec, and their brethren, and the Priests and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Jerusalem, 57 And * layd the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere, after their returne into Judea and Jerusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twenty yeere old ouer the workes of the Lord, and Jesus and his sonne and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stood clothed with their long garments with musicall instruments, and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales.

60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with lowd voyce songs to the prayse of the Lord, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with lowd voyce, praysing the Lord for the raysing vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping & great crying, and many with trumpets and toy cried with lowd voyce,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude y blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Juda and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, sayd vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For wee obey your Lord as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of ‖ Asbasareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel sayd to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to builde an house to the Lord our God.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisinnes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The Kings answere to the contrary.

Ezra.5.1. nehe.1.1. BVt * in the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called ‡ vpon.

‡Greeke vpon them.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Ioledec stood vp, and began to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And sayd vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other thinges? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that hee had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answere was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and sent to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, saiute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainely to vnderstand, that when wee came to the countrey of Judea, and entred into the citie of Jerusalem, wee found in the citie of Jerusalem the ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already layd vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their handes, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 Wee asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

1.King.6.2. 14 And *this house was built vp many yeres agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking GOD to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, * hee deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 2.King.24.1

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house of Jerusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to ‖ Sanaballarus ruler. ‖Or, Shashbazar.

19 And a commaundement was giuen vnto him, that he should cary away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Jerusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should bee built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanaballarus, being come hither, layde the foundations of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the king, let it bee sought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem hath beene done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answere concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commaunded to search in the kings libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were laid vp for memorie.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commaunded the house of the Lord at Jerusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payed out of the house of king Cyrus,

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as wel those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of the house in Jerusalem, and brought into Babylon, should bee restored to the house which is in Jerusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also hee commaunded that Sisinnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, & those which were constitute captaines in Syria & Phenice, should take heed to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Judea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commaunded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they bee diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, til the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that same part of the tribute of Coelosyria losyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oile continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priests which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to bee spent euery day, 31 That offerings may be made to the hie God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoeuer should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee bee hanged thereon, and that his goods should be the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose name is there called vpon, destroy euery king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

Esra.6.12. 34 * I Darius the King haue ordeined that it should be diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Esdras and his companions follow the Kings commandement, and helpe the Iewes to build the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passeouer.

Esra.6.13. THen Sisinnes the * gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions obeying King Darius commandements,

2 Assisted diligently the holy works, working with the ancients & gouernors of the Sanctuary

3 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandement of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the sixt yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambes,

8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests and the Leuites stood according to their kinreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offred the Passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselues.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselues from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

8 For Eldzas had gotten great knowledge, so that hee would let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the commaundements. and hee taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the Commission written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Eldzas the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

gard against our enemies,

51 Because we had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe according to these things, whom we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, ‖Elebnas and Assamus, and with them tenne of their brethren. ‖Or, Serebias

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lorde, which the King and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, fiue hundreth and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of golde, 56 And twenty golden bassins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like gold.

57 And I sayd to them, you are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lorde of our fathers.

58 Watch, and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And wee departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mighty power of our Lorde with vs: and the Lorde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So wee came to Jerusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the house of our Lord to ‖Warmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri, ‖Or, Marimoth the sonne of Iorie of Vrie.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Jesus, and ‖Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight. ‖Or, Noadia, sonnes sonne of Banuu.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rams fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goates for salnation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ *When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, *Ezra 9.1.

68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, and Chetites, and Pherestes, and Iebusites and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue been partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and sate me downe sorowfull, and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel came to mee whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched foorth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And sayd, *O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face. *Ezra 9.1.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings & Priests haue been giuen vp to the Kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy been, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote and name in the place of thy holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Judea and Jerusalem.

81 And nowe, O Lord, what shall wee say, hauing these things? for wee haue transgressed thy Commandements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 82 *Because the land which yee goe to inherite, is a lande polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, *Deut. 7.

83 Therefore nowe yee shall not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shal you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lorde, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Wightest thou not bee angrie with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote, nor seede, nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.
89 Behold, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.
Ezra 10 1. 90 ¶ And as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Jerusalem, of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.
‖Or, Jeiel. 91 Then Iechonias the sonne of ‖ Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, sayd, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: we haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.
92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therfore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.
93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.
94 For to thee doth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.
95 Then Esdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the lawe for the strange wiues, 10 they promised to put them away.

Ezra 10.6. THen* Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joannan the sonne of Eliasib, 2 And being lodged there, hee did eate no bread, nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.
3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Jerusalem,
4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and he cast out from among them of the captiuitie.
5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda, & Beniamin came together within three dayes into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.
6 And all the multitude sate in the broade place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.
7 Then Esdras arose and sayd to them, Yee haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.
8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, & from the strange wiues.
10 Then all the multitude cried out and said with a loude voice, Wee will doe as thou hast sayd.
11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that wee cannot stande without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,
12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and al they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarrie:
13 And let the Priest and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.
14 Then Jonathas Asaels sonne, and ‖ Ezecias sonne of ‖ Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mololleam and Sabbateus did helpe them. ‖Or, Iahazias. ‖Or, Thecua.
15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.
16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.
17 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had maried strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth. ‖Or, Maasias
18 And there were found of the Priests which had married strange wiues, ‖Or, Iedaliah

23 And of the Leuites, ‖ Jozabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called ‖ Calitas, and Patheas, and Doudas, and Jonas. ‖Or, Eliasib, and Bacur.
24 Of the holy singers, ‖ Eliazurus, Bacchurus. ‖Or, Sallum. ‖Or, Remas. ‖or, Banadias
25 Of the porters, ‖ Sallumus, & Tolbanes. ‖Or, Elam.

27 Of the sonnes of ‖ Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and ‖ Hierielas, and ‖ Hieremoth, and Aedias. ‖Or, Zathone, Eliadas, Elisib.
28 And of the sonnes of ‖ Jamoth, Eliadas, Eliûmus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and ‖ Sabatus, and Sardeus. ‖Or, Sabad, and Sardai.
29 Of the sonnes of ‖ Bebai, Joannes, and Ananias, and ‖ Josabad, and Ematheas. ‖Or, Bebe.

Samaras, Sambis, Iolliphus.
35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias.
36 All these married strange wines, and put them away with their children.
37 And the Priests and the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.
Neh. 8.1. 38 ¶ * Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, 39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Lawe of Moyses, which had bin giuen by the Lord God of Israel.
40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe Priest the Law to all the multitude, both man and woman, & to all the Priests, that they might heare the Law the first day of the seuenth moneth.
41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Lawe.
42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stood vpon a Pulpit of wood that was prepared.
‖Or, Matithias. 43 And there stood by him ‖ Matgathias, Sammus, Anantas, Azarias, Urias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand, ‖Or, Pedaias. 44 And at his left hand ‖ Phaldains, and Sail, Melchias, Asthalaphus, Nabarias.
45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for he sate honourably before them all) 46 And they all stood vpright when hee expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mightie God of hostes.
47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.
48 Then Iesus, and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioazabdus and Ananias, & Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord, ‖Or, Bani.
49 And taught the Lawe of the Lorde, and stood alle earnestly vpon the reading.
50 Then sayd ‖ Athytharates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.
‖Or, Nehemias.
51 Goe therefore and eate the fatte meates and drinke the sweete drinkes, and send presents to them that haue not.
52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sory: for the Lord God will glorifie you.
53 So the Leuites commaunded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.
54 Then they departed all to eat and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.
55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherwith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

Angels foode.

Num.20.11. wisd.11.4. 20 *When ye were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, and waters did flowe out to satisfie you? from the heate I couered you with the leaues of the trees,

21 And I gaue you fat countreys: I cast out the Canaanites, the Pherezites, and Philistims

Isa.5.4. before you: *What shal I doe more for you, saith the Lord?

Exo.15.23. 22 Thus sayth the Almighty Lord, *When ye were in the wildernesse at the bitter waters, being athirst, and blaspheming my name, 23 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, and made the riuer sweete.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou *Iuda wouldest not obey: I will turne me

Exo.32.8. to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my lawes.

25 Seeing ye haue forsaken me, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercie of mee, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

Isa.1.15. 26 *When yee call vpon mee, I will not heare you: for ye haue defiled your handes with blood, and your feete are swift to commit murther, 27 Although yee haue not forsaken mee, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus sayth the Almighty Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her yong babes, 29 That yee would bee my people, as I am your God, and that ye would be my children, as I am your father?

Mat.23.37 30 *I gathered you together as an henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will cast you out from my sight.

Isa.1.13. 31 *When you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your new moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets whom ye haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, sayth the Lord.

33 Thus sayth the Almighty Lorde, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doeth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commaundement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleeue mee though they heare mee not, and they vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I commaund them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene mee with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, & see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I wil giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Jonas,

40 Naum, Abacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called also the *messenger of the Lord.) Malac.3.1

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

THus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commaundements by my seruants the Prophets, whome they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, sayth vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I nowe doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe yee, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord,

5 And thee, O Father I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kinred be not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant,

8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember *what I did vnto Sodome and Gomorah, Gen.19.24.

9 Whose faith is mixed with clouds of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord vnto Esdras, Tel my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Jerusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shal haue at will the tree of life smelling of ointment: they shal neither labour nor be weary.

13 Goe ye, and ye shal receiue it: pray that the time which is long, may be shortned: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: For I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my name in Israel.

17 Feare not thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I wil send thee my seruants Esai and Jeremie to helpe thee, by whose counsel I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and honie, and seuen mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widow: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blind come into the light of my clearenesse.

22 Keepe the old and the yong that are within thy wals.

Tobit.1.17. 23 * Whersoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and burie them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their feete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among the number.

27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt be merrie, and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Bee ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almightie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commaundement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Watte for your shepheard, who shall giue you euerlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.

35 Bee ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadowe of this world: receiue the ioy of your glorie: I testifie my Sauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thankes vnto him that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that the people which haue beene called from the beginning may be sanctified.

Reue.7.9. 42 * I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a yong man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads hee set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marualled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these my Lord?

45 Who answered and said vnto mee, These be they that haue put off the mortal clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What young man is it that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered, and said vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stood so stronglie for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel said vnto mee, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore mooued, so that I began to speak fearefull words to the most High, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam without soule, who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee, Gene.2.7.

6 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earthly [Or, went forward.] fourth,

7 Euen then thou gauest him commaundement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kinreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandements. Gene.6.12.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them, Gene. 7 10.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam.

11 Yet thou leftest one, euen * Noe, with his houshold of whom came all righteous men. 1.Pet.3 20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou didst chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham Gene. 12.1. Gene.17.5.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede. Gen. 21 2,3 Gene.25.2,3, 26

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, * and Mal. 1.2,3. rom.9.13.

Iacob

didst chuse Jacob, and cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou ledst his seed out of Egypt,
Exod.19.1. deut.4.10. thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina,

18 And inclinedst the heauens, and bowedst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And the glorie went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, wind and cold, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seede of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring foorth fruit in them.

Gene.3.6. 21 For *Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeeres
1.Sam.16.13. were brought to an end, * til thou didst raise thee
2.Sam.5.1. and 7.5,13. vp a seruant called Dauid,

24 *Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee,

26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they had also a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest the citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue howe this commeth to passe. Are the deeds of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy Testimonies as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone heere & there thorowout the heathen: & I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon the commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people haue so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reproueth Esdras, because hee seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered mee, and said, I am sent to shewe thee three wayes, and to set foorth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare mee one, I will shew thee also the way that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Goe thy way, weigh mee the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can do that which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the mids of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Paraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not bee separated, and yet canst thou giue mee none answere of them.

10 Hee said moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 How should thy vessell then bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and now outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that wee were not at all, then that wee should liue in wickednes, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And hee answered mee, and said, * I came Iudg.9.8. 2.chr.25.18 to a forrest in the plaine where the trees held a councell, 14 And said, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou wert iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered, and said, Verily it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the Sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered hee me, and said, Thou hast giuen right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the Isa.55.8, 9. John 3. 31, 1.cor.2.13, 14.

the wood, and the sea for the floods, so *they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue ỹ height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and sayd, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine high thinges, but of such as wee dayly meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercy.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, & said, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marualle: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the thinges that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the thinges whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowen, be not turned vpside downe, & if the place where the euill is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euil seed hath bin sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlines hath he brought vp vnto this time? And how much shall hee bring foorth vntill the harnest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth foorth, 32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe which are without number, how great an harnest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hast not to bee aboue the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to bee aboue him, though thou endeuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seeds is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the ballance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the harnest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered mee and sayd, Goe and aske a woman with child, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places hast to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet therefore,

45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and behold, a hote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watery cloud, & sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormy raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayd, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? Or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest mee, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth shalbe hid. 10 Vnrighteousnes and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reiected, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

NEuertheless concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall bee taken in a great number, and the way of the truth shall bee hid, and the land shall be barren from faith,

2 And *iniquitie shalbe increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past: Mat.24.12.

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, & the soules shall change place.

7 And

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shalbe a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake foorth, and the wild beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters,

9 And salt waters shalbe found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and understanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall unrighteousnes and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe, and weep as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted me, and set mee vp vpon my feet.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou been? and why is thy countenance so heauy?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepherd that leaueth his flock in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then sayd I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when hee heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning, and weeping, as Uriel the Angel had commaunded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were verie grieuous vnto mee againe,

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lilie,

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of al builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of al the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whome thou louedst, thou gauest a law, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, & hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they should haue beene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare mee, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I sayd, Speake on, my Lord. Then sayd he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better then he doth that made them?

34 And I sayd, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines paine mee euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, & to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And hee sayd vnto mee, Thou canst not. And I sayd, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iaakob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he sayd vnto me, Number vnto mee the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring mee foorth the windes that are shut vp therein: shew mee the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and labourest to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these thinges, whereof thou askest mee?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I sayd, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bin before mee, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And hee sayd vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so there is no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayd, Couldest thou not make at once those that haue beene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered hee mee, The creature, said he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shalbe created therein.

45 And I sayde, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also conteine all men at once.

46 And hee sayd vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest toorth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I sayd, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sowen vpon it.

49 For as a yong child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeyned the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and sayd, Seeing thou hast now shewed mee the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast tolde mee is young, draweth the neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauelleth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whome thou hast nowe brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And thee shall answere thee, Some were borne in the flowre of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that ye are lesse of stature then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now begin to bee olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then sayd I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whom doest thou gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicity of the age to come.

AND hee sayd vnto mee, In the beginning when the rounde worlde was made, and before the borders of the worlde were set, and before the windes blewe one against another:

2 Before the noyse of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were layd:

3 Before the faire floures did appeare, before the mooueable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heightes of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnies in Sion were sore:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that nowe sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layed vp the treasure of fayth, were sealed,

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and sayd, What shall be the diuision of times? or when shall bee the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee sayde vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, * Jacobs hand held first the heele of Esau. Gen. 25. 26.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hande of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, & said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an end to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mighty sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest shall not bee moued.

15 And therefore when he speaketh, bee not afrayd: for of the end shall bee the worde, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, & beholde there was a voice that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it sayd, Behold, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I beginne to enquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world that shal vanish away, shal be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shal see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere old shal speake with their voyces: the women with childe shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raysed vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places appeare as the vnsowen, and the full storehouses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afrayd.

24 At that time shall friendes fight with friendes, as with enemies: and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoeuer remaineth from al these things that I haue told thee, shall bee saued and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shalbe quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shalbe ouercome, and the truth which hath bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And

29 ¶ And when hee talked with me, behold, I looked a little vppon him before whome I stood.

30 And these words sayd he vnto mee, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tel thee more things, & greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the Mighty hath seene thy righteous dealings: he hath seene also thy chastity, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Bee of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I sayd, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst *that the heauen & the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy word. Gen. 1. 1.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darknesse was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aire, and commandedst it, that going betweene, it should make a diuision between the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commaundedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: sixe parts diddest thou drye, & kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sowen of God and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, & many diuers pleasures for the taste, & floures of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smel, & these things were created the third day.

45 *Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres, Gen. 1. 14.

46 And gauest them a charge, to do *seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made. Gen. 1. 14, 15. deut. 4. 19.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saidst vnto the seuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, as foules and fishes: and it was so. Gen. 1. 20.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commaundement of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous works.

49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst ‖ Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan, ‖ Or, Enoch.

50 And didst separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the first day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell, and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whome thou madest lord ouer all the works which thou hast created, of him come we all, & the people also, whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spettle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement, 43 after the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto mee an Angel, which had beene sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto me, Vp, Esdras, & heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I sayde, Speake on, my God. Then sayd he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could go into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded, and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, & in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwixt the fire and the water, so that there could go but one man there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if hee neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And

10 And I sayd, It is so, Lord. Then said hee, so is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the worlde: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narrow, full of sorrow and trauaile: they are but few and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquieteth thou they selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

Deut. 8. 1. 17 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shal not see the large things.

19 Then he sayd vnto mee, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, to oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to auoyd punishment.

22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and shee shall come foorth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeur shall escape these euils, hee shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shalbe turned into the old silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the worlde that is yet asleepe, shall be rayled vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an ende.

34 Iustice onely shall continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shall be stroug.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shalbe shewed: the good deeds shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then sayd I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernesse: Gene. 18. 23 Exod. 32. 3, 11.

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samuel, 38 And * Dauid for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie, 2 Sam. 24. 17.

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 2 Chro. 6. 14 1 King 17 21 and 18 42, 45.

40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many. 2 King 19. 15.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered mee, and sayd, This present life is not the end, oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man bee able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I answered then, and sayd, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee. Rom 5. 18.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when wee doe the works that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that wee betide our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should bee kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should bee shewed, whose fruit remaineth incorruptible, wherein is saletie and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places.)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and sayd, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast sayd, but if he get the victory, he should receiue the thing that I sayd.

59 For this is the life whereof Moyses spake
Deut.30.19. vnto the people, while he liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou mayst liue.

60 Neuertheless they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue sayd vnto them, 61 That heauinesse should not so bee to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whome saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then and said, I know, Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Law,

64 And that * hee is patient: for he long suf-
Rom.2.4. fereth those that haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberall: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercie: for he ouercommeth in mercie those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if hee were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euill might be releeued from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliue.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaue not those that he healed with his worde, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peraduenture bee very fewe left in an vnnumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the vniust.

AND he answered me, saying, The most high made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou asketh the earth, it shall say vnto thee that it giueth much earthy matter to make pots, but litle dust that gold commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

Mat.20.16. 3 * There be many created, but few shall bee saued.

4 Then answered I, and sayd, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may entreat thee, that thou mayest giue seed vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one workmanship of thy handes as thou hast sayd.

8 For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, as thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preserued by fire & water, and the worke created by thee, doeth suffer nine monethes the creature, which is fashioned in it,

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteined, shall both be preserued, and when time is come, the wombe, being preserued, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnesse, nurturest it in thy lawe, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preserued.

15 Nowe therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generall thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sory, 16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whome I am woful, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieued.

17 For them will I pray before thee, aswell for my selfe as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voice, and vnderstand my words which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before he was taken vp:

20 O Lorde, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glorie incomprehensible, before whome the host of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose worde is true, and sayings stedfast, whose commandement is strong, and gouernement terrible,

23 Whose looke driueth vp the depthes, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witnesse, 24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearely taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.

31 For we and our fathers haue all the same sickenes, but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towardes vs which haue no workes of righteousnesse.

33 For the righteous, which haue laid vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deeds.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest bee so grieued towards it?

1. King. 8. 46. 2. Chron. 6. 36. 35 *For verely there is no man among them that he borne, but hee hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousnesse and thy goodnesse shalbe praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according to thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verely consider the works of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before the destruction:

Gen. 4. 4. 39 But *I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation, & the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowen, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then & said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it bee destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made al things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seed.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, & said, The things present are for the present, & the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also art thou marueilous before the Highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them, that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glorie for such as be like vnto thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnes made ready: the citie is builded: and rest is prepared, perfect goodnes and absolute wisedome.

53 The root of euil is sealed vp from you: the weaknes and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therfore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish:

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his Law, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die. Psal. 14. 1. and 53. 1.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst & paine prepared for the: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therfore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and sayd, 63 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude, 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall bee seene an *earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people, Mat. 24. 7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, & the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shal escape safe, & shall bee deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleeued,

8 Shalbe preserued from the said perils, and shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my law, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it,

12 They must be taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more carefull, to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire how the righteous shall be saued, & whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and sayd,

15 I haue afore sayd that which I say now and will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shal be * saued, Chap. 8. 3. matth. 20. 16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwel in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seed, and by a law, whereout they cannot rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuiles, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one graps of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eat onely of the flowers of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commanded me, into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowres, and did eat of the herbes of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and my heart was vexed within mee, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say, Exod. 19. 9. and 24. 3. dent. 4. 12.

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shew thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wildernesse, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my words, thou seed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I sow my law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 * For they that receiued it, perished be- Exod. 32. 28 cause they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For wee that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, & our heart also which receiued it:

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I shake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right side * I saw a woman, which mourned sore, and Chap. 10. 44 lamented with a loud voyce, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherin I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And sayd vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in mind?

41 And she said vnto mee, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorrow: for I am sore vexed in my mind, & brought very low.

42 Then I sayd vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 And she sayd to mee, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no child, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, & euery day these thirty yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmayd, and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauel.

47 So when hee grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BVt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort mee: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort mee, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fledde, and am come into this field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, untill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman above all other, seest thou not our heauinesse, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull, and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee bee all now in heauinesse, and make our mone (for we be all sorrowfull) art thou sore for one sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning, all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shalbe destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sore but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto mee, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorrowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruite vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorrow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many sailes hath Sion? Be of good comfort, because of the sorrow of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is laide waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

22 Our Psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Arke of our Couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priestes are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake.

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for shee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorrowes, that the Almightie may bee mercifull vnto thee and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly she cast out a great voice, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie buildes, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraide, and cried with a lowde voice, and said, 28 Where is Uriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for hee hath caused mee to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. *Chap. 4. 1.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted mee, and set mee vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorie?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken mee, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the fielde, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse. *Chap. 5. 30.

33 Then said hee vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto mee, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my minde being hastie, erre?

37 Now therefore, I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraide: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 Hee hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sorie continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort her.

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas shee told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen she which thou seest now a citie builded)

45 And as touching that shee said vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas shee told thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But whereas shee told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when shee came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou begannest to comfort her: of these things which have chanced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For nowe the most High seeth, that thou art sorie in thy mind, & because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therfore I commanded thee to go into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the Citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an Eagle comming foorth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a Lion comming out of the forrest.

THen saw I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I saw, and behold, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrarie feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I saw that the eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I sawe that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the eagle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not all together: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheless, I saw that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the middes of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrarie feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shal none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in processe of time the feathers that followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the eagles bodie, but two heads that rested, and fiue wings.

24 Then saw I also, that two wings diuided themselues from the fiue, and remained vnder the head that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and lo, the two that remained, thought also in themselues to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I sawe that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth, with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had beene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the mids, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶Then I heard a voyce which sayd vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and beholde, as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake, and sayd,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that, that of the foure beasts remainest, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the ende of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme,

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and beholde, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, and that thee may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the Lion spake these words to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.

3 And I sawe, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and sayd vnto my spirit, 4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I weary in my mind, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now, will I beseech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I sayd, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede be come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶Then he sayd vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The Eagle whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the *kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. *Dan.7.7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another.

15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie, which thou sawest.

17 As for the voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the heads, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome, there shall arise great strife, and it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall bee restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shal arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shal be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation.

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dommon of earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe about all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle:

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bedde, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall hee fall by the sworde himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserued for their ende, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the wordes that thou hast heard,

32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the ende, and he shall reproue them, and cast before them their spoyles.

33 For hee shall set them alone in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, and he shal make them ioyfull, vntill the comming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast been meete to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene in a booke, and hide them.

38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes moe, that it may bee shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: & with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them altogether, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euil haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as a hauen or ship preserued from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it been for vs, that we had been burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voyce. Then answered I them, and sayd, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauy thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the lowe estate of your sanctuary.

49 And now goe your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the fielde seuen dayes, as he had commanded mee, and did eate onely of the flowers of the fielde, and had my meate of the hearbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The vision of a winde comming foorth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His propertie and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuē dates I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a wind from the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and beholde, there was a mighty man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, frō the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, he graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheselfe, when he saw the fierceneſſe of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sworde nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely, as I sawe, hee sent out of his mouth, as it had been a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the wind of the flame, and the great storme, & fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust and smell of smoke, When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 ¶ Afterward sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offred: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and sayd, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Woe vnto them that shal be left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Nowe vnderstand I the things that are layd vp in the latter daies, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils, and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger should fall into these, and forelee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and sayd, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shal beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most mighty.

24 Know therefore, that they which bee left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.
25 These are the meanings of the vision. Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea, 26 The same is he whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them that are left behinde.
27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that hee neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,
29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:
30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:
31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, and nation against nation, and realme against realme.
Mat. 24.7.
32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shal my sonne be reuealed, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.
33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne land leane the battell that they haue one against another.
34 And an innumerable multitude shalbe gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, & to fight against him.
35 But he shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.
36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen foorth without any hands.
37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.
39 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land * in the time of Oseas the king, whom Salmanasar the king of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.
2. King. 17.3
41 But they tooke this counsel to themselues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe foorth into a further countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt,
42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.
43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.
44 For the most High then shewed them signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.
Exod. 14.21. Iosh. 3.15, 16
45 For through the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and the same regon is called ‖ Ararcth.
‖ Or, Araraeth.
46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come foorth againe, 47 The most High shall hold still the springs of the riuer againe, that they may goe through: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.
48 But they that be left behinde of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.
49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shal defend the people that remaine.
50 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.
51 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from the mids of the sea?
52 And hee sayd vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.
53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightned.
54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne lawe, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.
55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisedome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.
56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most High: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.
57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praysing the most High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, & such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

VPon the third day I sate vnder an oke, and behold, there came foorth a voyce vnto mee out of the bush, and sayd, Esdras, Esdras.
2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lord, and stood vp vpon my feete.
3 Then sayd he vnto me, * In the bush I reuealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt.
Exod. 3.2, &c.
4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season,
5 And I told him many wonders, & shewed him the secrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, saying,
6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.
7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.
8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine hencefoorth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended, 9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times times begin to ware old.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils bee increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and sayd before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shalbe done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into mee, and I will write all that hath been done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may find the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for forty dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, til the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as hee commanded me, and gathered al the people together, and said, 28 Heare these words, O Israel.

29* Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, Gen.47.4.

30 And receiued the Law of life, * which they kept not, which yee also haue transgressed after them. Act.7.53.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shalbe kept aliue, and after death ye shall obtaine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto mee, nor seeke me these forty dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called me, saying, Esdras, *open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Ezek.3.2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached mee a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had dronke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In forty dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the forty dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keep the seuenty last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition 20 and punishment vpon the kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sin. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, sayth the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnesse.

5 Behold, sayth the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death and destruction.

6 Because that iniquity hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, sayth the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,

Reue.6.10. and 19.2.

8 Behold, * the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust crie continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt, 11 But I will bring them out with a mightie hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall bee smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swordes in their hands.

16 For there shall bee sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regarde their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall bee troubled, the houses shall bee afraide, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shal destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the ‖ East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

‖ Or, West.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliereth hee them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because yee haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall bee caried as the wind vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble,

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe foorth as the boares of the forrest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall bee troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemie beliege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shalbe feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold clouds from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the sword vnto the belly,

36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shalbe great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shalbe afraide, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall winds arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which hee raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West wind, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mightie clouds shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starres that they may make all the earth afraide, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,

41 As fire and haile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may bee full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and wals and mountaines, and hils, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraide.

44 They shall come to her and beliege her, and shall powre foorth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glorie of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast decked thy daughters to whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to committe whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God,

49 I will

49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glorie of thy power shall bee dried vp, as a flowre when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt bee sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women. So that the mightie and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and said ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set foorth the beautie of thy countenance:

56 The reward of thy whoredome shall bee in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all the men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that bee in the mountaines, shall die of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappie, shalt come thorow the Sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glorie, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt bee to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carie away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria. 18. 38. Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord, 55 whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke and haircloth, and mourne your children, and bee lorie: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungry Lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once beganne to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone foorth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 Hee shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? hee shall thunder, and who shall not be afraide?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly bee broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the glorie of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrowes that be shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe till they come vpon the earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shotte of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall bee sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorrowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendement.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, vitailes shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to bee in good case: but then shall the euils bud foorth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall bee no man to comfort them: for the earth shall bee wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall bee desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shall bee ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rockes.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where olines growe, or among other trees.

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall bee three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall bee left waste, and the fields thereof shall ware olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauaile thereth[r]ough.

27 The

27 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, yee seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lord speaketh: behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 And as a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe commeth to birth, they tarie not a whit:

32 So shal not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way, and hee that buyeth, as one that wil lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as he that winneth not: and hee that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shal not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goodes, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, & their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angry against them, for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnes hate iniquitie, when she decketh herselfe, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall bridle the authour of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

Luke 16. 16 46 Behold, the Lord *knoweth al the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

Gene. 1. 1. 47 *For assoone as hee said, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he *knoweth the number of them. Psal. 147. 4.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vault: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the high rocks to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the middes of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the spirit of the almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hidde things in the secrets of the earth, 55 Hee knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne & would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, yee shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will yee doe, or how will you hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the Iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, & meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God lead you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heat of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place & cities that are neere, there shall bee great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall bee like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shal waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shal the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tryed by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord, Behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not yee afraid, doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to bee deuoured with fire.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlinesse. 6 His equitie. 8 His charity and prosperity. 19 Hee fleeth, and his goods are confiscate, 22 And after restored.

THe booke of the wordes of Tobit the sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim,

2 Who in the time of ‖ Enemessar King of the Assyrians was * leade away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galile aboue Aser.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and Iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with mee to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.

5 *Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Jerusalem, at the feastes, * bringing the first fruits, and the tenths of beasts, with that which was first shorne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Jerusalem: the other tenth part I solde, and came and bestowed it euery yeere at Jerusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meete, as Deborа my fathers mother had commaunded me, for my father left me as a pupill.

9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eat of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

13 Therefore the most high gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueior.

14 ¶ And I went into Media, and I deliuered tenne talents of siluer to Gabael, the ‖ brother of Gabrias ‖ in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not go vnto Media.

16 ¶ But in the time of ‖ Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry, 17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I sawe any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any, when he * was come and fled from Judea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

19 Therefore when a certaine Ninenite had accused mee to the King, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoiled, neither was there any thing left mee besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheles * within fiue and fifty dayes two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts, and ouer all his domesticall affaires, Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to Nineue: now Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersaw the accounts: So Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

NOw when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

2 And when I saw abundance of meate, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren, which doth remember God, and loe, I will tarie for thee.

3 But he came againe, and sayd, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the Sunne,

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meat in heauinesse,

6 Remembring that prophesie of * Amos which had sayd, Your solemne feastes shall bee turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the Sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and said, Doeth hee not feare to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet loe, hee burieth the dead againe?

He is made blinde for an example of patience to his posteritie.

10 And I knew not that sparrowes were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrowes cast downe warme dung into mine eyes and a whiteneſſe came in mine eyes, and I went to the Phiſicians, but they helped me not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntill I went into Elymais.

Job 2. 9.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her praier heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I being sorrowfull, did weepe, & in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iuſt, and all thy workes, and all thy waies are mercy and truth, and thou iudgeſt truly and iuſtly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on mee, neyther punish me according to my sinnes or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

Deut. 28. 15, 37. ‖ Or, thy iudgements are many and true.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore thou haſt deliuered vs * for a spoyle, and vnto captiuity, & to death, and for a Prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are diſperſed, and now ‖ thou haſt many and iuſt cauſes,

5 To doe with mee according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because wee haue not kept thy commaundements, neyther haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with me as seemeth beſt vnto thee, and commaund my spirit to bee taken from me, that I may be diſſolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard falſe reproches, and am very sorrowfull: commaund therfore that I may be diſſolued out of this diſtreſſe, and go into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

Sarra is checked of her fathers maydes.

7 ¶ It came to paſſe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maydes,

8 Becauſe shee had beene married to seuen husbands, whome Aſmodeus the euill spirit had killed before that they had lyen with her. Doeſt thou not know, sayd they, that thou haſt strangled thine husbandes? thou haſt had now seuen husbands, neither waſt thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doeſt thou ‖ beat vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee eyther sonne or daughter.

‖ Or when she beat them for their faults, they sayd.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorrowful, so that she thought to haue strangled herselfe. And she said, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I do this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorrow.

11 Then she praied toward the window, and said, Bleſſed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious name is bleſſed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praiſe thee for euer.

Sarra praieth and fasteth, that she may be deliuered from shame.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee,

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knoweſt, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

The innocencie of Sarra. Her chaſtity.

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuity: I am the only daughter of my father, neither hath he any man child to bee his heire, neyther any † neere kinſman or child borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, & why should I liue? But if it pleaſe not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, & to pitie me, that I do no more heare reproch.

† Greek, nere brother.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maieſty of the great God.

The prayers of Tobit and Sarra are heard both at a time.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenes of Tobits eies, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to bind Aſmodeus the euill spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfesame time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages. 4 Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael which did conduct him.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages, seeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom hee bringeth to his father.

TObias then answered, and sayde, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and sayd vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel sayd, I will go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tary for mee, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Go, and tary not: so he went in, and said to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then he said, Call him vnto mee, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether hee be faithfull to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doest thou seeke a stock or family, or an hired man to go with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kinred and thy name.

12 Then he said, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit saide, ‖ Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with mee, because I haue enquired to know thy kinred and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I know Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samatias: for we went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not deceyned with the errour of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

‖ Or, thou commest happily.

14 But tell me, what wages shall I giue thee? wilt thou a groat a day, & things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer, if ye returne safe, I will adde something to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father sayd, Go thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dog of the yong man with them.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angel keepeth him company. Chap.10.4.

17 But *Anna his mother wept, and sayd to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

His mother weepeth.

18 Would to God wee had not layd money vpon money, but that it had beene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth suffice vs.

20 Then sayd Tobit, Be not carefull, my sister: he shall returne in safty, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tigris, and there abode.

Tobias inuaded of a fish, is deliuered by the Angel.

2 And when the young man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel sayd vnto him, Take the fish. And the young man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel sayd, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the young man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the young man sayd to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer and gall of the fish?

7 And he sayd vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirit trouble any man, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, annoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel sayd to the young man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that shee may be giuen thee for a wife.

Num 27.8. and 36.8. 11 For to thee doth the *right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kinred.

12 And the maide is faire and wise: nowe therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marrie her to another, according to the Law of Moses: els he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayde hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the marriage chamber.

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid least I go in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come in to her: wherfore I also feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of mee to the graue with sorow: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel sayd vnto him, Doest thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marry a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore, heare me, O my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt go into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish,

17 Which if the spirit do smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, & pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and hee shall goe with thee: moreouer I suppose that she shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, & Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house. Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yonng man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they sayd, that thy were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he said to them, Doe ye know Tobit our kinseman? And they sayd, Wee know him: Then sayd he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias sayd, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, & kissed him, & wept,

7 And blessed him, and sayd vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest & good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorrowfull, and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer, they receiued them with a readie mind, & after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Then sayd Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched. Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel sayde to Tobias, Eate, and drinke, and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marry my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and mery. But Tobias sayd, I will eate nothing here, vntil ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel sayd then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and shee came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the * Law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them, Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias. Num. 36.6.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and sayd vnto her, Sister prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when shee had done, as he had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares,

18 And sayde vnto her, Bee of good comfort, my daughter: the Lorde of heauen and earth gine thee ioy for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell, as Chap. 6.7.

2 And as he went, he remembred the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the ‖vtmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

‖Or, vpmost.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, & sayd, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

Tobias prayer.

5 Then beganne Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

Gen. 2.7, 18, 22.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him *Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankind: thou hast sayd, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He sayd to his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them see whether he be aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came foorth, and tolde them that hee was aliue.

Raguel prayseth God for Tobias.

15 Then Raguel praised God, & said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints prayse thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And he kept the wedding feast foureteene dayes.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods towards ỹ mariage of his daughter to Tobias.

20 For Raguel had sayd vnto him by an oth, that he should not depart before that the foureteene daies of the marriage were expired, 21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods, and returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when hee and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias mariage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and sayd vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be sory.

Tobits care for his son. The Angell goeth on Tobias message.

5 So Raphael went out, and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went foorth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobias and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOw Tobit his father counted euery day, & when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarrying. Chap. 5. 17.

3 Therefore he was very sory.

4 Then his wife sayd to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarieth: and she beganne to *bewayle him, and sayd,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whome Tobit sayd, Holde thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But shee said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not, my sonne is dead: and she went out euery day, by the way which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewayling her sonne Tobias, vntill the foureteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn, that he should tary there. Then Tobias sayde to Raguel, Let mee goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see mee.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me go to my father.

Raguel giueth Tobias and his wife leaue to depart.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money.

Sarra instructed by her parents.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he sayd to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. Edna also sayd to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I may see the children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Beholde now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreate her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How hee was received. 10 His father had his sight restored, and prayseth the Lord.

AFter these thinges Tobias went his way, praysing God that hee had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew nere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael sayd to Tobias, Thou knowest brother, how thou didst leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she saw comming, shee sayd to his father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and sayd vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinckled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, hee rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke.

14 And hee wept, and sayd, Blessed art thou O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged mee, and hast had pitie on me: for behold I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad, went in, and told his father the great thinges that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, reioycing and praysing God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, marueiled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, hee blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed bee thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren, which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasure that Raphael had done him. 5 The which he would recompense. 11. 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent from God.

THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and sayd vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And hee sayd vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought mee againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the old man sayd, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and sayd vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But hee tooke them both apart, and sayd vnto them, Praysle God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which he hath done vnto you before al them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reueale the works of God: doe that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes and righteousnesse. A little with righteousnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes, then to lay vp gold.

9 For almes doth deliuer from death, and doth purge al sinne. Those which exercise alms and righteousnesse, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I sayd it was good to keepe close the secret of a King, but that it was honorable to reuelle the works of God.

12 Now therefore when thou didst pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the holy One: And when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with tétation.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deed was not hid from mee: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael, one of the seuen holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saintes, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fel vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he layd vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praysle God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine own pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praysle him in all ages.

19 * All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision. Gene. 18. 8. and 19. 3. Iudges 13. 16.

20 Now therefore giue God thankes: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and sayd, Blessed bee God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

2 *For he doeth scourge and hath pitie: hee leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyde his hand. Deut. 32. 39. 1. sam. 2. 6. wisd. 16. 13.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, yee children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our father for euer.

5 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercy againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then will hee turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but yee shall see what hee will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and prayse the Lord of righteousnesse, and extoll the euerlasting King. I wil confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power, and greatnesse to a sinfull nation. O ye sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall prayse the King of heauen, and shal reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all prayse him for his righteousnesse.

9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, he wil scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee will haue pittie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue prayse to the Lord duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his Tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captaines, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with gifts in their handes, euen gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall prayse thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shal reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue been sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shall be built vp with Saphires, and Emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towres, and thy bulwarkes with pure gold.

17 And the streets of Ierusalem shall be paued with Berall, and Carbuncle, and stones of ‖ Dphir. ‖Or, Souphir

18 And all her streets shall say, ‖ Hallelujah, and they shall prayse him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled ‖ it for euer. ‖Or, prayse ye the Lord. ‖That is, Ierusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophecieth the destruction of Nineue, 7 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praysing God.

2 And he was eight and fiftie yeere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and hee gaue almes, and hee continued to feare the Lord God, and to prayse him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and fiue of his sonnes sonnes, and sayd to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.)

4 Goe into Media my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shal be burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * wil haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age bee fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof. Ezra 3. 8. and 6. 14.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which loue the Lord in trueth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those thinges which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie mee honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light hee brought him into darkenesse, and how hee rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus hee went downe into darkenesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fel into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnesse doeth deliuer. When he had sayd these things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere old, and he buried him honourably. ‖Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel guel his father in law.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buried his father and mother in law honourably, and he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And hee died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and euen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death hee reioyced for Nineue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 He threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arpharad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane, the wals round about of hewen stone, three cubits broad, and fiue cubits long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites and the breadth thereof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it of an hundreth cubits, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits,

4 And made the gates therof euen gates that were lifted vp on high, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fortie cubites, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arpharad in the great fielde, which is the fielde in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, and Hydaspes, and the countrie of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselues to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, and the great field of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Jorden vnto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chelus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 10 Until one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commaundement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with al this countrey, and sware by his throne and kingdome, that he would surely bee auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against King Arpharad in the seuenteenth yeere, and he preuailed in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arpharad, and all his horsemen, and all his charets.

14 And hee wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and spoyled the streetes thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arpharad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thorow with his darts, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both hee, and all his companie with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time, and banqueted, both he and his armie, an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commaunded presumptuously that all people should bee brought into subiection, 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eightteenth yere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, that hee should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his Officers and all his Nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commaundement of his mouth.

4 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captain, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commaundement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for mee the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine army, and I will giue them as a spoyle vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleyes, and their riuers, and the floods shall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrie: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for mee vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoyle them wheresoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commaundements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commaunded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Holofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernors, and captaines, and officers of the army of Assur,

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commaunded him, vnto an hundred and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great army in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision,

18 And vitaile for euery man of the army, and very much golde and siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then hee went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets and horsemen, and chosen footemen.

20 A great multitude also of sundrie sortes came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wildernesse at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

26 Hee compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges.

27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate haruest, and burnt vp al their fields, and destroyed their flocks and the heards: hee robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the Sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 Hee destroyed their gods, that Nabuchodonosor might onely bee worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, wee are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: we lie downe before thee: vse vs as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flockes and our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Holofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his army, and set garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them with crownes, and dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet hee brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Judea, ouer against the great strait of Judea.

10 And hee pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there hee taried a moneth, that hee might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their countrey. 6 Joacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselues. 9 They cried to the Lord, and humbled themselues before him.

NOwe the children of Israel that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Holofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had been sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethora, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Elora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke al the tops of the hie mountains, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of war: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Joacim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Eldraelon, toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was straite for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the high Priest had commanded them with the ancients of all the people of Israel which dwelt at Jerusalem.

9 Then cryed euery man of Israel to God with great feruency, and their soules with great affection.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackecloth vpon their loines.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fel before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spred out their sackecloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackecloth about the altar, 12 And cried vnto the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that he would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision vnto the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacim the high Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackecloth, & offered the continual burnt offring, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their miters, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that hee would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the maner of the Israelites.

THen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the hie hils, and had layd impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the Princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he layd vnto them, Shew me, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what king or captaine is rayled among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 Then said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the worde of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. Chap. 11.7,9

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea. Gen. 11.31.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell. Gen. 12.5.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

11 * Therefore the King of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues. Exod. 1.8.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, and hee smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight. Exod. 12.31, 33.

13 And * God dryed the redde sea in their presence, Exod. 14.21.

14 And * brought them into mount Sina and Cades Barnea, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wildernesse. Exod. 19.1.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Jordan, they inheritted all the mountaines.

16 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pherelites, and the Jebulites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes. Josh. 12.8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquity was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and were ledde captiues into a lande that was not theirs: and the Temple of Judg. 2.11. and 3.8. 2. King. 25. 1,11.

their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

Exod.1.3. 19 But *now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Hierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall bee their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there bee none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, least their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Holofernes, & all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mighty armie.

24 Let vs therefore go vp, O lord Holofernes, and they shalbe meat for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confesseth. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crie vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceased, Holofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayd vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast sayd that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, * because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

Chap.5.5,21

3 He will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For we will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shall bee filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchdonosor lord of all the earth hath sayd, euen he hath sayd, None of my words shalbe in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of the that serue me passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Holofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the mids of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went foorth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came down from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those dayes Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the city, and all their youth ran together, & their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the words of the counsell of Holofernes, and all the wordes that hee had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Holofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe, and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercie on the baseneſſe of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praysed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, & they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THe next day Holofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoone their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streits of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remooued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie footmen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelon.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and sayd euery one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day Holofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remooued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and sayd, 9 Let our captaine now heare a worde, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey, that commeth forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and wee and our people will goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shall bee consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these words pleased Holofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and couered the whole lande: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cried vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirty dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd before all the Elders, 24 The* Lorde bee iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Assur. *Exod.5.26.

25 For now wee haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their hands, that we should be throwen downe before them with thirst & great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoyle to the people of Holofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for wee will be his seruants, that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witnesse against you, the heauen and the earth, and our God and lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs according to our sinnes, and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crie of all with one consent in the middes of the assemblie, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.

30 Then sayd Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fiue dayes, in the which space the Lorde our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life and conuersation of Judeth. 11 Shee rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

Now

NOw at that time, Judeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the sonne of Or, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Elim, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salaladai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kinred, who died in the barley harueſt.

3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And shee made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loines, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 Shee was also of a godly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and siluer, and men seruants, and mayd seruants, and cattell, and possessions where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when she heard the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Judeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dayes.) Chap.7.26, 31.

10 Then shee sent her mayd that had the gouernement of all things that shee had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and she sayd vnto them, Heare mee, O yee gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now yee seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the things that hee thinketh: how then can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lorde our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs when hee will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any nowe in these dayes, neither tribe nor family, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with handes, as hath been aforetime.

19 For *the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, & had a great fall before our enemies, Judg.2.13 and 4.1. and 6.1.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that hee will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Iudea bee so famous: for our Sanctuary shall bee spoyled, and hee will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth, 22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance wil be turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, whereseuer we shalbe in bondage, and we shall bee an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not bee directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuary, and the House, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thankes to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as hee did our fathers.

26 Remember what things he did to *Abraham, and how hee tryed Isaac, and all that hee did to *Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother. Gen.22.1. Gen.28.7.

27 For hee hath not tryed vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lorde punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then sayd Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, & compelled vs to doe vnto them as wee haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an othe, which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then sayde Judeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will goe foorth with mine handmaide: and within the dayes that yee haue promised to to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But enquire not you of mine acte: for I wil not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then said Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Judeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Judeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, & put off the sackcloth wherewith shee was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euening was offered in Jerusalem in the house of the Lord, Judeth cried with a lowde voice, and said,

2 O Lord God of my father *Simeon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maide, and defiled her, and discouered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou hadst commaunded that it should not so bee,

Gen.34.2, 25.

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceiued and washed their beds with blood) and hast stricken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to bee captiues, and all their spoyles for a booty to the children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are readie, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselues with horses and horsemen: they glorie in the strength of their footemen, they trust in shield, speare, and bowe, and sling, and doe not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

Judg.4.21. & 5.26.

10 *Smite by the deceite of my lips, the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

Judg.7.2. 2.chron.14. 11. & 16.8. and 20.6.

11 *For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forlaken, and the sauiour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the Creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And graunt mee wordes and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy Couenant, and against thine holy Houle, and against the toppe of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Judeth decketh her selfe, and goeth foorth of the citie. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Oloferne.

NOw after she had ceased to crie vnto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these words,

2 She rose where shee had fallen downe, and called her maide, and went downe into the house in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, shee washed her body with water, and anoynted it with much oyntment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith shee was clad, during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And shee put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and earerings, and all her ornaments, and shee decked her selfe brauely, to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then shee gaue her maide a bottle of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flowre, and with drie figges, and with fine bread, so shee lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went foorth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her, that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they maruelled greatly at her wonderfull beauty, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And shee said vnto them, Commaund the gates of the citie to bee opened vnto mee, that I may goe foorth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to mee. So they commaunded the yong men to open vnto her, as shee had spoken.

10 And

10 And when they had done so, Judeth went out, shee, and her maide with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill shee was gone downe the mountaine, and till shee had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight foorth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commest thou? and whither goest thou? And shee sayde, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall bee giuen you to bee consumed.

13 And I come before Holofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, bee not afraide in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and hee will entreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayde, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro throwout the campe: for her comming was bruited among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for shee stood without the tent of Holofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel, because of her, and euery one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holofernes garde went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Holofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came foorth into the entry of his tent, and they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Judeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and shee fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Holofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire words.

THen said Holofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselues.

3 But now tell mee wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they doe the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Judeth said vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall bee made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared throughout the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feates of warre marueilous.

9 *Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsell, we haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that hee had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lorde and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God. Chap. 5. 5.

11 Now therefore lest my lord should bee frustrate, and voide of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may bee taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not beseeming,

12 (For because their vitailes faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priestes that serue in Jerusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall bee giuen thee to be be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmayd, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shal wonder, and whosoever shal heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuelle vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes,

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will lead thee through the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the mids thereof, and thou shalt drive them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue beene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto mee according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Holofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisedome, and sayd, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisedome of words.

22 Likewise Holofernes sayd vnto her, God ‖ hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, & destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

‖ Or, hath done well.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, & shalt be renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Judeth would not pollute herselfe with the meat of the Gentiles. 5 She maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Holofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

THen he commaunded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Judeth sayd, * I may not eate of them, lest there should bee an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought

Gen. 43. 32. dan. 1. 8. iubit. 1. 11.

3 Then Holofernes sayd vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayd Judeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and arose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thy handmaid may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes commaunded his garde that they should not stay her; thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out into the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meat at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that hee had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this faire maide make difficulty to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to bee intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Judeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will do speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maid went, and spread foorth her skins on the ground ouer against Holofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Judeth came and sate downe, Holofernes heart was rauished with her, and her spirit was moued, and hee desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that hee had seene her.

17 Then said Holofernes vnto her, Drinke now and be merry with vs.

18 So Judeth said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke, & ate, and dranke before him the things, that her maid had prepared.

20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, and drank much more wine then he had drunke at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOw when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary because the feast had beene long.

2 And

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine.

Eccl. 31. 20, 25.

3 ¶ Now Iudeth had commaunded her mayd to stand without her chamber, and to wait for her comming forth as shee did dayly: for she sayd, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Holofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bed, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and sayd, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And she smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gaue Holofernes head to her maid.

10 And she put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and passing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then sayd Iudeth a farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the city.

13 And they ranne altogether both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate & receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then she sayd to them with a loud voice, Prayse God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrippe, and shewed it, and sayd vnto them, Beholde the head of Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with mee by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God, and sayd with one accord, Blessed bee thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer:

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Holofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

THen sayd Iudeth vnto them, Heare me all my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

2. Mac. 15. 35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the Sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the fielde, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, & shall go into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Ammonite, that hee may see, & know him that despiseth the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when hee was come and saw the head of Holofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, hee fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Iudeths feete, and reuerenced her, and sayd, Blessed art thou in all the Tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the thinges, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the midst of the people, all that she had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfainedly, nedly,and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Assoone as the morning arose,they hanged the head of Holofernes out at the wall. and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Holofernes tent,and said to him that had the charge of al his things,Waken our Lord: for the slaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battel, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Judeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the flooze,& his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice,with weeping and mourning,and a mightie crie,and rent his garments.

17 After,he went into the tent of Judeth where she vsed to remaine,and found her not: then he leaped out to the people, and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for beholde,Holofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words,they rent their coats,and their heart was wonderfully troubled,and there was a crie and a very great noise thorowout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praise God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard,they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fel vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by euery way of the playne and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountains round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel,euery one that was a warriour among them,rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai,and Chobai,and Chola,and to all the coasts of Israel,such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, & that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Nowe when the children of Israel heard it,they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came frō Jerusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad, and in Galile,chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus, and to the coastes thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia,fell vpon the campe of Assur, and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter,had the rest, and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie, for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Joacim the hie Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to consume the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her,they blessed her with one accord,and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd,So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie dayes,and they gaue vnto Judeth Holofernes tent, and all his siluer, and beds, and basins,and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it, and layd it on her mules,and made ready her charets,and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her,and blessed her,and made a dance among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues,and her that was with her,and she went before the people in the dance,leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes,and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praiseth God with a song. 19 She offreth to the Lord Holofernes stuffe. 23 Her continencie,life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Judeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loude voice.

2 And Judeth sayd, Beginne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of his people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines foorth of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, *whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleys. Chap.2.15.

5 Hee sayd that hee would burne vp my borders, and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the young men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high Giants inuade him, but

Judeth

Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfit him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound up her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceive him.

9 Her slippers ravished his eyes: her beauty tooke his mind prisoner, and the cimitare passed through his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse, 11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted up their voice, and turned backe.

12 The children of maids pearced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing unto the Lord a long and praise, O Lord, thou art great & glorious, marvellous and invincible in power.

Gen. 1. 24. Psal. 33. 9.

14 Let all thy creatures serve thee: * for thou hast spoken, and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirit, and hee made them up: and there is none that can resist thy voice.

15 For the mountaynes leape up from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like wax: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweet savour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Wo to the nations that rise up against my kinred: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes upon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for ever.

18 ¶ After when they went unto Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and as soone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth also offred all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuary for the space of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time, every one returned to his owne inheritance, & Judeth went to Bethulia, and remayned in her owne possession, & was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the daies of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people.

‖ Or, her people.

23 But shee increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundreth and five yeere olde, and made her mayd free: so she dyed in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to al them that were neerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, & to them that were the neerest of her kinred.

Gen. 50. 10.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afrayd in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

Esther.

Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations: which follow the tenth Chapter.

THen Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

5 For I remeber a dreame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two Dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Jewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God, and are saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all these evils, and God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which have not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, & in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shalbe unto them in the moneth Adar the foureteenth and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for ever among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra Dositheus, who said he was a Priest & Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne that brought the former letters of ‖ Phurai, which the saide Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted,

2 In the second yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Jarus, the sonne Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin had a dreame:

from Jerusalem with Jechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Behold, a noyse of a tempest with thunders & earthquakes, and vprore in the land.

6 Beholde two great Dragons come forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their crie was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the litle wel grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light & the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted and deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, hee awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings Court with Bagathas and Thara, the Kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

Esther 2.21. and 6.2. 2 * But when he heard their purpose, & their imaginations, hee perceiued that they went about to lay their hands vpon ỹ king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles: Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the king commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the Court, and for the auertisment he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the leters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

Ioseph antiq. lib. 11. cap. 6. THe copie of the Letters was this. The great king Artaxerxes writeth these thinges to the princes & gouernours that are vnder him from Iudia vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lorde ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway, and gentlenesse, to gouerne my subiects, and wholy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely go thorow on euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellers howe these thinges might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisedome, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Amen,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commaundements of Kings, and so that this generall Empire, that we haue begunne, cannot bee gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing nowe wee perceiue that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hanting an euill opinion of our doinges, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue wee commaunded that all they that are appoynted in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children bee destroyed and rooted out with the swoorde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none bee spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue euer beene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the king almightie (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wondrous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lorde, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory that I did this, and not bow downe to proude Aman.

13 For I would haue beene content with good will for the saluation of Israel to haue kissed the sole of his foote.

14 But I did it, because I would not prefer the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and bee mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorrow into ioy, that wee may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QUeene Esther also, being in danger of death resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, shee scattered ashes and dung vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled she with the haire that she plucked off.

3 And shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our king: help me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessors for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou didest promise them.

6 Nowe Lorde, wee haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the handes of our enemies,

7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheless, it satisfied them not, that wee are in bitter captiuitie: but they haue stroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordened, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glory of the Temple, and of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lorde, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, least they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuise vpon themselues, and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lorde, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O king of gods, and Lorde of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent speech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am solitary, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lorde: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon my head, what time as I must shewe my self, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the king, and make intercession for her people, 9 And she performeth his request.

MArdocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, sayth hee, the dayes of thy low estate, howe thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And decked her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Sauiour of all things, & tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull & amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the King, and the King sate vpon his royall throne, & was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold & precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned herselfe vpon the head of the mayde that went with her.

11 Neuertheles, God turned the kings minde that hee was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to herselfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commaundement toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come neere:

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

16 Then said shee, I saw thee, O lord, as an angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as shee was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

The

Ioseph. Ant. 11. cap. 6.

THe great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And endeauour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that do them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnes away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnmindful of benefits, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth al things, and is contrary to euil.

5 And oftentimes many, which be set in office, and vnto whom their friendes causes are committed, by vaine intisements doe wrappe them in calamities, that cannot bee remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicity and gentlenesse of princes with lying tales.

7 This may bee prooued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences as are not worthie to beare rule.

8 Therfore we must take heed hereafter that wee may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenes.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath prooued the friendship that wee beare toward all nations, so that hee was called our father, & was honoured of euery man, as the nert person vnto the king.

12 But hee could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignity, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay wait for vs, & by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked mã that they might be destroyed) are no euil doers, but vse most iust lawes,

16 And that they be the children of the most high and Almightie and euerliuing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitors, in very good order.

17 Wherfore ye shall do well, if ye do not put in execution those letters that Aman the son of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuented them, hangeth at Sulis before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deseruing.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And yee shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar, they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both now and in time to come, this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and al such as loue the prosperity of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreyes that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but bee abhorred also of the wilde beasts and foules for euer.

The Wisedome of Salomon.

Deut. 4. 2. 2. chro. 15. 4.

2 * For he wil be found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tryed, reproueth the vnwise.

4 Because wisedome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the bodie that is subiect vnto sinne.

Iere. 4. 22.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

Gala. 5. 22.

6 For the spirit of wisedome * is louing, and will not absolue him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: & the same that maintaineth all things hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot bee hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the care of iustice heareth all things, and the noyse of the grudgings shall not be hid.
11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, & refraine your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret, that shall goe for nought, & the mouth that speaketh lies, slayeth the soule.
12 Seeke not death in the error of your life: * destroy not your selues through the workes of your owne hands.
13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.
14 For he created all things, that they might haue their being: and the generations of the world are preserued, and there is no poison of destruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.
15 For righteousnes is immortall, but vnrighteousnes bringeth death.
16 And the vngodly call * it vnto them both with hands and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imagination and desires of the wicked, and their counsell against the faithfull.

FOr the vngodly say, as they falsely imagine with themselues, * Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouery, neither was any knowen that hath returned from the graue.
2 For wee are borne at all aduenture, and we shall be hereafter, as though we had neuer been: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrils, and the word as a sparke raysed out of our heart.
3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the spirit vanisheth as the soft aire.
4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the mist that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heat thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time: and no man shall haue our workes in remembrance.
5 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.
6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures that are present. and let vs cheerefully vse the creatures as in youth.
7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine, and ointments, and let not the flowre of life passe by vs.
8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered, 9 Let vs all bee partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.
10 Let vs oppresse the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haires of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.
11 Let our strength be the law of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.
12 Therefore let vs deceaue the righteous, for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressours of discipline.
13 Hee maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth himselfe the sonne of the Lord.
14 He is made to * reproue our thoughts.
15 It grieueth vs also to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.
16 He counteth vs as bastards, and he withdraweth himselfe from our waies as from filthinesse: hee commendeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.
17 Let vs see then if his words be true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.
18 For if the righteous man be the * sonne of God, he will help him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.
19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and torments, that we may know his meekenes, and proue his patience.
20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shamefull death: for hee shalbe preserued as hee himselfe saith.
21 Such things doe they imagine, and goe astray: for their owne wickednesse hath blinded them.
22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousnesse, nor can discerne the honour of the soules that are faultlesse.
23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the * image of his own likenesse.
24 * Neuertheless, through enuie of the deuil came death into the world: and they that holde of his side, proue it.

despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisedome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, & their workes vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscreet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is Isa.56.5. vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: *she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules.

14 And the Eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall bee giuen the special gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the roote of wisdome shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seede of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall bee without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrennesse with vertue: for the memorial therof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yee they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, or lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud foorth in the branches for a time, *yet they shall be shaken with the Matth.7.19. winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the wind they shalbe rooted out.

5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broken, and their fruit shall bee vnprofitable and sowre to eate, and meete for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous bee preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisedome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the old age.

10 *He pleased God and was beloued of him, Gene.5.24. heb.11.5. so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 Hee was taken away, lest wickednesse should altar his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, and the vnstedfastnes of concupiscence peruerteth the simple mind.

13 Though hee was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: & the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, & wherefore the Lord hath preserued him in safety.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne.

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voice shal he burst them, and cast them down, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shal be vtterly wasted, and they shalbe in sorow, and their memorial shall perish.

20 So they being afraide, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before the persecutors. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

THen shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall bee vered with horrible feare, and shall bee amased for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shall change their minds, and sigh for griefe of mind, and say within themselues, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4 *We fooles thought his life madnesse, and Chap.3.22. his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of trueth, and the light of righteousnesse hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profit hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are *passed away like a 1.Chron.29. 15 chap.2.5. shadow, and as a poste that passeth by:

10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediatly commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went thorow.

13 Euen so we, assone as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednesse.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, & the most High hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautiful crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his iealousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to bee reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousnesse for a breastplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He wil take holines for an inuincible shield

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shal fight with him against the vnwise.

21 Then shall the thunderbolts goe straight out of the lightnings, and shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shal thicke haile be cast, and the waters of the sea shall be wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mighty wind shall stand vp against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wildernesse, and wickednes shall ouerthrow the thrones of the mightie.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisedome.

HEare therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderstand: learne ye that be Iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes, and glorie in the multitude of people.

Rom.13.2. 3 For the rule* is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the most High, which will trie your workes, and search out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdome, haue not iudged aright, nor kept the law, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horribly and suddainely will hee appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most low, is worthy mercie, but the mightie shall bee mightily tormented.

8 But for the mighty abideth the surer triall.

9 Vnto you therfore, O tyrants, do I speake, that ye may learne wisdome, and not go amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shall bee holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delight vpon my words and desire them, and ye shalbe instructed.

12 Wisdome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, & found of such as seeke her.

13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauaile: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfit vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall bee soone without care.

16 For shee goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:

19 And immortalitie maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delight bee then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisedome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her nativitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with consuming enuie: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and yee shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was* brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe. Iob.10.10, 11.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common ayre, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All* men then haue no entrance vnto life, and a like going out. Iob.1.21. 1.tim.6.7.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirit of wisedome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 *Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a little grauell in respect of her, and siluer shall bee counted Iob.28.15.

but

but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

1 *King.*3.13 matth. 6.33. 11 All * good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches thorow her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the authour therof, and I knew not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my mind, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisedome, and the directer of the wise.

16 For in his hande are both wee and our wordes, and all wisedome, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the world was made, and the powers of the elements,

18 The beginning and the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the change of the seasons,

19 The course of the yere, the situation of the starres,

20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnes of beasts, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knowen do I know: for wisedome the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifolde, subtil, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing thorough all intellectuall, pure, and subtill spirits.

24 For wisedome is nimbler then all nimble things: shee goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her pureneſſe.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

*Hebr.*1.3. 26 For * shee is the brightneſſe of the euerlasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of the Maiesty of God, and the image of his goodneſſe.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, renueth all, and according to the ages she entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisedome.

29 For she is more beautiful then the Sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickedneſſe cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

Shee also reacheth from one end to another mightily, and comely doeth shee order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marrie her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the Schoolemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches bee a possession to bee desired in this life, what is richer then wisedome, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousneſſe, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth soberneſſe and prudencie, righteousnes, and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discerne things to come: shee knoweth the subtilties of wordes & the solutions of darke sentences: shee foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the succeſſe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that shee would counsell mee good things, and comfort mee in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, & honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, & that I shall bee marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I holde my tongue, they shall abide my leasure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreouer, by her I shall obteine immortalitie, and leaue an euerlasting memorial among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitterneſſe, and her fellowship hath no tediousneſſe, but mirth and ioy.

17 Nowe when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to bee ioyned vnto wisedome is immortalitie,

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheleſſe, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisedome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine Wisedome.

O God of Fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordained man through thy wisedome, that he should haue *dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnesse, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 Giue me * that wisedome, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

5 For I * thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmayde, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes.

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisedome be not with him, he shalbe nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

8 Thou hast commaunded mee to builde a Temple vpon thine holy mount, and an altar in the citie, wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse af thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning,

9 And thy *wisedome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that shee may be with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For shee knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, & she shall leade me soberly in my works, and preserue me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes bee acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meet for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is hee that can know the counsel of God, or who can thinke what the will of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortal men are fearefull, and our forecasts are vncertaine.

15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, & the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares:

16 And hardly can wee discerne the things that are vpon the earth, & with great labour find we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisedome, and sende thy holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through wisedome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and the destruction of the enemies commeth through wisedome.

Shee preserued the first father of the worlde, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out his offence,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things.

3 *But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflowen, but wisedom preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood.

5 Moreouer, *when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preserued him faultlesse vnto God, and ‖ kept him sure, because shee loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6 Shee preserued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisedome, had not onely this hurt, that they knew not ỳ things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memorial of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisedome deliuered them ỳ serued her.

10 *When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him ỳ right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and she gaue him the price in a mighty battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 *When the righteous was solde, shee forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And failed him not in the bands, till shee had brought him the scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him shee declared to bee lyars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 * She deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

16 She entred into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and stoode * by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

17 She gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them foorth a marueilous way: on the day time shee was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * Shee brought them through the red sea, and carried them through the great water, 19 But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoyles of the vngodly, * and praysed thy holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hande, with one accord.

21 For wisedome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

Num. 20. 11. 4 *When they were thirstie they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the high rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for,

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that

Exod. 17. 20. time, *how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord,

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondred at him, whom afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednesse wherewith they were deceiued, and worshipped *serpents, that had not the vse of

14 For vnto thine almighty hand, that made the world of *nought, it was not vnpossible to 15 Or furious beastes newly created and vnknowen, which should breathe out blastes of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue been cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirite: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme?

19 For as the small thing that the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercie vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could any thing bee preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The works of God are vnreproueable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

For thine incorruptible Spirite is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

Deut. 9. 3. and 12. 31. and 11, 9, 12 3 *As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou didst hate them.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banketting, where the raging priest shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the handes of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

Exod. 33. 3. deut. 2. 22. 8 *Neuertheless, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little,

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing wel that it was an vnrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight, require accompts of them whom thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, *thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to be punished. Iob 10.2,3.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousnesse, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfit power, thou declarest thy power, and reprouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling thy power, iudgest with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when wee iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap.11.13. Rom.1.23. 24 *For they went astray very farre in the waies of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shal feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffred, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God, whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

SUrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God,* and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seen, neither consider by the workes, the workemaster. Rom.1.19.

Deut.4.19. and 17.3. 2 * But they thought the fire or the winde, or the swift ayre, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouernours of the world and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beauty hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much he that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beauty, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

7 For they * goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene. Rom.1.21.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discerne the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or any vaine stone that hath been made by the hand of antiquity.

11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life. Isa 44.13. Iere.10.3.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, hee bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood, and full of knobs) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, hee giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his mariage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead, for life: he requireth him of help, that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, hee requireth furtherance of him that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images. 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatry proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatry.

by cunning.

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: *for thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues, Exod. 14.22

4 Declaring thereby that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheless, thou wouldest not that the workes of thy wisedome should bee vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship and are saued.

Gene. 6.4. & 7.10. 6 *For in the olde time also when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seede of generation vnto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree wherby righteousnesse commeth.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hands, both it, and he that made it: he, because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god. Psal. 115.8. baruch. 6.3.

Psal. 5.5. 9 *For the vngodly and his vngodlinesse are both alike hated of God: so truely the worke and he that made it, shalbe punished together.

10 Therefore shal there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feete of the vnwise. Iere. 10.8. habac. 2.18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by processe of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off, that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Againe, the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him nowe for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude through calamitie and tyrannie, ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to bee communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either *they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenesse by strange rites, Deut. 18.10. Iere. 7.9. and 19.4.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or else vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulnesse, tumults, periurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankefulnesse, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adulterie and vncleannesse.

26 For the worshipping of idoles, that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause, and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be merrie, or prophesie lies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forsweare themselues.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themselues vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniustly to deceiue, and despise holinesse.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praising the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BUt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but wee sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousnesse, and to know thy power, is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The *potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay hee maketh both the vessels that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge. Rom. 9.21.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen he, which is little afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a little while after goeth thither againe whence he was taken, * when he shall make account for the lone of his life. Luke 12.20.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour

bour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but bee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a passime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to bee getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now bee that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to bee gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like to himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they bee compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beautie to be desired in respect of other beasts, for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

3 To the intent that they that desire meate, by the things which were shewed & sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreame pouertie, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

Numb. 21. 6. 1. cor. 10, 9.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they could not bee called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

Deut. 32. 39. 1. sam. 2. 6. tob. 13. 2.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

Exod. 9. 23.

16 * For the vngodly that would not knowe thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoid, and were consumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and knowe, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water, aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

word, which preserueth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not bee destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the simne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen that we ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thanks vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgement of God against the wicked.

GReat thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darknes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnes, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleere flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them only a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, ‖ which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw to bee worse. ‖ That is, the mighty vision.

7 *And the illusions of the Magicall artes were brought downe, and it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge. Exod. 7. 12. and 8. 7, 19.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and said they saw not the ayre, which by no meanes can bee auoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus whosoeuer fell downe, hee was kept, and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie,

17 (For with one chaine of darkenesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing wind or a sweete song of the birdes among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemency of hastie running water,

18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beasts, that could not be seene, or the noyse of cruell beasts, that roared, or the ‖ sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone. ‖ Or, Echo.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fel an heauy night and image of that darkenesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenes.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fiery pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuerance of the faithful. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wildernesse. 21 Aaron stood betweene the liuing and the dead with his censer.

BVt thy saints had a very great *light whose voyce because ‖ they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought the blessed, because they also had not suffered the like. Exod. 10. 23 ‖ Or, the Egyptians.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 *Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnknowen way, and mildest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable tourney. Exod. 13. 21 and 14. 24. psal. 78. 14. and 105. 39.

4 But they were worthy to bee deprined of the light, and to bee kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the incorrupt light of the law should bee giuen to the world.

5 *Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, and preserued to reproone them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them altogether in the mighty water. Exod. 1. 16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they, knowing to what oathes they had giuen credite, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy *people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed. Exod. 14. 24, 25.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a law of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good & euill in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing prayses.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the *master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king. Exod. 11. 5. and 12. 29.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twinckling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

cause of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course,

15 Thine almighty word leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfained commandement, as a sharpe sword, and stood vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulnes came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous also, and *among the multitude in the wilderneſſe there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long. Num.16.46

21 For the blameleſſe man made haſte, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, & so brought the misery to an end, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word hee subdued him that punished, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stood in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing.

Exod.28.6, 31. 24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiesty in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them, for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meat that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for hee knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them go, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorow was before them and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishneſſe, so that they persecuted the in their fleeing, whom they had [a] cast out afore with prayer.

4 For the destinie wherevnto they were worthy, brought them to this end, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained, by torments,

5 Both that thy people might try a marueilous passage, & that these might finde a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kind was fashioned anew, and serued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud ouershadowed their tents, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.

9 For they ‖neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praysing thee, O Lord, which hadst deliuered them. ‖Or, were fed.

10 For they were yet mindfull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought foorth flies in stead of cattell, and how the riuer scrauled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 *But at the last they saw a new generation of birds, when they were intised with lust, and desired delicate meates. Exod.16.13 num.11.31.

12 *For the quailes came forth of the sea vnto the for comfort, but punishments came vpon the ‖sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers. Chap.16.2. ‖Or, Egyptians.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these thinges some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to bee partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were striken with blindneſſe, as in old time certaine were at the doores of the *righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darkeneſſe, sought the entrances of his doore. Gen.19.11.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceiued by the light of the thinges that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kind to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therin, neither melted they that which seemed to be [b] yce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meat. [b] He meaneth Man, looke Exod. 16.14, 15. and numb. 11.7.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

¶ The wisdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

¶ This argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Siraehs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisedom among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus died, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it Wisdome, intitling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisedome, to allure the Reader to read this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what pl. gues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the wisdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHereas many and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themselues, but also may bee able by the diligent study thereof to bee profitable vnto strangers, both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisedom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselues to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore, I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to come in some things not able to attaine to the interpretatiō of such words as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselues then when they are translated into another tongue: and not only these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copy full of great learning and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and trauel to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & study I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousnesse, loue, vnderstanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

MY sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God [stand fast in righteousnes and feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentation.
2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: [bow downe thine eare, & receiue the words of vnderstanding] and shrinke not away when thou art assailed. [but wait vpon God patiently]
3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayst be increased at thy last end.
4 What euer commeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and bee patient in the change of thine affliction.
Wisd. 3.6. prou 17.3. 5 * For as gold [and siluer are] tried in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie.
6 Beleeue in God, and hee will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [holde fast his feare, and grow old therein.]
7 Ye that feare the Lord, wait for his mercy: shrinke not away from him that ye fall not.
8 Yee that feare the Lord, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.
9 O yee that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioy and mercy.
10 [Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, & your hearts shalbe lightened.]
11 Consider the olde generations [of men, ye children,] marke them well: * was there euer any confounded that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did hee euer despise, that called vpon him? Psal. 37.25.
12 For God is gracious and mercifull, & forgiueth sinnes, and saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the trueth.]
‖Or, doubles. 13 Woe vnto them that haue a ‖ fearefull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two * maner of wayes. 1. King. 18. 21.
14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted: for he beleeueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.
15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right wayes, and are turned backe into the froward wayes:] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visite you?
16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: and they that * loue him, will keepe his wayes. John 14. 23,24.
17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his Law.
18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.
19 [They that feare the Lord, keep his Commandements, and will be patient til he see them, 20 Saying, if we do not repent] we shal fall into the hands of the Lord, & not into the hands of men:
21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

[THe children of wisedome are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.]
2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.
3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.
4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shal be forgiuen him, [and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.]
5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.
6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when hee maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.
7 Hee that honoureth his father, shall haue a long

8 Hee that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

Exod.20.12. deut.5.16. matth.15.4. ephe.6.2.3. 9 *Honour thy father and mother in deede and in worde, [and in all patience,] that thou mayest haue ‖ Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

‖ Or, the blessing of men.

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame, 12 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founded for thee in righteousnesse.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy doings with meekenesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

Phil.2.3. 19 The *greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things] and thou shalt find fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renowne: but the secrets are reuealed vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

Psal.131.1. pro 25.27. rom.12.3. 22 *Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mightie for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commaunded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his workes:] for it is not needful for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubburne heart shal fare euill at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proude is without remedy, and his steps shal be plucked vp. for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and hee shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentiue eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousnesse.]

33 Water quencheth burning fire, * and almes taketh away sinnes. Dan.4.24. psal.41.1.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Almes must bee done with gentlenesse. 12 The studie of wisedome and her fruite. 20 An exhortation to eschew euill, and to doe good.

MY sonne, defraud not the * poore of his liuing, and make not the needie eyes to waite long. Deut.15.7.

2 Make not a hungrie soule sorowfull, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore. Tobit.4.7.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if hee curse thee in the bitternesse of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bow downe thy head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt] and giue him a friendly answere.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressed, and be not faint hearted ‖ when thou iudgest.

‖ Or, to defend him.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou bee as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, and receiueth them that seeke her, [and will goe before them in the way of righteousnesse.]

12 Hee that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherit glory: for vnto whom shee entreth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shalbe the seruants of the holy One, and them that loue her, the Lord doeth loue.

15 ¶ Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and hee that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 Hee that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first shee will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill shee haue tryed his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will shee returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shewe him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnesse.]

19 But if he goe wrong, she will forsake him: and giue him ouer vnto the hands of his destruction.

20 [¶ My sonne,] maketh much of time, and *eschew the thing that is euill, Rom.12.9. 1 thes.5.22.

21 And be not ashamed [to say the truth] for thy life: for there is a [a] shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

a To bee ashamed to confesse thy God, thy faith, to testifie the truth, and to reproue sinne, doth bring sinne vnto thee: the contrary shame bringeth worship.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisedome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisedome knowen, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisedome and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousnesse.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of truth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and relist not the course of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Striue for the truth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a lyon in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.]

31 *Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shouldest giue.

Acts.20.35

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to bee feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

TRust not vnto thy *riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

Luke.12.15, 19,20 chap. 11.18,19. prou.10.2. ezek.7.19. zeph.1.18.

2 Followe not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neyther say thou, [Howe haue I had strength?] or who will bring mee vnder for my works? For God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto mee? for the Almightie is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: hee will forgiue my manifold sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake foorth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery wind, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteousnesse.

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answere with wisdome.]

12 *Bee swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answere.

James 1.19.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hande vpon thy mouth, [lest thou bee trapped in an vndiscreet word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a *talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the theefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is doubled tongued. [But he that is a backbiter shalbe hated, enuied and confounded.

Leuit.19.16

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the propertie of a sinner to be euill tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] [a] enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

a For that is against the rule of charity, which loueth all, & hateth nothing but onely sinne.

2 Bee not proud in the deuice of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a [b] bull, b As a bull teareth in pieces a yong tree with his hornes, so thou trusting in thine owne wisdome, & standing in thine owne conceit, because of thy wit, thy power or riches, shouldest destroy thy selfe.

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruit, and so thou be left as a drie tree [in the wildernesse.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to bee laughed to scorne of his enemies. [And bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweete talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counseller of a thousand

7 If thou gettest a friend, prooue him first, and bee not hastie to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, & will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention hee will declare thy shame.

10 Againe, some *friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

Chap.37.5.

11 But in thy prosperity he wil be as thou thy selfe, and vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought lowe, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friendes.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of golde and siluer] is not to bee compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] & they that feare the Lord, shall find him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou find wisedome [which shall endure] till thine old age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and wait for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eat of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned! he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisedome; but there be but few that haue ỳ knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, shee abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and shee shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt find rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] & her chaines a glorious rament.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

Chap.8.9. 36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foot weare the steps of his doores.

38 Let thy mind bee vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be ‖ continually * occupied in his commandements: so shall hee establish thine heart, and giue thee wisedome at thine owne desire.

‖Or, earnestly.

CHAP. VII.

2 Wee must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 23 The behauiour of the wise toward his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

DO no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnesse, least that thou reape them seuen fold.

4 Alke not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the King the seat of honour.

5 *Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] & boast not thy wisedome in the presence of the king.

Iob.9.2. Psal.143.2 eccles 7.18. Iake 18.11.

6 Seeke not to be made a Iudge, least thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and least thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 *Bind not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

Chap.5.5.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauinesse of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee * that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

12 Sow not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any maner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

15 Hate not laborious *worke, neither the husbandry which the most High hath created.

Rom.12.11.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy mind greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wise and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue gold.

Of iealousie. 12 An old friend is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

BE not iealous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, neither a teach her by thy meanes an euill lesson. a Let her not haue rule ouer thee, for then will she be contrarie vnto thee, take away thy heart & strength, and bring thee to confusion among thine enemies, as did Heuah to Adam, Delilah to Samson, and strange women to Salomon.

6 *Cast not thy mind vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] least thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thine heritage.

7 Goe not about gazing in the streets of the citie, neither wander thou in the secret places thereof.

communication in the Law of the most High.

18 Let iust men eat and drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing be in the feare of the Lord.

[Or, the workman is praised according to the worke.

19 Iust the hands of the craftesmen shall the workes bee commended, and the wise prince of people by his word, [and the word by the wisedome of the Elders.]

20 A man full of words is dangerous in the citie, and he that is rash in his talking, shall bee hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

A Wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are all they that dwell therein.

1. King. 12. 1, 13, 14. 3 *An vnwise King destroyeth his people, but where they that bee in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernment of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to bee abhorred,] and when time is, hee will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the Scribes will he lay his honour.

Leui. 19. 19. 6 *Bee not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbour, & doe nothing by iniurious practises.

7 Pride is hateful before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

Iere 27. 6. dani. 4. 14. 8 *Because of vnrighteous dealing, and wrongs, and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would euen sell his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to put out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the Physician.

11 The Physician cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a King, to morow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proud, seeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of serpents, beasts, and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the originall of sinne, and hee that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the end.

Luke 1. 52. & 14. 11. and 18. 14 1. Sam. 2. 7, 8 15 The Lord hath *cast downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth the memoriall of the proude, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man, which is an honourable seed: the honourable seed are they that feare the Lord: there is a seed of man, which is without honour: the seed without honour, are they that transgresse the commandements of the Lord: it is a seed that remaineth, which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seed without honour, that despise the law, and a deceiueable seed that breake the commandements.

21 Bee that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by crueltie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge, and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then hee that feareth the Lord.

Prou. 17. 2. 2. Sam. 12. 13. 26 *Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free, doe seruice: *he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when hee is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.]

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest do thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

Pro. 12 9, 11 28 *Better is hee that laboureth, and hath plenteousnesse of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My sonne, get thy selfe praise by meekenesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 Hee that is honourable in pouertie, how much more shall he be when he is rich? and hee that is vnhonest being rich, how much more will he be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought wee not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine house.

WIsedome *lifteth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men. Gen. 41. 40. dan. 6 3

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither despise a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the foules: yet doth her fruit passe in sweetnesse.

4 Bee not proud of clothing and raiment, *and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull [and glorious] secret, [and vnknowen] are his Act. 12 21, 23.

workes among men.

5 Many tyrants haue sitte downe vpon the earth,* and the vnlikely hath worne the crown.

1 Sam. 15. 28. ester 6. 10.

6 Many mighty men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands

7 ¶ * Blame no [man] before thou hast enquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reproue [righteously.]

Deut. 13. 14. and 17. 4. 6. iosh. 7. 22. Pro. 18. 13.

8 * Giue no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the mids of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou haue much, thou shalt not bee blameless, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attayne it, neyther shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

Mat. 19. 23 1. tim. 6. 9.

11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh payne, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

Pro. 10. 3.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthfull, and * hath neede of helpe: for he wanteth strength, and hath great pouerty, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate,

Iob. 42. 10.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men marualle at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

14 * Prosperity and aduersity, life and death, pouerty and riches come of the Lord.

Iob. 1. 21. ecclesiast. 28. 4.

15 Wisedome and knowledge, & vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Errour and darknesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselues in euill, ware old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperity for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and niggardship, and this is the portion of his wages, Luke 12. 19.

19 In that hee saith,* I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time draweth nere that hee must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remayne in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Marualle not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperity soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?

24 Againe, say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euil can come to me hereafter?

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersity forget not prosperity.

Chap. 18. 24.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersity of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a basket, [and the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in waite, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise he will find some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whom we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

WHen thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefits.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

Galat. 6. 10. 1 tim. 5. 8.

3 Hee cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, & keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot bee knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie bee vnknowen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet abuse thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt bee to him, as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not beene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my words, and bee pricked with my sayings.

14 * Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

Chap. 7. 8. and 21. 1.

15 Who

15 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

Iere.41.6. 17 *An enemie is sweete in his lips: he can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, hee can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart hee imagineth how to throw thee into the pit; and if he may finde opportunity, he will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shall he vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his hands, and wil make many words, and dissemble his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proud and of the rich are to bee eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe company with their like.

Deut.7.2. HE *that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and hee that is familiar with the proud, shalbe like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shalbe broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, & threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreat: if the rich haue done wrong, he must yet bee intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straightwayes be threatned.

4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue neede of thee, hee will defraude thee, and wil laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good words, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntil he hath cast thee vp cleane twise or thrise, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterward when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou be not deceiued in thine own conceit, and brought downe by thy simplenesse: Be not too humble in thy wisedome.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Presse not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speach, but beleeue not his many words: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 Hee is vnmercifull, and keepeth not promise: hee will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou heerest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euerie man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath ‖ hyena with a dog? and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?

‖ Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voice of men, and so entiseth them out of their houses and deuoureth them.

20 As the wilde asse is the Lions pray in the wildernesse, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proude hate humility, so do the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, hee hath many helpers: he speaketh proud wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man falle, they rebuke him, and though hee speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee saith, they praise it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience.] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerfull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisedom.

BLessed is the man *that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne. Chap.19.6, 16.Iam.3.2.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggard, and what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that wil make good cheere with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a rewarde of his wickednesse.

7 And if hee doe any good, hee doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his wil, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A *wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table. Prou.27.20.

11 My sonne, do good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offrings.
12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the [a] couenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.
13 *Do good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine abilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him.
14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.
15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?
16 Giue and take, and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnesse before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.
17 ¶ * All flesh waxeth olde, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.
18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an end, and another is borne.
19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.
20 [Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]
21 * Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisedome, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and hee that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding, 22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.
23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.
24 He shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.
25 He shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: hee shall pitch his tent besides her.
26 And hee shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shal set his children vnder his couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.
27 By her he shall be couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnesse that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God reiecteth and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the author of euill.

HE that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.
2 As an [honourable] mother shall hee meete him, and shee, [a] as his wife married of a virgin, will receiue him.
3 [With the bread of life] and vnderstanding shall hee feede him, and giue him the * water of [wholesome] wisedome to drinke.
4 Hee shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall holde himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.
5 She shal exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation shall shee open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisedome, and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]
6 She shal cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euerlasting name.
7 But foolish men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding will meet her:] the sinners shall not see her.
8 For she is farre from pride [and deceite,] and men that lie cannot remember her: [but men of trueth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]
9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.
10 But if praise come of wisedome, [and bee plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lorde will prosper it.
11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.
12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no neede of the sinfull man.
13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error] and they that feare God, loue it not.
14 * He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell, [& gaue him his commandements and precepts] 15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandements, and keepe thy good will.
16 He hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thy hand vnto which thou wilt.
17 * Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh shall be giuen him.
18 For the wisedome of the Lord is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things [continually]
19 * And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the works of man.
20 Hee hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath hee giuen any man licence to sinne: [for hee deliuereth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioice not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.
2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.
3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.
4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.
5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.
6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.
7 * He spared not the old giants which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength.
8 * Neither spared hee whereas Lot dwelt, those whom he abhorred for their pride.

and pitying them, in shutting them and healing them, with mercie, and with chastisement.

11 Therefore if there bee one stiffenecked among the people, it is marueile if he escape vnpunished: for mercie and wrath are with him: he is mighty to forgiue, and to powre out displeasure.

Chap.5.6. 12 *As his mercie is great, so is his punishment also: hee iudgeth a man according to his workes.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that hee should not knowe him, and that his workes should bee knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowen to all creatures: he hath separated his light from the darkenes with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shal not be knowen in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see? for the most part of his works are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousnesse? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is far off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 Hee that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and erronious man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto mee, and learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weighty doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath hee sundred from the other when hee first made them.

27 Hee hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginning so long as they shal endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindereth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beasts hath hee couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

2 He gaue him the number of daies and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth. wisd.2.23. and 7.1,6. 1.cor.11.7. col.3.10.

3 Hee clothed them with strength, as they had neede, and made them according to his image.

4 Hee made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beasts, and foules.

5 [* He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and liuely hee gaue them a spirit, and seuenthly hee gaue them speach to declare his workes. Gen.2.22. 1.cor.11.9.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

7 He set his eyes vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble works,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioice perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his works, & that the elect should prayse his holy Name together.

9 Beside this, hee gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Law of life for an heritage, that they might now know that they were *mortall. a Through their owne transgression.

10 Hee made an euerlasting conenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the maiestie of his glorie, and their eares heard his glorious voice.

12 And hee sayd vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. *Hee gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour. Exod.20.16, 17.and 22. 23.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their ylonie hearts cannot become bflesh. b That is, soft & gentle, for the holy Ghost to write his lawes in.

15 Hee appointed a ruler vpon euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 *And hee did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom hee nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, and giueth him most louing light, and doth not forsake him. Deut.4.20. and 10.15.

17 All their workes are as the Sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hidde from him, but all their sinnes are before the Lord.

19 And as he is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 *The almes of a man is as a thing sealed vp before him, and hee keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes and daughters. Chap.29.13

21 *At the last shall hee arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads. Mat.25.35.

22 *But vnto them that will repent, hee giueth them grace to returne, and exhorted such Acts 3.19.

such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the verrie.]

Ier.3.12. 23 *Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darknesse vnto wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousnes and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most hie God, and goe in the parts of the holy world with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

Psal.6.5. Isa.38.18, 19. 26 *Who can praise the most High in the hel, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankefulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and hee that is sound of heart praiseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercie.]

29 How great is the louing kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot bee in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the Sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euil [shal be reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marueilous workes of God. 6. 7 The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God wee ought not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

Gen.1.1. HE that liueth for euer, * made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious King for euer.]

2 Hee ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble actes?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnesse? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercie?

5 As for the woonderous workes of the Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither may the ground of them bee found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must begin againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an ende, hee must goe againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth hee? what good or euill can he doe?

Psal.90.10. 8 *If the number of a mans dayes bee an hundreth yeeres, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the Sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sande, so are a *thousand yeeres to the dayes eternitie. 2.Pet.3.8.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercie vpon them.

11 Hee saw and perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnesse.]

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 He hath mercie on them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reproone not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the deaw asswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Lo, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious puttereth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement: learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

19 *Examine thy selfe before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercie. 1.Cor.11.31

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whiles thou mayest yet sinne, shewe thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vowe in time, and deferre not vnto death to bee reconciled: [for the rewarde of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the *wrath that shall be at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face. Chap.7.17. 36.

24 *When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and neede. Chap.11.25.

25 From the morning vntill the euening, the time is changed: and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisedome, and knowledge, and prayseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: [they vnderstand the truth and righteousnesse,] and powre out wise morall sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authority of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 ¶ *Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites. Rom 6.12. and 13.14.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnesse, ouſneſſe, and intangle not thy ſelfe with ſuch companie.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou haſt borrowed, and ſo leaue nothing in thy purſe: elſ thou ſhouldeſt ſlanderouſly lie in wait for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredome bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy words vſe diſcretion. 22 The difference of the wiſedome of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayeſt know what is in man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkenneſſe, ſhall not be rich: and he that contemneth ſmall things, ſhall fall by little and little.

Gene. 19.33 1. king. 11. 1,2,4. 2 *Wine and women leade wiſe men out of the way, [and put men of vnderſtanding to reproofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, ſhall become impudent: rottenneſſe and wormes ſhal haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bold, ſhall bee taken away, and be made a publike example.

Ioſh. 22.11, 12. 4 *He that is haſtie to giue credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, ſinneth againſt his owne ſoule.

5 Who ſo reioyceth in wickednеſſe, ſhall bee puniſhed: [ye that hateth to be reformed, his life ſhalbe ſhortned, and he that abhorreth babbling of words, quencheth wickednеſſe:] but he that reſiſteth pleaſures, crowneth his owne ſoule.

6 Hee that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troubleſome man, and hee that hateth babbling, ſhall haue leſſe euill.

7 Rehearſe not to another that which is told vnto thee: ſo ſhalt thou not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the ſinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

6 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, hee will hate thee.

Chap. 22.22 and 27.17. 10 *If thou haſt heard a word [againſt thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and bee ſure, it will not burſt thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring foorth a childe.

12 As an arrow that ſticketh in ones thigh, ſo is a word in a fooles heart.

Leuit. 19.17 mat. 18,15. 13 *Reprooue a friend, leſt he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reprooue a friend, that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue ſpoken, that hee ſay it no more.

14 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a ſlander is raiſed, and giue no credence to euery word.

Iames 3.2. 16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reprooue thy neighbor before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the moſt High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the firſt degree to bee receiued of him, and wiſedome obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, ſhall receiue the fruit of immortalitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wiſdome, and the performing of the Law is perfect wiſedome, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a ſeruant ſay vnto his maſter, I will not doe as it pleaſeth thee, though afterward he do it, he ſhall diſpleaſe him that nouriſheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednеſſe is not wiſdome, neither is there prudence whereas the counſell of ſinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voide of wiſedome.

23 Hee that hath ſmall vnderſtanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wiſdome, and tranſgreſſeth the Law of the moſt High.

24 There is a certaine ſubtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wreſteth the open and manifeſt law: yet there is that is wiſe, and iudgeth righteouſly.

25 There is ſome, that being about wicked purpoſes, doe bow downe themſelues, and are ſad, whoſe inward parts burne altogether with deceit: he looketh downe with his face, and faineth himſelfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, hee will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be ſo weake, that he can do thee no harme, yet when he may find opportunitie, he will doe euill.

27 ¶ A man may bee knowen by his looke, and one that hath vnderſtanding, may bee perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

Chap. 21. 20,23. 28 *A mans garment, & his exceſſiue laughter, and going, declare what perſon he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To ſpeake and keepe ſilence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Gifts blinde the eyes of the wiſe.

THere is ſome rebuke that is not comely: againe, ſome man holdeth his tongue, and he is wiſe.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euill will, and he that acknowledgeth his fault, ſhalbe preſerued from hurt.

Chap. 30,20, 3 As * when a gelded man through luſt would defile a maide, ſo is he that vſeth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to ſhew repentance? for ſo ſhalt thou eſcape wilfull ſinne.

5 Some man keepeth ſilence, and is found wiſe, and ſome by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, becauſe he hath not to anſwere: and ſome keepeth ſilence, waiting a conuenient * time.

Eccleſ. 3.7. Chap. 32.4.

7 *A wiſe man will hold his tongue till hee ſee opportunitie: but a triffler and a foole will regard no time.

8 He that vſeth many words, ſhall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himſelfe, ſhall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times proſperitie in wicked things, and ſometime a thing that is found, bringeth loſſe.

10 There is ſome gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is ſome gift, whoſe reward is double.

11 Some

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

Chap. 6. 5. 13 *A wise man with his words maketh himselfe to bee loued, but the merrie tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for he looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne crier: to day he lendeth, to morow alketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole saith, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eat my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall hee bee laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which hee hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because hee is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for nought.

Chap. 25. 2. 23 *A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of lyars are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his words, and hee that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

Prou. 12. 11. and 28. 19. 27 *He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousnesse, shall bee exalted,] and hee that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

Exod. 23. 8. deut. 16. 19. 28 *Rewards and gifts blind the eyes of the wise, and make them dumbe, that they cannot reprooue faults.

29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisedome.

31 The necessarie patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then hee that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

Chap. 5. 5. psal. 41. 4. luke 15. 21. MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, * but pray for the foresinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou commest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shalbe desolate.

Exod. 3 9. and 22. 23. 5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 ¶ Who so hateth to bee reformed, is in the way of sinners: but hee that feareth the Lord conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen afarre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

Chap. 16. 6. 9 *The congregation of the wicked is like towe wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darkenesse and paines.]

‖Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof. 11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, ruleth his own affections thereby: and the increase of wisedome is the end of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

Chap. 33. 5. 14 *The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessel: hee can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth.

15 ¶ When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, hee will commend it, and increaseth it: but if an ignorant man heare it, hee will disallow it, and cast it behind his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the Congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisedome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, and like manicles vpon the right hand.

Chap. 19. 27, 28. 20 *A foole lifteth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise man doth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewell of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foot is soone in his [neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but hee that is well nourtured, will stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will be grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers will be telling such things as perteine not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the ballance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

Chap. 28. 13. 28 *A backbiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated wheresoeuer he is: [but he that keepeth his tongue, and is discreete, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

a, b That is, like as the idle stone gathereth mosse and filth, so doth the slothfull both sickness of body and corruption of mind. And as euery man doth auoyd the filthines of dung, and shaketh it off: so doth he auoid the company of idle loiterers, lest he bee accounted like vnto them.

A Slauthfull man is like a a filthie stone, which euerie man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to be compared to the b dung of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 Shee that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly] but they both shal despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that glueth a potsheard together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepeth from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with hautinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kinred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

Chap. 38. 16 11 *Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for hee wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not

Chap. 12. 12. to him that hath no vnderstanding, *beware of him lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou bee defiled when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt find rest, and shalt not receiue sorrow by his foolishnesse.

14 What is heauier then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

Prou. 27. 3. 15 *Sand and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish & vngodly man.]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot be loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreete wisedome, is as a faire plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on high, cannot abide the wind, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurteth the eye bringeth foorth teares, and hee that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sworde at thy friend, yet dispaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbraiding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a traiterous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to bee had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words [rebukes and threatnings] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should do me harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

Psal. 141. 3. 26 Who shal set * a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lips, that I fal not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of othes, blasphemie and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kindes of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceed of adultery. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of al my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let mee not fall by ‖ them.

‖ Or, my lips.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdome in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faults passe?

‖ That is, of the tongue and lips.

3 Least mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer mee, whose hope is farre from thy mercy.

4 O Lord, father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imaginations] neither giue me a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a lewd mind.

5 Take from me vaine hope, and concupiscence, & retaine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent mind.

7 Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truely: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips. [Nor be hurt by wicked workes.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

Exod. 20. 7. chap. 27. 15. matth. 5. 33. 34. 9 *Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holie one:

one: [for thou shalt not be vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some skarre, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, and the plague shal neuer goe from his house: when hee shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God graunt that it bee not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

‖Or, inordinate sweating. 13 Vse not thy mouth to ‖ignorant rashnes: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, least thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou hadst not beene borne, and curse the day of thy nativitie.

2. Sam. 16. 7. 15 *The man that is accustomed to opprobrious wordes, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hote as fire that cannot bee quenched, til it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his bodie no rest, til he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweet to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish.)

Isa. 29. 15. 18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkenesse: the walles couer mee: no bodie seeth mee: whome need I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.

19 Such a man only feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the waies of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 Hee knew all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe alls, he looketh vpon them all.

Leuit. 20. 10 deut. 22. 22. 21 * The same man shall be punished in the streetes of the city, [and shall bee chased like a young horse foale,] and when hee thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall hee be put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

Exod. 20. 14 23 * For first shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly she hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 She shall bee brought out into the Congregation, and examination shalbe made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall know that there is nothing better then y feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A prayse of wisedome proceeding foorth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her works and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

VVIsedome shal praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the midst of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shal shee open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the midst of her people shall she be exalted, and wondred at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen she shalbe commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be praised, and shall say,]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloud.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

Prou. 8. 23. Exod. 31. 2. Psal. 132. 8. ‖Or, in Cades a Terebinth is a hard tree spread abroad with long boughs whereout runneth the gumme called a pure turpentine, which cleanseth the stomacke of putrified humours, and purifieth the eares: so the wisedome of God declared in his Scriptures, spreadeth abrod her manifold branches of knowledge and vnderstanding, to purge the inward eares and corruption of the soule.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations. [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creatour of all things gaue mee a commandement, and he that made mee appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 *He created mee from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: *In the holy habitation I haue serued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion.

13 *In the welbeloued citie he gaue mee rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a Cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree ‖about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire olive tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinamon, and as a bagge of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as Galbanum, and onix, and sweet storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the Terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 *As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] of sweet sauour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope, I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all ye that bee delirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruits.

Psal.19.10, 11. 23 * For the remembrance of me is sweeter then hony, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the hony combe: [the remembrance of me indureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate mee, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shal not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shal not offend: [they that make me to bee knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life] and the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the truth.] * and the Law Exod.20.1 and 24.3. dent.4.1. and 29.9. which Moses [in the precepts of righteousnes] commaunded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining to Israel.]

27 Be not weary to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord Almighty is but one God, & beside him there is none other Sauiour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordeined to raise vp a most mighty King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisedome, Gen.2.11 as * Physon, and as Tygris in the time of the new fruits.

30 He maketh his vnderstanding to abound Iosh.3.15. like Euphrates, and as * Iorden in the time of the harueit.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shall the last searche her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisedome [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my diech became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorowe all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

Chap.33.16. 39 * Beholde that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that bee not to bee suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

THree things reioyce mee, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnity of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and a wife that agree together. Gen.13.2,5. rom.12.10.

2 Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doteth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 O how pleasant a thing is it when graye headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisedome vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of old men, is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, & the tenth wil I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him. Chap.14.1, and 19.16. iames 3.2.

9 Well is him that findeth prudency, and he that speaketh in ỳ eares of them that will heare.

10 Oh, how great is he that findeth wisedome! yet is there none aboue him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [The greatest heauinesse is the heauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖ enemy.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife. ‖ Or, woman Prou.21.19.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as ‖ a sacke. ‖ Or, a beare.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her hee sigheth sore or hee be ware.

21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climing vp of a sandy way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure. Chap.42.12, 2. sam.11.2. and 13.2.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, shee is angry and impudent, and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sory heart, an heauie ute countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feeble knees, and cannot comfort her husband in heauinesse.

Gen. 3.6. 1.tim. 2.14. 26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman liberty to go out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [thee shall confound thee in y sight of thine enemies.]

a To wit, the bill of diuorcement. Cut her off then from thy flesh: a Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ialous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and thee shall fill the yeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cherefull countenance.

5 ¶ There bee three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a citie, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ialous ouer an other: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman, and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for she cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be knowen in the pride of her eyes, and eye lids.

Chap. 42. 11 10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, least she abuse her selfe through ouer much liberty.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye, and maruelle not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirsty, so shall she open hen mouth, & drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall shee sit downe, and open her quiuer against enery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman, and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no waight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lorde, so is the beauty of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beauty of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are fayre feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that bee layd vpon a strong rocke: so are the commaundements of GOD in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through al the fields, sowe it with thine owne seed, trusting in thy nobility.

22 So thy stocke that shal liue after thee, shal growe, trusting in the great liberality of their nobility.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a tower against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameleſſe woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shameleſſe woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but she that despiteth him, shalbe blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman, & a babbler, let her bee sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be constant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh me angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouerty: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: & when one departeth from rightfoulnes vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things which me thinkes to bee hard and perilous,] a merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a victualler is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The inconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked immagineth euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouerty haue many sinned: and * hee that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside. Prou. 23.4. 1.tim. 6.9.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If hee hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lorde, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remayneth in the siue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessel: * so doth [temptation] try mens thoughts. Pro. 27.21.

6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the worde [declareth] what man hath in his heart. Mat. 7.17.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and thalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find stedfastnesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doeth the trueth turne vnto them that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisedome: as for a foole, hee changeth as the Moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreet, obserue the time, but haunt still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, & their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

Chap. 23. 9, 10. 14 *The talke of him ỹ sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to strine with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proude is bloodshedding, and their scoldings are grieuous to heare.

Chap. 19. 10 and 22. 22. 16 *Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hand, so if thou giuest ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for hee is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may bee bound vp againe: and an euill word may be reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

Prou. 10. 1. 22 *Hee that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he will speak sweetly, and praise thy words: but at the last hee will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

Psal. 7. 15. prou. 26. 27. eccles. 10. 8. 26 Who so *diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neigbours way, shal stumble thereon,] and he that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shalbe wrapped in euill, and shal not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproch follow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall bee taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despite & anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence, 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

HE* that seeketh vengeance, shall find vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his sinnes. Deut. 32. 35. rom. 12. 19.

2 †Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also when thou prayest. †Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and *desire forgiuenesse of the Lord? Mat. 6. 14.

4 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will hee aske forgiuenesse of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [and aske pardon of God,] who will intreat for his sinnes?

6 Remember the end, and let enmitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the Couenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 *Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife. Chap. 8. 1.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 *As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, & the more vehement the anger is, the more is hee inflamed. Prou. 26. 21.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheddeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnesse, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 †*Abhorre the slanderer and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace. †The tongue Chap. 21. 28. a That is, the tongue which saith, and vnsaith, or speaketh one thing, & thinketh another.

14 The a double tongue hath disquieted many, & driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and beene the decay of mighty nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours. Or, ỹ tongue which speaketh neither out of the new or olde Testament, but of their own braine.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer find rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath beene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shal not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they bee burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein:

and it shall burne them, and no man shalbe able to quench it: it shal fall vpon them as a lion, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer and gold, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it and so fall before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fal be incurable, euen vnto death.]

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieued them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours goods they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a careleſse answere, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe again, & reckoneth the other as a thing found: els hee deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without a cause: he paieth him with curling and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deed.

7 There bee many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercy from him.

18 The wicked will not become suertie: and hee that is of an vnthankefull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour and when he hath lost his honestie, hee will forsake him.]

20 Suertiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remoueth them as the waues of the sea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord, shall fall into suertiship: and he that medleth much with other mens busines, is intangled in controuerlies.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though hee were not dead: for hee hath left one behind him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sory in his death, [neither was hee ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieued at euery cry.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubborne, and a wanton child will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee afraide: and if thou play with him, he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him, least thou bee sory with him, and left thou gnash thy teeth in the end.

11 *Giue him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his folly. Chap. 7.23.

12 Bowe downe his necke while he is yong, and beate him on the sides whiles hee is a child, lest he ware stubborne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorrow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, and be diligent therein, least his shame grieue thee.

† The praise of health.

14 ¶ † Better is the poore being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is aboue all gold, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [† long rest] then continuall sickenesse.

a Like as meat that is set vpon the graues of dead men is vnprofitable for that they eat it not: euen so knowledge in him that openeth not his mouth to vtter it, is vnprofitable, Chap. 41.14. Chap. 20.3. Prou. 12.25. and. 15.13. and. 17.22.

18 [a] The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as measles of meate set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate, nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquity.]

20 Hee seeth with his eyes, and groneth like * a gelded man, that lieth with a virgine and sigheth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde to heauinesse, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorrowe farre from thee: for sorrow hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuy and wrath shorten the life, and carefulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Of couetousnes. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to flee drunkennesse and follow soberneſſe.

† Couetousnesse. 1. Tim. 6.9, 10.

WAking † after * riches, pineth away the body, and the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickenesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest hee is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

Chap. 8.2. 6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is as a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

Luke. 6.24. 8 Blessed is the * rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is hee, and wee will commend him? for wonderfull things hath hee done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, and found perfect? let him bee an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods bee stablished, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

†Temperancie.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, † open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold much meate.

13 Remember that an euill eie is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hande whereſoeuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not least thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off first for nurtures sake, and be not vnsatiable, least thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

19 * How little is sufficient for a man well taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.] Chap. 37.29.

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: hee riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diseases, and pangs of the belly are with an vnsatiable man.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, [a] vomite and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sickenesse vnto thy body.]

a This counsel only concerning the helth of the body, is here alledged, rather for a remedie to helpe digestion vnto a weake stomacke, then for an instruction to tolerate intemperancie: for surfetting is forbidde vs, Luke 21.34. Prou. 22.9.

22 My sonne, heare mee, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes bee quicke, so shall there no sickenesse come vnto thee.

† Liberality. Iudeth 13. 2,8. Psal. 104 15 pro. 31.4,5, 6,7.

23 * Whoso is † liberall in his meate, men shall blesse him: and the testimony of his honesty shall be beleeued.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole city shall murmure: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shall be sure.

25 Shewe not thy valiantnesse in wine: for * wine hath destroyed many.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkenneſſe.

27 * Wine soberly dronken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make man glad, [† not for drunkenneſſe.] Wine measurably dronken and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cheerefulnesse of the minde.

29 But wine dronken with excesse, maketh bitternesse of mind with brawlings & scoldings.

30 Drunkennesse increaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31 * Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull words, and presse not vpon him with contrary words. Chap. 20.1.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modesty. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thankes after the repast. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

†Humblenesse.

downe, that thou mayest bee merry with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musicke.

4 Powre not out wordes, where there is no audience, * and shew not foorth wisedome out of time.

Eccles 3.7. chap 20.7.

5 The consent of musicians at a banket, is as a signet of carbuncle set in gold.

6 And as the signet of an Emmerald well trimmed with gold, so is the melody of musicke in a pleasant banquet.

7 [Giue eare, and be still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be beloued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if need be, and yet scarcely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprehend much in few wordes: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] bee as one that vnderstandeth, and yet hold thy tongue.

10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

Iob 32.6.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last, but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euil, or vse proud words.

14 But aboue all things giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lorde, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall finde fauour.

16 Hee that seeketh the Law, shall bee filled therewith: but the hypocrite shall bee offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lorde, shall finde that which is righteous, and shall kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding delighteth not counsell: but a lewd and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne] doe nothing without aduisement: so shalt it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Goe not in the way where thou maiest fall, nor where thou mayest stumble among ỹ stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them, that bee thine owne housholde.]

23 In euery good worke, be of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commaundements.

24 Who so beleeueth in ‖ the Lorde, keepeth the commandements: and hee that trusteth in the Lord shall take no hurt.

‖ Or, the law.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

THere shall no euill come vnto him that † feareth the Lord: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

† The feare of God.

2 A wise man hateth not the Law: but hee that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Lawe is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cart wheele: and his thoughts are like a roling axeltree.

Chap. 21.16

6 As a wild horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yeere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lorde hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

Gen. 1. 27 and 2.7.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, and some of them hath he sanctified, and appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath hee cursed, and brought them low, and put them out of their estate.

12 * As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that he may reward them as liketh him best.

Iere. 18.4. rom. 9.20, 21

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the worke of the most High thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my winepresse, like a grape gatherer.

16 * Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

Chap. 24.39.

17 Heare me, O yee great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friende, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, a giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

a That is, let no man vse thee as his seruant, when thou hast committed all thy goods into his hand.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thy honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt shalt finde rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shal seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whippe bow downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euill.

† How slaues were ordered in olde time.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, † put on more heauie fetters.

28 But be not excessiue toward any, and with out discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, entreat him as thy brother: for thou hast need of him, as of thy selfe. If thou entreat him euill, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him?

Chap.7.20.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doth not allow the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

† Dreames.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, † and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the wind.

3 Euen so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can bee cleansed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming, is but vanity, and a mind that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Whereas such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The law shalbe fulfilled without lies, and wisdome is sufficient to a faithful mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandered to and fro, I saw many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

† The feare of the Lord.

14 Who so feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust? who is his strength?

Psal.33.18. Psal.91.1,2.

16 * For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them that loue him: he is their * mightie protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lightneth the eyes: he giueth health, life, and blessing.

Prou.21.27

18 ¶ He that * giueth an offering of vnrighteous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gifts of the vnrighteous please not him.

19 [But the Lord is theirs onely, that patiently abide him in the way of truth and righteousnesse.]

20 The most High doeth not allow the † offerings of the wicked, * neither is hee pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

† The offerings of the wicked and their prayer, Prou.15.8.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: hee that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbors liuing, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodshedder.

Deut.24.14, 15.chap.7.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, & another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

20.

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voice will the Lord heare?

26 * Hee that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing?

Numb.19. 11,12.

27 * So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doth his fasting helpe him?

2.Pet.2.20, 21,22.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherles, and of the widow, and him that humbleth himselfe.

VVHo so keepeth the Lawe, * bringeth offerings enow: he that holdeth fast the commandements, † offereth an offering of saluation.

† True sacrifices.

Phil.4.18.

3 To depart from euill is a thankfull thing to the Lord, and to forsake vnrighteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 * Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord.

Exod.23.15 and 34.20. deut.16.16.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement.

6 * The offring of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is swerte before the most High.

Gene 4.4,5.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer be forgotten.

8 Giue the Lord his honour with a good and liberall eye, and diminish not the first fruites of thine hands.

9 * In all thy giftes shew a ioyfull countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnesse.

Tob.4.8. Leuit 22.21 22. deut.15. 21.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will giue thee seuen times as much.

12 * Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receiue it, and abstaine from wrongfull sacrifices: for the Lord is the Iudge and regardeth no * mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 Hee despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse nor the widow, when shee powreth out her prayer.

15 Doth not the teares runne downe the widowes cheekes? and her cry is against him that causeth them: [for from her cheekes doe they goe vp vnto heauen, and the Lord which heareth them, doth accept them.]

16 He that serueth the Lord shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the clouds.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth through the clouds, and ceaseth not till it come neere, & will not depart till the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almightie will tarie long from them, till hee hath smitten in sunder the loynes of the vnmercifull, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruel, & broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till he giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuices, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercy.

19 Oh, how faire a thing is mercy in the time of anguish & trouble! It is like a cloud of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The praise of a good woman.

HAue mercie vpon vs, O Lord God of all things, and behold vs, and [shewe vs the light of thy mercies,] †Against the wicked.

2 And send thy feare † among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes.]

Jere.10.25.

3 Lift vp thine *hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as wee know thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the wonders, shewe the glorie of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous acts.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemie.

8 Make the time short: remember thine oath, that thy wonderous workes may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the Princes that bee our enemies, and say, There is none other but we.

†A prayer for the godly.

11 † Gather all the tribes of Iacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes, and inherite thou them as from the beginning.

Exod.4.22.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, *whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Jerusalem the citie of thy Sanctuarie, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witnes vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophecies that haue beene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that waite for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants, according to the *blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnesse] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may knowe that thou art the Lord the eternall God.

Num.6.23.

18 ¶ The belly deuoureth all meates, yet is one meate better then another.

19 As the throate tasteth venison, so doeth a wise minde discerne false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman cheareth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenes, meeknesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

†The praise of a good woman.

24 Hee that hath † gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begunne to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto himselfe, & a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway readie, and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth whereseuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellers. 12 To keepe his companie that feareth God.

EVery friend saith, † I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

†Of friendship.

2 Remaineth there not heauines vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou spring vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 *There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

Chap.6.10.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke † no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

†Of whom we should take counsel

8 *Euery counseller praiseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

Chap.8.19. and 9.16.

ching her of whom she is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankefulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhonest man of honestie] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commaundements of the Lorde, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sory for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans mind is sometimes more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie tower.

15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is witty, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all ‖ foode, ‖ Or, wisedome.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruits of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruits of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shal be plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obteine credit among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, prooue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to do it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

† Of temperance. Chap. 31.19, 20.

28 Be not † greedy in all delights, and be not too hasty vpon all meates.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases.

‖ Or, taketh heede.

30 By surfeit haue many perished: but he that ‖ dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To bury the dead. 24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

† Of Physicians and Physicke.

HOnour the † Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men bee shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the swater made sweete with wood, that men might knowe the vertue therof? Exod. 15.25

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doth the Apothecary make a confection, & yet he cannot finish his owne workes: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickenesse, but * pray vnto the Lord, and hee will make thee whole. Isa. 38.2, 5.

10 Leaue off from sinne, & order thine hands aright, and clense thine heart from all wickednesse.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine floure for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the † first giuer.

† God bestoweth first his benefits, and we must render a portion thereof, to such vses as hee appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lorde, that hee would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 He that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the Physician.

16 My sonne, * powre forth teares ouer the dead, † and begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his ‖ appointment, and neglect not his burtall. Chap. 22.11. † Of mourning. ‖ Or, the custome.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation as hee is worthy, and that a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 * For of heauinesse commeth death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength. Pro. 15.13. and 17,22.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt do him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shal be likewise, vnto mee yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him. 2. Sam. 12. 20.

24 ¶ The wisedome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisedome.

25 How can hee get wisedome that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breede of bullocks?

26 Hee gineth his minde to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfeit imagery, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The Smith in like maner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the furnace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee maketh: hee setteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feete: hee is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth howe to couer it with lead, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one is wise in his worke in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities bee maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgment seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters, according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

HE onely that applieth his minde to the Law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the ‖ wisedome of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophesies.

‖ Of true wisedome.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mysterie of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 He shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shal trauaile through strange countreys: for hee hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.

‖ Or the Lord.

7 ‖ Hee shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 Hee shall shew foorth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Lawe and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memory shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 * The congregation shal declare his wisedome, and shew it. Chap. 44.15.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto mee, yee holy children, and bring foorth fruit as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

14 And giue ye a sweet smell as ‖ incense, and bring foorth flowres as the lilie: giue a smell, and sing a song of prayse: blesse the Lord in all his workes. ‖ Or, Libanus

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe foorth his prayse with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this maner, 16 *All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season. Gene. 1.31. mar. 7.37.

17 And none may say, What is this, wherefore is that? for at time conuenient, they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which hee will saue.

19 The works of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for hee hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall burn ouer as the streame, and moisten the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing. Chap. 29.23.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigor lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shew foorth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 * Fire, and haile, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance. Chap. 40.9, 10.

30 The teeth of wild beasts, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the swoorde execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandements: and when neede is, they shalbe ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 There-

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

Gen. 1. 31. 33 *All the workes of the Lord are good, and hee giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

34 So that a man needs not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy prayse.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and bresse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous, and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

† The miseries of mans life.

GReat † trauell is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of all things,

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, to him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blue silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble, and vnquietnes, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest, the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping hee is as a watch towre in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe he awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen fold to the vngodly:

Chap. 39. 29, 30. 9 Moreouer, *death and blood, and strife, and sworde, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

Gen. 7. 11. Gen. 3. 19. chap. 41. 10. Eccles. 1. 7. 10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the *flood also.

11 *All things that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the *waters, shall returne into the sea.

† Faithfulnesse. 12 All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but †faithfulnesse shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shalbe dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressors shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the hie rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soeuer it be or water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlinesse is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercie endureth for euer.

Phil. 4. 12. 1. Tim. 6. 6. 18 *To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the city maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisedome is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noise: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beauty: but a greene seede time rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunity: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggars life: for better it were to die then to beg.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for hee tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nourtured will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweet in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

† Of death.

O † Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperity in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despayreth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death, remember them that haue been before thee, and that come after, this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be tenne, or an hundreth, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posteritie shall haue a perpetual shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Wo be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the most High God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 *All that is of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: Chap. 40. 11.

againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall be put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but a † good name endureth for euer.

† A good name.

14 My children, keepe wisedom in peace: * for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both? Chap.20.29.

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisedome.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to bee † ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

† Of shamefastnesse.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnesse before a companion and friend,

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his Couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the ‖ bread, or to bee reprooued for giuing or taking,

‖ Or, table.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be vnkindminded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans mayd, or to stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friendes with wordes, 23 Or to vpbraid when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt find fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

2 The Law of God must bee taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

† In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things be not thou † ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Law of the most High and his Couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, & of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friendes:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sel merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vnwise, and the aged, that contend against the young: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

‖ Or, a secret watche of the father.

9 The daughter ‖ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth, lest shee should passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husband, lest shee should be hated:

10 In her virginitie, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, lest shee misbehaue her selfe: and when she is married, lest she continue vnfruitfull.

11 * If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publique shame. Chap.26.10.

12 * Beholde not euery bodies beauty, and company not among women. Chap.25.23

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: * so doeth wickednesse of the woman. Gen.3 6.

14 The wickednesse of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the works of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his works.

16 The Sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lorde appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous works, which the Almighty Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his Maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and hee knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

20 * No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him. Iob 41.4. Isa.29.15.

21 He hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisedom, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished: he hath no neede of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his works, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all and endure for euer: and whensoeuer neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one ‖ commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glory?

‖ Or, stablisheth.

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

† The wonderful works of God.

THis high ornament † the cleere firmament, the beautie of the heauen so glorious to behold,

2 The Sunne also, a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountains three times more then he that keepeth a furnace with continual heate: it casteth out the fiery vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he causeth it to runne hastily.

6 * The

Gen. 1.16. 6 *The moone also hath he made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

Exod. 12.2. 7 *The feasts are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commaundement of the Holy one they continue in their order, & faile not in their watch.

Gen. 9.13; 14. 11 ¶ *Looke vpon the rainebow, and praysе him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnesse thereof.

Isa. 40.12. 12 *It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commaundement hee maketh the snowe to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the clouds flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the clouds, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South wind bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doeth the storme of the North, the whirlewind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frosen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the colde Northwind bloweth, and yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wildernesse, and destroyeth that that is greene, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dew commeth vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word he stilleth the wind:] by his counsell hee appeaseth the deepe, and planteth Ilands therin.

24 They that saile ouer the Sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when wee heare it with our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there bee strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beasts, and the creation of Whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are stablished by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we can not attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, That he is all.

28 What power haue wee to praise him? for he is aboue all his workes.

Psal. 96.4. 29 The Lord is terrible, and very *great, and marueilous is his power.

30 Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and be not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 *Who hath seene him, that he might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is? John 1.18. psal. 106.1.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, & we haue seene but a few of his works.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisedome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob.

LEt vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glorie by them, and that throught his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowmed for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

4 *They gouerned the people by counsel, and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. Exod. 18.25

5 They inuented the melody of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall bee spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, * and are perished as though they had neuer beene, and are become as though they had neuer beene borne, and their children after them. Gen. 7.22.

10 But the former were merciful men, whose righteousnesse hath not beene forgotten.

11 For whose posteritie a good inheritance is reserued, and their seed is conteined in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is conteined in the couenant, and their posteritie after them.

13 Their seed shal remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

The praise of Moses, Aaron and Phinees.

†Moses. Exod.11.3. acts 7.22. AND †Moyses the *beloued of God and men, brought he forth, whose remembrance is blessed.

2 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

3 By his words hee caused the wonders to

Exod.6.7,8. 9.chapters. cease, and he made him *glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glorie.

Num.12.3. 4 *He sanctified him with faithfulnesse, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

5 Hee caused him to heare his voyce, and Exod,19.7. brought him into the darke cloud, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the Law of life and knowledge, that hee might teach Iacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

†Aaron. Exod.4.28. 6 He exalted †Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen his * brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euerlasting couenant made hee with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 Hee put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

9 Hee compassed him about with belles of Exod.28.35. golde, and with many bels round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noise in the Sanctuarie, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people.

10 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kinds of works, and with a brestlap of iudgement, and †Vrim and Thummim. with the †signes of trueth,

11 And with worke of scarlet cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like seales, and set in golde by goldsmiths worke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel,

12 And with a crowne of gold vpon the mite, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children: and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed, euery day twise continually.

15 Moses filled *his hands, * and anoynted him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seede

Leuit. 8.12. so long as the heauens should remaine, that hee should minister before him, and also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and bl esse his people in his name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lord chose him that he should present offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 * Hee gaue him also his commandements Deut.17.18. and 21.5. and authoritie according to the Lawes appointed, that he should teach Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

18 *Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wildernesse, euen the men that tooke Dathans & Abirams part, and the company of Core in fury and rage. Num.16.1,2

19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathful indignation were they consumed: hee did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fiery flame.

20 * But he made Aaron more honourable, Num.17.8. and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seed.

22 * Els had he none heritage in the land of Deut.12,18 and 18.1. his people, neither had hee any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glory is †*Phinees the sonne †Phinees. of Eleazar, because hee had zeale in the feare of Num.25.12 13.1.mac.2. 54. the Lord, & stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that hee should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posterity should haue the dignity of the priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iudah so the heritage of Aaron should bee to the onely sonne of his seede, and to his seed. God giue vs wisedome in our heart to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posterity.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

IEsus †* the sonne of Naue was valiant in the †Iosue. wars, & was the successour of Moyses in pro- Num.27.18. phesies, who according vnto his name was a deut.34.9 great saueour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, iosh.1.2.and and to set Israel in their inheritance. 12.7.

2 *What glory gate he, when hee lift vp his Iosh.8.1,2. hand, & drew out his sword against the cities!

3 Who was there before him like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

4 * Stood not the Sunne stil by his meanes Iosh.10.12, and one day was as long as two? 13,14.

5 He called vnto the most high Gouernour, when the enemies prealled vpon him on euery side, and the mighty Lorde heard him with the haile stones, and with mighty power.

6 Hee rushed in vpon the nation in battell, and in the * going downe of Bethoron he de- Iosh.10.11.

‖ Or, that the Lord fauoured his battel.

stroyed the aduersaries, that they might knowe his weapons, and that he fought ‖ in the sight of the Lord: for he ‖ followed the Almighty.

‖ Or, pursued the mighty men.

7 *In the time of Moyses also he did a good worke: hee and † Caleb the sonne of Iephunne stood against the enemy and withheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring.

Num.14.6. 1 mac.2.55, 56.

† Caleb. Num.26.65 deu.1 35,36 Iosh.14.11

8 *And of sixe hundred thousand people of foote, they two were preserued to bring them into the heritage, euen into the land that floweth with milke and hony.

9 *The Lord gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his olde age, so that he went vp into the hye places of the land, and his seed obtained it for an heritage.

10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

† Iudges.

11 Concerning the † Iudges, euery one by name, whose heart went not a whooring, nor departed from the Lord, their memory be blessed.

Chap.49.10.

12 Let * their bones florish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them that are most famous of their children.

†Samuel. 1.Sam 10.1, and 16 13

13 ¶ † Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, beloued of his Lord, * ordained kings, and anointed the princes ouer his people.

14 By the Lawe of the Lorde he iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Iacob.

15 This Prophet was approued for his faithfulnes, & he was knowen faithfull in his word, and visions.

1.Sam.7.9, 10, 11.

16 *He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies preased vpon him on euery side, when he offered the sucking lambe.

17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voyce to be heard with a great noyse.

18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians: and all the rulers of the Philistims.

1.Sam.12.3

19 *And before his long sleepe hee made protestation in the sight of the Lorde, and his annoynted, that he tooke no substance of any man, no not so much as a shooe, and no man could accuse him.

1.Sam.28. 18,19.

20 *After his sleepe also he told of the kings death, and from the earth lift hee vp his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednes of the people should perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, Dauid, and Salomon.

†Nathan. 2.Sam. 12.1

AFter him rose vp † * Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

† Dauid.

2 For as the fat is taken away from the peace offring, so was Dauid † chosen out of the children of Israel.

1 Sam.17.34 1.Sam. 17 49,50,51. 1.Sam. 18.7

3 *He played with the Lions, as with kids, and with beares, as with lambes.

4 *Slew he not a giant when he was yet but young, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when hee lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beat downe the pride of Goliah?

‖ Or, the people.

5 For hee called vpon the most high Lord, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mighty warrior, and that he might set vp the horne of his people.

‖ Or, with blessings of the Lord.

6 *So ‖ he gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with ‖ great prayses, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

2.Sam.5.7.

7 *For hee destroyed the enemies on euerie side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

8 In all his workes he praised the Holy one, and the most high with honourable words, and with his whole heart he sung songs, & loued him that made him.

9 *Hee set singers also before the altar, and according to their tune hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God daply with their songs.

1.Chro. 16.4

10 He ordeined to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appointed the times perfectly, that they might prayse the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 * The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: hee gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glory in Israel.

2.Sam.13.

12 After him rose vp a wise sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

13 † *Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer.

†Salomon. 1.King.4. 21,24.

14 *How wise wast thou in thy youth, & wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

1.King.4. 29,30.

15 Thy mind couered the whole earth, & hast filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy name went abroad in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloued.

17 * The countreys marueiled at thee for thy songs, and prouerbs, and similitudes, and interpretations.

1.King.4. 31,32.

18 By the Name of the Lorde God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast * gathered golde as tinne, and hast as much siluer as lead.

1.King.10. 27.

19 * Thou diddest bow thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy body.

1.King.11.1

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posteritie, & hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorow for thy folly.

21 * So the kingdome was diuided, & Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome.

1.King.12. 15,16,17.

22 * Neuertheless the Lord left not off his mercy, neyther was he destroyed for his workes: neither did he abolish the posterity of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Iacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid.

2.Sam.7.15.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seed he left behind him † Roboam, euen ‖ the foolishnes of the people, & one that had no vnderstanding, * who turned away the people through his counsell, and † Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, * which caused Israel to sinne, & shewed Ephraim the way of sinne,

† Roboam. ‖ Or, a most euident foole 1.King.12. 10,11,13,14

† Ieroboam. 1.King.12.

24 So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

28,30.

25 For they sought out all wickednesse, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Elizeus, Ezekias and Isaias.

†Elias. 1.King.17.1

THen stoode vp † * Elias the Prophet as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe.

2 He

2 Hee brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale he diminished them: [for they might not away with the commaundements of the Lord.]

3 By the worde of the Lord he shut the heauen, * and three times brought he the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honourable art thou by thy wondrous deeds! who may make his boast to be like thee!

5 *Which hast raised vp the dead from death, and by the worde of the most High out of the graue:

6 Which hast brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their seat:

7 Which heardest the rebuke of the Lorde in Sina, * and in Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance:

8 *Which diddest anoynt Kings that they might† recompense, and Prophets to be thy successors:

9 *Which was taken vp in a whirlewind of fire, and in a charet of fiery horses:

10 Which was appointed * to reproue in due season, and to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Iacob.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue: for a we shall liue.

12 *When Elias was couered with the storme, † Eliseus was filled with his spirite: while he liued, he was not moued for any prince, neither could any bring him into subiection.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his body prophesied.

14 He did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marueilous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sinnes: * till they were carryed away prisoners out of their land, and were scattered through al the earth, so that there remained but a very few people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

17 †*Ezekias made his city strong, and conueied water into the mids thereof: hee digged through the rocke with yron, & made fountaines for waters.

18 *In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabsaces, & lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, so that they sorrowed like a woman in trauaile.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediatly the Holy one heard them out of heauen.

21 [Hee thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Elai.

22 * He smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lorde, and remained stedfastly in the wayes of Dauid his father, as † Esai the great Prophet & faithfull in his vision had commanded him.

24 *In his time the sunne went backward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 He saw by an excellent spirit what should come to passe at the last, and he comforted them that were sorrowfull in Sion.

26 He shewed what should come to passe for euer, & secret things, or euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Hezekiah, Dauid, Ieremie, Ezekiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem and Seth.

THe remembrance of †* Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the Apothecary: it is sweete as hony in all mouthes, and as musicke at a banquet of wine.

2 Hee behaued himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 He * directed his heart vnto the Lord, & in the time of the vngodly he established religion.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednesse: for euen the Kings of Iuda forsooke the Law of the most High, and failed.

5 Therfore he gaue their ‖ honne vnto other, and their honour to a strange nation.

6 He burnt the elect citie of the Sanctuary, * and destroyed the streets thereof according to the ‖ prophesie of †Ieremias.

7 For they *intreated him euil, which nerthelesse was a Prophet, * sanctified from his mothers wombe, that he might root out and afflict, and destroy, and that hee might also build vp, and plant.

8 † *Ezekiel saw the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the charet of the Cherubims.

9 * For he made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.

10 ¶ * And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourishont of their place, and let their memory be blessed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 ¶ * How shall we praise †Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was †*Iesus also the sonne of Iosedec: these men in their time builded the house, and set vp ỳ Sanctuary of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euerlasting worship.

13 ¶ *And among the elect was †Nehemias whose renowne is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, & set vp the gates and the bars, and laid the foundations of our houses.

14 ¶ But vpon the earth was no man created like †*Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto †*Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the vpholder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 †*Sem and †Seth were in great honour among men: and so was †Adam aboue euery liuing thing in the creation.

2 Under him was the foundation of the double height layed, and the high walles that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasse was about in measure as the sea.

a Which Salomon made, 1. Kin. 7.23.

4 Hee tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house couered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning starre in the mids of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the temple of the most High, and as the rainebow that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessell of massie gold, set with all maner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olme tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the clouds.

11 When hee put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, hee himselfe stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands, before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that hee might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almightie, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drink offering, & powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, and made a great noyse to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hasted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty, and most High.

18 The singers also sang with their voices, so that the sound was great, and the melody sweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high, with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went hee downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue prayse with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue prayse al ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercy.

23 That he would giue vs ioyfulnes of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that my heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistims, and the foolish people that dwell in ‖ Sicimus.

‖ Or, Sichem

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Sirach, the sonne of Eleazarus of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisedome of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that layeth vp these in his heart shall be wise.

29 For if he do these things, he shalbe strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisedome to the godly. The Lord be praysed for euermore. So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A praier of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord & King, and praise thee, O God my Sauiour: I wil giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserued my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, & from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure mee, and out of the handes of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choaked me round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall prayse the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of old, how thou deliuerest such as wait for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the ‖ enemies.

‖ Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from ỳ earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, without helpe.

11 I will prayse thy Name continually, and wil sing prayse with thanksgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therfore will I giue thanks, and prayse thee, & blesse the name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, abroad, I desired wisedome openly in my praier.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countreys, & she was as a grape that wareth ripe out of the flower.
15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, and from my youth vp sought I after her.
16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisedome:
17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glorie vnto him, that giueth me wisdome.
18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I wil be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.
19 My soule hath wrastled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine handes on high: and considered the ignorances thereof.
20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureneſſe: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.
21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.
22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I wil praise him.
23 Draw neere vnto me, yee vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.
24 Wherefore are yee slow? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are verie thirstie?
25 I opened my mouth, and sayd, *Buy her for you without money. *Isa.55.1.
26 Bowe downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is ready that ye may find her.
27 Beholde with your eyes, *how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. *Chap.6.18 28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.
29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praysе.
30 Doe your duetie betimes, and he will giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuity of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the son of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖Asadias, the son of Helcias wrote in at Babylon, ‖Or, Sedeciah.
2 In the fift yeere, and the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.
3 And Baruch did read the wordes of this book, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim king of Iuda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the booke,
